Oral Argument Requested

PREAMBLE:

Much of the matter that follows can be characterized as a snowballing effect caused by fraud committed by officers of the court. Currently there are nine (9) related ARDC investigations pending (#2023INO2517[1], #2023INO2518[2], #2023INO3135[3], #2023INO3136[4], #2023INO3894-R[5], 2023INO3898-R[6], #2023INO3897-R[7], 2023INO3895-R[8], #2023INO3896-R[9])(A2)[10], one (1) submitted Judicial Inquiry Board "Complaints against a Judge," (Associate Judge Joel D. Berg) and one (1) Judiciary Inquiry Board "Complaint against a Judge" that was unable to be processed because the individual named (former Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer) is no longer an active Illinois state court judge.

The events of this matter occurred over a period of time in excess of 13 years and the Record on Appeal[11], with at least two known dates of ROPs missing from the file, is currently equal to or greater than two thousand six hundred and sixty pages (2660).

This matter was hampered not only by the fraud committed by officers of the court but also by the traumatic life events that befell Plaintiff/Appellant Paul R. Dulberg but also his attorney as follows:

- a. The unexpected death of key witness, lifelong friend and live-in caretaker Michael McArtor;
- b. The disappearance of, false arrest and medieval interrogations , imprisonment and, by law, lack of the ability to consult with an attorney, nor contact anyone of Plaintiff/Appellant's attorney Alphonse A. Talarico's fiancé during a scheduled stopover in Tokyo, Japan on the way to O'Hare International Airport, Illinois.

The Appellate Court was made aware of each traumatic life event through motions for extension of time and other related and consequential motion practice but culminated in the order that ended this matter before the Appellate Court.

PRAYER FOR LEAVE TO APPEAL

Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 315(c)(1)

Paul R. Dulberg petitions for leave to appeal the judgment of the Illinois Appellate Court for the Second District in PAUL R. DULBERG v. HANS MAST and the LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. 2023 IL App (2nd) 2-23-0072.

STATEMENT OF THE DATE UPON WHICH THE JUDGMENT WAS ENTERED

Pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 315(c)(2)

The Date the Judgment was entered is December 4, 2023. There was no petition for rehearing filed. (A1)[12]

STATEMENT OF THE POINTS RELIED UPON IN ASKING THE SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW THE JUDGMENT OF THE APPELLATE COURT

Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 315(c)(3)

1. There are 9 ARDC COMPLAINTS filed and a submitted Judicial Inquiry Board "Complaints against a Judge," in relation to this case. (A2)[13]

- a. Due to the nature and severity of the ARDC complaints there is the need for the exercise of the Supreme Court's supervisory authority in this case.
- b. Dulberg was targeted by his own attorneys (in collaboration with opposing counsel) by a sophisticated system of document and information suppression to sabotage his case against the Defendant/Appellees.
- c. Dulberg was subject to fraud perpetrated by officers of the court so that the judicial machinery could not perform in the usual manner its impartial task of adjudicating cases.

2. APPELLATE COURT ORDERS DENIED DULBERG THE ABILITY TO SUPPLEMENT THE RECORD WITH RELATED CASES.

- a. Recusal ORDERS of Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer in cases with Defendants-Appellees (A4)[14]
- b. Motion to fix 17LA377 clerks file (problems with clerks file described in next section)
- c. Motion to add Barbara G. Smith thumbdrive. (A5)[15] Also described in Clinton-Williams ARDC Section 2K and Section 2C (#2023INO2517[16], #2023INO2518[17]) (A2)[18]
- d. Motion to add related cases (A6)[19]. Significance of cases also described in ARDC complaint Popovich-Mast, Balke, Baudins, Gooch-Walczyk (#2023INO3135[20], #2023INO3136[21], #2023INO3894-R[22], 2023INO3898-R[23], #2023INO3897-R[24], 2023INO3895-R[25], #2023INO3896-R[26]) (A2)[27]

e. Supreme Court Rule 329 gives us the right to supplement or correct the record through the appellate court.

f. Law never requires doing a useless thing. At this point it was impossible for us to return to the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court for the request. (A7)[28]

3. APPELLATE COURT ORDER DENIED DULBERG'S REQUEST FOR AUDIT (concerning missing and altered documents in Clerks file)

a. The Record on Appeal was filed on April 24, 2023.

b. Common Law Record Volume 1, Common Law Record Volume 2 and Reports of proceedings all have a submission date of April 24, 2023 from 10:00 AM to 10:03 AM. (A8-1)[29], (A8-2)[30], (A8-3)[31], (A8-4)[32]

c. The Record on Appeal was made available for download on April 25, 2023 at 8:48 AM (A9)[33]

d. Common Law Volume 1 has a creation date of April 24, 2023 at 9:31 AM. Common Law Volume 2 has a creation date of April 24, 2023 at 9:28 AM. The Reports of proceedings has a creation date of April 25, 2023 at 8:06 AM and is missing ROPs from two different dates. Note creation date is AFTER submission date. (A10)[34]

e. The creation dates show that the CLR vol 1 and 2 were treated differently than the ROP. They followed a different pathway in the digital system.

f. There are missing ROPs, mismatched sections and broken hyperlinks.

g. Hyperlinks are broken in a way that only defendants motion-to-dismiss and after are working. Hyperlinks are broken in a way which favors the defendants

4. APPELLATE COURT ISSUED ORDERS WITHOUT JUDGES NAMES

a. The following orders were issued by the 2nd Appellate Court, none of which were signed by any Judges and were signed only by the clerk:

5-26-2023 granted (A12)[35]

7-25-2023 granted (A13)[36]

10-10-2023 denied (A14)[37]

11-09-2023 denied (A15)[38]

b. All motions had Illinois Supreme Court approved proposed order forms submitted with them that were tossed aside and disregarded by the Second District Appellate Court:

5-24-2023 proposed order (A16)[39]

7-24-2023 proposed order (A17)[40]

10-01-2023 proposed order (A18)[41]

11-03-2023 proposed order (A19)[42]

c. Dulberg contacted the Appellate Court clerk to ask for the actual order signed by a Judge and not just what appeared to be the clerk's notice. He was informed that the one signed by the clerk was the court order. (A20)[43]

d. The only appellate court order showing some of the Judges names is the final dismissal order on 12-04-2023 and was only signed by the clerk (A21)[44]

e. The final dismissal order on 12-04-2023 is when Dulberg first saw Hutchinson's name typed on an order signed by the clerk. (A22)[45] Dulberg lost his statutory right (735 ILCS 5/2-1001(a)(2)) to substitute the Judge because he was not informed which judges were assigned to his case. Dulberg and his attorney believed these rulings came from the clerk's office alone since that is all they were shown.

f. Dulberg can find no local rule in the appellate court allowing the clerk to create and sign their own ORDER while tossing aside and disregard the Illinois Supreme Court approved proposed order form properly filed with each motion.

5. Judge Hutchinson previously presided over a 1990 case involving Dulberg in McHenry County Illinois that was a was a high profile case and heavily covered in the local press.

a. In a 1990 case Dulberg had filed a series of motions all to be heard at the same time based on witness testimony previously given before Judge Hutchinson.

b. Before the motions were to be heard, Dulberg remembers that Judge Hutchinson asked the parties to approach the bench and explained to Dulberg's attorney and the states attorney why she was splitting the motions up. Judge Hutchinson would hear the motions for reconsideration and was having the motion to quash assigned to another judge.

c. Judge Hutchinson explained that she had to hear the motions for reconsideration because she made the prior rulings but the motion to quash was new and since she felt the states witnesses were less than honest when testifying before her on the issues now raised in the motion to quash she was concerned with the political implications of her possible ruling and how it would be played in the local press due to her running for the position she currently holds in the Appellate court.

d. During the 1990 case Judge Hutchinson did cause a split of the series of motions filed at the same time, she did hear the motions to reconsider and had the motion to quash assigned to another Judge that was not present for the live testimony.

e. Judge Hutchinson had placed her political aspirations to become an appellate court judge above the case before her because she feared the local press coverage and possible political ramifications if she were to rule in favor of Dulberg.

f. Hutchinson was then reassigned to less publicized cases for the duration of her campaign for appellate Court Judge.

g. The 1990 case was a high profile case for Hutchinson and widely publicized by the local newspaper covering McHenry County. During Dulberg's case Hutchinson decided to run in the election for Appellate Court.

If Dulberg knew Judge Hutchinson was assigned to this appeal more than 30 years after his prior 1990 case he would have asked for a substitution of Judge by right.

6. MOTION TO RULE WAS ACCEPTED DECEMBER 3, IGNORED BEFORE FINAL RULING ON DEC 4, AND SENT BACK ON DEC 5

(this is a retroactive use of dismissal order on motions timely and properly filed before the dismissal)

- a. On December 3, 2023 Dulberg filed a Motion for Ruling on his November 21, 2023 Motion to Reconsider. (A23)[46]
- b. On December 4, 2023 Dulberg received a final ORDER, dismissing the case for not filing a brief, The ORDER was signed only by the clerk with a few of the Judges names appearing for first time in print on the ORDER. (A21)[47]
- c. On December 5, 2023 the Motion for Ruling filed on December 03, 2023 was sent back because the case was dismissed on December 04, 2023 after the proper and timely filing of the motion prior to dismissal. (A24)[48] It is as if the later dismissal of the case can be applied retroactively to motions timely and properly filed before the case was actually dismissed.

7. ORDER DENIED OVER EXTENSION OF TIME TO FILE

Previous motions for extension of time were based on serious family emergencies.

8. Contrary to the precise ruling contained in Suburban Real Estate Services, Inc. v. Carlson, 2022 Il 126935, 193 N.E.3d 1187, 456 Ill.Dec.779 (Ill.2022) the trial court was not clear and error-ed. Associate Judge Joel D. Berg, being a personal friend of the sole (at this time and 50% with ex-wife previously) owner of the Defendant/Appellee's Law firm, was not clear in his ruling and failed to take into account or recognize the principal/agent relationship between the co-defendants in the underlying case (12LA178). Associate Judge Joel D. Berg erroneously set the date that Plaintiff/Appellant knew or should have known of the pecuniary injury back to the time of the alleged wrongdoing as sometime on or before the Defendant's/Appellee's withdrawal from the underlying case (12LA178) in March of 2015. Associate Judge Joel D. Berg did not take into account the fact that without the coerced settlement the principal would remain vicariously liable for anything the agent could not pay if found negligent (which did occur on December 12, 2016, the only time the pecuniary injury could be calculated since anything prior would be purely speculative).

9. Article XI Illinois Code of Judicial Conduct was violated:

Rule 1.2 Promoting Confidence in the Judiciary;

Rule 2.2 Impartiality and fairness;

Rule 2.3 Bias, Prejudice and Harassment;

Rule 2.11 Disqualification.

A FAIR AND ACCURATE STATEMENT OF THE FACTS, WHICH CONTAINS THE FACTS NECESSARY TO AN UNDERSTANDING OF THE CASE

Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 315(c)(4)

I. WHAT HAPPENED IN THE TWENTY SECOND JUDICIAL CIRCUIT COURT OF MCHENRY COUNTY:

1. 12LA178 was filed On May 15, 2012 and is the underlying case to 17LA377.

a. The case records from 12LA178 were motioned to be added to the record on appeal but the motion denied by the Appellate Court so it cannot be referenced in the record on appeal.

b. It is not possible to give a fair and accurate statement of the facts necessary to understand the case without referencing 12LA178.

c. A statement of the facts of 12LA178 was already provided to the Supreme Court in the following 5 ARDC complaints: #2023INO3135[49], #2023INO3136[50], #2023INO3894-R[51], #2023INO3897-R[52], #2023INO3898-R[53]. (A2)[54]

d. In 2011 Plaintiff/Appellant Paul R. Dulberg was permanently injured by a chainsaw owned by Caroline and William McGuire (principles) but operated by their chosen agent David Gagnon.

e. The debilitating injuries caused Dulberg to seek out a law firm (Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.) and they filed a cause of action for negligence in the Twenty Second Judicial Circuit Court of McHenry County, case number 12LA178 against both the chainsaw owners for negligence under vicarious liability and their chosen operator for negligence.

f. The Trial Court Judge for the original matter (12LA178) was then Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer. Thomas A. Meyer is a close personal friend of Thomas J. Popovich, owner of the Law offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.. Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer did not disclose his personal friendship with Thomas J. Popovich nor did he recuse himself from the underlying case 12LA178.

g. The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. systematically coerced a $5000 settlement out of the Plaintiff/Appellee Paul R. Dulberg. Popovich and Mast submitted an unauthorized settlement offer of $7500.00 on October 22, 2013 to the attorney (Ronald Barch) representing the McGuires without informing Dulberg. Popovich and Mast repeatedly told Dulberg in emails, telephone conversations and at meetings that case law doesn't support Dulberg's claim against the McGuires. Popovich and Mast claimed the case against the McGuires is a common law 318 case not adopted by Illinois. Popovich and Mast provided Dulberg with a certified slip copy of Patricia TILSCHNER, Plaintiff–Appellant, v. Lowell SPANGLER and Ralph M. Ruppel, Defendants–Appellees. No. 2–10–0111.Decided: May 06, 2011 and other rulings copied from law books to prove it his legal opinion. The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich provided forged documents (depositions) to Dulberg to read from which Dulberg was to make the settlement decision. This took place years prior to final adjudication of the matter with the chainsaw operator or agent (Gagnon).

h. As a direct result of the coerced settlement the remainder of the underlying case 12LA178 became an asset of a Federal Bankruptcy Estate, Bk No. 14-83578 in the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division in November 2014 and was under an automatic stay.

i. The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich P.C. proceeded to file motions attempting to settle with the remaining defendant (Gagnon) in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court as if no stay was in place and without permission of the bankruptcy estate trustee or court. Unsuccessful in settling with the remaining defendant, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich withdrew in March 2015.

j. Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer continued in circuit court in violation of the automatic stay. Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer instructed Plaintiff/Appellate Paul

R. Dulberg that he would need to find new counsel, file a pro se appearance or face dismissal of the cause of action. Dulberg, having no standing but following Associate Judge Meyer's instructions, hired Brad J. Balke.

k. Brad J Balke operated in violation of the stay and pressed forward in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court attempting to get Plaintiff/Appellee Paul R. Dulberg to accept the same settlement deal the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. pursued. Plaintiff/Appellate Paul R. Dulberg fired Brad J. Balke, P.C. and was once again instructed by Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer to find new counsel, file an appearance pro se or have his case dismissed. Dulberg, having no standing but following Associate Judge Meyers instructions, hired Baudin and Baudin an association of attorneys.

l. Baudin and Baudin operated in violation of the stay in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court for about 16 months. Baudin and Baudin struck a deal with the remaining Defendants' insurance carrier Allstate to enter into a capped ADR agreement, reporting the deal to Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer on August 10, 2016 against Plaintiff/Appellant Paul R. Dulberg's desires and in violation of the stay.

m. Attorneys Kelly Baudin and Randall Baudin (acting under the name Baudin Law Group) then made contact with a newly appointed bankruptcy estate trustee sometime after September 1, 2016 and were approved to be hired by the bankruptcy court on October 31, 2016, providing falsified affidavits containing contracts for legal services with Baudin and Baudin an association of attorneys. The bankruptcy Trustee then made misrepresentations of Dulberg's desires to the bankruptcy court claiming Dulberg wanted the capped ADR agreement.

n. After the ADR award on December 12, 2016, Dulberg could finally calculate and realize a pecuniary injury from the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. for mishandling his case against the principle (the McGuires).

o. Plaintiff/Appellant Paul R. Dulberg, now able to realize a pecuniary injury, hired Thomas Gooch of Gauthier and Gooch and filed a legal malpractice suit in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court of McHenry County, case number 17LA377 in November 2017.

2. 17LA377 was filed on November 28, 2017 and is the underlying case to 2-23-0072 filed in the Illinois Appellate Court Second District. (A12)[55]

a. A statement of the facts of 17LA377 was already provided to the Supreme Court in the following 4 ARDC complaints: #2023INO3895-R[56], #2023INO3896-R[57], #2023INO2517[58], #2023INO2518[59] (A2)[60]

b. Associate Judge Meyer was assigned to 17LA377 in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court of McHenry County and did not self recuse (even though he was personal friends with the defendants and possibly a witness in the instant case, since he presided over the underlying case 12LA178).

c. Defendant/Appellee moved for Summary Judgment, Judge Meyer set the hearing date and was replaced by Associate Judge Joel D. Berg.

d. Associate Judge Joel D. Berg did not self recuse and is also an admitted close personal friend of Thomas J. Popovich and also has self recused from cases where Thomas J. Popovich is a defendant. This was discovered in documents filed in other cases but not allowed to be part of the record on appeal.

e. Associate Judge Joel D. Berg entered Judgment in favor of the defendants.

f. Associate Judge Joel D. Berg set the date that Plaintiff/Appellant knew or should have known of the pecuniary injury back to when the Defendant/Appellee committed the wrong doing (before Defendant/Appellee withdrew in March of 2015 even though Dulberg pled the discovery of the pecuniary injury came after the final award was issued against the principles agent on December 12, 2016).

II. WHAT HAPPENED IN THE ILLINOIS APPELLATE COURT SECOND DISTRICT:

1. Appeal 2-23-0072 was filed on March 3, 2023.

A. There were 2 previous extensions of time granted for Motions filed on May 24, 2023 and July 24, 2023 based on:

a. The unexpected death of key witness, lifelong friend and live-in caretaker Michael McArtor;

b. The disappearance of, false arrest and medieval interrogations , imprisonment and, by law, lack of the ability to consult with an attorney, nor contact anyone of Plaintiff/Appellant's attorney Alphonse A. Talarico's fiancé during a scheduled stopover in Tokyo, Japan on the way to O'Hare International Airport, Illinois.

c. Incomplete Appeal Package

B. On October 2, 2023 Dulberg filed a Motion which asked for:

a. Extension of time to file

b. Amend docking statement to include related cases

c. 22nd Judicial Circuit clerk amended record to include missing documents

d. Allow appellant to request record on appeal for related cases

e. Allow appellant to file brief in excess of prescribed page limit

C. All 5 were denied with no explanation, with no judges names on the ORDERs and only the clerk signing the Court Orders (filed motions contained Supreme Court approved court proposed order forms that must be used by all courts in the state when submitted).

D. On November 3, 2023 Dulberg filed an Emergency Motion which asked (a) to Supplement record on Meyer Recusal ORDERs, (b) for the thumbdrive of Barbara G. Smith and (c) For an audit of the 17LA377 clerks documents, the emergency motion being based on:

a. Newly discovered Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer recusal issues with Defendant/Appellee.

b. Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer was the same judge in underlying case 12LA178 in violation of recusal issues with Defendant/Appellee and Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer would be a potential witness in the current case 17LA377.

c. Meyer refused to enter a subpoenaed thumb drive from Barbara G. Smith into the record that put the entirety of the Mast deposition issues in full context.

d. Discovered missing or materially altered documents and requesting an independent audit of clerks files for the missing documents.

E. All 4 were denied with no explanation, with no judges names on the ORDERs and only the clerk signing the Court Orders (filed motions contained Supreme Court approved court proposed order forms that must be used by all courts in the state when submitted).

F. On November 21, 2023 Dulberg filed a Motion to Reconsider based on:

a. Previous motions for extension of time were based on serious family emergencies

b. Supreme Court Rule 329 gives us the right to supplement or correct the record through the Appellate Court

c. Law never requires doing a useless thing. At this time it was impossible for Dulberg to return to the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court for the request

G. Dulberg's Motion to Reconsider was denied on December 4, 2023 and the case was dismissed.

A SHORT ARGUMENT STATING WHY REVIEW BY THE SUPREME COURT IS WARRANTED AND WHY THE DECISION OF THE APPELLATE COURT SHOULD BE REVERSED OR MODIFIED

Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 315(c)(5)

I. The Illinois Supreme Court should review this matter because the trial court summary judgment ruling disregarded the Supreme Court's clear statement in Suburban Real Estate Services, Inc. v. Carlson, 2022 Il 126935, 193 N.E.3d 1187, 456 Ill.Dec.779 (Ill.2022) that in a legal malpractice case the Statute of Limitations does not begin to run until a pecuniary loss is incurred.

1. In this matter the pecuniary loss was first experienced on December 12, 2016. Dulberg filed his Legal Malpractice action on November 28, 2017 within 2 years of the December 12, 2016 date.
2. Furthermore, the Constitution of the State of Illinois, Article VI (The Judiciary) Section 16 states:

   SECTION 16. ADMINISTRATION

   General administrative and supervisory authority over all courts is vested in the Supreme Court and shall be exercised by the Chief Justice in accordance with its rules. The Supreme Court shall appoint an administrative director and staff, who shall serve at its pleasure, to assist the Chief Justice in his duties. The Supreme Court may assign a Judge temporarily to any court and an Associate Judge to serve temporarily as an Associate Judge on any Circuit Court. The Supreme Court shall provide by rule for expeditious and inexpensive appeals.

   (Source: Illinois Constitution.)

II. A major issue that was discovered subsequent to the trial court granting summary judgment to the Defendants/Appellees is that one trial court judge was the judge for the underlying case and the current case, a matter of over (10) years, and the second judge who replaced the aforementioned judge for the hearing on Defendants/Appellees Motion for Summary Judgment had, for all times relevant herein each recused themselves for all cases assigned to them other than this case, based upon the fact that they were personal friends of the owner of Defendant/ Appelees law firm.

III. The decision of the Appellate Court should be modified to allow the requested relief of supplementing the Record on Appeal to include the underlying case, the recusals of the two judges who regularly recused themselves as personal friends of the Owner of the Defendant/ Appellee Law firm and the auditing by the suggested (in the motion) Expert attorney who had previously filed an audit report that was not allowed to be used to supplement the Record on Appeal indicated two missing Report of Proceedings.

IV. Due to the nature and severity of the ARDC complaints there is the need for the exercise of the Supreme Court's supervisory authority in this case. (A2)[61]

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Paul R. Dulberg respectfully requests that this Court grant this Petition and reverse the Second District's December 4, 2023 ruling.

Members of the ARDC Committee,

This complaint explains in detail the main techniques Illinois attorneys Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams used to suppress the release of discovery documents of their own permanently disabled client without their client knowing. Clinton and Williams used quite sophisticated methods of document and information suppression in attempts to undermine and destroy the valid claims of their own handicapped client.

Chapter 1 describes how Clinton, Williams and the defense counsel suppressed documents and information.

Chapter 2 shows how these document and information suppression techniques were then used to create confusion and vulnerability in their own client's case in at least 10 different ways (labeled A through J).

The methods Clinton and Williams used are carefully coordinated with one another and can be said to constitute a system of document and information suppression. In simple terms, this method of large-scale document and information suppression is used to destroy the claims of ones own client by gaslighting ones own client over and over again as can be verified in this complaint.

The people against whom these acts were done would like to state, in simple laymans terms, that attorneys in the Illinois Bar have access to sensitive information of their clients and these attorneys act in a position of trust similar to that of a medical doctor. If a medical doctor used their position of trust, knowledge, skill, privilege, and membership in the AMA to basically drug and rape certain clients, we would all be able to see such behavior as a serious breach of social trust and if how they acted were publicly known, I believe we could all agree it would be unthinkable to allow them to continue to work as medical doctors.

In parallel, the sabotaging of claims of a permanently disabled client seeking redress for wrongs by using the techniques described in this complaint is stunningly vacuous with respect to any concept of ethics and decency. To allow professional attorneys who act in these ways to continue to practice as attorneys in Illinois, while knowing the techniques of deception they have used on at least one of their own (handicapped) clients, is to allow stealth predators to feed on the general population as prey while using their membership in the Illinois Bar as cover.

If Clinton and Williams are allowed to act toward one of their own clients using the sophisticated system of document and information suppression described in this complaint, then the said client could have easily been you, or your parents, or your children, your friends or neighbors. The techniques of deception described here show attorneys gaslighting their own permanently disabled client repeatedly, pure and simple. Would you or your relations be able to discover and defend themselves against the secret methods of deception described in detail in this complaint if they were to happen to you? If not, these attorneys should not be allowed to practice law among the general public.

In addition to exhibits this complaint makes use of 11 'Visual Aid' graphics. These are not mere 'pictures'; they are scalable vector graphics and are designed to allow the viewer to zoom in on any portion with great detail. They are used here to help the reader understand, in simple visual ways, how Clinton and Williams suppressed large numbers of documents and the ways they arranged documents in their case file in order to deceive their permanently disabled former client.

Chapter 3: COMPARISON BETWEEN LEGAL MALPRACTICE ATTORNEY GOOCH AND LEGAL MALPRACTICE ATTORNEYS CLINTON AND WILLIAMS

CHAPTER 1: SUPPRESSION OF DOCUMENTS

Relevant facts:

1. Dulberg retained Ed Clinton and Julia Williams of the Clinton Law Firm to represent him in a legal malpractice claim against Thomas J. Popovich, Hans Mast and the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich around November 1, 2018.[1]

2. Dulberg's previous attorney was Thomas Gooch who was fired by Dulberg on October 8, 2018. Gooch received the termination letter on October 9, 2018.[2]

3. On October 10, 2018 at 5:25 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:[3]

> "... Per our discussion, here are the files.
>
> Please find the attached zip file.
>
> Download and extract the file to see what has been pleaded, the rulings etc...
>
> Among the files is a file named second_amended_complaint_comments.txt. Pay special attention to this file as it lays out what was going into the second amended complaint and lays out the case moving forward. There are large gaps of empty lines in this file. Please keep scrolling down to read all of it.
>
> I hope this helps prepare you for our consultation this Friday. ..."

Dulberg then wrote at 5:34 PM:

> "Oops forgot to attach the file...
> Here it is"

4. On November 1, 2018 at 7:18 AM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:[4]

> "... do I need to get the case file from The Gooch Firm or is that something you will work out with them?
> For your information,
> The Gooch Firm also has all the supporting documents including but not limited to the following;
>
> Scanned in Case files from both the Popovich Firm and the Baudin Firm, all emails between myself and Hans Mast from the Popovich firm with my emails to the Gooch firm identifying which of hundreds are the critical emails showing the false choices Hans

I would like to get a digital copy of everything the Gooch firm turns over because I should be able to provide anything they missed. ..."

5. On or just prior to November 27, 2018 Williams and Clinton received a thumb drive from Thomas Gooch (called "Gooch Thumbdrive")[1] that contains 6 main folders:

Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg DISCOVERY
Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg ORDERS
Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client
Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg PLEADINGS
Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg SUMMONS
Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS

Four of the main folders contain public documents from 17LA377 (Dulberg's legal malpractice case against Mast and Popovich). Only the 2 folders called "Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS" and "Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client" contain documents that needed to be disclosed to opposing counsel to comply with opposing counsel's document production requests.

6. When preparing documents to turn over to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019 Williams used only the contents of one of the folders called:

Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS

Williams did not include any of the contents of the other main Gooch Thumbdrive folder:

Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client

'Visual Aid 1 - Sources of bates order'[2] shows (in a simple way) how only one of the two main folders of Gooch Thumbdrive was given to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019 and how the other main folder only appeared as bates stamped documents over 13 months later as Williams was resigning as counsel.

7. 'Dulberg Master File'[3] is the electronic case file that Clinton and Williams gave to Dulberg after they resigned as counsel, so this is all we can see of the work product and folder systems which Clinton and Williams used to do day to day work on Dulberg's case.

8. Williams combined the contents of the folder 'Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS' with 18 pdf files she received directly from Dulberg (as email attachments) and placed them in a folder called:

1 Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 1-Gooch Thumbdrive
2 Visual Aids/Visual Aid 1 - Sources of bates order.png
3 Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 2-Dulberg Master File

Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Production JCW Working Folder/Dulberg JCW DRAFT To Be Produced[1]

9. Williams inexplicably included 15 public documents related to 17LA377 in the same folder. The names of each of the 17LA377 public documents were changed before being included among the bates-numbered documents. 'Visual Aid 3 - 377 Document Insertion hoax'[2] shows from where each 17LA377 public document was taken, what name each file was changed into, and into which folder the files were placed so they would appear in alphabetical order among bates-numbered documents given to opposing counsel.

From there the 17LA377 public documents were placed in the folder 'Dulberg JCW DRAFT To Be Produced'[3] to be bates-stamped as 'Visual Aid 3' shows in detail.

It is not possible that the renaming and movement of so many 17LA377 public documents and the insertion of them among bates numbered documents was accidental. Someone must have intentionally done this.

10. Williams merged the contents of the folder 'Dulberg JCW DRAFT To Be Produced' in alphabetical order into a single pdf in the same folder called:

1 Dulberg Documents to BE Produced NON TAX Complete JCW 2019 May 28.pdf[4]

11. Williams inexplicably removed an additional 121 pages from this pdf and duplicated one page to make another pdf in the same folder called:

1 Dulberg Documents to BE Produced NON TAX redacted Complete JCW 2019 May 28 copy.pdf[5]

The pdf is 2460 pages. The pages in this last pdf became the first 2460 bates-stamped documents in the pdf that Williams gave to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019 called:

"Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf"[6]

12. Williams did not inform Dulberg that "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf" did not contain any of the files from the main Gooch Thumbdrive folder:

Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client

13. Williams had 3 sets of Dulberg's emails before May 30, 2019 from these 3 sources:

1) Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS/Paul Dulberg's Emails[7]

1 Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 3-Dulberg JCW DRAFT To Be Produced
2 Visual Aids/Visual Aid 3 - 377 document insertion hoax.png
3 Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Group Exhibit folder 3-Dulberg JCW DRAFT To Be Produced
4 Exhibit 3-1-Dulberg Documents to BE Produced NON TAX Complete JCW 2019 May 28.pdf
5 Exhibit 4-1-Dulberg Documents to BE Produced NON TAX redacted Complete JCW 2019 May 28 copy.pdf
6 Exhibit 5-Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf
7 Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 6-Paul Dulberg Emails, 422 pages total

2) ‘Paul Dulberg’s Emails’ sent to Williams as email attachments[1]

3) Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client/Emails[2]

The first 2 sets have 422 unique email pages and the third set has 844 pages because it consists of 2 identical sets of emails which are 422 pages each.

14. On May 30, 2019 Williams handed over only the contents of “Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS/Paul Dulberg’s Emails” to opposing counsel but with many email documents inexplicably missing. The email documents Williams removed from the contents of ‘Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf’[3] that are included in ‘Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS/Paul Dulberg’s Emails’[4] and the subject each document covers are as follows:

15. Williams repeatedly misled Dulberg into believing that all relevant documents that she received from both the Gooch Thumbdrive and from Dulberg were contained in the file "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf"[1] and were given to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019 with the only exception being documents protected by attorney-client privilege.

16. On Jul 8, 2019 at 11:06 AM Dulberg sent an email (which contained a different forwarded email) to Williams stating:[2]

"... You Have my permission to talk with Tom Kost (My Brother) about this. ..."

"Paul, please forward this email to Julia.

Julia, please look at the information in the attached folder.

After examining all the documents in the Dulberg disclosure file and the Popovich disclosure file very carefully, Paul and I have discovered a number of things that are very useful for us to know.

Please read the "READ_ME" file in the folder first. That will guide you through the rest of the information.

After you feel that you are familiar with the contents of the folder, I think that you and I should talk about it by phone.

You can contact Paul through email to set up a time for a phone conversation between us when you are ready.

Thanks,

Tom Kost (Paul's brother)"

17. On July 22, 2019 at 6:58 AM Dulberg sent another email to Williams stating:[2]

"... I'm sending this email to confirm that you received the email below I sent on July 8th. ..."

Williams never responded to the request to meet or discuss these issues by phone.

18. On Jul 23, 2019 at 4:42 PM Williams wrote an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

"... First, we have not completed our discovery disclosure to the other side. We need to do so. Mast and the Popovich firm sent discovery requests to you (through us) some time ago. You sent responses and then we have modified them. We need to finalize these responses and send them. I received additional time, but we are well over our time and we need to get this completed.

Attached are the responses that I sent for your review on July 2, 2019 based upon your prior changes.

Under each of the 11 requests for production of documents Williams responded:

22. On October 21, 2019 at 1:40 PM Williams sent an email to Dulberg with 15 pdf attachments totaling over 4100 pages of documents.[1]
In a pdf called:[2]

'Dulberg RTP Responses FINAL 2019 September 4.pdf'

all of Dulberg's written answers stating:

"All relevant documents in Plaintiff's possession were produced" [emphasis added] were changed by Williams to:

"All relevant documents in Plaintiff's possession will be produced" [emphasis added] without Dulberg's permission or knowledge.

The meta-data[3] in the pdf code shows that the document 'Dulberg RTP Responses FINAL 2019 September 4.pdf' was created and modified on September 4, 2019.

A certification page signed by Dulberg called:[4]

was also attached to the email.

23. On November 4, 2019 Williams informed the Judge and opposing counsel that she produced "pretty much everything" in her possession in the following exchange:[5]

> "MR. FLYNN: So I think they are amending the discovery answers and possibly producing more documents. I'm not sure.
> THE COURT: Is that correct, counsel, not putting you on the spot, but is that an accurate representation?
> MS. WILLIAMS: Right. So I think we have produced pretty much everything we have, but I can talk to counsel about the documents." [emphasis added]

24. On November 26, 2019 at 3:33 PM Williams sent an email to opposing counsel Flynn stating:[6]

> "... Attached is the supplement interrogatory disclosure. As for documents, we have produced everything in our possession. ..." [emphasis added]

25. On December 17, 2019 at 11:00 AM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[1]

with 9 files attached.

The email had the following bates numbered documents attached and a verification statement signed by Dulberg:

> Dulberg BK Files Bates 2599.pdf
> Bates 2620.pdf
> Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf

26. The file:[2]

> "Dulberg BK Files Bates 2599"

is 21 pages and consists of the contents of this file in alphabetical order:[3]

> Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS/Files From Baudin's Office/Paul Dulberg - BK Docs

But Williams already turned over all contents of the folder 'Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS' on May 30, 2019 including the sub folder:

> Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS/Files From Baudin's Office/Paul Dulberg - BK Docs

so there were no files in "Dulberg BK Files Bates 2599" turned over in December 17, 2019 that were not already included in 'Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf'[4] which was turned over on May 30, 2019.

Williams must have known this because she created the original pdf and the files with the same names are in her working folder of the May 30, 2019 document production:[5]

These are the emails from SSDI and the Baudins that Williams suppressed earlier and one public document from the current case Dulberg v Popovich and Mast (17LA377) was inexplicably renamed and added to the group.

28. On Jan 31, 2020, at 12:45 PM, Julia Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[1]

> "... I am writing regarding the outstanding discovery issues. I am producing further documents bates stamped 2639- 2645.
> "2. Brad Balke. Brad Balke's appearance is attached as 2645. This should resolve all of the current discovery issues that you presented to us. We will continue to supplement our discovery responses if more documents are discovered. ..."

Williams was suppressing about 40 email documents between Balke and Dulberg while Williams wrote this and Flynn will later claim in a motion for summary judgment that Dulberg had the opportunity to inquire from Balke about Popovich and Mast.

29. The document:[2]

consists of 4 documents of 7 total pages including a single email document 'HansMast 2-65'[3] of an exchange between Balke and Dulberg about a packet of documents which was mishandled and mailed to the Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich P.C. when in the possession of Saul Ferris and remained at the Law office of Thomas J. Popovich P.C. `for two months without Dulberg's knowledge or consent.

30. Dulberg was deposed by opposing counsel on February 19, 2020 and Defendant Mast was deposed on June 25, 2020.

31. On June 19 2020 at 2:35 PM, six days before the deposition of Mast, Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[1]

> "Julia: I just received your notice of attorney lien. Will you still be taking the dep next week?
> My experience with receiving liens at this stage of litigation(in a high percentage of cases) is that a withdrawal shortly follows. Hopefully not the case here, but just making sure we are still on for Mast's dep. ..."

32. On June 25, 2020 at 12:31 PM, about 20 minutes after the deposition of Mast, Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[2]

> "... Just wanted to write while it is fresh in my mind, but I'd like to close the dangling issues from your client's deposition, including the production of communications with Mr. Gooch in view of the "discovery rule" issues. Please advise ..."

33. On June 26, 2020 12:13 PM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[3]

> "... Thank you for the follow up. I am working on the production today. Are you around on Monday—can we chat then? ..."

Williams never worked on any production of communications with Mr Gooch and she did not address the issue in court. Instead, she produced over 6000 pages of documents that were not related to Gooch in any noticeable way and then resigned as Dulberg's attorney.

34. On June 26, 2020 at 9:40 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[4]

> "... I am working to produce more documents to the other side as we indicated in your deposition and pursuant to our duty to continually update discovery. There appear to be some documents from the Gooch file that were not produced in discovery in the legal malpractice case and I want to make sure we have produced everything required to the other side. We are going to produce those now. Many appear to be duplicates. ..."

35. On July 9, 2020 at 11:42 AM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[5]

> "... Attached are more documents. As I stated on the phone, many are duplicative of what has already been produced but some are not. Because they came from a difference source, I could not determine what had been produced previously and what had not, thus, to be safe, I am producing everything. The documents should be searchable." The documents

38. On July 9, 2020 at 11:44 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[7]

"... This is the second email I sent to George with the fourth and final file. ..."

Attached files:

40. On Jul 10, 2020, at 10:46 AM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[4]

"... I believe there may have been three, but simply because the first email took forever to send as the documents attached were so large. The first contained all four of the files. The second contained three files and the third contained one file. There are only four files total—so the emails are duplicative as originally I did not believe the first email would send. Thus, you should have these four files:

1. Dulberg Stamped 2646-2649
2. Dulberg 2650-7892
3. Dulberg 7893-8551
4. Dulberg 8552-8708.

Please let me know if you did not receive all of the documents. ..."

Williams is 'flooding' Dulberg with an overwhelming number of documents and sneaking all but one of the documents that were previously suppressed into the flood, behind thousands of pages of useless material. Williams continues to suppress one document: the Appellate Court slip ruling Tilschner v Spangler.

41. The document disclosure on July 9, 2020 contained more than 6000 pages of documents which is more than double the amount of all document pages Williams disclosed to the opposing counsel before that date. In the region from DUL 005246 to DUL 008708 documents were produced for the first time from the folder:[5]

42. There are 3 large blocks of email documents in 'Dulberg 2650-7892.pdf'[1] as shown in 'Visual Aid 5 - Email hoax'[2].

DUL 002682 to DUL 002942[3] is 261 pages of the contents of the folder:

'Lawyer Emails by date'[4]

in alphabetical order. The folder contains 422 pages of unique email documents so 161 pages are missing.

'Visual Aid 6: Lawyer Emails by date hoax'[5] charts how the folder:

'Lawyer Emails by date'[6]

appears in the Williams-Clinton electronic case file. Williams first received the folder 'Lawyer Emails by date' on July 8, 2019 from Dulberg[7] as an attachment with 4 text files. One of the text files was named "_READ_ME.txt"[8] which has a section called "REFERENCE INFORMATION" in which Williams was informed:

> "... Folder: Lawyers Emails by date

43. On February 20, 2020, one day after Dulberg's deposition, Williams and Clinton ignored the '_READ_ME.txt'[9] file and treated the contents of 'Lawyer Email by date'[10] as if they were new email files that needed to be disclosed to opposing counsel. This is shown in detail in'Visual Aid 6'-Lawyer Emails by Date hoax'[11]. During the 6th step as described in 'Visual Aid 6', 161 pages of the emails inexplicably disappeared. The truncated 261 page version of the contents of 'Lawyer Emails by date' was merged with 32 pages of documents to make a pdf of 297 pages which can be found in Williams' work product at:

> Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Documents to Be Produced 2020 June 25/Dulberg Files to be produced legal mal 2020 june misc. (done)/Dulberg 1 Gooch Retainer Contract.pdf[1]

44. 'Visual Aid 7 - Repeating document hoax'[2] shows how this pdf was constructed by adding repeating patterns of previously released documents with bankruptcy documents that have nothing to do with Dulberg's' case and merging these with 261 pages of the contents of 'Lawyer Emails by date'.

45. DUL 004853 to DUL 005245[3] are 393 pages of the folder:

> 'Paul Dulberg Emails'[4]

in alphabetical order. The folder contains 422 pages of unique email documents so 29 pages are missing.

46. DUL 006688 to DUL 007531[5] are 844 pages of the contents of the folder:

> Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client/Emails[6]

This is the only bates numbered group of emails in which no emails were removed.

47. Of the 4 large blocks of email documents Williams turned over to opposing counsel in total, only one block had no documents missing. All missing email documents from each email block are listed in 'Visual Aid 7 - Email hoax'[7]. The pattern of missing email documents creates a type of hidden obstacle course for anyone who has to locate bates-stamped email documents. It could take a person hours or days just to locate a specific bates-stamped email document. It is impossible to know which email pages are missing from each email block section without carefully analyzing each document individually.

The collections of emails that Williams received from Dulberg and from the Gooch Thumbdrive were very organized as can be seen in:

> Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 6-Paul Dulberg Emails, 422 pages total[8]
> Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 7-folders of emails sent to Williams as email attachments, 422 pages total[9]

9 Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 7-folders of emails sent to Williams as email attachments,

Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 8-Emails, 844 pages total[1]

Those same collections of emails were turned into a hacked-up, confusing mess by Williams and Clinton just before being bates stamped and sent to opposing counsel as 'Visual Aid 5'[2] shows.

48. DUL 002943 to DUL 004852[3] is an exact duplicate of DUl 000001 to DUL 002460[4] with some files removed so it contains no new documents that were not already produced. It is not plausible that Williams did not know DUL 002943 to DUL 004852 did not contain the same files as DUL 000001 to DUL 002460 because she could easily compare the 2 folders containing the contents of each section:

Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Documents to Be Produced 2020 June 25/Gooch Files to Be Produced in Legal Mal 2020 June/Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS (done)[6]

The contents of both folders are compared side by side in 'Visual Aid 10 - Duplicating long alphabetical list hoax'[7] and their source folders are shown. With the exception of the documents added to the May 30, 2019 document disclosure (the sources of which are mapped in 'Visual Aid 10'), the contents of the two folders can be seen to be basically identical.

49. DUL 002650 to DUL 002681[8] are the same 4 files totaling 7 pages from "Dulberg Bates 2639 to 2645 2020 Jan 31.pdf"[9] already turned over to opposing counsel on January 31, 2020 repeated 3 times with a 10 page bankruptcy document of 'Patricia Gallagher' and another bankruptcy document. The repeating pattern of 4 files is shown in 'Visual Aid 7 - Repeating document hoax'[10] and the source folders for the documents are shown.

50. This means that in the massive file 'Dulberg 2650-7892.pdf'[11] (which is over 5200 pages) the first 2596 pages does not contain a single relevant document that had not already been produced. The last 2646 pages had information being produced for the first time from the folder:

The documents being produced for the first time were hidden behind 2596 pages that did not contain a single document that was not already produced. The final bates numbered documents were then given to their fully disabled client just before Clinton and Williams resigned as counsel and just after opposing counsel filed a supplemental document production request for some of these documents being bates stamped and released by Williams for the first time. They are gas-lighting a handicapped person to the extreme to greatly weaken his valid claims.

51. On July 27, 2020 at 2:24 PM Ed Clinton sent an email to Dulberg stating:

> "... Please see the attached letter. Best Regards ..."[1]

In the attached letter[2] Clinton and Williams resigned as Dulberg's attorneys.

52. On July 29, 2020 at 1:56 PM Dulberg sent an email to Ed Clinton and Julia Williams with the subject "Need clarification on outstanding issues before your departure" stating:[3]

> "... Outstanding questions on open issues for Clinton firm before departure:
> 2. What happened with the objections raised during Dulberg's deposition when Dulberg was questioned about conversations with Dulberg's former counsel Gooch? Did you get a ruling or does that still need to be argued before judge Meyer? ..."

Williams answered:

> "... There has been no motion practice on the issue and thus, there is no ruling. Your future counsel will need to bring that before the Judge at some point. ..."[4]

Dulberg also asked:

> "... 3. Similar to the last question, Have the objections in the Mast deposition been worked out or ruled on by judge Meyer? ..."

Williams answered:

> "... There has been no motion practice on the issue and thus, there is no ruling. Your future counsel will need to bring that before the Judge at some point. ..."

53. The Clinton law firm filed[5] their Motion to Withdraw as Dulberg's counsel on August 18, 2020 and were granted[6] the Motion to Withdraw on September 10, 2020.

54. On August 19, 2020 at 8:11 AM Paul Dulberg sent an email with Williams and Clinton

Now that you have filed for withdrawal I need to ask for a few things before you depart.

1.) The case file.
2.) PDF's of all communications/correspondence with opposing counsel.
3.) The paper copies of the Baudin case file I provided you with at our first meeting in your office.

The first 2 items I can download from a link you provide but the 3rd Item I will need to pick up or you can ship it to me at my expense. Also, I still have your thumb drive. I can mail it back to you or drop it off when I pick up the paper Baudin file. Let me know which you prefer. Thank you both again for your professionalism and help with my case ..."

55. On August 19, 2020 at 1:26 PM Julia Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[2]

"... We are happy to provide whatever documents you need. Mary will be preparing an electronic copy of the file for you. Because your file is large, we will likely send you a drive with the full file. We will mail it to your home. For the paper copies of the Baudin file, please work directly with Mary on picking those up or having them shipped. ..."

56. On August 20, 2020 at 5:10 AM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[3]

"... I emailed Mary about the case files but I have one other concern. At our first meeting Ed made copies of the checks I wrote to Gooch. I would like a copy of these included in the case file. The retainer check was $10,000 and another $5,000 check was written to cover the initial costs for filing fee's and an expert witness. Ed said he would get the $5,000 back from Gooch. Was anything done with this or does Gooch still have the extra $5,000 for the expert witness that was never hired? ..."

57. On August 25, 2020 at 10:37 AM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[4]

"... This is just a reminder. The following 3 items are to be shipped via UPS or Fedex, 2nd day delivery option, to my home at my expense.

1. The current case file - on a thumb drive
2. All communications with opposing counsel and any other party regarding my case - on a thumb drive
3. The paper Baudin case file from the underlying case - in a box

I am still waiting on the tracking number Mary sent that should have the thumb drive with the current case file. ..."

61. On October 15, 2020, at 4:01 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:[4]

"... I know your off this case but I am overwhelmed and could use your help.

I messed up a few weeks ago when you sent the thumb drive. It filled my hard drive and I couldn't get it all in the Mac and I had a computer crash. My machine froze up and I had to move or delete a lot of data. I tried to then to use my old 32 bit windows PC and move

Send new emails with all the final discovery documents

62. On October 15, 2020, at 11:23 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:[1]

"... Have all the items in a folder named "Dulberg Documents to Be Produced 2020 June 25" been sent to opposing counsel already? ..."

63. On October 16, 2020 at 8:40 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[2]

"Everything that was produced is in the file Dulberg Discovery Produced by Dulberg to OC. All the files in the 2020 June folde should have been produced over the summer. ..."

64. On Oct 16, 2020, at 10:38 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:[3]

"... It looks like everything in the "Dulberg Documents to Be Produced 2020 June 25" is in the "Dulberg Docs Produced by Dulberg to OC" with the exception of "Dulberg JCW Notes re Discovery 2020 June 26.docx", which is your notes, and the "Dulberg Paul's Notes on Deposition and handwritten notes 2020 July 1" which is nothing more than a color duplicate of the black and white PDFs produced in the "Dulberg 7893-8551 .pdf"

Is it safe for me to assume that opposing counsel has been given all documents with the exception of the privileged gooch emails? [Emphasis Added]

Also, I see in the "Dulberg JCW Notes re Discovery 2020 June 26.docx" that you were worried about the waiver issue for Gooch. I don't agree, I answered those questions in the deposition under an objection and certainly didn't waive privilege.

It appears the defense counsel is confused over when I should have known of an injury vs when I learned from an attorney that I had a case in an attempt to pry into privileged communications that cannot change the outcome for their stated goal of reopening the statute of limitations and deposing Gooch and myself for a second time.

It seems to me to be simple math when calculating the statute of limitations

1. The malpractice happened between October 2013 and February 2014 in the underlying case
2. The earliest I could or should have known of the injury was December 12th, 2016 from the award in the underlying case
3. This case was filed on November 28, 2017
4. There is no conversation that could take place between myself and Gooch that could change the first two dates even in the slightest and the third date, the date we filed suit was the culmination of our work product in the current case, not the underlying case.

One more question, Where do I find all the final answers we sent to opposing counsel for the interrogatories and supplemental interrogatories? ..."

65. On October 16, 2020 at 10:44 AM Dulberg wrote an email with the subject "PLEASE HELP WITH CASE FILE" to Williams stating:[1]

"Oh, and just so you are aware, I may have to argue this on my own without counsel and I am going to do everything I can to see this case through to the end.
Continue to help me navigate your case file, perhaps correct me when I am wrong and I will make sure your lean gets satisfied out of the award.
Thank you all for what you have done thus far ..."

66. On October 16, 2020 at 12:45 PM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[2]

"Paul:

You are safe in assuming that everything we possessed was produced with the exception of the privilege Gooch documents/emails. [Emphasis Added]

The file titled "Dulberg Discovery Produced to Def" contains all of the written discovery turned over to the opposing party, including, interrogatory answers, responses to request to produce, documents that were produced in response to the request to produce. ..."

One document was completely suppressed by Williams and never turned over to opposing counsel by the Clinton Firm: The Appellate Court slip ruling Tilschner v Spangler

67. On October 19, 2020 at 8:25 AM Paul Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[3]

"Hi Julia and Ed,

I'm sure you noticed the amount of emails I have sent. I'm in a frantic state to find new counsel and simultaneously try to learn what I call "legalese" so I can reply to and argue Flynns Motion on my own if need be and learn your file system.

Before I go give $10,000 on yet another attorney, whom I don't know, I wanted to give you an option since your already familiar with the case, know the case file and I do trust you and don't think it fair that you did all that work and may not get paid what you should if I end up hiring the wrong attorney.

In less than 3 months I will have enough cash in hand to fund this case and finish it 3x over. It will probably take less time but that is my worst case scenario as my family and I move to liquidate some assets and free up our capital rather than borrow from loan sharks

I am hoping that you would be interested in taking back representation of this case.

Rather than hire a new attorney, I can use the $10,000 to pay for you legal services over the next 3 months

This gives me 3 months to make the arrangements needed to have enough funding to go at this paying in full the whole way through.

If after 3 months I don't have the funds to finish this case, you can withdraw again.

I believe this would give both of us the best chances at recouping the money and time invested thus far.

Time is limited so please think about this and let me know in the next day or two."

68. On October 19, 2020 Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

"... We will cannot accept your matter again.

As for the remainder of the emails that you sent, we provided you with the entire file. The documents are labeled. Anything in the folder that stated it was produced to OC—I provided the specific name in my email last week—those documents/written discovery answers were produced to OC. If it's not in that folder, it wasn't produced. There are several duplicates of documents—you should cross check it with that folder. We did produce everything we could to OC with the exception of confidential communication between you and Gooch. I believe all the other relevant and requested documents were produced. [Emphasis Added]

We did not respond to the July 2020 supplemental discovery that George Flynn issued to you. I sent the requests in an email to you, but they are also on the flash drive.

Again, everything is on the flash drive, so we recommend that you look there. We wish you the best of luck. ..."

69. From the time Flynn mentioned taking care of "dangling loose ends" to Williams (about 20 minutes after the end of the Mast deposition on June 25, 2020) to the time that Williams either resigned as Dulberg's counsel on July 27, 2020 or received a court order granting the Motion to Withdraw on September 10, 2020, Williams did no noticeable work other than the production of the more than 6000 documents she had been actively suppressing since May 30, 2019. Yet she continued to suppress one document: The Appellate Court slip ruling Tilschner v Spangler. She did no noticeable work to address either the Gooch communications nor did she object to turning them over in court.

70. Williams was in possession of the Gooch Thumbdrive[1] since around November 28, 2018 which is about 6 months before she first turned over 2598 pages of documents to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019. The excuse Williams gave Dulberg for sneaking the suppressed documents back into the documents turned over to opposing counsel was that she needed to "ensure that Gooch's entire file on the underlying case was sent" and she needed to ensure that "communications from your subsequent counsel in the underlying case" were also sent to Flynn.

71. Williams does not explain why Gooch's entire file (which she had in her possession since November, 2018) was finally being turned over on July 9, 2020 just 18 days before she resigned as Dulberg's attorney. Williams does not explain why "communications from your subsequent counsel in the underlying case" were being turned over on July 9, 2020 just 18 days before she resigned as Dulberg's attorney. If Williams did not intentionally suppress the email documents on May 30, 2019, Williams would not have had to disclose the same documents on July 9, 2020 (that she intentionally kept suppressed for almost 14 months).

72. Communication between Flynn and Williams shows that Williams performed actions on June 19, 2020 which led Flynn to believe there was a high probability Williams would resign as Dulberg's attorney (and Williams actually did resign as Dulberg's attorney on July 27, 2020). She released over 6000 pages of documents to Flynn on July 9, 2020, which is about 20 days after Flynn was led to believe there was a strong possibility she would be resigning shortly, and 18 days before she actually did resign. Williams released over 6000 pages of documents to the opposing party over 9 months after Williams stated in the November 4, 2019 court transcript: "So I think we have produced pretty much everything we have, but I can talk to counsel about the documents" and almost 14 months after Williams released 2598 pages of documents to the opposing counsel on May 30, 2019.

73. Williams and Clinton also created misleading work product in the electronic case file they gave to Dulberg and subsequent counsel in order to hide what were doing and to deceive Dulberg and any future attorney Dulberg may have concerning how and when documents were produced to Opposing Counsel. For example, the folder 'Dulberg Master File\Gooch Files'[2] contains other folders that were renamed to show how Williams should have produced Dulberg's documents to opposing counsel but did not. The proof given in this complaint and accompanying Visual Aids shows Williams did not produce Dulberg's documents in the way that is suggested in the folder 'Gooch Files' (but pretended to Dulberg that she did). The folder is not true work product. It is made to create an 'alibi' or 'decoy'. Another example of a 'decoy' folder is 'Dulberg Master File\ Dulberg Research'[3] which was created on May 28, 2019 just (before the May 30, 2019 document disclosure) as a way to hide the certified Appellate Court slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler.

74. Each of the Visual Aids appear to show a series of intentional hoaxes that Williams and Clinton knowingly played on Dulberg. Williams and Clinton also appear to mock their own fully disabled client by repeatedly mis-typing his name as "Duhlburg" as can be seen in "Visual Aid 11 - Mocking client"[1]. This appears to be an inside joke at the Clinton Law office where their client appears as stupid. "Duh" Dulberg seems not to know how the more intelligent Williams and Clinton are secretly sabotaging his case.

CHAPTER 2: COLLABORATION WITH OPPOSING ATTORNEY TO BENEFIT THE DEFENDANTS AND SABOTAGE PLAINTIFF'S CASE

2A THE EXAMPLE OF BANKRUPTCY

2A1. Dulberg declared bankruptcy on November 26, 2014[2] while he was the plaintiff in PI case 12LA178.

2A2. The defendants, Thomas Popovich and Hans Mast (Dulberg's attorneys at the time Dulberg filed for bankruptcy) continued to represent Dulberg in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court even though they knew:

(a) The case was under the automatic stay in The 7th Circuit United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division.

(b) Dulberg had no standing to pursue the case while the case was under an automatic stay in The 7th Circuit United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division.

(c) All acts in violation of the automatic stay are void.

2A3. As stated in Re Enyeti:

"It is well established in case law that acts taken in violation of the automatic stay imposed under section 362(a) of the Bankruptcy Code are deemed void ab initio and lack effect. See Middle Tenn. News Co., Inc. v. Charnel of Cincinnati, Inc., 250 F.3d 1077, 1082 (7th Cir. 2001) ("Actions taken in violation of an automatic stay ordinarily are void."); York Ctr. Park Dist. v. Krilich, 40 F.3d 205, 207 (7th Cir. 1994) (judgment issued against debtors without a modification of the automatic stay must be vacated); Matthews v. Rosene, 739 F.2d 249, 251 (7th Cir. 1984) (orders issued in violation of automatic stay provisions of Bankruptcy Code ordinarily are void); In re Benalcazar, 283 B.R. 514, (Bankr.N.D.Ill. 2002) (same); Garcia v. Phoenix Bond Indem. Co. 2A4. Williams and Clinton, as Dulberg's retained legal malpractice attorneys, must have known about the automatic stay and Dulberg's lack of standing but they never informed Dulberg of this. They must have known that the acts of Popovich and Mast can be viewed as an attempt to change the value of an asset in a Federal Bankruptcy Estate.

2A5. Williams and Clinton must have also known that all of Dulberg's attorneys (after Dulberg filed for bankruptcy on November 26, 2014, Popovich, Brad Balke and the Baudins) violated the automatic stay and represented Dulberg in the Illinois 22nd Judicial Circuit Court even though each must have known the court had no jurisdiction and that Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in the PI case. Williams and Clinton must have known all 3 law firms pushed Dulberg to settle his case against Gagnon in violation of Federal Bankruptcy laws, and that these attempts can be viewed as efforts to change the value of an asset in a Federal Bankruptcy Estate.

2A6. Dulberg informed Williams to include information about Dulberg's November 26, 2014 bankruptcy in the SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT. Dulberg informed Williams that the bankruptcy trustee forced him into a binding mediation agreement against his will.

2A7. On December 4, 2018 at 2:20 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:[1]

"Please find the two file attachments named working.pdf and comment on complaint.txt Comment on complaint.txt contains a color code explanation for what is in working.pdf. Also, I have attached the order in which the judge decided what was stricken along with the transcripts that will be needed to decipher the courts order. Please feel free to contact me with any and all questions you may have."

2A8. In the document "working.pdf" Dulberg edited paragraph 43 in red font to include:[2] [3]

"Dulberg, who was injured, disabled and unable to work with household bills stacking up, realized the medical bills and attorney fees would leave him with very little if anything and decided to file for bankruptcy protection. Mast then tried to get Dulberg to enter into a mediation with Gagnon with a $50,000 cap. At this point Dulberg severed the relationship with Mast."

Dulberg edited paragraph 44 to state:[4] [5]

"In December of 2016, Dulberg was ordered by the Bankruptcy Trustee into a binding mediation related to his claims against Gagnon."

Dulberg edited paragraph 46 in red font to include:[1] [2]

"Due to the Binding Mediation Agreement into which the Bankruptcy Trustee ordered Dulberg, Dulberg could not collect more from Gagnon. The bankruptcy trustee took the money and paid Dulberg's debt in full (it was a 100% solvent bankruptcy)."

2A9. On Dec 5, 2018, at 10:33 AM, Julia Williams wrote:[3]

"... Attached please find the revised version of the second amended complaint. We will plan to file it tomorrow by morning. If you can, I request that you send further thoughts and edits by 5pm today. I have a deposition in the afternoon and cannot file it later in the day. I reviewed your comments and edits. Overall, many were accepted. There were some, particularly the language about the bankruptcy, that I thought were unnecessary and would simply muddy the waters for the judge.

In this case, we need to show that Mast/Popovich had a duty to advise you properly and protect your interest, they failed to do that by urging you to settle with the McGuires when you could have continued with the case against them and obtained a much better result, instead you settled and were not able to recover at least $300,000. The bankruptcy proceedings are necessary to this case. They will add color to the case and the information will definitely come out in the discovery process. That being said, I don't want to confuse the issues and the recovery by making allegations about the bankruptcy in the complaint. Further, I don't want to increase any burden of proof we may have by making allegations that are necessary to prove our case. ..."

Williams removed any mention of Dulberg's 2014 bankruptcy from the second amended complaint.[4] [5]

2A10. On May 30, 2019 Williams turned over "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf"[6] in which the contents from the folder 'Gooch thembdrive\Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCS\Files From Baudin's Office\Paul Dulberg - BK Docs'[7] appear in alphabetical order in the following bates number locations:

DUL 001844 ..... Meeting of creditors notice
DUL 001913 ..... Order dated October 31, 2016 issued by bankruptcy judge for bankruptcy trustee to enter into binding mediation

2A11. Dulberg informed Williams that Dulberg never agreed to enter into any Binding Mediation and he refused to sign any Binding Mediation Agreement. Williams was in possession of a proposed Binding Mediation Agreement which was unsigned by any party and failed to investigate and obtain the executed Binding Mediation Agreement.

2A12. Williams and Clinton, who had full access to the clerks file in 12LA178 and are professional Legal Malpractice Attorneys, could see all the activity that took place moving the PI case forward to a resolution in violation of the automatic stay. Williams and Clinton failed to investigate or obtain any of the underlying case 12LA178 Reports of Proceedings. In particular they failed to investigate the time from June 13, 2016 to August 10, 2016 in which the Baudins and Allstate attorney Reddington first proposed and then came to a full agreement and set a date for Binding Mediation in the Illinois 22nd Judicial Circuit Court. The Baudins and Reddington did this in violation of the automatic stay, while knowing that the Illinois 22nd Judicial Circuit Court had no jurisdiction over the PI case and while knowing Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in the PI case.

Trustee Joseph Olsen was first appointed Trustee over Dulberg's bankruptcy estate on August 31, 2016 (weeks after Allstate attorney Reddington and the Baudins already came to a final agreement on binding mediation).

2A13. On October 31, 2016, almost 3 months after Allstate attorney Reddington and the Baudins finalized a Binding Mediation Agreement and set a hearing date, the following exchange took place in bankruptcy court:[1]

> "MR. OLSEN: Good morning, Your Honor. Joseph Olsen, trustee. This comes before the Court on two motions. One is to authorize the engagement of special counsel to pursue a personal injury litigation, I think it's in Lake County, involving a chainsaw accident of some sort. And then, presumably, if the Court grants that, the second one is to authorize the estate to enter into -- I'm not sure what you call it, but binding mediation. But there's a floor of $50,000, and there's a ceiling of $300,000.
> And I guess I've talked with his attorney. He seems very enthusiastic about it. There may be some issues about the debtor being a good witness or not, I guess. It had to do with a neighbor who asked him to help him out with a chainsaw, and then I guess the neighbor kind of cut off his arm, or almost cut off his arm right after that. There's some bitterness involved, understandably, I guess.
>
> But I don't do personal injury work at all, so I'm not sure how that all flows through to a jury, but he didn't seem to want to go through a jury process. He liked this process, so...
>
> THE COURT: Very well. Mr. Olsen, first of all, with regard to the application to employ

1 Exhibit A6-DULBERG 10-31-16-1.pdf

the Baudin law firm, it certainly appears to be in order and supported by affidavit. Their proposed fees are more consistent with at least what generally is the market than some of the fees you and I have seen in some other matters. One question for you: Have you seen the actual engagement agreement?

MR. OLSEN: I thought it was attached to my motion.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. OLSEN: If it's not, it should have been. It's kind of an interesting -- actually, this is kind of a unique one. The debtor actually paid them money in advance, and then he's going to get a credit if they actually win, which I guess enures, now, to my benefit, but that's okay. And there's a proviso for one-third, except if we go to trial, then it's 40 percent. So these are getting more creative by the PI bar as we plod along here, I guess, but...

THE COURT: It's a bar that's generally pretty creative. And my apologies. I saw the affidavit, but you did have the agreement attached, and one was in front of the other. And the agreement is just as you describe it. It appears to be reasonable, and so I'll approve the application. Tell me about this binding mediation. It's almost an oxymoron, isn't it?

MR. OLSEN: Well, I guess the mediators don't know there's a floor and a ceiling. I'm not sure where that comes from, but that's -- yeah. And whatever number they come back at is the number we're able to settle at, except if it's a not guilty or a zero recovery, we get 50,000, but to come back at 3 million, we're capped at 300,000.

THE COURT: Interesting.

MR. OLSEN: A copy of the mediation agreement should also be attached to that motion.

THE COURT: And I do see that. That appears to be in order. It's one of those you wish them luck

MR. OLSEN: I don't want to micromanage his case.

THE COURT: But that, too, sounds reasonable. There's been no objection?

MR. OLSEN: Correct.

THE COURT: Very well. I will approve -- authorize, if you will, for you to enter into the binding mediation agreement, see where it takes you.

MR. OLSEN: Thanks, Your Honor."

2A14. In July, 2019 Dulberg asked Williams to subpoena bankruptcy documents and communications from bankruptcy trustees Heeg and Olsen. Williams told Dulberg that she could not subpoena Heeg's records because Heeg had retired[1] and the documents are no longer available to us. Dulberg was told by Williams that bankruptcy Trustee Olsen has responded to the subpoena "informally". Trustee Olsen did not include a certificate of compliance with his response to the subpoena and Williams never asked for one.

2A15. On September 5, 2019 the following exchange took place in court:[1]

> "MR. FLYNN: Any date in November is fine with me, your Honor. I would like to have a resolution of the privilege issue, though. It sounds like the decision hasn't been made, so --
>
> MS. WILLIAMS: I think we're waiving privilege. I'll say it on the record, we're going to waive privilege.
>
> MR. FLYNN: Okay. THE COURT: Okay.
>
> MR. FLYNN: The only other issue that was raised -- I just reviewed the written discovery yesterday and you had (indiscernible) 201(k) that there was a bankruptcy that was mentioned kind of vaguely in one of the answers. It sounds or appears that either the bankruptcy judge or the trustee had enforced or required a mediation and a high-low agreement. To the extent that those documents are responsive to any of the requests -- and I'll have to go through them to see if they are. Otherwise I'll just issue a supplemental, but I think the bankruptcy file and communications with the trustee are probably responsive to our discovery, so I would just request that those be included in our --
> MS. WILLIAMS: I think we produced a number of the bankruptcy issues, but we can talk about it today and definitely try to work out -- there's definitely -- there was a bankruptcy. We're not trying to hide that bankruptcy, so. And the trustee did resolve -- there was an arbitration based on the trustee's recommendation in the bankruptcy for the individual."

2A16. On November 4, 2019 the following exchange took place in court:[2]

> "MR. FLYNN: So I think they are amending the discovery answers and possibly producing more documents. I'm not sure.
>
> THE COURT: Is that correct, counsel, not putting you on the spot, but is that an accurate representation?
> MS. WILLIAMS: Right. So I think we have produced pretty much everything we have, but I can talk to counsel about the documents." [Emphasis Added]

2A17. On December 17, 2019 at 11:00 AM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[3]

> "... In preparation for our call today, I am resending the all discovery as I don't think you received some of them the first time. ..." [Emphasis Added]

On May 30, 2019 Williams already turned over all contents of the folder:

so there were no files in "Dulberg BK Files Bates 2599"[3] turned over on December 17, 2019 that were not already included in 'Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf'[4] (which was turned over on May 30, 2019). Williams must have known this because she created the original pdf and the files are in her working folder at:

Dulberg Master File\Dulberg Production JCW Working Folder\Dulberg JCW DRAFT To Be Produced[5] [6]

2A18. On January 29, 2020 at 3:50 PM Williams first notified Dulberg the documents that Williams provided to Flynn on December 17, 2019 were given to opposing counsel.[7]

2A19. On February 19, 2020 at 6:09 AM (which was the morning of Dulberg's deposition) Dulberg sent an email with the subject "Capped ADR agreement issue" to Julia C. Williams and Ed Clinton which stated:[8]

"Hi Julia and Ed,

Yesterday we talked about the bankruptcy court ordering the case into ADR with a cap on the amount that could be recovered.

This was an agreement between Allstate, the Baudins and the trustee that put the motion before the bankruptcy court.

I did some talking with at least 12 bankruptcy attorneys on those free legal advise forums last night

All said basically the same thing. This should not have been allowed without the owner of the case/asset, me, agreeing to it.

I was given this example which I believe best explains it.

In chapter 7 bankruptcy
You go into Bankruptcy and the court orders your assets (like your home) to be auctioned off to pay your creditors which is legal
But they took it one step too far when they capped the amount
Since it's already going to auction its not fair to you, the actual owner of the asset or even the creditors, to cap the amount that can be recovered at auction
They are supposed to let the auction play out to recover what the highest bidder pays, not cap it.
Capping the highest bid at an auction makes no sense
The same goes for any recovery from any asset including a personal injury suit
I'm sorry this happen to you

Now that I know this, I'm not 100% here, but I think I understand why the trustee Joe Olsen hired the Baudins to represent him Any advise on this would be helpful ..."

2A21. A reasonable person can conclude that when Williams informed Dulberg that she could not obtain any documents from bankruptcy Trustee Heeg since Heeg is retired[2], the claim was factually untrue. A reasonable person can also conclude that when Williams allowed Trustee Olsen to respond to the subpoena "informally", valuable information was hidden from Dulberg that he needed to know in his case against Mast and Popovich (and that Dulberg's later counsel had to discover through his own efforts and which is written into civil complaint 2022L010905[3] naming Bankruptcy Trustee Olsen and the Baudins as defendants).

A reasonable person can conclude that Williams intentionally suppressed the large majority of bankruptcy documents on May 30, 2019 and suppressed any mention of bankruptcy in the 2nd Amended Complaint to sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast. By suppressing the subject of Dulberg's 11/26/2014 bankruptcy from the 2nd Amended Complaint and from "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf"[4] given to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019, opposing counsel Flynn was able to avoid all the complex issues raised in civil complaint 2022L010905[5] such as:

(a) That Dulberg's signature was fraudulently placed on the Executed Binding Mediation Agreement executed on 12/8/2016.

(b) That Trustee Olsen misrepresented Dulberg's consent to the Bankruptcy Judge on 10/31/2016.

(c) That Popovich, Balke, Allstate, the Baudins and Trustee Olsen all knew Dulberg had no standing to pursue the case 12LA178 while the case was under an automatic stay.

(d) That Popovich[1], Allstate, Balke[2], the Baudins[3] and Trustee Olsen[4] all knew the case 12LA178 proceeded in the Circuit Court in violation of the automatic stay.

(e) That the Baudins by agreement with Allstate, in violation of the automatic stay, before the Baudins were approved to be hired as special counsel under Trustee Olsen on 10/31/2016, misrepresented Dulberg as agreeing to Binding Mediation in Circuit Court on 8/10/2016 and asked Associate Judge Meyer to delay the next status hearing to 12/12/2016 after the Binding Mediation was to take place on 12/8/2016.[5] [6] [7]

(f) That the Baudins and Allstate's acts in violation of the automatic stay, started laying the groundwork as early as 6/13/2016[8] and finally set the Binding Mediation date for 12/8/2016 on 8/10/2016 in the Circuit Court.[9] [10] This happened before Trustee Olsen was even appointed to the position on 8/31/2016[11] and before Trustee Olsen received permission from the Honorable Judge Thomas M. Lynch, to hire the Baudins as special counsel and give Trustee Olsen permission to enter into the proposed capped Binding Mediation Agreement on 10/31/2016.[12]

(g) That the Baudins filed their APPEARANCE as REGULAR COUNSEL in 12LA178 on 11/6/2015 in violation of the automatic stay.[13]

(h) That there is no APPEARANCE filed by the Baudin Defendants that is not VOID in case 12LA178.

(i) That the Baudin Defendants' failed to file an APPEARANCE to represent the bankruptcy estate in case 12LA178 after being hired as special counsel by Trustee Olsen.

(j) That Trustee Olsen received permission from the Bankruptcy court to enter into the proposed Binding Mediation Agreement and later made a choice and Trustee Olsen did not act and sign on the advice of his special counsel the Baudins.[14]

(k) That Trustee Olsen did not "pursue" and "exercise control" over the claim/asset and in doing so Abandoned the asset and it reverted back to the DEBTOR.[1]

(l) The Baudin Defendants were approved and hired as Special Counsel for the Estate and in such a capacity had no standing to execute a Binding Mediation Agreement for the DEBTOR.[2]

(m) The only party with standing over abandoned assets is the DEBTOR.

(n) That there can be no agreement between Allstate and the Baudin Defendants acting as counsel for the bankruptcy estate to have the case dismissed with prejudice in the Circuit Court on 12/12/2016 since the Baudins failed to file any appearance anywhere that is not VOID and had no standing since they did not represent the DEBTOR.[3]

(o) Trustee Olsen and the Baudins collected the monies paid out by Allstate after ABANDONING the ASSET that then reverted back to the DEBTOR.[4]

The avoidance of every one of these issues raised in complaint 2022L010905 clearly benefits the defendants in that it limits Dulberg's possible recovery in the underlying case (12LA178) current case (17LA377) against Popovich and Mast to a $300,000 cap previously imposed by the bankruptcy trustee, Allstate and the Baudins. Once the issues raised in civil complaint 2022L010905 are taken into consideration, serious doubts involving genuine issues of material fact are raised concerning whether any such 'cap' can be considered binding or legal or was obtained fraudulently.[5]

The available evidence demonstrates that the 'cap' was created by the Baudins and by Allstate alone, in violation of the automatic stay, in a court which had no jurisdiction, while knowing that all actions under such conditions are legally void, and without Dulberg's knowledge or consent, close to 3 months before Olsen was appointed Trustee of the bankruptcy estate.

Williams and Clinton could have obtained all necessary court transcripts and common law records to know how and when the cap was actually created. Williams and Clinton failed to: Investigate, obtain certified responses to any subpoena, obtain an executed Binding Mediation Agreement, or hold any of those who violated the automatic stay accountable.

2B THE EXAMPLE OF SAUL FERRIS

2B1. On May 30, 2019 Williams suppressed 2 documents of email communication between Saul Ferris and Dulberg and 7 other documents of email communication mentioning Saul Ferris, packages of Dulberg's documents Saul Ferris had in his possession, and a missing pretrial settlement conference letter. The documents are:

2B2. Williams had to suppress documents from 3 different sources in her possession since she was provided with at least 3 different complete versions of Dulberg's emails before May 29, 2019 (One on the Gooch Thumbdrive in the main folder "Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCUMENTS"[9], one on the Gooch Thumbdrive in the main folder called "Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client"[10], and one sent to Williams as email attachments[11]. Only one document of email communications mentioning Saul Ferris and a package of documents Ferris sent to Dulberg was included in the May 30, 2019 document disclosure: "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf"[12]. It is DUL 001334 which is the file "Hans Mast2-64"[13].

2B3. Williams also suppressed a document sent to her from Dulberg as an email attachment called "rejection letters.pdf"[14]. Additionally, Williams suppressed two documents of declination letters from the Gooch thumbdrive[15] [16]. To do this Williams had to suppress declination letters from two different sources (one from the folder "Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files from Client"[17] on the Gooch Thumbdrive and one sent by Dulberg to Williams as an email attachment called "rejection letters.pdf"[18])

2B4. On January 29, 2020 st 3:50 PM Williams asked Dulberg about Balke:[1]

> 2. I see that there are some emails with Brad Balke. See Bates Stamp Dulberg 1322-1323, 1334, 1319, 1321. It appears that Brad Balke obtained your legal file from Hans Mast, reviewed it, but did not represent you, and turned the file over to you. Is that correct? ..."

On January 29, 2020 at 8:21 PM Dulberg responded from memory stating:[2]

> "... I pulled this from memory but believe I have documented most or all of this within the emails but I would need a few days to dig through and cite the documentation.
> You are partly correct and partly incorrect.
> Balke did get the legal file and did represent Dulberg for a very short while.
> Balke was outright fired by Dulberg.
> Balke did make the file available to Dulberg much quicker than Mast. Balke left the file for Dulberg to pick up at an attorney office who was named Donahue in McHenry. ..."

On January 30, 2020 at 10:26 AM, after searching through the records he had on Balke, Dulberg responded further by sending a few emails to Williams noting he had found email communications about Saul Ferris with Balke that were not in the bates numbered documents, stating:[3]

> "... This Morning I looked up when Brad Balke filed his appearance and I found the attached document I named Balke Appearance.pdf It was March 19, 2015.
> This is what was filed in the public record.
> This should have been in the Gooch files.
> Looking back, I never received the digital Gooch files that were turned over to your office. Confirmed in email dated April 18,2019. The Gooch files should have included the entire case file that Mast turned over to me and the addition of the Balke and Baudin files as well as all communication records, bankruptcy documents, disability records, etc...
> Gooch took 6+ months to get all those records scanned in and I never was able to confirm he actually scanned in all of them.
> On another note,
>
> I found this: 05-08-15_Hans Mast2-56.pdf which is also attached.
> You may have this as, Hans Mast2-56.pdf
> This was provided to you on or around 11/17/2018 when I sent you all the communications I had.
> I did not find this in any of the bates numbered documents.
> It shows that the file was sent back to Saul Ferris and that I picked it up and delivered it to the firm named Danahu and Walsh at the direction of Balke. ..."

Williams never addressed how Dulberg found communications which were not in the Bates stamped documents (but should have been included).

On January 31, 2020 at 7:44 AM Dulberg sent another email to Williams about the documents he found (that were not bates stamped) stating:[1]

> "... Last night I was able to read the Emails around Saul Ferris and Brad Balke in context.
> It appears the email I sent yesterday which contained (Hans Mast2-56.pdf) showed me piking up the documents (defendants depositions and mailed correspondence) I had been given to read from Mast earlier.
> It was not the case file.
> The case was was obtained at later date.
> Thought it was important to clarify this. ..."

On January 31, 2020 at 1:30 PM Williams replied to only part of Dulberg's earlier emails (and avoided the part about documents missing bates stamps) by stating:[2]

> "... Thank you for the clarification.
> We have a duty to produce everything that is in your possession and control, thus if there are email attachments that were not produced, we should produce them if you have them.

I think there is a good argument to say that Gagnon and the McGuires would have been jointly liable for the award of $561,000. You recovered $300,000 from Gagnon, the remainder would have been paid by the McGuire's through their insurance. Thus, your damages for dismissing the McGuires is about $261,000 less the $5,000 you obtain from them for total damages of $256,000.
> Do you want me to make a demand of $256,000 from Defendants in this case? ..."

2B5. On Jan 31, 2020, at 12:45 PM, Julia Williams sent an email to opposing counsel Flynn stating:[3]

> "... I am writing regarding the outstanding discovery issues. I am producing further documents bates stamped 2639-2645.
>

2. Brad Balke.

Brad Balke's appearance is attached as 2645. This should resolve all of the current discovery issues that you presented to us. We will continue to supplement our discovery responses if more documents are discovered. ..." [Emphasis Added]

The document "Dulberg Bates 2639 to 2645 2020 Jan 31.pdf"[1] consists of 6 pages and was attached to the email. "Dulberg Bates 2639 to 2645 2020 Jan 31.pdf"[2] contains one email document which is 'Hans Mast 2-56'[3].

2B6. On February 11, 2020 at 12:10 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams and Clinton stating:[4] [5]

"...
Saul Ferris did not perform any legal services other than the free initial consultation to talk, read through the documents and review the case Dulberg had and decide if he would represent Dulberg.

Saul Ferris advised that Dulberg "attending the pretrial to at least see what kind of settlement offer is made." 03-06_12- 15_Hans Mast2-73.pdf

I know this would be a fishing expedition. Dulberg would like to see if Popovich and Mast asked Saul Ferris to send them Dulberg's only copies of the depositions and written letters Mast had sent to Dulberg through the Mail back to Popovich/Mast's office then Mail them back to Saul Ferris to give to Dulberg.

During the Saul Ferris-Popovich/Mast mailing debacle Dulberg was limited in the amount of time to he had to hire a new attorney by the court.

The delay in getting the Depositions and written correspondence delayed Dulberg 2 months from having anything to show any possible new attorney anything from the case.

Thus, Dulberg hired Brad Balke, the only Attorney willing to represent Dulberg without seeing any documentation from the case beforehand and meeting the courts order to find new counsel.

The following emails show the 2 month period that Dulberg did not have access to his own copies.

Dulberg gave Williams a list of 12 PDF documents and pointed out that only 1 is Bates stamped. Dulberg again produced the documents by attaching the 12 documents to the email even though these same documents were previously given to Williams long before the first document disclosure on May 30, 2019.
Williams avoids the obvious issue Dulberg pointed out: The fact that 11 PDF documents are not Bates stamped.

2B7. On March 6, 2020 Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[2]

"... I write pursuant to 201(k).

At Mr. Dulberg's deposition, he testified at p. 38 that he met with attorney Saul Ferris, who would not take his case over from Popovich because "your decision to settle with the McGuire's was a mistake and we don't [sic] take it because of that." From lines 15-19 on the same page, Dulberg testified that Ferris said it in a letter, on the phone, and sent him an email. Dulberg's testimony at p. 95 also establishes that the communications with Ferris were prior to Popovich's withdrawal in March 2015.

These ommunications go directly to the issue of the discovery date of the alleged malpractice. I do not recall seeing an email or letter similar to what has been described. Please produce these communications, and perhaps we can avoid the necessity of combing through Mr. Dulberg's or Mr. Ferris' records to pinpoint the date of the phone call between the two.

2B8. Williams acted as if she was not in possession of Saul Ferris emails, letters or other documents mentioning Saul Ferris when she communicated with Dulberg in late January and

1 Exhibit B12-Hans Mast2-65.pdf
2 Exhibit B5-Dulberg v Popovich-2.pdf

early February of 2020.[1] [2] [3] [4] [5]

2B9. On February 10, 2020 Williams acted as if she had never seen any documents concerning Saul Ferris and questioned Dulberg's purpose in subpoenaing documents from Saul Ferris.[6]

> "... What would be the purpose of the subpoena? What do you mean by "he sent copies of depositions and correspondence with Mast back to Mast?" Did he perform legal services? Did he provide advise to you? ..."

2B10. On February 11, 2020 Dulberg replied again referencing one of the suppressed documents:[7]

> "... Saul Ferris did not perform any legal services other than the free initial consultation to talk, read through the documents and review the case Dulberg had and decide if he would represent Dulberg.
> Saul Ferris advised that Dulberg "attending the pretrial to at least see what kind of settlement offer is made." 03- 06_12-15_Hans Mast2-73.pdf ..."

The suppressed emails describe how the package of documents and the missing letters were moved from the office of Saul Ferris and when and how Dulberg first received the package of documents back from the office of Saul Ferris 2 months later. It is simply not credible for Williams to claim she was not aware of who Saul Ferris was and to claim she was not aware of the fact that Ferris was in possession of a box with documents and at least one letter which opposing counsel Flynn was actively seeking and Williams was actively suppressing.

2B11. When the contents of the suppressed email documents are examined it becomes clear that the suppressed emails already contained the information that Flynn later pressured Dulberg to contradict. For example HansMast2-73[8] contains an email document sent on Mar 6, 2015 from Saul Ferris to Dulberg in which Ferris stated:

> "Hi Paul I decided not to accept your case primarily based upon you settling with the homeowners for 5 thousand. I have mailed your file back to you. I would suggest attending the pretrial to at least see what kind of settlement offer is made. Thanks for letting me review your case. Sorry I can't help you. Best, Saul"

And Dulberg answered on March 12, 2015 stating:[9]

"Hi Saul, Have you already mailed the documents or can they be picked up?"

In another suppressed email document HansMast2-54 Dulberg emails Balke on May 8, 2015 stating:[1]

"Hi Brad,
Yesterday Saul Ferris office called and said they just received back the packet they mistakenly sent to Hans Mast at Popovich law firm. In it is the pretrial settlement memo you wanted to see.
There is also the printed depositions of both the homeowners, the defendant and myself.
I picked these up this morning.
Let me know how to get these to you."

In suppressed email documents HansMast2-65[2], HansMast2-63[3], HansMast2-62[4] on March 20, 2015 Dulberg informed Balke:

"Hi Brad,
As we discussed, I was to receive via certified US Mail depositions and communications between Hans Mast and myself from Saul Ferris an attorney in Gurnee, IL. Saul Ferris number is (847) 263-7770
I called Saul Ferris office last week and was assured they were sent. I was told to give it another week.
I called Saul Ferris office again today to find out they were mailed to and signed for at 3416 W. Elm St. McHenry, IL. by someone named Anne Oupl on March 7th. This is Hans Mast office.
I called Hans office and apparently no one by that name works there and no one knows anything about receiving the certified mail.
I'm at a loss as to how these documents were sent to the wrong place and am a bit furious because it has the memo about the pre- trial settlement you wanted to see."

From these emails one can learn that Ferris and Dulberg probably met in or just before the first week of March, 2015 since Ferris declined to take the case on March 6, 2015[5] (they actually met on February 26, 2015[6]). One can learn that someone in the office of Saul Ferris sent Dulberg's box of documents to the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich where on March 7, 2015[7] someone at the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich signed for the box. The person that sent the box claimed that sending the box to the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich was an accident. We can learn that the office of Saul Ferris got the box back from the Law offices of Thomas J. Popovich on or around May 8, 2015[8] so Dulberg's box of documents inexplicably remained in the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich for 2 months. We can learn that a pretrial settlement memo was with the box of documents.

If the email documents mentioning or involving Ferris were not suppressed by Williams, opposing counsel Flynn couldn't have made the following arguments in court. Flynn was pushing a partially forged letter which his own client Popovich was holding for 2 months as an authentic document which was sent directly from Ferris to Dulberg by mail.

2B12. Williams sent 2 emails containing the suppressed documents concerning Saul Ferris to opposing counsel and to Dulberg for the first time on July 9, 2020. The 2 emails contained over 6000 pages of documents[1] [2]. This was also 2 days after the Clinton firm drafted "Dulberg Draft Letter re case 2020 July 7 .docx"[3]. This document is a draft of an intent to withdraw letter that was finished and emailed to Dulberg on July 27, 2020 at 2:24 PM. that states:[4]

> "... Due to the coronavirus crisis and its impact on our firm, we are reevaluating al of our contingent fee cases. Your case is not moving toward resolution. Rather, there is significant litigation that will need to occur prior to any resolution of the case. We cannot continue to be involved in the prolonged litigation and thus believe you should seek out alternative counsel. ..."

An interesting fact about the draft "Dulberg Draft Letter re case 2020 July 7 .docx"[5] and the final letter emailed to Dulberg "Dulberg Client Letter 2020 July 27.pdf"[6] is where they are located within the Clinton Firms case file:

> Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Matter Ed Clinton/Dulberg Cicero France Barch Production Complete/Dulberg Draft Letter re case 2020 July 7 .docx[7]
> Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Matter Ed Clinton/Dulberg Cicero France Barch Production Complete/Dulberg Client Letter 2020 July 27.pdf[8]

The location of the Clinton Firm's intent to withdraw draft and final letter are found amongst documents that came from the McGuire's Attorney Ronald Barch's responsive documents to a subpoena. This suggests that these files were intentionally placed there to make them difficult to find and perhaps, with luck, hide them.

2B13. On September 7, 2022 Flynn claimed that Dulberg met with Ferris on December 31, 2014 and the Ferris declination letter proves it.[1] [2]

Flynn essentially claimed that Dulberg was withholding documents and that Dulberg is dishonest when saying statements such as:

> "MR. FLYNN: That's correct. This is produced -- again, late produced in discovery after the plaintiff's deposition. He should have produced this document years ago when he's placed the discovery of his malpractice at issue. So then he produces this letter. I don't want to have to take Saul Ferris's deposition, so I'm just asking, this is the letter that Mr. Dulberg produced and that it's a genuine copy of what he received in the mail?"[3]
> MR. FLYNN: And he's denying -- he denied the date. He then says it's a later time period between February 23rd and March 6th of 2015, which also coincided with the drafting of that letter, by the way. So he's changed the premise of No. 4, but sort of provided an answer --[4]
> "MR. FLYNN: No, Judge. I -- as you said, I think he's going to make the same denials and in my opinion play the same games he's been playing. So I'll take Mr. Ferris's deposition. I'll seek -- I'm requesting fees and costs in connection with the deposition because it shouldn't be necessary."[5]

Dulberg refused to admit that he met with Ferris on December 31, 2014[6]. Yet the suppressed emails such as Hans Mast2-73[7] HansMast2-65[8], HansMast2-63[9], HansMast2-62[10] contain information that strongly suggests the meeting between Ferris and Dulberg took place in the first week of March or the last week of February 2015. This is just as Dulberg had stated, and the meeting was confirmed to be on February 26, 2015[11] in the deposition of Saul Ferris.

2B14. Flynn claimed in the REQUEST FOR ADMISSIONS OF FACT AND GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT[12] and a MOTION TO DEEM FACTS ADMITTED[13] that Dulberg received the Ferris declination letter by U.S. mail at his home within 7 or 30 days and that the letter was sent directly from Ferris to Dulberg's home[14]. Flynn essentially claimed that Dulberg was being dishonest when he refused to admit receiving the letter at his home. Flynn then used the confusion created by Williams suppression of these documents to force a deposition of Saul

Ferris.[1] Flynn accuses Dulberg essentially of hiding the document and abusing the discovery process Flynn did this while knowing all along that the letter was actually addressed to his own client's place of business[2]. Below are a few quotes from Flynn's erroneous arguments:[3]

> "... Dulberg's pattern and practice of abusing the discovery process with improper and incomplete responses is repeated in his latest filing ..."
>
> "... Defendants' Requests for Admissions simply intended to authenticate a March 4, 2015 letter purportedly drafted by attorney Saul Ferris, and establish when it was received by Dulberg. Dulberg finally produced said letter in discovery on June 7, 2021 with no explanation why it was not previously produced in this litigation ..."
>
> "... The attached Request for Admissions was an attempt at simply authenticating the copy of Ferris's letter, which again should have been produced years ago in this litigation but was not. Instead of acknowledging the authenticity of the copy of the letter, Dulberg's response is a muddled and evasive attempt at muddying the water, and should not be countenanced by this court. Dulberg's specious objections and attempt at explaining away the content of Ferris's letter is deserving of a sanction. ..."
> "... Perhaps the most egregious of Dulberg's violations, aside from his attempt at redefining common legal terms and their variations such as "genuine" and "authentic", is his denial of the genuineness of Exhibit A because he does not agree with the accuracy of the content, and because he is not in control of the author (see Response #1). A close second, is his failure to admit in No. 2 and No. 3 that he received the document from Ferris within 7 or within 30 days respectively, of the date affixed to the face of the letter. ..."
> "... Not only should those facts contained in the Request to Admit be admitted, but Defendants should not have to engage in "teeth pulling" discovery in order to simply authenticate a copy of a document which was inexplicably withheld in the first place. ..."

2B15. Flynn made a significant issue of Ferris in the July 19, 2021 and the September 7, 2021 court proceedings.

2B16. On July 19, 2021 the following exchange took place in court:[4]

> "MR. FLYNN: I suppose with respect to the summary judgment motion that I anticipate, Judge, there was one document that was produced in order to avoid a second deposition of Mr. Dulberg to authenticate this document, which is a letter from Attorney Thompson -- I'm sorry -- Attorney Ferris -- > that goes to the issue of the statute of limitations. If Mr. Talarico would stipulate to the authenticity of this March 4, 2015 letter on the record, I don't need to send a request to admit for --

THE COURT: Can you hear all that?

MR. TALARICO: I heard it, Judge, but I'm not familiar with that document. A request to admit would be welcome."

2B17. On July 20, 2021 Flynn filed a REQUEST FOR ADMISSIONS OF FACT AND GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT[1] with the following 4 requests:

1. Admit that Exhibit A attached hereto is a true, accurate, and genuine copy of a March 4, 2015 letter drafted by attorney Saul Ferris.
2. Admit that you received Exhibit A on or within 7 days of March 4, 2015.
3. Admit that you received Exhibit A on or within 30 days of March 4, 2015.
4. Admit that you met with Saul Ferris on or about December 31, 2014 with regard to your personal injury case.

2B18. The Saul Ferris declination letter[2] contains at least 2 factually incorrect statements. The letter describes the date of the Dulberg-Ferris meeting as December 31, 2014 when the meeting actually took place on February 26, 2015[3]. The letter also describes the date of Dulberg's "accident" as being January 24, 2013 when the chainsaw accident actually took place on June 28, 2011. (Dulberg's deposition in the underlying case against the McGuires and Gagnon took place on January 24, 2013.) Flynn tried to pressure Dulberg to admit to the authenticity of the Ferris declination letter that contained inaccurate information (and was either in the possession of the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich for two months or it was created/altered or forged by the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich). Flynn also tried to pressure Dulberg to admit Dulberg received the letter by U.S. mail (even though the address at the top of the letter is not Dulberg's residence). The address is that of Flynn's own client, the law office of Thomas J. Popovich. Dulberg refused to admit the assertions as true and pointed out the inaccurate information.[4]

2B19. On September 7, 2021 the following exchange took place in Court:[5]

"MR. FLYNN: Good morning, your Honor. George Flynn on behalf of defendant/movant. The basis is it's a motion to deem facts admitted. We were trying to authentic a document that was the subject of some discussion the last couple of times we appeared before your Honor. I filed the request to admit. We received objections that we believe are inappropriate and just moving for ruling on those objections and some other relief. The -- the response that they filed, essentially is a motion to strike based on the failure to conduct a 201(k) conference, which I don't think is required with respect to objections and a request to admit, which is a hybrid discovery and evidentiary tool. So with respect to the motion itself, I really have nothing to say more than what's in the motion. I'd be happy if the Court wanted to take it under advisement after it has an opportunity to review the attachments and the motion.

THE COURT: No, I won't take it under advisement. We'll go back to that in a minute. Mr. Talarico, do you have any case law that says a 201(k) conference is required before 216 -- or in a 216 situation?

MR. TALARICO: Yes, your Honor. Supreme Court Rule 201(a) typically says the request to admit --

THE COURT: Do you have any case law?

MR. TALARICO: No, I have no case law, your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Because I don't think it does. I think by its own -- by the language of the rule, it's 28 days. And in fact, I believe the rule requires that the request to admit facts explicitly disclosed if you're not -- if you don't respond in 28 days, the answers are deemed admitted. So there is no requirement to engage in a 201(k) conference to resolve differences because by its own language, it resolves itself. So let's get into the answers. Okay. Anything you want -- I see No. 1, they seem to be asking you to admit or deny the genuineness of the document that was attached?

MR. TALARICO: Correct, your Honor

THE COURT: And do you have any -- anything to say beyond what you've written in response?

MR. TALARICO: Your Honor, use of the words defendant put into his motion, request to admit, are subject to various interpretations. And he did not include the definition of the specific words that he was using, so I relied upon the Black's Law Dictionary for definition. And within that, we were -- we reviewed the fact of the document.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TALARICO: The document -- the document is not accurate. It's not true. It's none of the above. It has a wrong date of accident, the wrong date of meeting. It has a lot of inaccuracies on it, Judge.

THE COURT: Okay. I'm going to strike the implicit objection regarding what is genuine. That being said, I do have what appears to be an admission. Mr. Flynn?

MR. FLYNN: Yeah, Judge. I mean, it's -- I guess if it was an admission buried in these objections. But the entire document is muddled up with these various objections. I'm just asking if this is a true copy of the letter that his client received. I'm not asking if it's -- if information contained is true and accurate. If you read it, it's admit Exhibit A attached hereto is a true, accurate, and genuine copy of a March 4, 2015, letter drafted by Attorney Saul Ferris. He concluded with the content of the letter. That's not what I'm asking about.

MR. TALARICO: Your Honor, that is not in true -- truth is not within that document. That's what we're saying. Those are false statements.

THE COURT: And that's fine. But it is -- he doesn't need to lay a foundation for the document am I correct?

MR. TALARICO: No. But the question -- I'm sorry.

THE COURT: Are you -- are you admitting -- I'm assuming, Mr. Flynn, this is for purposes of a foundation? You're not asking him to admit the contents?

MR. FLYNN: That's correct. This is produced -- again, late produced in discovery after the plaintiff's deposition. He should have produced this document years ago when he's placed the discovery of his malpractice at issue. So then he produces this letter. I don't want to have to take Saul Ferris's deposition, so I'm just asking, this is the letter that Mr. Dulberg produced and that it's a genuine copy of what he received in the mail?

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Talarico, yes or no?

MR. TALARICO: Judge, that is a genuine copy. We don't know -- when examined, Mr. Dulberg does not recall. And in the deposition, he said he did not recall when he received it or how he received it. That is left open.

THE COURT: Mr. Talarico, I asked you a yes or no question, not asking for an explanation, which is consistent with what request to admit facts require. So are you admitting to the foundation of this document or denying --

MR. TALARICO: Yes, your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Then we will proceed. That's deemed admitted for purposes of foundation. Next one -- Mr. Flynn, the next one at issue?

MR. FLYNN: Judge, there was 2 and 3, and I attempted to pin them down on when he received it. So I asked No. 2, if Mr. Dulberg received a copy of this letter within 7 days of the date dated. And then, the next one, I asked if he received it within 30 days of the date it was dated. He doesn't answer either of those.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Talarico?

MR. TALARICO: Judge, with all due respect, Mr. Dulberg answered as best he could. This was alleged to be sent by U.S. Mail. He has no idea. It was many years ago. So he answered as truthfully, as cooperatively as possible, that he has no independent recollection of when this letter was received. He did a search of his own records, as presumed, at my request. He has no envelope.

THE COURT: If -- what it boils down to from my perspective is I'm reading it as a denial. And actually, that subjects you to 219(c) fees if they have -- for those fees associated with the cost of proving it up. But I'm reading it as a denial. Can I -- do you have any problem with my reading it as a denial? Am I incorrect?

MR. TALARICO: No, your Honor, you're not.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Flynn, anything you want to add? My interpretation of all of that is a denial.

MR. FLYNN: If that's what the answer is, then he's denied that he received this letter within 30 days of the date that the lawyer put the -- stamped it. So yeah, if I need to prove it up by taking Mr. Dulberg's -- retaking Dulberg's deposition and then taking Saul Ferris's deposition, and as I've indicated in the motion, I'm seeking fees and costs.

THE COURT: Yeah. I'm going to interpret 30 -- or I'm sorry -- 3 the same way. I interpret that as a denial and you just have to prove it up. Next one?

MR. FLYNN: The next one is just regarding the meeting that is referenced in the letter. Admit that you met with Saul Ferris upon or about December 31, 2014, with regard to your personal injury case.

THE COURT: Okay. I –

MR. FLYNN: And he's denying -- he denied the date. He then says it's a later time period between February 23rd and March 6th of 2015, which also coincided with the drafting of that letter, by the way. So he's changed the premise of No. 4, but sort of provided an answer --

THE COURT: I think that's a denial because of the way you phrase your question. Anything after denies that he met Saul Ferris on or about December 31, 2014, with regard to -- with regard to the personal injury case, everything after that is surplusage. So you have a denial. All right. Is there anything else?

MR. FLYNN: No. The relief will be requested now that these denials and improper objections were raised. I'm going to have to retake Mr. Dulberg's deposition at least on the subject matter of this letter and I'll probably have to take Mr. Ferris's deposition to prove-up the foundation for the letter as well.

THE COURT: Certainly --

MR. FLYNN: So I would ask for fees and costs

THE COURT: You have leave to depose Mr. Ferris. I'm not sure you need Mr. Dulberg's deposition -- I'm willing to listen -- because your deposition of Mr. Dulberg would merely result in him repeating --

MR. FLYNN: Raising the same denial, so --

THE COURT: I mean, he's on the record denied any recollection. So I don't think you need the deposition to get him to say that in the transcript because you've got it in the request to admit. And I'll hold him to that unless there's something else you think you need from the deposition.

MR. FLYNN: No, Judge. I -- as you said, I think he's going to make the same denials and in my opinion play the same games he's been playing. So I'll take Mr. Ferris's deposition. I'll seek -- I'm requesting fees and costs in connection with the deposition because it shouldn't be necessary.

THE COURT: Well, I think -- and unless there's a different issue with respect to the cost associated with that deposition, I think that's an issue that I would have to address after trial because my reference to 219(c) is when you have to expend money to prove-up a fact that they deny, then you are entitled to those fees, but -- so I couldn't award them yet because you haven't --

MR. FLYNN: Fair enough.

THE COURT: -- you haven't done it. And I can only do that after the fact because if you fail to prove it up, you're not entitled to those fees, obviously.

MR. FLYNN: Understood.

THE COURT: So is there anything else we need to do today?

MR. FLYNN: I don't think so, Judge. If I could just clarify the order that will read that No. 1 is admitted, 2, 3, and 4 are denied

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. FLYNN: That I have leave to depose Mr. Ferris."

2B20. On October 14, 2021 Saul Ferris was deposed by Flynn and the following exchanges took place:[1]

Flynn: "Okay. Have you reviewed some documents today to -- in preparation for the deposition today to refresh your recollection of the matter?"

Ferris: "You provided me with a letter, which I will authenticate as being my letter dated March 4, 2015, and then you asked me to -- if there was any documentation, such as my file, which I do not have. I purged a file after four years, and it has been six years. But I keep my calendar -- I've kept my calendar since I started vexing as a civilian, meaning I was in the military, initially, and got out in 1989, and I have a calendar for every client I've seen since."

Flynn: "And do you know when you met with Mr. Dulberg?"

Ferris: "Yes. It was on March 26th at 2:00 o'clock."

Flynn: Okay. And we'll talk about the entry in your diary in a few moments. The letter indicates that he consulted with your firm on December 31, 2014, in regards to his personal injury case. Do you know why the letter references a December 31, 2014, date?

Ferris: "I- I can't explain the discrepancy between my calendar and the date indicated. I -- I -- it was too long ago. I don't know why.

Flynn: Okay. Is it possible that Mr. Dulberg initially contacted your office on December 31, 2014, but you didn't actually meet with him until February or March?

Ferris: "No. I -- I didn't know this was an issue. Can you -- if you want, my -- my 2014 calendar is in my drawer. I can pull it out and look at December 31st.

Flynn: "If you have it handy."

Ferris: "This March date was another meeting. I do, if you give me about one minute."

Flynn: "Absolutely. Thank you."

Ferris: "So I have my 2014 calendar, and I'm looking at December -- well, all right. December 31st. Even though I'm -- well, that's -- that's New Year's Eve. Let me see. I normally would not meet with clients New Year's Eve, but let me see. And, in fact, there is no entry on December 31st, 2014. Oh, that's -- it's a typo."

Flynn: "Is Exhibit 2 a photocopy of the cover page of your 2015 calendar, along with a date from February of 2015?

Ferris: Correct.

Flynn: "Okay. There is some handwriting on the second page, and I don't want to get into the clients and confidential information. But is there an entry on Thursday, February 26th, relative to Paul Dulberg?

Ferris: "Yes."

Flynn: "And is this your handwriting?"

Ferris: "It indicates a meeting, yes."

Flynn: "Okay. It indicates a meeting, and I see a few numbers, 2:00 o'clock and 4:00 o'clock. Can you tell me what those mean?

Ferris: That signifies that the meeting was originally scheduled for 4:00 o'clock. And either myself or the potential client asked that it be moved up to 2:00 o'clock, so I drew in there it's 2:00 o'clock."

Flynn: "Okay. And next to the 4:00 o'clock entry, it says, Paul Dulberg. There's a dash, and then it says chain saw PI 6-28-11, dash. What does that mean?"

Ferris: "I oftentimes to distinguish cases try andsummarize them by the nature of the case. And chainsaw -- I put chain saw because the client had called me and said that he was injured by a chain saw, which is horrifying and very memorable. And the other reason why I remember it so well is because I -- I own a chain saw; and I have a two-and-a-half acre wooded lot, and I use my chain saw probably three, four times a month. So I'm intimately familiar with chain saws, and I was very interested in -- when this client described my worst nightmare, which was getting injured by a chain saw. So I put chain saw to remind me what kind of case it was. And the 6-28-11 would be the date that the client indicated the incident happened. And, normally, I wouldn't put down the date of the incident in the client appointment number, but in 2015, that was past the -- the statute of limitations, which would be two years minimum in Illinois, generally speaking. And so that -- I -- I knew that the statute had run. The first question I asked the client was, Was suit filed? He said suit had been filed, and so -- but wanted to discharge his attorney. So I agreed to meet with him and discuss his case."

Flynn: "Okay. And you actually did meet with him on Thursday, February 26, 2015, correct?"

Flynn: "Okay. Do you know when you drafted the letter and how you drafted it?"

Ferris: "So the -- because this is more or less a form letter, in -- in my opinion, the December 31st date was -- was a date relating to another client, and I just didn't change the date. But the reason why the date of letter March 4th makes sense in terms of when the potential client came in was on – on February 26th, so March 4th would have been about five days later. And when you have a potential statute of limitations issue, it's advisable to get your declination letter -- see, I stole your word already -- get your declination letter out sooner than later."

Flynn: "Okay. And there was a weekend in between the date of your meeting and the date that the letter was finalized, correct?

Ferris: "Correct."

Flynn: "Okay. And did this letter get mailed to Mr. Dulberg at the address listed on the top of the letter?"

Ferris: "To the best of my knowledge, yes."

Flynn: "Okay. And would that have just been sent by regular U.S. postal mail?

Ferris: "Correct. If it was certified mail, the letter would so indicate."

Flynn: "Okay. So this would -- this letter was sent, to the best of your knowledge, by U.S. Mail, First Class?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Flynn: "Okay. Do you have any reason to believe that Mr. Dulberg wouldn't have received this letter from you within seven days of March 4, 2015?"

Ferris: "That's a better question for the United States Postal Service than it is for me."

Flynn: "I don't have --"

Ferris: "I put it in the mail. And it was out of my hands."

Flynn: "Okay. And you're -- do you believe he would have received this, barring any mistakes with the post office, he would have received it, at least, within 30 days of March 4, 2015?"

Ferris: "I -- I can't speak to the processing time of the postal service. It's really not for me to say."

Flynn: "Have you ever had any issues with the U.S. Postal Service not delivering letters, as far as you know?"

Ferris: "Other than a letter being returned for the incorrect address, no."

Flynn: "And this letter was not returned for any reason, correct?"

Ferris: "To the best of my knowledge, no."

Flynn: "Okay."

Ferris: "I -- I would have put that in the file and had been concerned that my declination was not communicated with the potential client. I would have acted on that. So I -- I don't recall any of that happening."

page 18:[3]

Flynn: "What is your expectation as far as delivery time when you send any letter by U.S. Mail?"

Ferris: "Locally, two days. Could be as fast as one day."

Flynn: "Okay. What about within the State of Illinois?"

Ferris: "Two days, you know, statewide. ..."

Talarico: "My name is Alphonse Talarico, and I represent the Plaintiff. And I want to go over some of the statements you've made in this deposition -- discovery deposition, just for clarifying. I'm looking at what has been submitted and marked as Exhibit 2, which appears to be your 2015 DayMinder. And I think you testified as to that; is that correct?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "Okay. I only see the excerpts from one page, that's the February 26th, which was a Thursday. I believe it's marked as a Thursday. My independent calendar says it was a Thursday. So I'm not asking you if it was or not. I'm just going to assume based on your daily reminder and the -- and my bar association daily reminder. You noted that he -- you were contacted for a chain saw personal injury matter. And I believe you testified that the date he told you the accident took place was June 28th, 2011; is that correct?"

Talarico: "Now, do you still retain the entire 2015 daily minder, if you would?"

Ferris: "Yes. I have it. I have it right here."

Talarico: "Do you -- are there other occasions in that 2015 daily minder where you had contact, where you wrote down a contact with Mr. Dulberg?"

Ferris: "I -- I did search the file to -- excuse me -- the calendar. And I see no other entries for Mr. Dulberg other than the entry which was provided. And I wasn't trying to -- I was trying to be somewhat cautious with regard to client confidentiality, which is why I cut off the page. And I did put another client's name on the same page, but that's public record. He was charged criminally, so I'm not worried about any ARDC on that. But, you know, I can -- I can just -- I can hold up, if you could see the -- the page behind it, and there's no entries for Mr. Dulberg."

Ferris: "I do have a secretary that types letters for me. I either dictated it or took the form, disengagement letter, and made hand changes to it, which the secretary would have changed, and then I signed it. But March 4th would have been the date that it went out in the mail."

Talarico: "Okay. Thank you. And you testified that you sent it by regular mail to Mr. Dulberg?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "Okay. So if it was regular mail, which we can eliminate who signed for it -- and it was -- again, I just want to make sure I have the facts right, because I believe you testified that it never was returned to you. So your assumption was that it was properly delivered?"

Ferris: "I can only assume that."

Talarico: "Right. I understand that. Sure. But I guess the one question you can answer is it never was returned to you?"

Ferris: "Which it was not; that's correct."

Talarico: "Thank you. On Exhibit 1, sir, the accident referred to, it does not correspond with your daily reminder and with your recollection of the date he told you the accident took place. And you have no explanation as to what January 24th, 2013, had to do with Paul Dulberg?"

Ferris: "Oh, I don't think I was asked about that – that date but –"

Talarico: "I get to now ask you."

Ferris: "Yeah."

Talarico: "It says -- Exhibit 1 says, your accident of January 24, 2013. Is that correct? Is that what it says?"

Ferris: "That's what my letter says, yes."

Talarico: "And isn't it correct, sir, that Exhibit 1, your daily reminder, it has the date of accident – well, refer -- refers to 6-28 of 2011?"

Ferris: "Correct. So in my opinion, what happened was – this is a form letter. The disengagement or declination letter is a form letter to which I use over and over. And apparently, I made a mistake by indicating – well, I don't know what the accident date is. You gentlemen know when it was. So if the date's wrong, it's wrong, because it wasn't change on the form letter."

Talarico: "Isn't it true that the date of accident reported to you by Dulberg on your daily reminder, 6 – June 24 28th, 2011, that's what he told you?"

Ferris: "To the best of my recollection, correct."

Talarico: "And you testified that you believe the December 31st, 2014, date, as far as consulting, is a typo, and you have no entry in your 2014 daily reminder for December 13th -- 31st, I'm sorry -- New Year's Eve, which by the way, I checked it, the late bar association was even closed on that day, that you did not have a meeting with him on that day, on New Year's Eve?"

Ferris: "Correct."

Talarico: "Okay. In your letter, sir, which is Exhibit 1, I draw your attention to that. I believe the first sentence you speak to -- you speak to Mr. Dulberg capsulizing what his conversation was with you -- was about -- was about, it -- and that stated -- it states, your personal injury case. Is that correct?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "But in your conversation with Mr. Flynn responding to his questions, you were talking about a statute of limitations. What statute of limitations were you talking about?"

Ferris: "My understanding of the statute of limitations is for personal injury, it's two years in the State of Illinois. I -- I don't even remember where this happened, if it was in McHenry or -- then it would have been Illinois, and a two-year statute would have applied."

Talarico: "Okay. So what I'm getting at is Mr. Dulberg talked to you about a personal injury matter; is that correct?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "And the statute you're referring to is a personal injury statute in the State of Illinois, correct?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "Your letter of Exhibit 1, the letter of March 4th, it says in the second to last sentence, I believe you should not have settled with the property owners for $5,000; is that correct?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Ferris: "No."

page 30:[1]

Talarico: "Okay. You testified today that you, personally-- no. Wait. I'll ask, did you testify today that you, personally, mailed this letter to Mr. Dulberg?"

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "Okay. Calling your attention to Exhibit 1, you have Mr. Dulberg's address listed as 3416 West Elm Street in McHenry, Illinois 60050; is that correct?

Ferris: "Yes."

Talarico: "Do you know who lives at -- who -- who owns the property at 3416 West Elm Street in McHenry, Illinois 60050?"

Ferris: "I have no idea."

Talarico: "Would it surprise you if this was the address of the law firm that was currently representing Mr. Dulberg in the matter that he brought to you?"

Ferris: "It would surprise me."

Talarico: "Would it surprised you if this is the address of Tom Popovich's law firm at the time?"

Ferris: "It would, yeah."

Talarico: "So according to your testimony, you sent this letter to Mr. Popovich and not to Mr. Dulberg?"

Ferris: "I sent the letter to the address the potential client provided me. I don't make up addresses. So he provided me the address. I had no correspondence or anything from his attorney. I had no idea who his attorney was."

2B21. According to Saul Ferris deposition testimony[2], Ferris' personal notes on the Dulberg case listed the date of Dulberg's injury as June 28, 2011 (which is the correct date Dulberg was injured by Gagnon) but the declination letter[3] listed the date of the "accident" as January 24, 2013 (which is the date Dulberg was deposed in the underlying case against Gagnon and the McGuires[4]).

2B22. According to Saul Ferris deposition testimony[5], the date of the meeting between Dulberg and Ferris was February 26, 2015 but the declination letter[6] listed the date of the meeting as December 31, 2014. Ferris stated that "So the -- because this is more or less a form letter, in -- in my opinion, the December 31st date was -- was a date relating to another client, and I just didn't change the date." When Ferris showed his notebook during the deposition, the notes indicated that Ferris had no clients on December 31, 2014. Ferris also stated that he would not schedule a perspective client meeting on New Years Eve.

2B23. When Ferris was asked "So according to your testimony, you sent this letter to Mr. Popovich and not to Mr. Dulberg?", Ferris answered, "I sent the letter to the address the potential client provided me. I don't make up addresses. So he provided me the address. I had no correspondence or anything from his attorney. I had no idea who his attorney was."

2B24. It is not credible that Dulberg provided his own home address to Ferris incorrectly, accidentally mistaking his own home address (a place he has lived his whole life) with the address of the Law offices of his previous attorney. It is not credible for Flynn to have persisted in claiming that Dulberg received the letter from Saul Ferris by U.S. mail at Dulberg's home considering how the letter in question was with a package of documents which was inexplicably sent from the law office of Saul Ferris to the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich (and remained there for two months without Dulberg's knowledge or permission). It is not credible for Popovich or Mast to act as if they were not aware that a package of documents belonging to Dulberg was in their offices for 2 months and that the package of documents was apparently sent back to the Ferris law office without their knowledge. The email document HansMast2-65[1] (which was suppressed by Williams) was sent from Dulberg to Balke on March 20, 2015 and states:[2]

> "I called Saul Ferris office again today to find out they were mailed to and signed for at 3416 W. Elm St. McHenry, IL. by someone named Anne Oupl on March 7th. This is Hans Mast office. I called Hans office and apparently no one by that name works there and no one knows anything about receiving the certified mail. I'm at a loss as to how these documents were sent to the wrong place and am a bit furious because it has the memo about the pre- trial settlement you wanted to see."

2B25. The example of Saul Ferris shows how Flynn could not have accused Dulberg of being deceitful or evasive about his communication with Ferris unless the email documents involving or mentioning Ferris were suppressed by Williams.

2B26. It strains credulity to be asked to accept that the coordination between Flynn's accusations against Dulberg and the suppression of the email documents by Williams related to the same issues and proving Dulberg's claims to be true is just a coincidence. A reasonable person can conclude that Williams intentionally suppressed emails between Ferris and Dulberg and emails mentioning Saul Ferris, the movement of the box of Dulberg's documents in the possession of Ferris, and emails mentioning a missing settlement memo. A reasonable person can also conclude Williams did this to benefit the defendants. A reasonable person can conclude that if the documents mentioning Ferris were not suppressed by Williams, then the issues that Flynn later raised would have made no logical sense as they would have already been answered.

2 Exhibit B12-Hans Mast2-65.pdf

2B27. The intentional suppression of documents mentioning Saul Ferris by Williams created an unnecessary mystery around when Ferris met with Dulberg, what they discussed, the packet of Dulberg's documents that was inexplicably sent to the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich by Ferris, and the Ferris declination letter. Flynn then used this unnecessary mystery to attempt to coerce Dulberg to admit (as verified fact) receiving a letter in the U.S. mail at his home that contained factually incorrect information and that was actually addressed to the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich (and in the possession of Popovich for about 2 months without Dulberg knowing where the package was).

2C THE EXAMPLE OF TILSCHNER V SPANGLER

2C1. Detailed written instructions were given by Dulberg to Williams on at least six different occasions concerning Tilschner v Spangler and a meeting which took place on November 20, 2013 between Dulberg and Mast. Dulberg sent Williams a certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler as part 1 of a set of 3 emails with attachments that were named "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw1_Mast.pdf" and "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw2_Mast.pdf" and "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw3_Mast.pdf" which Mast gave Dulberg at a meeting on November 20, 2013. Williams separated the certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler from the other two attachments, stored them in 2 separate places, and renamed all three downloaded files. Williams never turned over the slip certified copy of Tilschner v Spangler to opposing counsel and never informed Dulberg of that fact. The process is shown in detail in 'Visual Aid 4 – Tilschner v Spangler hoax'[1].

2C2. On October 10, 2018 at 5:34 PM, two days before their first meeting, the file "second_amended_complaint_comments.txt"[2] was emailed[3] by Dulberg to Williams in a folder called "Duberg_complaint"[4]. The document "second_amended_complaint_comments.txt" states:

> "MAST told DULBERG at a meeting in which DULBERG was trying to decide whether to accept the MCGUIRE's offer of $5,000 that because the restatement of torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois, DULBERG had no case against the MCGUIRES and that the MCGUIRES did not have to offer any settlement at all. DULBERG asked MAST to cite case law that shows why the MCGUIRES were not at least partially liable for DULBERG'S injury, and MAST cited Tilscher v Spangler, a case which confirms that restatement of torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois. But note the claim of MCGUIRE'S liability given above relies on restatement of torts 343 or a general neglegence claim. It is completely independent of restatement of torts 318. At the same meeting MAST also informed DULBERG that the MCGUIRES made an offer of $5,000 to be nice (they did not have to offer anything) and if DULBERG did not accept the offer it would be withdrawn and the MCGUIRES will ask for summary judgement. MAST informed DULBERG that the presiding judge would grant the MCGUIRES a summary judgement dismissing the case against them, leaving DULBERG with no settlement at all from the 2C4. On December 4, 2018 at 2:20 PM, two days before the Second Amended Complaint at Law was filed, a file called "working.pdf"[2] was sent attached to an email[3] to Williams. Dulberg's comments are in colored font. In the document "working.pdf"[4] Dulberg states in item 50-k on page 9 in red font:

MCGUIRES."

2C3. On October 19, 2018 a PDF file was created by Clinton or Williams in "Dulberg Master File" concerning the Tilschner case.[1]

> "The necessary facts are: MAST told DULBERG and another family member at a meeting in which DULBERG was trying to decide whether to accept the MCGUIRE's offer of $5,000 that because the restatement of torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois, DULBERG had no case against the MCGUIRES and that the MCGUIRES did not have to offer any settlement at all. DULBERG asked MAST to cite case law that shows why the MCGUIRES were not at least partially liable for DULBERG'S injury, and MAST cited Tilscher v Spangler, a case which confirms that restatement of torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois. At the same meeting MAST also informed DULBERG that the MCGUIRES made an offer of $5,000 to be nice (they did not have to offer anything) and if DULBERG did not accept the offer it would be withdrawn and the MCGUIRES will ask for summary judgement. MAST informed DULBERG that the presiding judge would grant the MCGUIRES a summary judgement dismissing the case against them, leaving DULBERG with no settlement at all from the MCGUIRES. Mast, "The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills."

2C5. On April 18, 2019 at 10:38 AM, Dulberg sent 3 emails in series with attachments to Williams, subject: "318 Cases from December meeting 1 of 3"[5], "318 Cases from December meeting 2 of 3"[6] and "318 Cases from December meeting 3 of 3"[7]. The first email attachment was named "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw1_Mast.pdf"[8] and contained the certified slip copy of the case Tilschner v Spangler. The second attachment was named "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw2_Mast.pdf"[9] and contained the case Choi. The third attachment was named "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw3_Mast.pdf"[10] and contained the case Lajato.

2C6. Williams received the 3 emails, downloaded the attachments, renamed them, and stored the first attachment in one folder, and stored the second and third attachments in a different folder. What Williams did with the files after she received them is shown in 'Visual Aid 4 -

Tilschner v Spangler hoax'[1]. The certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler was never turned over to opposing counsel and was never given a bates stamp. Williams never informed Dulberg of this.

2C7. On July 8, 2019 at 11:06 AM, one week after Dulberg received the Popovich Document Disclosure from Williams, Dulberg sent an email[2] to Williams with an attached folder called "To_Julia"[3]. The folder contained a document called "timeline_of_mcguire_settlement.txt"[4]. The document 'timeline_of_mcguire_settlement.txt' under the November 20, 2013 timeline entry states:

> "Dulberg agrees to have another meeting with Mast in his office. (memo of meeting: pop 3)
>
> Dulberg brings his brother Thomas Kost with him. Before the meeting Dulberg asks Mast to show examples of case laws which demonstrate that McGuires are not partially responsible for the chainsaw accident. (email: folder 2013 11, file Mast2-201)
>
> In the meeting Mast uses the example of Tilschner vs Spangler. He claims that the McGuires are not responsible because Restatement of Torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois.
>
> He also claims that the accident was not forseeable by the McGuires and they had no control over Gagnon's actions.
>
> Mast also gave Dulberg a packet of other examples of case law. (ddd 204) (ddd 301)?
>
> Thomas Kost kept a rough set of notes during the meeting. (ddd 1217)
>
> Mast claims that if Dulberg doesn't accept the $5,000 the McGuires will simply file a motion to get out of the case for free.
> Mast said the McGuires do not have to offer anything and are offering $5,000 to be nice."

2C8. On June 18, 2020 at 9:24 AM, one week before the Mast deposition, Dulberg sent an email[5] to Williams a file called "questions_for_mast.txt"[6]. The June 18, 2020 version of 'questions_for_mast.txt' contain questions presented by Dulberg and his brother, Thomas Kost, in 9 different categories which are clearly listed at the beginning of the document. These sets of questions were a more developed version of a file by the same name sent to Williams on July 8, 2019. Questions in each category are carefully written in the order that Dulberg wanted Williams to ask Mast during the deposition.

One of the 9 categories is named "ABOUT THE NOVEMBER 20th, 2013 MEETING IN MAST'S OFFICE". It contained 23 carefully chosen questions that Dulberg wanted Williams to ask Mast concerning the November 20, 2013 meeting during Mast's deposition.

The document 'questions_for_mast.txt' states:

> "ABOUT THE NOVEMBER 20th, 2013 MEETING IN MAST'S OFFICE
>
> who was at the November 20th meeting? (Answer: Paul Dulberg, Hans Mast, Thomas Kost) > who called for the meeting?
>
>
> what was the purpose of the November 4 meeting?
>
> What were the main topics discussed?
>
> Was the $7,500 offer made on october 22 discussed at the November 20th meeting?
>
> Were any decisions made at this meeting?
>
> Did Dulberg agree to accept the $5,000 counter-offer made by Barch on November 18 at the meeting?
>
> What were his grounds for disagreeing with the $5,000 counter-offer if it was Dulberg himself that initiated an offer of $7,500 on October 22nd?
>
> Did you point out to him that there is only a $2,500 difference in between the offer and the counter-offer?
>
> Did you suggest that he reply by offering to accept less than $7,500 but more than $5,000, like, for example, $6000?
>
> Was there any attempt to make another counter-offer for any amount higher than $5,000 but lower than $7,500? Why not?
>
> Did you hand Dulberg documents of case laws at the meeting of November 20, 2013?
>
> What was the purpose of providing him with documents of case laws?
>
> What case laws were in those documents?
>
> Did you discuss cases at the meeting?
>
> Which cases were discussed?
>
> What were you trying to explain to Dulberg by discussing those cases?
>
> Why did you choose those cases to use as examples?
>
> In what way were those cases applicable to the situation with the McGuires?
>
> At the meeting did you say something about how the restatement of torts 318 doesn't apply in illinois and that fact affects the case against the McGuires?
>
> Can you explain how the restatement of torts 318 affected Dulberg's case against the McGuires?

Did you cite the case of Tilschner vs Spangler to DUlberg during the November 20th meeting?

Why? How was the Tilschner vs Spangler case similar to what happened to Dulberg at the McGuires?"

2C9. On June 18, 2020 at 9:32 AM opposing counsel Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[1]

"... Please let me know when you can about your plan for exhibits. I will assume that I do not need to print or bring anything with me unless you advise otherwise."

2C10. On June 19 2020 at 2:35 PM, six days before the deposition of Mast, Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[2]

"Julia: I just received your notice of attorney lien. Will you still be taking the dep next week?

My experience with receiving liens at this stage of litigation(in a high percentage of cases) is that a withdrawal shortly follows. Hopefully not the case here, but just making sure we are still on for Mast's dep. ..."

Williams never replied to the attorney lien portion of this email and there is no such communication of Williams sending the attorney lien to Flynn in "Dulberg Master File"[3]. However, a draft letter of resignation was created on July 7, 2020 and Ed Clinton sent the letter to Dulberg on July 27, 2020.

2C11. On June 23, 2020 at 10:22 AM Brittney Brown bbrown@uslegalsupport.com sent an email to Williams, Subject U.S. Legal Support - Confirmation of Scheduling - Job No. 923267 with this file attached:

CFM923267.PDF[4]

The attached file CFM923267.PDF is not in the Clinton case file.

2C12. On June 23, 2020 at 11:32 AM (juliawilliams@clintonlaw.net) sent an email to Brittney Brown (bbrown@uslegalsupport.com) and provided a personal email address for contact that is not associated with the Clinton Law Firm stating:[5]

2C13. On June 24, 2020 at 12:50 PM Flynn emailed Williams stating:[1]

> "Thanks Julia. I also received the additional exhibit you may use. See you tomorrow."

2C14. On June 24, 2020 at 1:56 AM, one day before the Mast deposition, Dulberg emailed[2] Williams a file called "2020-06-23_updated_timeline_of_mcguire_settlement.txt"[3] since Williams explicitly asked Dulberg to prepare it for her using a different way to refer to documents using Bates numbers.

2C15. On June 25, 2020 Hans Mast was deposed. For the deposition of Hans Mast, Williams inexplicably placed 2 exact copies of the Lajato case and a copy of Choi in PDF file named:

> "Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf"[4].

Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf is corrupt and only found in the following 2 locations in the Clinton case file:

> Group Exhibits (showing key folders)/Exhibit folder 2-Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Matter Ed Clinton/Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibits FINAL 2020 June 25/Dulberg Mast Exh/Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf
>

2C16. At the deposition, Williams did not ask Mast any of the questions that Dulberg had instructed her to ask.

2C17. During the Mast deposition Williams uploaded "exhibit 12" and neither Mast nor Flynn could see "exhibit 12" as the following exchange demonstrates:[5]

> Williams: "Okay, I'm uploading Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit 12.· This is titled, "Legal Research."· And this is hard because there's -- it's 27 pages.· Some ·of them have Bates numbers, but some of them are black on the bottom, so I think the Bates numbers didn't -- didn't take, but it's roughly -- looks like roughly 204, maybe 205, Dulberg204, 205 through roughly Dulberg00304 -- Actually, I'm sorry, these aren't going to be continuous.· But do you have that packet of legal research in front of you? It appears to be copies out of a -- copies of case law out of the Northeastern Digest.
>
> Mast: "I just have the one case here."
>
> Williams; "Just one case?· Which -- What's the case title?

Mast: "The first one, it's L A J A T O."

Mast: "I don't know."

2C18. Williams never provided the court reporter Barbara G. Smith with a usable, viewable, uncorrupted, error free "Exhibit 12" during the deposition or at any time afterward that matches what Mast described it as in his deposition. Nor did Flynn make available to the court reporter the partial printouts of the exhibits he had in his possession and gave to Mast to use during the deposition.

2C19. Later the court reporter Barbara G Smith was subpoenaed for her records of the Mast deposition. In her response she provided the audio file of the deposition.[1]

2C20. The Court Reporter, Barbara G Smith's handwritten notes on Exhibit 12 state:

"#12[2] 1-22 blank 23-27 only"[3] [4]

"Choi -is- Commonwealth Edison is only case I have in #12 download Witness said he only has Lajato case in his #12"[5]

2C21. Dulberg and his subsequent counsel, Alphonse Talarico, grew suspicious of how Williams could have forgotten all about Tilschner v Spangler when preparing exhibit 12 for Mast's deposition considering the number of times she was told about it in writing.

2C22. On August 2, 2022 Dulberg subpoenaed Clinton[6] and Williams[7] for documents and communication connected to the preparation and treatment of exhibit 12 before, during and after Mast's deposition.

2C23. On September 29, 2022 Williams responded for both Clinton and herself.[8]

2C24. On October 28, Clinton responded for himself.[9]

2C25. On October 28, Julia Williams responded for herself.[10]

2C26. On November 04, 2022 Williams was asked about "exhibit 12" in court. After 4 different subpoena responses related to exhibit 12 over the previous 3 months, and after being informed by Dulberg at least 6 different times in writing about the importance of Tilschner v Spangler, Williams claimed to not know the contents of exhibit 12. The following exchange took place in court:[1]

> "MS. WILLIAMS: ... So sometime after the deposition, we -- we did provide the exhibit that was utilized in the deposition to the court reporter, and at that time they marked it and sent it back to everyone.
>
> THE COURT: Okay. What was Exhibit 12 again?
>
> MS. WILLIAMS: It was a series of cases. I don't know that -- I just can't recall what all was asked about it, but I know there were -- it was -- it was --

> MS. WILLIAMS: -- copies of case law.
>
> THE COURT: All right.
>
> MR. FLYNN: They were photocopies of the old books, Judge, cases that were contained in Mast's file.
>
> THE COURT: Okay.
>
> MR. FLYNN: And he was -- you know, they have -- they're, obviously, not complete because they -- placed on a printer, appeared like we used to do in the old days.
>
> MR. TALARICO: Yes. Was the Tilsner case included in -- in the blank Exhibit 12 you sent to U.S. Legal, Barbara Schmidt? And was -- when you discussed with Mr. Flynn the failure of his -- or Mr. Mast's internet, didn't he say, I can't see these, I can only see their first one (indiscernible), which was the Lagano (phonetic) case? And wasn't there continued discussion by Mr. Flynn that he didn't -- he didn't produce all of the documents you sent on -- in hardcopy because he wanted to save paper?
>
> MS. WILLIAMS: So that's -- I guess that's a lot of questions. So what --
>
> MR. TALARICO: It is.
> MS. WILLIAMS: What -- what -- I cannot recall what cases were included and weren't included at this point. There -- there was an e-mail to Mr. Flynn with the exhibit that is attached that I believe was produced in the subpoena. So whatever that exhibit was is -- is what I would have used. So I know there was, like, a Laravo case or -- I remember the first case was like Laravo or Lavajo, L-A-V-A-J-O, or something like that. But right now, off the top of my head, I don't remember what other cases were included.

> MR. TALARICO: I'm talking about -- Judge, if I might, please? Excuse me. I'm sorry, Ms. Williams. There was -- what the reporter had was blank. What Mr. Flynn's client said was, I see the Lagano (phonetic) one. So the Exhibit 12 that was sent, like, a week or two after the deposition had Lagano, Troy, and the same exact Lagano case, and it did not have the Tilsner case involved, and the Tilsner case was very important. So it was an exact duplication of one case and a second case. But this is -- Judge, it's not just the Exhibit 12. The entire deposition --

THE COURT: Well, are you asking a question about Exhibit 12? Because if we're done asking questions, I'm gonna let her go.

MR. TALARICO: Okay. Yep. I'm done."

2C27. It is not credible that Williams made the claim to the court that she cannot recall the contents of "exhibit 12" when she stated, "It was a series of cases. I don't know that -- I just can't recall what all was asked about it, but I know there were -- it was -- it was --" " -- copies of case law." and when asked by Dulberg's current attorney she claimed, "What -- what -- I cannot recall what cases were included and weren't included at this point." When Williams states "... at this point" she was implying that her dealings with exhibit 12 were so long ago that "at this point" she can no longer recall what they were. But Williams prepared 4 different responses to a subpoena which centered on exhibit 12 within the previous 3 months and Williams was then appearing in court to address outstanding issues with the subpoena and around exhibit 12, including a motion to compel.

2C28. Of interest is that more than 2 years after the Hans Mast Deposition, opposing counsel Flynn was the only person in the November 4, 2022 court record attempting to give a detailed description to the contents of "exhibit 12" while Williams, the only person who prepared "exhibit 12", and fresh from producing 4 responses to a subpoena centering on the subject of "exhibit 12", could not recall the contents of "exhibit 12" when asked "at this point" because her dealings with exhibit 12 were assumably 'so long ago'.

The example of the hiding of the certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler shows the extreme degree to which Williams and Clinton will go to suppress key evidence which was in the possession of their permanently disabled client.

2C29. On November 30, 2022 Flynn filed DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S 2nd AMENDED MOTION TO EXCLUDE THE DEPOSITION OF HANS MAST which contains the following point ¶12:[1]

"12) Of concern is a statement on page 19 of Dulberg's motion in which he argues that Mast had insisted that the decision in the Tilschner v. Spangler case was the reason Dulberg would not prevail in the underlying case against the McGuire's. The statement is inexplicably made "on information and belief." This is unacceptable. Dulberg has made no such disclosure in fact discovery (now closed) about this very specific discussion between Mast and himself regarding the Tilschner case. If Dulberg believes he has disclosed it, he should be required to identify where in his answers and amended answers to discovery or his deposition he has identified such discussion with this amount of specificity. Defendants submit that no such disclosure exists."

2C30. A reasonable person can conclude that Williams intentionally suppressed Tilschner v Spangler. A reasonable person can also conclude that Williams suppressed Tilschner v Spangler to benefit to the defendants over Dulberg and to sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast. The suppression of Tilschner v Spangler helps the defense deny that Mast ever discussed the Tilschner case with Dulberg and helps Mast deny that Tilschner v Spangler and the Restatement of Torts 318 was the legal theory Mast gave Dulberg as to why the McGuires were not responsible in any way for his injury on their property.

2D THE EXAMPLE OF BRAD BALKE

2D1. On March 19, 2015 Dulberg retained Brad Balke as attorney. Balke, in violation of the automatic stay, represented Dulberg in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court which had no jurisdiction even though Balke must have known Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in PI case 12LA178.

2D2. On May 13, 2015 Balke attempted to get Dulberg to accept a $50,000 offer from Allstate in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court in violation of the automatic stay.[1] Dulberg refused and fired Balke on June 12, 2015.[2]

2D3. Williams suppressed about 40 documents of email communication which were in her possession from 3 different sources between Balke and Dulberg from the May 30, 2019 document disclosure. The suppressed email documents and the subjects of the documents are:

Only one document of email communications between Balke and Dulberg appears in "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf". It is DUL 001334 which is the file "Hans Mast2-64".

Williams also suppressed about 6 other documents mentioning Balke from the May 30, 2019 document disclosure.

2D4. On December 17, 2019 at 11:00 AM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:

> "In preparation for our call today, I am resending the all discovery as I don't think you received some of them the first time."

The email had 9 files attached.

The email had the following bates numbered documents attached and a verification statement signed by Dulberg:[1]

> "Dulberg BK Files Bates 2599"[2]
> "Bates 2620"[3]
> "Dulberg Document Disclosure FINAL 2019 May 29.pdf"[4]

2D5. On December 17, 2019 at 6:30 PM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:

> "... Brad Balky. His name appears in some of the documents. You requested that we identify when he represented Mr. Dulberg and in what capacity. If he did represent Mr. Dulberg for any period, we will produce any records related to that that are in Mr. Dulberg's possession and control."[5]

2D6. On Jan 29, 2020, at 2:16 PM, Julia WIlliams wrote an email to Flynn stating:

> "...Brad Blake is an attorney and there are some emails from him in the discovery. I do not see that he represented Dulberg but I will verify with my client."[6]

2D7. On January 29, 2020 at 3:50 PM Williams asked Dulberg about Balke stating:

> "... I see that there are some emails with Brad Balke. See Bates Stamp Dulberg 1322-1323, 1334, 1319, 1321. It appears that Brad Balke obtained your legal file from Hans Mast, reviewed it, but did not represent you, and turned the file over to you. Is that correct? ..."[7]

2D8. On January 30, 2020 at 10:26 AM Dulberg responded by sending an email to Williams stating:

> "Morning Julia, This Morning I looked up when Brad Balke filed his appearance and I found the attached document I named Balke Appearance.pdf It was March 19, 2015.
> This is what was filed in the public record.
> This should have been in the Gooch files.
> Looking back, I never received the digital Gooch files that were turned over to your office. Confirmed in email dated April 18,2019.
> The Gooch files should have included the entire case file that Mast turned over to me and the addition of the Balke and Baudin files as well as all communication records, bankruptcy documents, disability records, etc...
> Gooch took 6+ months to get all those records scanned in and I never was able to confirm he actually scanned in all of them.

You may have this as, Hans Mast2-56.pdf
This was provided to you on or around 11/17/2018 when I sent you all the communications I had.
I did not find this in any of the bates numbered documents.
It shows that the file was sent back to Saul Ferris and that I picked it up and delivered it to the firm named Danahu and Walsh at the direction of Balke."[1]

2D9. On Jan 31, 2020, at 12:45 PM, Julia WIlliams <juliawilliams@clintonlaw.net> wrote:

"I am writing regarding the outstanding discovery issues. I am producing further documents bates stamped 2639-2645.

2. Brad Balke.

The document "Dulberg Bates 2639 to 2645 2020 Jan 31.pdf" consists of 6 pages and was attached to the email.[2]

While Williams is hiding around 40 email documents with Balke, she acts as if turning over Balke's appearance (a document which was available to both Williams and Flynn as part of the Common Law Record of the underlying case) "resolves all issues" with Balke. This is classic gas-lighting in action.

2D10. Williams was in possession of complete and well-ordered copies of Dulberg's emails from three different sources before May 29, 2019 (One on the Gooch thumbdrive in the main folder "Dulberg UNDERLYING CASE DOCUMENTS", one on the Gooch thumb drive in the main folder "Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client" and one sent to Williams as an email attachment). Williams received a fourth complete copy of emails in a format which was different from the first three sources in a folder called "Lawyers Emails by Date", sent to Williams as an email attachment in a folder called "To_Julia" on July 8, 2019.

2D11. Williams acted as if she was not in possession of the Balke emails and was not aware of who Brad Balke was when she communicated with Opposing Counsel and with Dulberg. Considering the large number of documents involving Balke that were intentionally suppressed by Williams from the May 30, 2019 document disclosure, it is simply not credible for Williams to claim that she was not aware of who Brad Balke was.

2D12. Inexplicably, Flynn and Popovich also claimed to not know who Balke was on December 17, 2019, even though the suppressed email communication demonstrates that Mast and Balke have done business together in the past on friendly terms. Considering that the suppressed documents involving Balke contained clear evidence that Mast knew who Balke was and had dealt with Balke in the past, it is simply not credible for Flynn, Mast or Popovich to claim they do not know who Brad Balke is.

2D13. By suppressing about 40 documents of email communication between Balke and Dulberg and at least 6 other documents mentioning Balke, Williams created an artificial mystery around Balke that was entirely unnecessary.

2D14. On July 2, 2020 DEFENDANTS, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'S SUPPLEMENTAL REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION TO PLAINTIFF

> "2. Any and all documents relating to any consultation or advice you received from any attorney or "legal expert" or legal malpractice expert which formed the basis for your alleged discovery of Mast's and Popovich's breach or breaches of the standard of care while they represented you in your claim or lawsuit against William and Caroline McGuire and David Gagnon.
> 3. Any and all documents regarding or reflecting advice from any attorney or legal expert, including but not limited to Tom Gooch, including but not limited to your communications with Tom Gooch in December 2016 (up to and including the date of the filing of your original complaint against Popovich and Mast), which relate to your discovery of any breach of the standard of care by Popovich or Mast and proximately caused damages or injury resulting therefrom."[1]

2D15. On July 9, 2020 Williams turned over more than 6000 pages of documents to opposing counsel. This included around 40 email communications between Balke and Dulberg which were being turned over for the first time.

2D16. On February 10, 2021 Flynn states in court:

> MR. FLYNN: I'm a little confused, Judge. There is no pending 619 motion. That was ruled upon years ago. This is simply a motion to compel and, you know, again, looking back, I didn't attach every discovery answer that Mr. Dulberg provided because there were many and there were issues with signature pages throughout written discovery. But here, the overarching supplemental request, Exhibit E, I believe it is, that was served on July 2 has not been answered. It's not been objected to. It's untimely at this point, and, again, it's clear that the discovery of the malpractice and damages has been placed at issue. So we're entitled to explore that discovery.[2]

In summary judgment motion Popovich and Mast stated:

> "Brad Balke substituted for Dulberg on March 19, 2015 when Popovich withdrew. (Exhibit E, p.35). Dulberg asked hundreds of lawyers to take over his case when Popovich withdrew, but none accepted. (Exhibit, E, P.36). Dulberg fired Bulke prior to the binding arbitration, and he was then represented by the Baudin Law Firm. While Brad Bulke handled the case, Balke never gave him an opinion as to the liability of the McGuires and whether the prior settlement was appropriate. (Exhibit E, p.42)."[1]

"Here defendants painstakingly attempted to seek discovery as to how Popovich allegedly breached the standard of care, and when and how Dulberg became aware of any damages. Dulberg's discovery responses and deposition testimony were repeatedly evasive. See Dulberg testimony, Exhibit D, pages 106 to 141. This behavior continued and caused the need for a motion to compel (See Group Exhibit J, Motion to Compel, Motion to Suppliment Motion to Compel, and July 19, 2021 transcript from hearing). Moreover, Dulberg's dissatisfaction with Popovich's representation surfaced much earlier and he even threatened in writing to sue Mast as early as February 22, 2015. Dulberg, no "babe in the woods" when it comes to experience with litigation retention, met with "hundreds" of attrorneys and had opportunity after opportunity to investigate and inquire as to whither Popovich breached the standard of care and caused him any dmage in connection with the case (incuding procesution of the case against Gagnon and McGuires). The many cases cited above establish the Plaintiff's duty to inquire, and here Dulberg had the tools, the information, and opportunity to inquire. His contrived late discovery of his claims and damages should not be countenanced by this court. He was clearly questioning whether he should agree to accept the McGuires' offer, and he deliberated on it extensively. Nothing prevented him from seeking a second opinion. Likewise, nothing prevented him from inquiring from Mr Bulke or the Baudin firm whether his injury was wrongfully caused. Summary Judgement must be entered as his claims are barred by the two-year statute of limitations."[2]

2D17. A reasonable person can conclude that Williams suppressed the documents and emails mentioning Balke to benefit the defendants. Williams intentionally created a mystery around Dulberg's relationship to Balke that was entirely unnecessary. Both Flynn and Williams pretended to not know who Balke was. The suppression of documents on the communications between Balke and Dulberg and other documents mentioning Balke (from 4 different sources presented in different formats) creates the appearance that Dulberg was hiding documents from the defense about Balke, and therefore creates the appearance that Dulberg has something to hide about his relationship to Balke and what they discussed together.

2D18. A reasonable person can also conclude that Clinton and Williams, while retained as Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys, intentionally avoided informing Dulberg that Balke was acting in violation of federal bankruptcy laws by appearing in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court (which has no jurisdiction over the PI case), representing Dulberg (who has no standing as plaintiff), and in attempting to get Dulberg to accept $50,000 to settle the PI case with Gagnon without the knowledge or consent of the bankruptcy trustee or the bankruptcy judge.

2E THE EXAMPLE OF SUPPLEMENTAL DISCOVERY REQUEST FOR DOCUMENT PRODUCTION FILED ON JULY 2, 2020

2E1. On July 2, 2020 Flynn filed a Supplemental Request for Production of Documents.[1]

2E2. On July 2, 2020, at 12:10 PM Williams sent a forwarded email to Dulberg stating:

> "Opposing Counsel has tendered a supplemental request for production. Please review. A response is due by July 30, 2020. You can begin gathering responsive documents. Some of the document may be subject to attorney-client privilege. Best Regards,"[2]

2E3. Most of the documents Dulberg would need to gather to answer the supplemental production request were still being suppressed by Williams and were released by Williams for the first time one week later on July 9, 2020 hidden behind thousands of pages of previously released documents. The more than 6000 pages of documents contained all the previously suppressed emails of Balke, Saul Ferris, the letter from Saul Ferris to Dulberg among other suppressed documents.

Williams is 'flooding' Dulberg with an overwhelming number of documents and sneaking all but one of the documents that were previously suppressed into the flood, behind thousands of pages of useless material. Williams intentionally kept suppressing the certified slip ruling on Tilschner v Spangler.

2E4. On July 27, 2020 at 2:24 PM Ed Clinton sent an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

> "Dear Paul, Please see the attached letter. Best Regards"

In the attached letter Clinton and Williams resigned as Dulberg's counsel.[4]

2E5. On July 30, 2020 at 10:21 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:

> "These document requests are due today. We have obtained a 28 day extension so the responses are now due August 27, 2020. We anticipate filing our motion to withdraw. Thus, you will need your new counsel to respond or prepare your own response. Best Regards"[5]

2E6. On July 30, 2020 at 1:50 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:

> "Thank you for getting this extended. I'm pulling from memory here because I had a a Dr's appointment today and am away from my desk I just took your July 2 email and reviewed it. I didn't collect the documents because I thought I had already turned over all the gooch files and emails to you and I thought we waived privilege for Boudin and you have all of that as well. I suppose other than the last request asking for "documents" relating to a conversation between Baudin and myself when we were leaving the ADR the rest of this would be contingent on Judge Meyers decision of the objections over Gooch questioning that were raised during my deposition. I'm still not sure how I'm supposed to have documents from a verbal conversation with Baudin. I will look at all this again when I get home."[1]

2E7. On August 18, 2020 at 2:13 PM Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:

"This correspondence is being forwarded pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 201(k). I just received your firm's motion to withdraw. If you could please pass along to Mr. Dulberg or his new counsel, that we must insist on the outstanding written discovery being answered by August 27, 2020 per our agreement below, it would be appreciated. I think we have been very patient with Mr. Dulberg in responding to discovery which has been directed at his assertion of the discovery rule in this case, where he is attempting to overcome a statute of limitations defense (issues which are evident from the face of the pleadings and the applicable statutes involved). The supplemental discovery we served merely clarified and more specifically identified communications and documents which were the subject of prior discovery requests, and some of which were identified at Mr. Dulberg's discovery deposition taken on February 19, 2020. Please feel free to contact me if you would like to discuss this matter."[2]

2E8. On August 18, 2020 at 2:42 PM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:

"We previously obtained an extension info time to respond to document discovery in your case—see below—to August 27. Opposing counsel is insisting on the August 27 response date. As we are withdrawing, it is likely more appropriate for your new counsel to respond to the discovery. lternatively, you could seek more time when the matter is before the Judge on Sept 10. Best Regards,"[3]

2E9. On August 18, 2020 at 2:49 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:

"Please remind me,

Was this the emails and communications with Gooch that they are after or something else?"[4]

2E10. On August 18, 2020 at 2:56 PM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:

"The requests are attached again here so you can see what they are seeking. Again, they were issued on July 2, 2020. We sent them to you that same day. They were originally due on July 30, 2020. We obtained an extension to August 27, 2020. Best regards,"[1]

2E11. On August 18, 2020 at 3:11 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:

"Thanks again for resending those requests from George Flynn. At this point I will not be meeting their deadline of August 27th until I have new council and/or the Judge rules that I must divulge communications with my attorney Gooch from the current case. I'm not an attorney but I believe its common knowledge that what George Flynn is asking for is wrong and strikes at the heart of attorney/client privilege. Kindly let Mr Flynn know he will not be receiving those answers or files until I have new counsel or the Judge rules on our objection at my deposition and orders me to turn over privileged communications."[2]

2E12. On October 16, 2020 Dulberg sent an email to Williams with the subject "PLEASE HELP WITH CASE FILE" stating:

"Oh, and just so you are aware, I may have to argue this on my own without counsel and I am going to do everything I can to see this case through to the end. Continue to help me navigate your case file, perhaps correct me when I am wrong and I will make sure your lean gets satisfied out of the award. Thank you all for what you have done thus far"[3]

2E13. On Oct 19, 2020 Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:

Hi Julia and Ed, I'm sure you noticed the amount of emails I have sent. I'm in a frantic state to find new counsel and simultaneously try to learn what I call "legalese" so I can reply to and argue Flynns Motion on my own if need be and learn your file system. Before I go give $10,000 on yet another attorney, whom I don't know, I wanted to give you an option since your already familiar with the case, know the case file and I do trust you and don't think it fair that you did all that work and may not get paid what you should if I end up hiring the wrong attorney. In less than 3 months I will have enough cash in hand to fund this case and finish it 3x over. It will probably take less time but that is my worst case scenario as my family and I move to liquidate some assets and free up our capital rather than borrow from loan sharks I am hoping that you would be interested in taking back representation of this case. Rather than hire a new attorney, I can use the $10,000 to pay for you legal services over the next 3 months This gives me 3 months to make the arrangements needed to have enough funding to go at this paying in full the whole way through. If after 3 months I don't have the funds to finish this case, you can withdraw again. I believe this would give both of us the best chances at recouping the money and time invested thus far. Time is limited so please think about this and let me know in the next day or two."[1]

2E14. On October 19, 2020 at 9:52 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:

"We will cannot accept your matter again. As for the remainder of the emails that you sent, we provided you with the entire file. The documents are labeled. Anything in the folder that stated it was produced to OC—I provided the specific name in my email last week—those documents/written discovery answers were produced to OC. If it's not in that folder, it wasn't produced. There are several duplicates of documents—you should cross check it with that folder. We did produce everything we could to OC with the exception of confidential communication between you and Gooch. I believe all the other relevant and requested documents were produced. We did not respond to the July 2020 supplemental discovery that George Flynn issued to you. I sent the requests in an email to you, but they are also on the flash drive.

Again, everything is on the flash drive, so we recommend that you look there. We wish you the best of luck."[2]

2E15. The following exchanges took place on April 1, 2021 in court:[3]

THE COURT: All right. For the record, this is Dulberg versus Mast. And, plaintiff's counsel, if you could identify yourself.

MR. TALARICO: Your Honor, good morning. Mr. Flynn. My name is Alphonse Talarico. I represent the plaintiff, Paul Dulberg.

THE COURT: Okay. And for the defense?

MR. FLYNN: Attorney George Flynn, F-l-y-n-n. And, Judge, and, counsel, I would like to extend my apologies for the calendaring issue last week.

THE COURT: It happens. But let's -- where are we? Because I -- yeah, bring me up to date with where you are.

MR. FLYNN: Generally, Judge, the -- Okay. So the court ordered the plaintiff to produce certain documents that were withheld. That has been done. We have I think a continued issue with respect to interrogatory answers from the -- Hans Mast interrogatories served in July of 2019, and then the improper and vague answer, responses, to the production request where the plaintiff has just simply identified Bate's documents 1 through 8,708 relative to the discovery of the alleged malpractice.

THE COURT: Yeah, I looked at the answers, those answers, and I believe those are nonresponsive. Merely identifying all the records is not a direct response to your request, so I'm going to direct plaintiff to provide a supplemental response to those requests. Mr. Talarico, you have something to say?

MR. TALARICO: Yes, Judge, actually, I do. Those 8,707 prior documents that had been submitted, according to the information I have, between Mr. Flynn and the Clinton Law Firm, the previous law firm, were under the initial request to produce. The answers that I have from the Clinton Law Firm indicate the wording that the documents will be produced and then there is no objection between Flynn -- Mr. Flynn and the Clinton Law Firm. There's no -- and I have no way of researching how the relationship between the first set of answers that covered document 1 through 8707 have been done. I -- that's why I said that that will be unreasonable and an expense and I have to go back to each document and see how it responded.

Mr. Flynn, as far as I've seen, had not objected to those answers, so to do that would force me to review close to 9,000 documents to see which were responsive -- 9,000 -- 8,707 that have already been turned over and, in addition to that, on February 10th,

Judge, the last hearing date on this matter, you focused and ordered us to focus our response to the time Mr. Dulberg knew or should have known, and the only documents that at that time hadn't been turned over to Mr. Flynn would be six hundred something odd documents, communications between the second -- the Gooch law firm and Mr. Dulberg. Those I reviewed and submitted the one that responded to what -- to what the court indicated the communications in December of --

THE COURT: Before we get into that -- because I think that issue's resolved. Before we get into that, why are you -- I guess I'm not following. You're saying that it's -- giving him specific responses to his discovery requests is overly burdensome on you at this point?

MR. TALARICO: Right, to go back and review 8,700 documents that had been turned over in the past --

THE COURT: Well, who should?

MR. TALARICO: Excuse me?

THE COURT: Well, who's burden is that to provide the accurate answer?

MR. TALARICO: Judge, those were responded to. They were supplied to Mr. Flynn in the past in response to requests to produce.

THE COURT: He may have -- I accept he has every single relevant document, but you can't just say in response to a discovery request find it yourself, it's in these thousands of pages of documents. You got to tell him where it is. So --

MR. TALARICO: I understand -- I'm sorry, Judge.

THE COURT: The bottom line, your answer has to be one that you can be pinned down on for purposes of impeachment, and your answers are -- don't permit that. So if you're going to respond, you've got to give him a direct response to a direct question, and you didn't do that. You've given him -- you said here's everything we have, find it yourself. And that is nonresponsive.

MR. TALARICO: Judge, with all due respect, again, the -- this was -- what I'm reflecting on is these are the documents that were submitted to Mr. Flynn by the Clinton Law Firm with no objection.

THE COURT: But I have a motion to compel that -- I mean -- so I think --

MR. FLYNN: And that's not accurate, Judge. There have been multiple 201(k) conferences and it was a long, unusual production in response to the interrogatories in the case as it was.

THE COURT: Regardless, I am ordering compliance and you must give specific responses to each of the requests, and you can't just say it's somewhere in these 8,000 plus pages. How long is it going to take you to do that?

MR. TALARICO: Judge, if I could have 60 days to cover 9,000 -- close to 9,000 documents.

THE COURT: Sure, I'll give you 60 days, because, yeah, that is a lot of -- those are a lot of documents, so I'll put this out 60 days. Mr. Flynn, is there anything else we need to address at this time?

MR. FLYNN: Well, the supplemental production response, again, is a nonresponsive production response. The question is, is there a document in that 8,000 pages. We don't think there is, but Dulberg testified both ways essentially, whether there was a December 16, 2016, written communication with Tom Gooch that provided him with the basis for the tolling of the statute of limitations. If there is none, then the response should say there is none, not see 8,000 documents and maybe it's in them.

THE COURT: I agree. Mr. Talarico, --

MR. FLYNN: And with respect to the --

THE COURT: Well, hang on. Mr. Talarico, I'm not going to tell you how to respond, but if there is no such document, -- I did take note of the fact that I saw none in the documents I reviewed -- if there is no such document, then just say there is no such document.

MR. TALARICO: With all due respect, I think I did answer that question. There was one document and I turned it over to Mr. Flynn. The only document between Gooch and the plaintiff in December of 2016, one document turned over, without objection, without a privilege log.

THE COURT: Mr. Flynn? You're being told that all documents responsive to that request have been turned over. And I agree that at least in the documents I was asked to review, there was nothing that corresponded with the December 2016 date that we initially were discussing, but --

MR. FLYNN: It should be a pretty simple process then and it should be in writing. Then I can attach it to my summary judgment motion, which I know is not a surprise to anyone. The same goes with respect to the interrogatory answers. Dulberg admitted in his deposition that he didn't respond completely to interrogatory number one, in particular, from Hans Mast.

So that is also part of this motion to compel. Again, that one is a little different. It says identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach and when and how you became aware of the breach. He didn't answer it.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Talarico? And I'm going to move on to everybody else and then come back to you -- in fact, I'll come back to you guys. I'll let -- let me get rid of everyone else and we'll resume this in a moment.

(Whereupon, the above-entitled cause was passed and subsequently recalled.)

THE COURT: That brings us back to Dulberg. What I'm doing right now is looking up -- I want to go to the interrogatory. Mr. Flynn, while I'm looking for -- it's interrogatory number one; am I correct?

MR. FLYNN: Correct.

THE COURT: All right. I'm looking in your motion to compel and since nothing is marked, I've got to page through these one at a time, so while I'm doing that, rather than just staring at me, why don't you tell me what the interrogatory says.

MR. FLYNN: Sure. It says identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached a duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach.

THE COURT: Okay. And what was the response?

MR. FLYNN: Between October of 2013 and January 2014, Mast told Dulberg that Illinois law does not permit a recovery against the McGuires in the circumstances of Dulberg's case and that he would not receive any recovery from the McGuires.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. FLYNN: Mast advised Dulberg that the judge would rule in favor of the McGuires on a motion for summary judgment. Mast further told Dulberg that Dulberg would retain his claim against Gagnon and be able to seek and receive a full recovery from Gagnon. So that says nothing specifically about a breach, the date of the breach or when and how he became aware of it.

THE COURT: Well, it doesn't -- no, it doesn't tell you the date. Mr. Talarico, do you have a response on that?

MR. TALARICO: No, Your Honor, it doesn't say specifically the date of the breach.

THE COURT: All right. And --

MR. FLYNN: And we were forwarded the discovery. Again, this goes back to the Gooch -- whether it be a verbal or written communication on December 16, 2016.

MR. TALARICO: Mr. Flynn, verbal -- I don't know where I could get verbal responses. I've gone over everything and I -- Judge, I have in total 90 emails between the two, between Mr. Gooch and Mister -- and the plaintiff, and I would be willing to turn over every one of them. That's the written -- that's what I have.

MR. FLYNN: I just want to know what the basis is for the discovery of the malpractice, and if there isn't anything other than a verbal discussion with Tom Gooch in his office, that's fine; but it just needs to specify that. And I think that's been the ruling with this.

THE COURT: And I think --

MR. FLYNN: And that's what the testimony seems to reflect.

THE COURT: I -- I think the answer -- and I certainly don't know, but based upon what I understand already, I think the answer points to that December 2016 date addressed in the production response, but I don't know and I -- my concern is making sure it is clear from the answer to interrogatory that is in fact what we're talking about. If there's another date, fine, but it has to be disclosed. I don't know about -- I'm not sure how he responds to the date of the breaches because I -- I do think that that's an incredibly broad question because it --

MR. FLYNN: I understand that.

THE COURT: -- in essence, it's every day after the resolution of the initial claim, and you do have a date for that, at least by way of a settlement or order. So, Mr. Talarico, can you supplement that answer with the date of discovery?

MR. TALARICO: I will do my best, Judge. I will.

THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Flynn, the next one?

MR. FLYNN: You know, generally I think that's it, Judge. It's the supplemental production response and then these interrogatories, so what I would ask that the order reflect, that the specific answers need to be made and that the objections in the supplemental production response be overruled. I think the objection is undue burden on each of them --

THE COURT: Yeah, and to the extent that there are objections to the burdensome nature, those are overruled. I recognize that it is a burden, but you got to -- somebody's got to do it, and it is your claim, it is your burden. But I will give you 60 days in which to complete that.

Mr. Talarico, anything you want to add?

MR. TALARICO: No, Judge.

THE COURT: So why don't we -- 60 days is June 1st. Let's assume -- and I'm going to -- I won't assume compliance prior to June 1st, but if we come back on June 14th, that's a Monday, Mr. Flynn, do you think you would be able to give me your comments on compliance by then?

MR. FLYNN: If I have a response and, say, amended interrogatory answers and amended supplemental responses by June 1?

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. FLYNN: Yes, sure.

THE COURT: Okay. So I will direct a supplemental answer to interrogatory number one. I'll direct amended answers to the production request, and all due by June 1st.

2E16. On June 14, 2021 the following exchange took place in court:[1]

What's going on with the case? What -- we are here for discovery compliance.

MR. TALARICO: Yes, your Honor. Well, I believe we have complied to your order completely.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. TALARICO: We have filed and served all the proper documents, searched all -- whatever, close to 9,500 documents and responded appropriately.

A reasonable person can conclude that Williams intentionally suppressed documents mentioning the subjects of Brad Balke, Bankruptcy, Saul Ferris, the Saul Ferris declination letter and the Baudins that the opposing counsel was actively seeking from May 30, 2019 until July 9, 2020 and then, just before Williams resigned, Williams "flooded" Dulberg with over 6000 documents, leaving Dulberg to answer the supplemental document discovery request on his own or with a new attorney being presented with a massive trove of documents to look through and perhaps only 28 days to do it. A reasonable person can conclude that this was done to intentionally confuse and overwhelm Dulberg and any new attorney he may retain to benefit the defendants and sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast.

2F THE EXAMPLE OF THE BAUDINS

2F1. The Baudins were retained[2] on September 22, 2015 by Dulberg to represent Dulberg in his PI lawsuit against David Gagnon, after Dulberg fired Brad Balke.

2F2. Just like Balke, the Baudins, in violation of the automatic stay, represented Dulberg in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court (which had no jurisdiction over the PI case) even though the Baudins must have known Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in PI case 12LA178.

2F3. Williams suppressed all emails between the Baudins and Dulberg from the document disclosure to opposing counsel on May 30, 2019 except bates number "Dulberg 001308" (which is a notice of the binding mediation award). Williams also suppressed documents on the relationship of the Baudins to the bankruptcy estate.

2F4. Dulberg later discovered that Clinton and Williams failed to inform him of the ways which the defendants Popovich and Mast, Balke and later the Baudins (and Allstate and bankruptcy Trustee Olsen) acted in violation of Federal Bankruptcy Laws.

2F5. On June 13, 2016, in violation of the automatic stay, in the Circuit Court Allstate attorney

Reddington stated that she and the Baudins are considering this case as a possible ADR candidate without Dulberg's knowledge or permission. The Baudins were representing Dulberg in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court without Dulberg having standing as plaintiff, the case under automatic stay and without being hired as special counsel or receiving leave from the 7th Circuit United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division. Allstate attorney Reddington stated in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court, "I have four motions up this morning. Plaintiff's attorney and I are working on the case to see if it's a possible ADR candidate. He asked that we get our motions entered and continued. They're for an IME." Allstate attorney Reddington also said, "And honestly, if I get a decision sooner, that -- well, I don't know if this is a case we -- we probably wouldn't be able to enter a dismissal order if we went to ADR until after the ADR was done."

On June 13, 2016 the following exchange took place in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court:[1]

> THE COURT: Dulberg versus Gagnon?
>
> (Whereupon the afore-captioned cause was recalled.)
>
> SPEAKER: Judge, I'm here on Dulberg versus

>
> SPEAKER: Yes. And I'm new to it, but I'm like, Okay, we're going to, you know, get it ready for trial if that's what we're going to do.
>

SPEAKER: At the end of the month.

THE COURT: So --

SPEAKER: I don't want to --

THE COURT: We'll get into July. Why don't we go 30 days. What's a day that works for you?

SPEAKER: And honestly, if I get a decision sooner, that -- well, I don't know if this is a case we -- we probably wouldn't be able to enter a dismissal order if we went to ADR until after the ADR was done.

THE COURT: Yeah.

SPEAKER: Based on the history. I am gone the first week of July. So after that, I am here July 11th.

THE COURT: Let's come back July 11th.

SPEAKER: Are you comfortable with leaving the trial date until that time?

THE COURT: Yeah.

SPEAKER: Because the trial date's out in September.

THE COURT: Yeah.

SPEAKER: Okay. All right.

THE COURT: It's not like it's extra work for me.

SPEAKER: Well, I just -- you know, for purposes of your calendar.

THE COURT: You're -- you're the number one case, so everybody else will be happy if you go away.

SPEAKER: I'm sure they will. Okay. Thank you, Judge.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

2F6. On July 11, 2016 the following exchange took place in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court:[1]

THE COURT: Dulberg. Do we have -- When do you want to come back?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: We're entering continuing the motions, is that what we're doing?

THE COURT: Yes.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Okay. When's your next available date, Judge?

THE COURT: For a hearing?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yes.

---

1 Exhibit 54-CC-Civil - 12LA000178 - 3_2_2022 - - - REOP - - (1).pdf

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Or a brief.

THE COURT: Are we briefed? Has it been briefed?

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: No. They're just motions that I presented as emergencies and then we continued them pending discussions.

THE COURT: Well, when -- if it goes into mediation, the motions become moot. Or do we have to address them regardless? I don't know what they are.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I think the type of mediation we would do, it would be moot because -- UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Yeah, other than, possibly, an IME. But, you know, we can certainly work -- we've worked well together so far, so we could certainly see if we can work things out.

THE COURT: Speaking generally, I'd probably grant an IME. I haven't seen your motion, though, so I don't know. I mean, I could put this over to July 21st, and that should give you enough time to decide what you want to do with mediation.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I can be here.

THE COURT: Okay. All right. And that will be just at 9:00 o'clock for presentation of the motion, and then we'll figure out what we're going to do.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Thank you for your time.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Thank you. Appreciate it.

2F7. On July 21, 2016 the following exchange took place in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court:[1]

APPEARANCES:

THE BAUDIN LAW GROUP LTD., by: MS. KELLY N. BAUDIN, on behalf of the Plaintiff;

LAW OFFICE OF STEVEN A. LIHOSIT, by: MS. SHOSHAN E. REDDINGTON, on behalf of the Defendant David Gagnon.

MS. BAUDIN: Kelly Baudin on behalf of the plaintiff. Mr. Dulberg is present and approaching.

MS. REDDINGTON: Good morning, Judge. Shoshan Reddington for the defendant.

THE COURT: Good morning.

MS. REDDINGTON: We talked last night. We've got some things agreed to, so I would like to just give us a moment to discuss that and step back up.

THE COURT: Okay. I will pass.

MS. BAUDIN: Thank you.

1 Exhibit 55-CC-Civil - 12LA000178 - 3_2_2022 - - - REOP - - (2).pdf

MS. REDDINGTON: Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

(Whereupon, the above-entitled cause was passed and subsequently recalled.)

MS. BAUDIN: Okay, Judge. As you know, we had previously been discussing binding mediation. We came to a semi-agreement, --

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. BAUDIN: -- but we would like probably two weeks to just see if we can figure out the details and see if we can reach an agreement on how that is going to proceed. So I think we're looking at an August 4th date for that.

THE COURT: Can't do August 4th --

MS. BAUDIN: Oh, okay. I just was looking at two weeks, Your Honor.

THE COURT: -- because that's when I'm not here.

MS. BAUDIN: Oh, I see on the calendar. I apologize.

THE COURT: Any day after that.

MS. REDDINGTON: The following week, anything?

MS. BAUDIN: Grab my -- Let's say either the 8th or the 10th are probably the best.

THE COURT: Either's fine?

MS. REDDINGTON: My calendar's currently crashed on my -- so I can't answer that, but --

MS. BAUDIN: Why don't we do the 10th, just so it's --

THE COURT: Is there a date you know you're going to be here?

MS. REDDINGTON: No.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. REDDINGTON: Judge, and I have several motions, and what I'd like to do is get the trial stricken which is on 9/- --

MS. BAUDIN: 27th I believe or 22nd?

MS. REDDINGTON: -- the 26th, and then to set it for the status instead on the 8/10, and then I also had a motion on an IME. I'm a little stymied right now because my claim rep is out this week and there's a couple of issues that I can't answer for counsel, but if we do get the agreement in place, what we'd like to do is do the mediation and then come back for a status to dismiss it once the mediation is done, if that's agreeable.

THE COURT: First off, with respect to the motion to strike the trial date, any objection?

MS. BAUDIN: No.

THE COURT: All right. I will -- I will strike the trial date for September 26, as well as the pretrial date of the 23rd.

MS. REDDINGTON: Okay.

THE COURT: I will enter and continue your other motions until we're certain what's going to happen.

MS. REDDINGTON: Okay.

THE COURT: The removal of the trial date pretty much means we can do anything.

MS. REDDINGTON: Takes care of that. Okay. And hopefully we'll come back with everything in place and then we'll just even set a date and then get a status for after that date to be able to come back and say it's done; we're willing to dismiss with prejudice because mediation's binding and it's done.

THE COURT: All right. However you want to do it, it is fine.

MS. REDDINGTON: Thank you.

THE COURT: All right. Take care.

MS. BAUDIN: Thank you

2F8. On August 10, 2016, in violation of the automatic stay, the Baudins and Reddington moved to enter into binding mediation on August 10, 2016, The date of the Binding Mediation hearing was already set for December 8, 2016 by the time the following exchange took place on August 10, 2016 in the Circuit Court:[1]

MS. REDDINGTON: Number one, Dulberg vs. Gagnon. Shoshan Reddington for the defendant. We have (indiscernible) scheduled for 12-8.

THE COURT: Okay.

MS. REDDINGTON: We'd like to have a status date after that date.

THE COURT: What date works for you? You said December 8?

MS. REDDINGTON: December 8.

THE COURT: Okay. How about the following Monday, the 12th? Or do you want to go out further? The 16th, Friday?

On August 10, 2016, in violation of the automatic stay, Judge Meyer of the 22nd Circuit Court entered an 'Agreed Order'[2] that stated "This case is continued on Motion of 'by agreement' to 12/12, 2016 at 9:00am for Status on binding Mediation.". The order also stated "Defendants appear by attorney Reddington". Reddington represented Allstate. The Baudins were not present.

2F9. Allstate and the Baudins misrepresented Dulberg's wishes to the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court (which has no jurisdiction over the PI case) and claimed they had an agreement to enter into binding mediation on August 10, 2016. Judge Meyer entered the order and pushed the next status date to December 12, 2016, which is 4 days after the scheduled binding mediation date of December 8, 2016. All this was done while the case was under automatic stay and Baudins client Dulberg had no standing in the case.

2F10. On December 8, 2022 Dulberg filed a complaint 2022L010905[1] against the Baudins for legal malpractice and contract fraud based on the later research and initiative of Dulberg's subsequent counsel. A reasonable person can conclude that Williams intentionally suppressed documents which clarified Baudins relationship to the bankruptcy estate for the same reason that she suppressed other documents on the bankruptcy: to avoid all the complex issues which arise in civil complaint 2022L010905.

(a) That Dulberg's signature was fraudulently placed on the Executed Binding Mediation Agreement executed 4 days earlier on December 8, 2016.

(b) That Trustee Olsen misrepresented Dulberg's consent to the Bankruptcy Judge on October 31, 2016.

(c) That Allstate, the Baudins and Trustee Olsen knew Dulberg had no standing to pursue the case 12LA178 while the case was under an automatic stay.

(d) That Allstate, the Baudins and Trustee Olsen all knew the case 12LA178 proceeded in the Circuit Court in violation of the automatic stay.

(e) That the Baudins by agreement with Allstate, in violation of the automatic stay, before the Baudins were approved to be hired as special counsel under Trustee Olsen, misrepresented Dulberg as agreeing to Binding Mediation in Circuit Court on August 10, 2016 and asked Associate Judge Meyer to delay the next status hearing to December 12, 2016 after the binding mediation was to take place on December 8, 2016.

(f) That the Baudins' and Allstate's acts in violation of the automatic stay, started laying the groundwork as early as June 16, 2016 and finally set the binding mediation date for December 8, 2016 on August 10, 2016 in the Circuit Court. This happened before Trustee Olsen was even appointed to the position on August 31, 2016 and before Trustee Olsen received permission from the Honorable Judge Thomas M. Lynch, to hire the Baudins as special counsel and permission to enter into the proposed capped Binding Mediation Agreement on October 31, 2016.

(g) That the Baudins filed their APPEARANCE as REGULAR COUNSEL in 12LA178 on 11/6/2015 in violation of the automatic stay.

(h) That there is no APPEARANCE filed by the Baudin Defendants that is not VOID in case 12LA178.

1 Exhibit F5-Filed Complaint December 8 2022 DisplayFromAWS.pdf

(i) That the Baudin Defendants' failed to file an APPEARANCE to represent the bankruptcy estate in case 12LA178 after being hired as special counsel by Trustee Olsen.

(j) That Trustee Olsen received permission from the Bankruptcy court to enter into the proposed Binding Mediation Agreement and later made a choice and Trustee Olsen did not act and sign on the advice of his special counsel the Baudins.

(k) That Trustee Olsen did not "pursue" and "exercise control "over the claim/asset and in doing so Abandoned the asset and it reverted back to the DEBTOR.

(l) The Baudin Defendants were approved and hired as Special Counsel for the Estate and in such a capacity had no standing to execute a Binding Mediation Agreement for the DEBTOR.

(m) The only party with standing over abandoned assets is now the DEBTOR.

(n) That there can be no agreement between Allstate and the Baudin Defendants acting as counsel for the bankruptcy estate to have the case dismissed with prejudice in the circuit court on December 12, 2016 since the Baudins failed to file any appearance anywhere that is not VOID and had no standing since they did not represent the DEBTOR.

(o) Trustee Olsen and the Baudins collected the monies paid out by Allstate after ABANDONING the ASSET that then reverted back to the DEBTOR.

Dulberg clearly did not know any of this fraud took place when he was awarded $660,000 in the capped Binding Mediation but Allstate, Trustee Olsen and the Baudins must have known. At that time Dulberg believed that the Bankruptcy Judge forced the case into a capped Binding Mediation without Dulberg's consent because that is what the Baudins told Dulberg. Dulberg stating "Yeah, you two did good, real good, and I thank both of you sincerely. I just can't help it, what I see here is a gift of $261,000 given to those responsible for my injuries." just after learning of the capped Binding Mediation Award and that cannot be interpreted as Dulberg knowing about the fraudulent concealment listed as (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), (l), (m), (n), (o) at that time. He was not happy about not being able to collect all that he was awarded, but that does not mean he knew or could have known about the fraudulent concealment listed as (a) through (o) (from paragraph 24).

A reasonable person can conclude that this benefits the defendants in that it caps Dulberg's possible recovery from Popovich and Mast to $300,000 without questioning the legal validity of how any 'cap' came to be part of any binding mediation agreement or without questioning the legal validity of the binding mediation agreement as a whole.

2F11. As Dulberg's retained legal malpractice attorney at the time, Williams knew or should have known that the Baudins committed legal malpractice against Dulberg for how they handled the binding mediation agreement and how they handled the Bankruptcy Estate. It is noteworthy that Williams never at any time advised Dulberg that either the Baudins or Bankruptcy Trustee Olsen did anything wrong or breached any duty of care they owed to Dulberg or to the Bankruptcy estate in which Dulberg was a beneficiary. As Dulberg's retained legal malpractice attorney at the time, Williams effectively shielded the Baudins and Trustee Olsen and both the bankruptcy and binding mediation processes from any scrutiny for their actions described in the legal malpractice and contract fraud complaint 2022L010905.

What the example of bankruptcy and the example of the Baudins show clearly is that Clinton and Williams repeatedly gas-lighted their fully disabled client in order to protect fellow attorneys who were previously gas-lighting the same fully disabled client.

2G THE DEFENDANT GAGNON, FFECTIVELY ADMITTING NEGLIGENCE FOR DULBERG'S INJURY

2G1. On February 1, 2013 Ron Barch filed CROSS-CLAIM FOR CONTRIBUTION AGAINTS CO-DEFENDANT DAVID GAGNON[1]. In the cross-claim the McGuires state as follows:

> 7. At the time and place alleged, notwithstanding his aforementioned duty, Defendant David Gagnon was then and there guilty of one or more of the following negligent acts and/or omissions:
>
> a. Caused or permitted a chainsaw to make contact with Plaintiffs right arm;
>
> b. Failed to operate said chainsaw in a safe and reasonable manner so as to avoid injuring Plaintiff's right arm;
>
> c. Failed to maintain a reasonable and safe distance between the chainsaw he was operating and Plaintiff's right arm;
>
> d. Failed to properly instruct Plaintiff prior to approaching him with an operating chainsaw;
>
> c. Failed to properly warn Plaintiff prior to approaching him with an operating chainsaw;
>
> f. Failed to maintain the chainsaw in the idle or off position when he knew or should have known that Plaintiff was close enough to sustain injury from direct contact with the subject chainsaw;
>
> g. Failed to maintain a proper lookout for Plaintiff while operating the subject chainsaw;
>
> h. Failed to maintain proper control over an operating chainsaw;
>
> i. Was otherwise negligent in the operation and control of the subject chainsaw.
>
> 8. That the injuries alleged by Plaintiff PAUL DULBERG, if any, were the direct and proximate result of negligence on the part of Defendant David Gagnon.

1 Exhibit G1-2013-02-01_12LA178_CROSS CLAIM FOR CONTRIBUTION AGAINST CODEFENDANT DAVID GAGNON_CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE_Barch-McGuires copy-OCR.pdf

2G2. Gagnon's attorney Accardo has never filed an answer on behalf of Gagnon.

2G3. On February 1, 2013 the McGuires filed DEFENDANTS' AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE[1] in which they stated:

> 1. That on the date and the place alleged in the Plaintiffs Complaint, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was guilty of negligence by failing to exercise due care and caution for his own safety in that he:
>
> b. Failed to use due care and caution as he assisted Defendant David Gagnon during the trimming and cutting of trees and branches when he knew and appreciated the dangers associated with chainsaw usage.
>
> c. Was inattentive and unobservant to surrounding conditions and dangers as he assisted Defendant David Gagnon during the trimming and cutting of trees and branches.
>
> d. Notwithstanding a reasonable opportunity to do so, failed to maintain a safe distance between himself and an operating chainsaw.
>
> e. Was otherwise careless and negligent as will be demonstrated by the evidence at trial.
>
> 2. That by reason of the aforesaid negligence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and as a direct and proximate result thereof, the Plaintiff sustained the damages claimed."

2G4. Of February 6, 2013 Mast filed an ANSWER TO AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE[2] on behalf of Dulberg which denied each of these allegations.

2G5. David Gagnon or his attorney has never filed an answer to these allegations in the cross-claim for contribution. By not filing an answer to a cross-claim for contribution Gagnon effectively admitted to each of charges (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) and (i).

2G6. In addition, Gagnon never answered the interrogatory questions Popovich and Mast sent to the Allstate attorney Accardo in October, 2012.

2G7. As Dulberg's attorneys at that time Popovich and Mast knew Gagnon never filed an answer to the cross-claim. As Dulberg's subsequent attorneys in his personal injury case, both Brad Balke and the Baudins also knew Gagnon never filed an answer to the cross-claim. Dulberg's first legal malpractice attorney, Gooch, also knew Gagnon never filed an answer to the cross-claim. Clinton and Williams also knew Gagnon never filed an answer to the cross-claim.

2G8. Clinton and Williams knew or should have known that Mast and Popovich must have known about the cross-claim filed by the McGuires against Gagnon and unanswered by Gagnon since early March, 2013. This was not mentioned in the complaint.

2G9. Clinton and Williams knew or should have known that the Baudins also knew or should have known about the cross-claim filed by the McGuires against Gagnon and unanswered by Gagnon since they first began to represent Dulberg in October, 2015. This was not mentioned in the complaint.

2H BARCH DOCUMENT AVAILABILITY BEFORE DULBERG'S DEPOSITION

In this section the way Clinton and Williams can delay their client's request for a subpoena of documents for over 8 months and they way the documents finally appear the day after Dulberg's deposition shows some classic gas-lighting techniques of a permanently disabled client.

2H1. On July 8, 2019 at 11:06 AM, about one week after Dulberg received the Popovich Document Disclosure from Williams, Dulberg sent an email[1] to Williams with an attached folder called "To_Julia"[2]. In the folder there was a file called "_READ_ME.txt"[3]. The text stated:

> "timeline_of_mcguire_settement.txt
>
> This gives you a rough timeline of events leading to Paul accepting a $5,000 settlement from the McGuires. Since we were never able to see (pop 192) until now, we never understood the details of how Mast tricked Paul into such a small settlement. The fact that Mast initiated the settlement process through (pop 192) without Paul's knowledge or permission is proof that this case is about more than Mast's negligence. It is about willful intent or malicious intent to deceive his client.
> Of course you will need convincing proof that (pop 192) was initiated without Paul's knowledge. We have that proof. As I fill in the timeline more and more, the evidence will be stronger and stronger."

2H2. This is when Dulberg first became aware of a document of a $7,500 offer made by Mast to opposing counsel Ron Barch on Dulberg's behalf to settle the claim against the McGuires.

2H3. Shortly after sending the folder Dulberg asked Williams by phone to subpoena the records of Ron Barch. Dulberg wanted to know if the October 22, 2013 document in which Mast offers to settle the claim against the McGuires for $7,500 was authentic. But he needed the Barch communications to verify the authenticity of the document.

2H4. On October 10, 2019 at 2:01 PM Dulberg sent an email to Williams stating:

> "3. Did we supoena the Attorney Barch with Auto-owners insurance for his communications with the Popovich Firm concerning the Dulberg case? If yes, have we recieved any of these documents? If no, when will we be asking for these documents?
> 4. Have we supoenad Attorneys Mr Accardo & Ms Reddington with Allstate Insurance for their communications with the Popovich Firm concerning the Dulberg casr? If yes, have we recieved any of these documents? If no, when will we be asking for these documents?

5. Have we supoenad the Bankruptcy Trustees Heeg and (I need to look up the names in the Bkruptcy docs) for their communications with the Popovich Firm concerning the value of the Dulberg case/asset?

If yes, have we recieved any of these documents? If no, when will we be asking for these documents?"[1]

2H5. On October 21, 2019 at 1:40 PM (Subject: Discovery and status update) Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:

"Subpoenas: Mary is working on the issuing various subpoenas. She will send copies to you. There is nothing further for you to do on this at this time."[2]

2H6. On October 24, 2019 at 10:53 AM Clinton sent an email to Dulberg stating:

"Provided are copies of the Subpoenas which were mailed out today. Ed"

"Good morning.
ARached are copies of the following subpoenas regarding the above referenced case:
1. Perry Accardo, Law Office of Gerard Gregoire
2. Law Office of Steven A. Lihosit
3. Joseph Olsen at Yalden, Olsen & WilleRe
4. Cicero France Barch & Alexander PC
Ed"[3]

2H7. On November 22, 2019 4:21 PM Ed Clinton sent an email to Chantel Bielskis stating:

"Chantal,The 14 day extension you requested is fine"[4]

2H8. On December 10, 2019 at 4:48:56 PM CST Chantel Bielskis wrote to Ed Clinton stating:

"Hello Ed – I am working on your subpoena for records. Is it safe to assume you have the entire court file or are you asking me to produce all of the pleadings I have as well?"[5]

2H9. On December 11, 2019 Chantal Beilskis sent an email to WIlliams stating;

"As I mentioned to Ed, I propose providing a list of all the treatment facilities from which we received records/bills per subpoena (either ours or Attorney Accardo's) instead."

Beilskis also stated, "Lastly, I propose sending a list of the deposition transcripts along with the corresponding reporter's info."[1]

2H10. On December 23, 2019 at 3:51 PM Chantal Bielskis sent an email to Williams stating:

"Dear Julia: In follow-up to my email below and in response to your firm's subpoena for records, please see, attached, copies of the non-privileged correspondence from my file."[2]

2H11. On December 23, 2019 at 3:55 PM Williams sent an email to opposing counsel Flynn stating;

"Dear George, Please the below response form Cicero's office re our subpoena. Best Regards, Julia Williams"[3] 2H12. On Dec 23, 2019, at 3:59 PM, Chantel Bielskis sent an email to Williams stating;

"You are welcome. Attached, please find one of the Exhibits from the Gagnon dep as well as photos of the injury. Unfortunately, I will not be able to get the remaining documents scanned in and over to you until after the 1st of the year. I apologize for the delay. Sincerely, Chantel R. Bielskis"[4]

2H13. On December 23, 2019 4:32 PM Williams sent an email to Chantal Beilskis stating;

"Thanks Chantel. No need to apologize for the delay. Enjoy your holidays!
Best Regards, Julia Williams"[5]

2H14. On Feb 12, 2020, at 12:26 PM, Dulberg emailed Williams stating:

"Due to the significants of the October 22, 2013 letter between Mast/Popovich and Ronald Barch/Auto-Owners I feel that the documents and communications between Mast and Barch are essential to have prior to any depositions. When can we get them?"[6]

2H15. On Feb 12, 2020, at 1:29 PM, WIlliams emailed Dulberg stating:

"We can move Hans Mast and Tom Popovich to the end of March. Defense counsel will not agree to move your deposition and would file a motion to compel. At this stage, I think it makes sense for you to go ahead and sit for your deposition on Feb. 19 at 1pm; we will prepare on Feb. 18 at our office at 1pm. For Feb. 19, I propose we meet here, at our office at 12:30 and walk to Karbal together."[7]

2H16. On Feb 12, 2020, at 5:28 PM, Dulberg emailed Williams stating:

> "How did we get fixed, forced or locked in on a date to give my deposition before we have finished document discovery of the Barch communications? Determining relevance of documents not yet gathered or analyzed on a central issue to our case isn't solely up to the defense to decide. It is not fair to us to have to walk into a discovery deposition without seeing the all the documents first whether or not the defense thinks those documents are relevant to my deposition. We will determine if the Barch documents are relevant to my deposition or not after seeing what is in them. It is also not fair to push Mast and Popovich depositions a month further out on the calendar if the defense is going to try and compel me to testify now. This serves no purpose other than buying the defense more time to formulate responses to what is discovered in my deposition. The dates of the depositions should stay as close together as logistically possible if we want the truth and not some formulated fiction of it.
> Let them file the motion to compel. I believe the Judge would agree that we should be able to analyze the Barch records and keep the depositions as close together as possible to get to the truth. I believe it is within our rights to see all documents before any depositions begin When can we expect to see the Barch communications and documents and how long will we have to analyze them before depositions begin?"[1]

2H17. On Feb 12, 2020, at 6:42 PM, Dulberg emailed Williams stating:

> "Perhaps we should file a motion to compel Ronald Barch and Auto-Owners Insurance to turn over all communications and document records with Hans Mast and the Popovich law firm as soon as possible. My thought is if we get those documents now and have a few days to digest them maybe we can keep the deposition dates as they are scheduled."[2]

2H18. On Feb 12, 2020, at 8:12 PM, Ed Clinton sent an email to Dulberg stating:

> "Is there a reason you are reluctant to be deposed? Ed"[3]

2H19. On Feb 13, 2020 at 7:18 AM, Dulberg emailed Clinton stating:

> "Is the October 22, 2013 letter an actual communication between Mast and Barch or is it a strategy or trick? It is essential to verify this from the Barch documents to determine if the letter is a fact or not. It is also important to limit the time between depositions. This is my only reluctance."[4]

2H20. On February 13, 2020 at 11:52 AM Ed Clinton sent an email to Dulberg stating:

> "Just remember that you cannot win a case during your deposition.
> Testify from your own personal knowledge.

I highly doubt that you can testify (or that you should testify) about a letter somebody else wrote, which may or may not be genuine. Stick to what you know - what you saw and what you observed.
Please focus on getting the deposition done and making a demand."[1]

2H21. On Feb 13, 2020 at 1:29 PM, Dulberg sent an email to Williams and Clinton stating:

"As of July 2019, I now know about the October 22, 2013, $7500 offer Mast made to Barch without my knowledge. We need to confirm this letter is real by acquiring the Barch firms documents and communications with Mast by compelling them if necessary. I have been asking for the Barch communications and documents since last July Why hasn't Barch turned over those communications and documents? Do we need to be concerned that Barch feels those documents may implicate himself somehow or has he made a backroom deal of some sort with Mast/Popovich? The only reluctance that I have is the amount of time Mast and Popovich will have to both read and formulate a strategy before being deposed themselves. I have learned the hard way not to trust these two gentlemen (Mast & Popovich) and have cause for concern or we wouldn't be here. In the underlying case, after reading Caroline McGuires deposition it became obvious to both myself and Mast that she had read my deposition prior to her being deposed. Caroline McGuire described my description of the chainsaw incident. After I realized that Caroline McGuire had information that she would not otherwise have had or possibly known before being deposed I learned to never let that happen again. It is not fair that the defense witnesses get to read my testimony/deposition before giving their own estimony/ deposition. Even if the defense witnesses don't read my deposition directly I'm positive they will be briefed by their counsel on the key points they need to address. Given enough time they (Mast & Popovich) will develop an alternative fictional half truth as a strategy. Fictional half truths is exactly what Mast and Popovich did to me when they lied and bullied me into settling with the McGuires.

These two gentlemen (Mast and Popovich) have a proven track record of deceiving and lying to me so why would I believe documents they turn over without confirming them by getting those records from Barch? If we need to postpone Mast and Popovich's depositions by a month because we haven't received the Barch communications then it seems only fair that my deposition is also postponed.

I don't know if Mast turned over all the communications and documents with Barch or not, the only way to find out is to see what Barch has, who knows what else those documents will show?

Believe me, I wish to get this over with as soon as possible but limiting the time both Mast and Popovich have to prepare after reading my deposition is more important and having the Barch communications before deposing Mast and Popovich is essential. If I could wave a magic wand and get the Barch documents and everyone deposed today I would do it in a heart beat. There is more than just the Barch documents that would be ideal to show the 2-1/2 years of deception, lies and abuse perpetuated by Mast and

Popovich on me, their client, but those other documents and communications are not at the core of our case. The Barch firms communications and documents are at the core of our case and must be obtained. I'm sorry if I hurt anyone feelings because I don't want to give Mast and Popovich over a month to pour through my deposition before answering questions but this is too important to care about their feelings."[1]

2H22. On February 13, 2020 at 5:04 PM Clinton sent an emai to Dulberg stating:[2]

"We need to know if you are going to do your deposition on Wednesday next week.
Second, I admit I don't understand your reluctance to be deposed. It does not make sense to me. We need to resolve this quickly . We need to get this case moving. I'm concerned we are not on the same page.
We believe Mast was negligent but we don't think those communications (that you were not a party to) are relevant to your testimony.
I'm much more concerned that this case is not moving along appropriately - there is no demand and no one will pay you until you are deposed"

2H23. On February 19, 2020, the day of Dulberg's deposition, at 1:18 PM Chantal Bielskis sent an email to Williams stating;

"Hello Julia – Attached, please see the letter going out to your firm today regarding my subpoena response. Please let me know if you need anything further regarding the subpoena. Also, if possible, I would appreciate you letting me know when this case is resolved. Have a good day. Sincerely, Chantel R. Bielskis"[3]

Attached letter states:

"Dear Mr. Clinton and Ms. Williams:

In follow-up to our prior communications regarding the above-referenced case, please find, enclosed, one DVD containing my firm's response to your records subpoena. Please note that, for the sake of completeness and convenience, the DVD contains all of the documents previously sent via email as well as the remaining documents I am producing.

Regarding the medical records and bills in my possession, due to the volume, I have included a list of the facilities from which we have records/bills and identified the source of the records (for example, Complex Legal Services).

I have included a similar list of the deposition transcripts in my possession along with the relevant court reporters so that you may order same if you wish.

Finally, I do have in my possession a copy of the MT 3500 Operator's Instruction Manual. However, due to the physical nature of the document, producing a copy would require sending it to an outside copying service. If you would like me to do so at your 2H24. On March 4, 2020 at 11:34 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:

"Attached are the documents we received in response to our subpoena to Cicero, France, and Alexander P.C., the successor to Mr. Ronald Barch's former firm, Cicero, France, Barch & Alexander PC."[2]

2H25. It is noteworthy that:

a) When Williams received subpoena documents from Bieilski on December 23, 2019, she sent a copy to opposing counsel Flynn within 4 minutes. Dulberg was asking his own attorneys for the same documents and he did not receive them until March, 4, 2020, more than 104 days after Williams gave them to opposing counsel and more than 2 weeks after Dulberg's deposition was already over.

b) In the exchange between Williams and Bielskis, on December 23, 2019, Beilskis stated, "I will not be able to get the remaining documents scanned in and over to you until after the 1st of the year." Williams answered, "No need to apologize for the delay. Enjoy your holidays". Around 59 days later (and hours after Dulberg's deposition), Beilskis apparently sent the final documents to Williams. And more than 2 weeks after receiving the subpoenaed documents, Williams sent them to Dulberg. Dulberg was asking Williams and Clinton for the documents the since July, 2019 (when Dulberg first discovered the $7,500.00 offer Mast made to Barch on October 22, 2013 without Dulberg's consent).

2H26. Dulberg has never received any DVD from Clinton or Williams that was mentioned in the letter[3] attached to the February 19, 2020 email.[4]

2I1. On January 30, 2020 3:34 PM Williams sent an email to Opposing Counsel Flynn stating:

"Please find attached the updated 214 affidavit. We will continue to supplement records as required under the rule."[5]

2I2. On January 30, 2020 at 3:50 PM Opposing Counsel Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:

"I appreciate you forwarding the affidavit. The issue with it is that it is general, is not dated, and does not identify the instrument it is referencing (nor is it attached to the referenced instrument). I would prefer that it be attached to whatever document is referencing, should it need to be marked as an exhibit at a deposition, for example. My apologies, I am not trying to create additional work here, but it could become a bit unwieldy if I had to attach a discovery response, a general undated 214 affidavit, and an email from you explaining the document that it is intended to support, all as an exhibit. Please also let me know where we stand on the email attachments that were not previously produced. The "PDF" icon which shows in the subject lines of the emails, suggests that they would have still been in Mr. Dulberg's possession when he produced the emails. Could you also please call me regarding our tentative February 3 inspection? I have a conflict that I may not be able to clear."[1]

2I3. On January 30, 2020 at 3:59 PM Williams sent an email to Opposing Counsel Flynn stating:

"Attached is the RTP answer with the verification in the document. I hope this will work."[2]

2I4. On January 31, 2020 at 11:21 AM Williams sent an email to Opposing Counsel Flynn stating:

"I will give you buzz later today (we are getting new phones right now)."[3]

2I5. On January 31, 2020 at 11:23 AM Opposing Counsel Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:

"Fair enough. Thanks Julia. I will be in the office until I leave for court around 2:30 p.m."[4]

2I6. Williams replied that she would call Flynn later in the day on January 31, 2020, and this is the last evidence of any communication between Williams and Flynn about any verification of document production. Even after Williams produced over 6000 documents almost 6 months later on July 9, 2020 neither Flynn or Williams mention of any need for any verification statement.

2I7. On February 10, 2021 Flynn claimed in court that:

"there were issues with signature pages throughout written discovery."[5]

> This gives you a rough timeline of events leading to Paul accepting a $5,000 settlement from the McGuires. Since we were never able to see (pop 192) until now, we never understood the details of how Mast tricked Paul into such a small settlement. The fact that Mast initiated the settlement process through (pop 192) without Paul's knowledge or permission is proof that this case is about more than Mast's negligence. It is about willful intent or malicious intent to deceive his client.

> "Also, it is likely an appropriate time to make a demand in this case.
> Given that the total award Gross Award of $660,000 with 15% comparative fault in the Gagnon matter for an award of $561,000, I believe that it would be hard to prove that if Gagnon and the McGuires were tried or arbitrated together, you would somehow get a larger award. I think there is a good argument to say that Gagnon and the McGuires would have been jointly liable for the award of $561,000. You recovered $300,000 from Gagnon, the remainder would have been paid by the McGuire's through their insurance. Thus, your damages for dismissing the McGuires is about $261,000 less the $5,000 you obtain from them for total damages of $256,000. Do you want me to make a demand of $256,000 from Defendants in this case?"

2J3. On February 1, 2020 at 2:16 PM Dulberg sent an email to To: Julia C. Williams (at jwilliams@williamslawchicago.com) stating:[4]

> "I have a few concerns on the demand. If we use the ADR award as you outlined: I had to pay new attorneys to take the case and they wouldn't do it for the regular 1/3 contingency fee.
>
> 1. I had to pay the Baudin's 40% plus I paid all costs up front and out of pocket.
>
> On this I have to go back and find exactly how much I paid for things like Dr Lanford's expert opinion before giving you the total costs I paid. I will need a few days to dig all that up and we may get a more accurate number from Baudin. I believe that we are all responsible for the likely and probable consequences of our actions.

On that note:

But not for Popovich/Masts actions:

1. I would not have filed for Bankruptcy and had to pay the costs associated with it nor suffered the credit consequences.

2. The Bankruptcy Judge and trustee wouldn't have had the authority to order the suit be settled by ADR

3. This case most likely would have gone before a jury.

4. I know from the only comprehensive study done in the nation by a university in California that jury's typically give judgements 10x that of an ADR award. This study compared nearly identical cases across a large spectrum of suits that went the two different routes over many years. Now assuming the university findings are correct, 660,000 x 10 = 6,600,000

5. Gagnon's and McGuires assets could not have paid for a Jury award anywhere close to 6,600,000 but collectively their insurance and assets together at the time would be worth somewhere between 900,000 and 1,200,000. We can get their exact worth at that time from an asset check that I am willing to pay for.

6. I would have received between 900,000 and 1,200,000 which is a considerable step up from the ADR award of 660,000 even if the jury award was 8x less than that study done in California found to be the norm.

7. I understand that going this route may take longer and require risking a jury to decide the issues and amount, if any, the McGuires and Gagnons would have been liable for. Is this risk worth adding a possible 240,000 to 540,000? This we need to talk about before we limit ourselves by sending the demand letter. Please feel free to weigh in and let me know what I am missing or got dead wrong"

2J4. On February 13, 2020 at 2:38 PM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[1]

"I did not address the demand portion of your email. We should have the entire Popovich policy before moving forward on this. Popovich only supplied the declaration pages in the document disclosure. Are we not entitled to see the entire policy?"

2J5. On February 13, 2020 at 3:25 PM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[2]

"Hi Ed, On the demand portion it would also be helpful to get the McGuires insurance policy from Barch. William McGuire said his limits were 300,000 in his Interrogatory but that is just his word. The actual policy from the McGuires would be helpful before writing a demand letter Can we get that with the rest of the Mast/Barch Communications and documents?

While we are at it, it would also be helpful to have the Gagnon asset check that the Baudins did as well as getting a McGuire asset check done. I don't see it in the documents, did the Baudins include the Gagnon asset check they performed with the Case file?

FYI - Baudins asked for 1.2 million at the ADR and I believe that was based on the Gagnon asset check and his insurance limits of 300,000 as well as my injuries and lost wages. We could not ask for monies based on permeant disability because that was determined the following year by social security."

2J6. On February 13, 2020 at 5:04 PM Clinton sent an emai to Dulberg stating:[1]

Second, I admit I don't understand your reluctance to be deposed. It does not make sense to me. We need to resolve this quickly . We need to get this case moving. I'm concerned we are not on the same page.
We believe Mast was negligent but we don't think those communications (that you were not a party to) are relevant to your testimony.
I'm much more concerned that this case is not moving along appropriately - there is no demand and no one will pay you until you are deposed"

2J7. On February 14, 2020 at 4:13 PM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[2]

2J10. On February 14, 2020 at 5:40 PM Dulberg sent an emil to Clinton and Williams stating:[1]

"A number is tough.
In that Demand draft I was already at 3.2 in todays dollars but considering future inflated dollars, off the top of my head I would say 10x what the ADR awarded but I think what you're asking is what number would they give not to have to go through a trial. Let me ask you, in your experience what kind of number will make them really think about it? This will give me a starting point."

2J11. On February 14, 2020 at 6:11 PM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[2]

2J13. "On February 14, 2020 at 7:39 PM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[4]

If you need a number to start negotiating from start at 6,600,000 - 300,000 that was already paid from the ADR award. Thats 6,300,000.
Let's see where they come in at.
Thats the number from everything I've researched over the past 9 years that a jury today would award in the underlying case.
I hope that these are for settlement purposes only because I have no intention of limiting any possible recovery"

"Sorry but No.
That's less than the balance left from ADR award of 660,000
The balance left from ADR is 360,000 if we choose to enforce the ADR award and not retry the underlying case.
November 26, 2018, $5.5 million settlement on behalf of a man who was severely injured on his motorcycle in McHenry County, Illinois
Please follow my logic here...I believe a jury would have awarded between 5.5 and 6.6 million in the underlying case and still will be very close to that today.
I believe the most I could have actually collected from a jury award from the defendants insurance policies and their assets is 1.2 million.
Since Mast Never did an asset check or pulled the insurance policy limits on the Gagnons or McGuires, they have no idea what the defendants could actually pay.
For all the defense knows, the McGuires and Gagnons could have been carrying 1 million in additional insurance coverage each plus their assets.
My thought is offer them 2.25 million to settle now or our demand amount goes up 500,000 each time I'm asked to try and settle.
Put on a good poker face and let them know we will retry both the underlying case and the malpractice case in front of a jury and see where the chips fall.
r2.25 million and rising is my number"

I had a nice benefit package at Intermatic
I told randy when applying for home loans Intermatic had reported my wages with benefits at 80k per year
They also reported that same number to an attorney I had in the motor vehicle accident back I think somewhere around 2003 (I have to go back and find the exact year that happened)

"I have been doing my homework.
I believe that my case does not fill all five prerequisites required before a court can invoke judicial estoppel
I did not take two positions that are factually inconsistent because I initially disclosed the suit as an asset to the bankruptcy court and maintained that position throughout all judicial proceedings five prerequisites required before a court can invoke judicial estoppel:
the party must
(1) take two positions;
(2) that are factually inconsistent;
(3) in separate judicial or quasi-judicial administrative proceedings;
(4) intending for the trier of fact to accept the truth of the facts alleged; and
(5) have succeeded in the first proceeding and received some benefit from it.
A statement under oath was not, however, a requirement for applying judicial estoppel.
The only prerequisites I believe can be perceived as being met here is (3,4,5) and that was with the Gagnon at the ADR not the McGuires since they had been removed previously.
I do not believe that Flynn can win a judicial estoppel motion limiting the amount we can recover since only three of the five prerequisites may have been met and that those three prerequisites is questionable at best.
Please advise and let me know if I am in error."

Here is my first draft as a counter argument to Collateral Estoppel
Collatertal Estoppel
The countervailing and generally successful argument, is that the defendant attorneys Mast and Popovich had their hands in the McGuire settlement, which would not have taken place except for mistakes made by the attorneys Mast and Popovich. The McGuire settlement removed the McGuires from the chance to litigate with Dulberg at the ADR and could have changed the outcome. Particularly the amount of the award.
The countervailing and generally successful argument is that the attorneys Mast-Popovich had their hand in the dismissal of the McGuires, which would not have taken place except for mistakes made by the attorneys Mast-Popovich in the October 22, 2013 letter to Barch without Dulberg's knowledge or consent followed by the next 3 months of false and misleading information given to Dulberg by Mast-Popovich as documented in the emailed communications.

The attorneys Mast-Popovich also had their hands in the false and misleading amounts of insurance available from the remaining defendant Gagnon which was told to Dulberg after the dismissal of the McGuires and played the only hand in the plaintiff Dulberg deciding to file for bankruptcy after Mast-Popovich first telling Dulberg that he would be able to recover everything from Gagnon prior to the dismissal of the McGuires, it is documented in emails that Mast-Popovich was recommending different bankruptcy attorneys to Dulberg as a coarse of action, the Dulberg bankruptcy would not havehappened but for the attorneys Mast-Popovich false and misleading statements about what if any possible recovery was available to Dulberg.
The underlying litigation at the ADR Binding Mediation which was brought about by the bankruptcy court would not have happened but for Mast-Popovich hands in the false and misleading information they gave to dulberg which sealed Dulberg's decision to file for bankruptcy.
Bottom Line: Dulberg hired and trusted Mast-Popovich as 20 year veterans in personal injury liability and as 20 year veterans as officers of the court to be honest with him and Mast-Popovich violated and abused that trust as document in the email correspondence which shows Mast-Popovich hands in every part of the underlying case except for the litigation at the ADR. Because Mast-Popovich have their well documented dirty hands in all decisions in the underlying cases up until they withdrew as council, they breached their duty of care for Dulberg and caused the most likely coarse of events in the underlying case to be litigated in a manner that was not in the best interests for their client Dulberg well before Mast-Popovich withdrew from it.

2J26. On February 22, 2020 at 7:37 AM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[1]

"Assuming for a moment that if we have to litigate this in front of a judge or jury and eventually we do become limited by collateral estoppel what changed from the email below asking $350,000 in the demand to $261,000 now?"

> The findings of fact would change from the original litigation to include Dulberg's permanent disability as a result of the accident rather than the narrower determination that Dulberg was only severely impaired used in the previous adjudication.
>
> Not withstanding my first draft to the counter arguments made in the previous email please take a look at the requirements to invoke collateral estoppel in Illinois and How they don't align to our current attempt to relitigate the underlying case
>
> collateral estoppel
>
> Illinois requirements for the application of the collateral estoppel doctrine are:
>
> (1) the issue decided in the prior adjudication is identical with the one presented in the suit in question;
>
> (2) there was a final judgment on the merits in the prior adjudication;
>
> (3) the party against whom estoppel is asserted was a party or in privy with a party to the prior adjudication.
>
> "In other words, collateral estoppel or issue preclusion prevents relitigation of an issue between the same parties or their privies in any future lawsuit based on a different claim."
>
> Collateral estoppel applies to questions of law and findings of fact.
>
> 1. the issue decided in the prior adjudication is identical with the one presented in the suit in question; The determination of Dulberg's injuries resulting in permanent disability vs sever impairment makes the issues decided in the prior adjudication vastly different from the issues that would be adjudicated in the present suit.
> 2. there was a final judgment on the merits in the prior adjudication
> The merits used in the prior adjudication could not be the same as the current adjudication. Dulberg was not determined to be permanently disabled from his injuries in the prior adjudication but rather, more narrowly only severely impaired, which makes the merits used in final judgement in the prior adjudication different from the current adjudication.
>
> 3. the party against whom estoppel is asserted was a party or in privy with a party to the prior adjudicatioI'll accept that this requirement is met
> "In other words, collateral estoppel or issue preclusion prevents relitigation of an issue between the same parties or their privies in any future lawsuit based on a different claim."
>
> The claim of negligence is not different but rather the same. The relitigation of the same claim would bring back Parties that were wrongly removed in the prior litigation and bring to light the merits that were not part of the original litigation or Judgement which are the real damages of the permanent disability Dulberg suffered > Collateral estoppel applies to questions of law and findings of fact.

The findings of fact would change from the original litigation to include Dulberg's permanent disability as a result of the accident rather than the narrower determination that Dulberg was only severely impaired used in the previous adjudication.
Only 1 of the 3 requirements are met for collateral estoppel to be invoked upon Dulberg

2J28. On February 22, 2020 at 11:03 AM Dulberg sent an email to Clinton and Williams stating:[1]

Also on the topic of the Bankruptcy court ordering the binding mediation.
I have just found out that Dulberg owned the asset and Dulberg alone had final say on whether the asset would be subject to binding mediation. In other words "the client owns the case".
The bankruptcy court was in error and assumed absolute control over an asset that was beyond the courts power to do by ordering it into Binding mediation with high and low limits.
Second this with Dulberg's refusal to sign the ADR agreement and we can have that whole process undone. It does not matter that Dulberg was present at the ADR. What Matters is, did the client sign the agreement?
The Bankruptcy Court should have waited for the case to be resolved then collected the proceeds from the recovery and distributed them to the creditors accordingly.
If need be, I think I can file an appeal on the Bankruptcy's courts decision to prematurely dissolve the asset by court ordered Binding Mediation based on powers not granted to the bankruptcy court and interfering with the clients control over the direction of the suit.

The list below is not complete but it's a good start to issues I believe are still outstanding.
Outstanding questions on open issues for Clinton firm before departure:

1. Did you send a demand letter? If so, did we receive a response and may I get copies the demand letter and the response?

2. What happened with the objections raised during Dulberg's deposition when Dulberg was questioned about conversations with Dulberg's former counsel Gooch? Did you get a ruling or does that still need to be argued before judge Meyer?

3. Similar to the last question, Have the objections in the Mast deposition been worked out or ruled on by judge Meyer?

4. Did you find out who Gooch was using for an expert witness and did you contact any possible expert witnesses? If so, may I get a copy of their reports and contact information?

5. After you withdraw from this case would you be interested in some sort of limited scope representation or unbundled legal services type of role until I find new counsel and get them up to speed?

"Per your email request, here is the demand sent to Mr. Flynn. We did not receive a formal response, other than it was passed along to the client as you see below. I did discuss the demand with Mr. Flynn. He indicated that his client would not accept such a large demand. He indicated that his client would be more inclined to accept a smaller demand, more in the $10,000-$20,000 range, but did not give a specific number and did not make any formal counter-offer."

2K UNEXPLAINABLE TECHNICAL DIFFICULTIES DURING THE DEPOSITION OF HANS MAST AND AFTER

2K-1. On April 30, 2020 at 11:13 AM Flynn emailed Williams stating:[3]

"... The recent temporary amendment to Rule 206 (facilitating depositions during the Covid crisis), prompted me to touch base and inquire whether you may want to consider attempting to depose Hans Mast remotely in the 2nd half of May.

Otherwise, perhaps we can get a live deposition on the books for some time in June. If so, I would suggest the 2nd half of June. ..."

2K-2. On May 4, 2020 at 11:37 AM Williams replied to Flynn stating:[1]

"... I would prefer to do an in-person deposition given that the client will likely want to be present and that may present some issues with a video deposition. That being said, I don't want to hold this up indefinitely.

Let's plan for the end of June. If the "stay at home" orders get extended again, we will reconsider the "in person" v "remote" deposition. ..."

2K-3. On May 4, 2020 at 11:37 AM Williams emailed Flynn stating:[2]

"... Made an executive decision on this one. I thought that if Paul wants to be present, and I am sure he will, it will be easier to communicate with him in person as opposed to a video dep. ..."

2K-4. On May 4, 2020 at 11:43 AM Flynn emailed Williams stating:[3]

"... Sounds like a plan. ..."

2K-5. On May 29, 2020 at 4:37 PM Williams emailed Flynn stating:[4]

"... I anticipate this will be a video deposition, despite things opening back up, I think it is the safest route for everyone and given the Supreme Court rules, it makes sense to take advantage of the remote deposition option. Details to come on that. ..."

It appears that Williams does an 'about face' on her earlier "executive decision" to wait for an in person deposition, has read and understands the supreme court rules on remote depositions and will "take advantage" of those rules.

2K-6. On June 18, 2020 at 9:32 AM opposing counsel Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[5]

"... Please let me know when you can about your plan for exhibits. I will assume that I do not need to print or bring anything with me unless you advise otherwise."

2K-7. On June 19 2020 at 2:35 PM, six days before the deposition of Mast, Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[1]

> "Julia: I just received your notice of attorney lien. Will you still be taking the dep next week?
>
> My experience with receiving liens at this stage of litigation(in a high percentage of cases) is that a withdrawal shortly follows. Hopefully not the case here, but just making sure we are still on for Mast's dep. ..."

Flynn is correct, Williams and Clinton are preparing to withdraw and have no intention of representing Dulberg in litigating this case any further.

2K-8. On June 19, 2020 at 2:54 PM Williams emails Flynn and states:[2]

> "... We are still on. This will be the first remote deposition that I have taken so I am still working on figuring out the exhibits. I believe that I can upload them to the US Legal system and then share them during the deposition. But, if not, I will be sure to have them to you no later than Tuesday by 5pm. ..."

2K-9. June 23, 2020 at 4:25 PM Williams Emails Flynn stating:[3]

> "... I am attaching the deposition exhibits that I may use on Thursday. I don't believe there will be any additions between now and then, but if there are they will minor and I will do my best to send them ahead of time. Obviously, I may not use all of these.
>
> I have not used US Legal or done any remote depositions so you will have to forgive any errors. My understanding is that in the video conferencing system I will be able to upload the document in Pdf or other format (I am only using PDFs), then you and the court reporter will be able to download it. The court reporter will label the exhibits and include them in the transcript after the deposition is complete. You are not required to print any of the documents—unless of course you would like to do that.
> I did my best to label the exhibits in the number order that I believe I will use them. That being said, things change in depositions and they may have to be renumbered. In an effort to not make it super confusing, I used descriptive names as well. ..."

It appears from the email that Williams sent Flynn 23 proposed exhibits in this email. There is no evidence that she did the same for the court reporter. Williams has already set herself up for violating the Supreme Court rule and the deposition is still days away.

2K-10. On June 24, 2020 at 12:50 PM Flynn emailed Williams stating:[4]

> "Thanks Julia. I also received the additional exhibit you may use. See you tomorrow."

(After several exhaustive searches, Dulberg cannot locate any file containing the email where Williams sends Flynn this "additional exhibit" in the Clinton case file.

Possibly sent to Flynn using "Julia.c.floyd@gmail.com"?[1])

Could this possible backchannel email address be why Mr Flynn announced himself as "George Floyd" in open court on February 25, 2019 and later harrassed the court reporter to change the transcript to read "George Flynn"?[2]

The court reporter did not sign the certification page of the transcript that now reads "George Flynn"[3] even after being reminded and asked to do so twice.[4]

2K-11. Flynn preprinted some of the proposed exhibits and only portions of the larger exhibits to save paper, Most having the wrong exhibit number from what will be used in the deposition.

2K-12. The court reporter was recording from a remote location and was not in the room with Williams or the deponent Mast and manages to capture a bizarre episode of alleged wifi connection problems (mostly off the record) without any actual break in the audio like we would expect from someone who lost their connection to the Internet during a zoom meeting.

2K-13. From the beginning of the deposition Williams was uploading the exhibits she was referencing but Mast was in his email attachments viewing the proposed exhibits Flynn forwarded to him (and was ignoring the exhibits uploaded by Williams).

2K-14. Early into the deposition Mast and Flynn claimed a wifi outage occurred and Mast couldn't view the proposed exhibits in Masts email anymore. Both claimed that they got booted from the office wifi. They also claimed they had audio but no video on zoom.

2K-15. Flynn then claimed he figured out how to log back in to the zoom meeting using Flynn's cellular hot spot to reconnect.

2K-16. Once logged back into the zoom meeting using Flynn's cellular hot spot, Mast then claimed he couldn't see his emails or proposed exhibits on those same computers and devices that were now connceted over the cellular hot spot.

2K-17. Rather than use the files uploaded by Williams on zoom, Mast then turned to Flynn's incomplete printed portions of the proposed exhibits (which are mostly marked with old exhibit numbers that do not match the exhibit numbers being assigned as Williams uploaded them, causing constant confusion over what is actually being viewed by the deponent).

2K-18. Williams then attempted to email an exhibit and sets up "screen sharing" with the exhibit. This was done because Mast and Flynn claimed they couldn't find the exhibit in the partially printed proposed exhibits (and apparently Mast and Flynn refused to use the uploaded Exhibits feature that are readily available through zoom.

2K-19. Mast later claimed he had the proposed exhibits on his computer and told Williams she doesn't need to keep uploading them (but makes no reference to his email or wifi working).

2K-20. Williams seemed to go along with all this, rather than simply instruct Mast to use the exhibits she was uploading (to comply with the Supreme Court rules for remote depositions) or cancel the deposition and reschedule it (due to Mast and Flynn's equipment failures).

2K-21. The following excerpts from the deposition transcript[2] and mast.wav[3] file and are just a few examples of the confusion these alleged technical difficulties/equipment failures created:

WILLIAMS: Okay. I think we're back on the record. Barb, are you doing all right?

THE REPORTER: Yes....

WILLIAMS: Okay. I just uploaded Dulberg Mast Exhibit 4 and it says letter -- it's "Letter Re Settlement," and that should be -- still be Exhibit 4 that was emailed around to Counsel so that you would have it. And it is labeled POP192 and POP193. Do you recognize those documents?

MAST: Wait. I think the Internet, maybe because we were having problems, is the Internet went down, so now my exhibits aren't pulling up. Can you try it again? Do you have that, George?

MR. FLYNN: Yeah, here's the hard copy.

MAST: I'll look at the hard copy, so what are you asking?

WILLIAMS: Okay, and here in this email it looks like you started this email chain to Paul on October 25, 2013. Do you see that?

MAST: It looks like there's a couple emails here. There's several pages. You just mean the first page?

WILLIAMS: I think -- It should only be, I believe it's only one page and it looks like -- MAST: Oh, these aren't part of it? Just one page?

WILLIAMS: The document that I have is just one page. Are we looking at the same thing?

MAST: Okay.

WILLIAMS: It's POP00195 on the bottom.

MAST: Yeah, he had a couple other pages on it, but okay.

WILLIAMS: Okay. I just want to make sure that I didn't -- Okay. And on the bottom there of the first sheet, if you have several, I've only published one sheet for the purposes of this deposition, it states, "Friday, October 25, 2013," do you see that?

MAST: Where does it say that?

WILLIAMS: So about halfway down the page it looks like it says, "Original message from Paul"?

MAST: Yeah.

WILLIAMS: Okay. Okay, great.

FLYNN: I've got some of the deposition transcripts, but I didn't want to waste a lot of paper and ink at home.

I don't think it was entitled Exhibit 6 in what I sent to George, but it's an email that the first date on the email is November 4, 2013, and the last date on the email is November 5, 2013 email chain and it's -- at the bottom it's stamped Dulberg001531.

MAST: What exhibit is it?

WILLIAMS: I think it might have been 5-A to George. It's now Exhibit 6 for the purposes of this deposition.

MAST: Yeah, that wasn't part of the download then. Do you have --

FLYNN: Yeah, I don't think that was included.

MAST: What's the Bates stamp or what's the stamp?

[Audio mast.wav 52:25-55:54[1]]

BY MS. WILLIAMS:

WILLIAMS: Okay, back on the record. This is the Exhibit 6 for the deposition and it's marked at the bottom Dulberg001531 and it's an email chain between Paul Dulberg and Hans Mast dated November 4th through about November 5th, is that accurate, Hans?

Page 34 Lines 16-18:[2]

MR. FLYNN: Julia, now I recall, this is a separate exhibit you sent a little bit later than the original download, so I did have this.

WILLIAMS: Okay. Okay, I'm going to stop screen sharing. Okay. I'm going to upload another file. This is Deposition Exhibit 7. George, you probably had it as Exhibit 6, but for the purposes of this deposition right now it's going to be 7 and it's an email chain dated -- MAST: I have these on the computer. You don't need to, unless you want to, but I'm just saying I have these on the computer.

WILLIAMS: Okay, but Barb needs them, so that's why I keep uploading them, otherwise she doesn't have them. Okay. So Exhibit 7, and it's POP00181 and POP00182, and it's two pages of an email chain, November 15th, looks like on the second page it starts November 15th and ends November 19th, is that accurate?

2K-22. The issue of what Mast is looking at for an exhibit (compared to what Williams is uploading as an exhibit just for the court reporter) is a problem throughout the entire deposition.

1 Exhibit K5-mast.wav (52:25-55:54)
2 Exhibit C15-Hans Mast 062520 FULL.pdf (Page 34 Lines 16-18)

2K-23. Mast and Flynn claimed they became disconnected from wifi causing them to not be able to see the proposed deposition exhibits and had to reconnect to the Internet and zoom over a cell phone hot spot, yet they were still being recorded by the court reporter the whole time. The audio caught by the court reporter (when they were off the record trying to reconnect to the wifi and zoom) is not possible as it was described by Flynn. The court reporter was recording from a remote location via zoom. Flynn and Mast allegedly were completely disconnected and had to log back in to the zoom meeting (all while claiming the sound was working but not the video).

2K-24. Williams failed to ask obvious question like, " How is it that I can hear you if you're disconnected and logging back in?"

2K-25. Williams failed to instruct Flynn and Mast to use the exhibits she was uploading (in accordance with the Supreme Court rules for remote depositions).

2K-26. Williams failed to cancel the deposition and reschedule due to alleged wifi equipment failures and moving forward, as she did, is a clear violation of the Supreme Court rule.

2K-27. Williams then uploaded "exhibit 12" and neither Mast nor Flynn could see "exhibit 12" as the following exchange demonstrates:[1]

> Williams: "Okay, I'm uploading Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit 12.· This is titled, "Legal Research."· And this is hard because there's -- it's 27 pages.· Some ·of them have Bates numbers, but some of them are black on the bottom, so I think the Bates numbers didn't -- didn't take, but it's roughly -- looks like roughly 204, maybe 205, Dulberg204, 205 through roughly Dulberg00304 -- Actually, I'm sorry, these aren't going to be continuous.· But do you have that packet of legal research in front of you? It appears to be copies out of a -- copies of case law out of the Northeastern Digest.
>
> Mast: "I just have the one case here."
>
> Williams; "Just one case?· Which -- What's the case title?
>
>
> Williams: "Okay.· Do you -- Did you copy this case law?"
>
> Mast: "I don't know."

2K-28. Williams never provided the court reporter Barbara G. Smith with a usable, viewable, uncorrupted, error free "Exhibit 12" during the deposition or at any time afterward that matches what Mast described it as in his deposition.

2K-29. Flynn did not make available to the court reporter the partial printouts of portions of the proposed exhibits he had in his possession and gave to Mast to use during the deposition.

2K-30. Flynn also did not make available to the court reporter Mast's emails or computer files where Mast was looking at the proposed exhibits some of the time.

2K-31. Later, after Clinton and Williams withrew, the court reporter Barbara G Smith was subpoenaed for her records of the Mast deposition and responded providing everything she had.[1]

2K-32. The document "Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf" has a fundamental flaw and is corrupt[2] when opened with Adobe Acrobat DC. (Anyone who has Adobe Acrobat DC can confirm the issue exists by simply opening the file, see the error code, and browse through the blank pages.) This file does appear to open normally in some 3rd party PDF readers but it is obvious from the record and Barbara G Smiths notes that none of the parties looking at exhibit 12 were looking at the same parts of exhibit 12 and were not on any 3rd party PDF readers that could display the whole exhibit 12.

2K-33. Dulberg intended the sources of the corrupted file, "Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf" to be from 3 emails sent in series to Williams On April 18, 2019 at 10:38 AM.[3] The source emails subject lines were "318 Cases from December meeting 1 of 3"[4], "318 Cases from December meeting 2 of 3"[5] and "318 Cases from December meeting 3 of 3"[6]. The attached files to these emails were "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw1_Mast.pdf"[7], "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw2_Mast.pdf"[8] and "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw3_Mast.pdf"[9] and are not corrupt. (Anyone who has Adobe Acrobat DC can confirm this by simply opening the files.) None of these source files are stored in the Clinton Case file with the original names. None of the emails Dulberg sent Williams with the attachments are in the Clinton case file. Dulberg did mistakenly call the November 20 meeting "December meeting" or "December 2013 meeting" in the emails.

2K-34. Williams successfully incorporated both the Choy "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw2_Mast.pdf" and Lajato "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw3_Mast.pdf" cases into the Bates stamped documents and turned them over to opposing counsel without any issues of errors or file corruption. But Williams never bates stamped nor turned over to opposing counsel the certified slip ruling of Tilschner v Spangler "IndependantContractor-CaseLaw1_Mast.pdf", it was downloaded, renamed (Tilschner v. Spangler et al 2-10-0111 Opinion 2011 May 6.pdf[10]) and stored in the Clinton case file at:

> Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Research/Tilschner v. Spangler et al 2-10-0111 Opinion 2011 May 6.pdf[11]

It is worthy to note that Williams named exhibit 12 using the terms "Legal Research" in the file name ("Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf") and placed the certified slip ruling of Tilschner in a file named "Dulberg Research".

It is also worthy to note that the Clinton firm did their own research on Tilschner and saved a PDF from Find Law in Dulberg Master File/Dulberg Matter Ed Clinton/Dulberg Research TILSCHNER v. SPANGLER | FindLaw.pdf[1] on 10/19/2020.

2K-35. It is more likely than not that the corrupt file "Dulberg Mast Dep Exh 12 Legal Research .pdf" was intended to create confusion or a distraction to make it seem like a there was a "technical issue" with the wifi or the file was corrupted as to why Tilschner was not part of exhibit 12 for the deposition. Dulberg has the Preview app that Williams used to create exhibit 12 and the bates stamped documents it was pulled from and has never been able to recreate the same error in the file.

It is more likely than not that the "file corruption" in exhibit 12 was done intentionally to hide the fact that Tilschner was intentionally suppressed by Clinton and Williams to benefit the defense (in order to hide the one case of the three case laws Mast gave Dulberg for changing their legal opinion as to the McGuire liability in the underlying case. Why, because Tilschner is a case that both Mast and Popovich took to the Appellate Court, possessed a certified slip ruling and could not get away with the generic answers Mast gave Williams about exhibit 12 in his deposition). After all, the certified slip ruling for Tilschner v Spangler remained the only (known) document separated, suppressed and never Bates stamped or released by Williams and Clinton. On top of that the Clinton firm did not keep copies of the emails Dulberg sent them with all 3 318 cases, Tilschner, Lajato, Choi.

2K-36. Williams knowingly violated the Supreme Court rules for remote depositions and this deposition should have been void and redone (but Williams was already planning on leaving the case prior to the deposition and wasn't about to let Dulberg and his new counsel have a fair stab at Mast in a deposition.).

2K-37. On June 25, 2020 at 12:31 PM, about 20 minutes after the deposition of Mast, Flynn sent an email to Williams stating:[2]

> "... Just wanted to write while it is fresh in my mind, but I'd like to close the dangling issues from your client's deposition, including the production of communications with Mr. Gooch in view of the "discovery rule" issues. Please advise ..."

2K-38. On June 26, 2020 12:13 PM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[3]

> "... Thank you for the follow up. I am working on the production today. Are you around on Monday—can we chat then? ..."

2K-39. Williams never worked on any production of communications with Mr Gooch and she did not address the Dulberg deposition objection issue in court. Instead, she sent Dulberg Flynn's "DEFENDANTS, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'S SUPPLEMENTAL REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION TO PLAINTIFF" telling Dulberg to start collecting the privileged Gooch Communications she already had in her posession since November 17, 2018[1]. Instead Williams produced over 6000 pages of intentionally suppressed documents that were not related to Gooch in any noticeable way and then resigned as Dulberg's attorney.

2K-40. On July 2, 2020 Barbara G Smith emailed Williams stating:[2]

> "Hi Ms. Williams - This is Barb Smith, the court reporter from US Legal that was present at the dep of Hans Mast on 6-25-20. I am currently working on the transcript and while preparing the exhibits I noticed that Exhibit No. 12, which is the 27 pages of legal research, did not download completely. The Exhibit 12 that I have has blank pages 1-22 and only pages 23-27 have print on them. I just wanted to let you know and check if you wanted to resend or if that's how No. 12 is supposed to be."

In handwritten notes it states:

> "7-2-20 Called 7-6-20 left message"
>
> "7-7 submitted job and emailed Noelle about it"
>
> "Williams responded 7-2-20 but the text space was blank."

(After several exhaustive searches Dulberg cannot locate a single email in the Clinton case file between Barbara G Smith and Williams.)

(Possibly sent to "Julia.c.floyd@gmail.com"[3]?)

As noted "Williams responded 7-2-20 but the text space was blank." was this 'blank' email intended to be funny because of the 'blank' exhibit 12?

2K-41. On July 2, 2020 at 12:11 PM Williams emails Dulberg Flynn's filing: of "DEFENDANTS, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'S SUPPLEMENTAL REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION TO PLAINTIFF" stating in the email:[4]

> "... Opposing Counsel has tendered a supplemental request for production. Please review. A response is due by July 30, 2020.
>
> You can begin gathering responsive documents.

2K-42. On July 7, 2020 at 10:58 AM Williams and the Clinton Firm drafted a resignation letter named:[1]

"Dulberg Draft Letter re case 2020 July 7 .docx" and place it in a folder in their case file for Ed Clintons copy of the documents Barch produced in response to a subpoena named:[2]

"Dulberg Cicero France Barch Production Complete"

2K-43. On July 7, 2020, 09:32 PM Barbara G Smith emailed Noelle stating:[3] [4]

"... One of the exhibits, #12, was downloaded during the Zoom session. It's 27 pages and when Ifirst looked at it I noticed that pages 1-22 were blank. I emailed Julia Williams, our client, on 7-2 about this. She responded and the message section of her email was blank. I waited for another email but received none. On 7-6 I called and left her a message and have not received a response. I did note all of this information in the email that I sent the job with. ..."

Barbara G Smith certified and submited the transcript and it's exhibits to Noelle Kappes with US Legal Support for distribution to the parties noting issues with Exhibit 12. Exhibit 12 is missing from the final output.[5] [6]

2K-44. On July 9, 2020 at 11:44 AM Williams sent an email to Dulberg stating:[7]

"... More documents were sent to George Flynn today to ensure that Gooch's entire file on the underlying case was sent as well as communications from your subsequent counsel in the underlying case.

There are two emails. This is the first with three files attached. ..."

"... This is the second email I sent to George with the fourth and final file. ..."

Attached files:

'Dulberg 2650-7892.pdf'[3]

Any reasonable person receiving these emails with over 6,000 documents would need weeks to digest what is happening here and would assume somewhere in here Williams is replying to Flynns "DEFENDANTS, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'S SUPPLEMENTAL REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION TO PLAINTIFF" since Williams has been in posession of the Gooch emails since November 17, 2018[4], However thats not what is happening here, Williams is releasing Documents she intentionally suppressed since May 30, 2019 without Dulberg's knowledge.

2K-46. On Jul 10, 2020, at 10:46 AM Williams sent an email to Flynn stating:[5]

"... I believe there may have been three, but simply because the first email took forever to send as the documents attached were so large. The first contained all four of the files. The second contained three files and the third contained one file. There are only four files total—so the emails are duplicative as originally I did not believe the first email would send. Thus, you should have these four files:

1. Dulberg Stamped 2646-2649
2. Dulberg 2650-7892
3. Dulberg 7893-8551
4. Dulberg 8552-8708.

Please let me know if you did not receive all of the documents. ..."

Williams is 'flooding' Dulberg with an overwhelming number of documents and sneaking all but one of the documents that were previously suppressed into the flood, behind thousands of pages of useless material. Williams continues to suppress one document: the Appellate Court slip ruling Tilschner v Spangler.

None of the 6000+ pages of documents have anything to do with the Gooch Communications. Williams doesn't provide and Flynn doesn't ask for a certification/verification page signed by Dulberg.

2K-47. On July 10, 2020 at 2:03 PM witranscripts@uslegalsupport.com emailed Williams links to download the Mast deposition and exhibits. Exhibit 12 is missing.[1]

2K-48. On July 10, 2020 at 2:57 PM Williams emails Dulberg the Mast deposition stating:[2]

> Dulberg Hans Mast deposition transcript Legal Mal 2020 June 25.zip [3]

Rather than forward Dulberg the links to download the files directly from US Legal Support, Williams takes time to Download each file and compress the deposition and all the exhibits into a single zip file. This was probably done so Dulberg wouldn't have to go in and download each file one by one with the visual cue from the list sent by witranscripts@uslegalsupport.com (where it would have become immediately apparent to anyone downloading the files one by one that Exhibit 12 is missing.)

2K-49. On July 13, 2020 at 8:37 PM Noelle Kappes nkappes@uslegalsupport.com emailed Williams stating:[4]

> "... The court reporter indicated you would be sending us exhibit 12 from this deposition so we can include it with the transcript. I don't believe we have received it. Can you send it on tomorrow? ..."

2K-50. On July 14, 2020 at 9:40 AM Williams emails Kappes stating:[5]

> "I am sorry. I thought I had responded to Barbara's email with the exhibit. It is attached here."

Perhaps Williams is showing her sense of humor since she replied to Barbara's email about blank pages as exhibit 12 with a blank email.[6] Is this an inside joke? (Because Barbara and Noelle don't seem to be in on it.)

2K-51. Williams provided the deposition Scheduling Manager Noelle Kappes with the corrupted copy of exhibit 12 no earlier then July 14, 2020 (more than 2 weeks after the Mast deposition). The corrupted copy of "exhibit 12" provided to Noelle Kappes on July 14, 2020 contained 2 exact copies of Lajato and a copy of Choi. It did not contain Tilschner v Spangler even though Williams had been instructed by Dulberg in writing to include it on at least six different occasions.

Attached is the same corrupted file Williams uploaded during the Mast Deposition:

2K-52. On July 14, 2020 at 10:30 AM Barbara G Smith has handwritten notes on a copy of Williams July 14, 2020 email to Kappes with handwritten notes stating:[2]

"put this x in folder on desktop & renamed bad file 12-A-this is the new 12"[3]

"Still couldn't read 1-22"

"There was a problem reading this document"

"Called Noelle - 10:30-7-14- She will have William look at it or email Williams"

2K-53. On July 14, 2020 at 11:13 AM wtolliver@uslegalsupport.com emailed[4] Williams and Flynn a link to download "Exhibit 12" now named "EX 0012 Hans Mast 062520.pdf"[5]

EX 0012 Hans Mast 062520.pdf has an exhibit sticker that misspelled the defendants name "Hans Mast" as "Hans Mist" and did not match the exhibit tags placed on by the court reporter Barbara G. Smith.[6] [7] [8] [9] [10] [11] [12]

Of Special note is the differences found within the meta-data in the two different files:

The meta-data clearly shows wtolliver as the author using a Microsoft Windows Operating system and Adobe Acrobat Distiller to create the 27.4 MB file on July 14, 2020 Verses the original meta-data that clearly shows there is no author recorded, using a Macintosh Operating System and a program called Preview to create the 35.1 MB file on June 19, 2020.

All the other exhibits certified by the court reporter Barbara G. Smith and made available through downloadable links via email by US Legal Solutions on July 10, 2020 may have the names of the files changed, a very minor file size increase due to the tag being added but the meta-data is the same as the original files Williams uploaded on June 25, 2020 during the deposition.

wtolliver changes the file considerably (35.1 MB to 27.2 MB), adds a misspelled exhibit stamp that is a poor forgery of the tags provided by the court reporter, becomes it's author and releases it 14 minutes before Noelle Kappes acknowledges it's received to Williams.

2K-54. On July 14, 2020 at 11:17 AM Williams emailed/passed this forgery as authentic to Dulberg stating:[1]

"Attached is exhibit 12 that was missing in the original transcript copy because the copy that the court reporter received was blank."

A reasonable person can conclude that if the Court Reporter received a blank "Exhibit 12", then defendant Mast also received the same blank "Exhibit 12" uploaded by Williams during the deposition.

1 Exhibit K20-2020-07-14_1117 AM_RECV_Fwd Exhibit 12 Paul Dulberg v Law Offices of Thomas Popovich et al Deposition of Hans Mast 6252020_ATTACHMENTS.pdf

Is Williams sending the court reporter a blank email in response to a blank exhibit? Is this Williams inside joke (that Barbara & Noelle were not in on)? This "hoax" caused the exhibit to never be certified or possessed by the court reporter.[1]

It should also be noted that Williams gave "Exhibit 12" to (and received from) persons other than the Court Reporter. She then passed it on as if it was certified and authentic knowing full well that the Exhibit 12 she was passing on to Dulberg did not Match what Mast had to review in the deposition.

2K-55. On July 14, 2020 at 11:27 AM Noelle Kappes nkappes@uslegalsupport.com replies to Williams emailing Exhibit 12 stating:[2]

"Received, thank you."

2K-56. Neither wtolliver, Noelle Kappes, Williams or Flynn ever sent Barbara G Smith a copy of the file wtolliver created.[3]

2K-57. Neither Noelle Kappes nor wtolliver are the Officer administering the oath nor the licensed short hand reporter hired for tagging, certifying, storing and releasing the exhibits in this case, Barbara G Smith is and Barbara G Smith never received a viewable copy of exhibit 12 that does not have an error.[4]

2K-58. The file wtolliver created and Flynn & Williams are passing on as an exhibit does not match what the deponent Mast had at the deposition and is a forgery. Mast claimed he could only see one Lajato case on the exhibit he was looking at, Barbara G Smith could only see the Choi case in what she was given and wtolliver created an exhibit with two Lajato cases and a Choi case.

2K-59. On July 27, 2020 at 2:24 PM Ed Clinton sent an email to Dulberg stating:[5]

"Dear Paul, Please see the attached letter. Best Regards"

In the attached letter[6] Clinton and Williams resigned as Dulberg's counsel while still suppressing the certified slip ruling on Tilschner v Spangler and never informing Dulberg the document hasn't been bates numbered or used in Exhibit 12. This resignation acts as another deterrent to Dulberg's eventual discovery that Williams forever suppressed the certified Tilschner slip ruling by diverting Dulberg's attention to a more pressing matter, the hunt to find new counsel fast during the height of the COVID 19 pandemic when most attorneys are not personally meeting with new clients.

2K-60. Dulberg and his subsequent counsel, Alphonse Talarico, grew suspicious of how Williams could have forgotten all about Tilschner v Spangler when preparing exhibit 12 for Mast's deposition considering the number of times she was told about it in writing.

2K-61. Dulberg and his subsequent counsel, Alphonse Talarico, grew suspicious of how Williams could have forgotten all about Tilschner v Spangler when preparing exhibit 12 for Mast's deposition considering the number of times she was told about it in writing.

2K-62. On August 2, 2022 Dulberg subpoenaed Clinton[1] and Williams[2] for documents and communication connected to the preparation and treatment of exhibit 12 before, during and after Mast's deposition.

2K-63. On September 29, 2022 Williams responded for both Clinton and herself.[3]

2K-64. On October 28, Clinton responded for himself.[4]

2K-65. On October 28, Julia Williams responded for herself.[5]

2K-66. On November 04, 2022 Williams was asked about "exhibit 12" in court. After 4 different subpoena responses related to exhibit 12 over the previous 3 months, and after being informed by Dulberg at least 6 different times in writing about the importance of Tilschner v Spangler, Williams claimed to not know the contents of exhibit 12. The following exchange took place in court:[6]

> "MS. WILLIAMS: ... So sometime after the deposition, we -- we did provide the exhibit that was utilized in the deposition to the court reporter, and at that time they marked it and sent it back to everyone.
>
> THE COURT: Okay. What was Exhibit 12 again?
>
> MS. WILLIAMS: It was a series of cases. I don't know that -- I just can't recall what all was asked about it, but I know there were -- it was -- it was --
>
> THE COURT: All right. These would have --
>
> MS. WILLIAMS: -- copies of case law.
>
> THE COURT: All right.
>
> MR. FLYNN: They were photocopies of the old books, Judge, cases that were contained in Mast's file.
>
> THE COURT: Okay.
>
> MR. FLYNN: And he was -- you know, they have -- they're, obviously, not complete because they -- placed on a printer, appeared like we used to do in the old days.

MR. TALARICO: Yes. Was the Tilsner case included in -- in the blank Exhibit 12 you sent to U.S. Legal, Barbara Schmidt? And was -- when you discussed with Mr. Flynn the failure of his -- or Mr. Mast's internet, didn't he say, I can't see these, I can only see their first one (indiscernible), which was the Lagano (phonetic) case? And wasn't there continued discussion by Mr. Flynn that he didn't -- he didn't produce all of the documents you sent on -- in hardcopy because he wanted to save paper?

MS. WILLIAMS: So that's -- I guess that's a lot of questions. So what --

MR. TALARICO: It is.

MS. WILLIAMS: What -- what -- I cannot recall what cases were included and weren't included at this point. There -- there was an e-mail to Mr. Flynn with the exhibit that is attached that I believe was produced in the subpoena. So whatever that exhibit was is -- is what I would have used. So I know there was, like, a Laravo case or -- I remember the first case was like Laravo or Lavajo, L-A-V-A-J-O, or something like that. But right now, off the top of my head, I don't remember what other cases were included.

MR. TALARICO: I'm talking about -- Judge, if I might, please? Excuse me. I'm sorry, Ms. Williams. There was -- what the reporter had was blank. What Mr. Flynn's client said was, I see the Lagano (phonetic) one. So the Exhibit 12 that was sent, like, a week or two after the deposition had Lagano, Troy, and the same exact Lagano case, and it did not have the Tilsner case involved, and the Tilsner case was very important. So it was an exact duplication of one case and a second case. But this is -- Judge, it's not just the Exhibit 12. The entire deposition --

THE COURT: Well, are you asking a question about Exhibit 12? Because if we're done asking questions, I'm gonna let her go.

MR. TALARICO: Okay. Yep. I'm done."

2K-67. It is not credible that Williams made the claim to the court that she cannot recall the contents of "exhibit 12" when she stated, "It was a series of cases. I don't know that -- I just can't recall what all was asked about it, but I know there were -- it was -- it was --" " -- copies of case law." and when asked by Dulberg's current attorney she claimed, "What -- what -- I cannot recall what cases were included and weren't included at this point." When Williams states "... at this point" she was implying that her dealings with exhibit 12 were so long ago that "at this point" she can no longer recall what they were. But Williams prepared 4 different responses to a subpoena which centered on exhibit 12 within the previous 3 months and Williams was then appearing in court to address outstanding issues with the subpoena and around exhibit 12, including a motion to compel.

2K-68. Of interest is that more than 2 years after the Hans Mast Deposition, opposing counsel Flynn was the only person in the November 4, 2022 court record attempting to give a detailed description to the contents of "exhibit 12" while Williams, the only person who prepared "exhibit 12", and fresh from producing 4 responses to a subpoena centering on the subject of "exhibit 12", could not recall the contents of "exhibit 12" when asked "at this point" because her dealings with exhibit 12 were assumably 'so long ago'.

The example of the hiding of the certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler shows the extreme degree to which Williams and Clinton will go to suppress key evidence which was in the possession of their permanently disabled client.

2K-69. On November 30, 2022 Flynn filed DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S 2nd AMENDED MOTION TO EXCLUDE THE DEPOSITION OF HANS MAST which contains the following point ¶12:[1]

> "12) Of concern is a statement on page 19 of Dulberg's motion in which he argues that Mast had insisted that the decision in the Tilschner v. Spangler case was the reason Dulberg would not prevail in the underlying case against the McGuire's. The statement is inexplicably made "on information and belief." This is unacceptable. Dulberg has made no such disclosure in fact discovery (now closed) about this very specific discussion between Mast and himself regarding the Tilschner case. If Dulberg believes he has disclosed it, he should be required to identify where in his answers and amended answers to discovery or his deposition he has identified such discussion with this amount of specificity. Defendants submit that no such disclosure exists."

2K-70. A reasonable person can conclude that Williams intentionally suppressed Tilschner v Spangler. A reasonable person can also conclude that Williams suppressed Tilschner v Spangler to benefit to the defendants over Dulberg and to sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast. The suppression of Tilschner v Spangler helps the defense deny that Mast ever discussed the Tilschner case with Dulberg and helps Mast deny that Tilschner v Spangler and the Restatement of Torts 318 was the legal theory Mast gave Dulberg as to why the McGuires were not responsible in any way for his injury on their property.

2K-71. On December 5, 2022, the following dialogue transpired in the Circuit Court:[2]

> THE COURT: What's the date of your summary judgment?
>
> MR. FLYNN: It's -- the plaintiff's response is due on December 28. The motion was originally filed way back on September 15. So it's -- we have had an extensive amount of time.
>
> THE COURT: I won't be hearing the summary judgment. So --
>
> MR. FLYNN: Yeah. I understood there was some comments being made before I left about your Honor's handling the case or --
>
> THE COURT: Well, after 13 years, they have decided this is the worst place for me. So I'm being moved to traffic, and then, Judge Berg is taking over January 1. So it's -- I don't know what's going to happen with the scheduling of your summary judgment

2 Exhibit K31-2022-12-05_ROP_Pages from ROP_Vol_1_of_1_230421_1628_8FF9DDF1-10.pdf (Page 13 Lines 8-24 and Page 14 Line 1)

because he's going to be combining his small claims call with a law division jury, and I -- I question the practicality of that but that's not my -- that's not my call.

2K-72. On February 1, 2023 Dulberg lost at Summary Judgement in front of Judge Berg, formerly a small claims Judge.

2K-73. On March 1, 2023 Dulberg sent for a records request for case 12LA326.[1]

2K-74. On March 2, 2023 Dulberg received the case file 12LA326 from the clerk.[2]

2K-75. In the file Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer recused himself from 12LA326 because Mr Meyer is a personal friend of Thomas J. Popovich.[3] [4]

2L OTHER WAYS CLINTON AND WILLIAMS ATTEMPTED TO SABOTAGE PLAINTIFF'S CASE

2L34. In addition to the examples listed in which a reasonable person could claim there is evidence that documents suppressed by Williams have benefited or could benefit the defendants in the future, Clinton and Williams are Legal Malpractice Attorneys' and knew or should have known the following:

2L35. Clinton and Williams knew or should have known that THOMAS J. POPOVICH individually should have been named as a defendant.

2L36. Clinton and Williams knew or should have known that the suppressed Tilschner v Spangler document was the slip copy of the original certified appeals court decision on Tilschner v Spangler and therefore a very unique document.

2L37. There was a witness at the key November 20, 2013 meeting between Mast and Dulberg in which Mast changed his legal opinion and explained his legal theory as to why the McGuires were not liable for Dulberg's injury where the witness took notes of main subjects of the meeting. Williams misidentified the witness of the November 20, 2013 meeting as "a friend" during the deposition even though she had a teleconference with Dulberg and his brother Thomas Kost (the witness) just 5 days earlier and the same person was present at the first meeting Dulberg had with Clinton and Williams. The notes of the witness consist of the 6 phrases:

"forseeable duty"
"negligent"
"statement of torts sect 318 not applicable in Illinois"
"agent vs contractor"

2L38. Williams and Clinton made no use of a witness of the November 20, 2013 meeting or their notes. Williams never inquired into what the witnesses of the November 4 and November 20, 2013 meetings saw and heard.

2L39. Williams never inquired as to why Mast called the November 20, 2013 meeting.

2L40. Williams never inquired as to why Mast called the November 4, 2013 meeting.

2L41. Williams was in possession of evidence which shows the $7,500 October 22 offer made on Dulberg's behalf was not in Baudins' or Gooch's possession, it wasn't in their case files, and they most probably didn't know the secrete offer was ever made. Williams was instructed in writing by Dulberg exactly where to look to find this evidence and the significance of this evidence. Williams never made use of this evidence.

2L42. Williams knew or should have known the $7,500 offer was not discussed at the November 20th meeting and that a witness at the meeting can confirm this but she never made use of this.

2L43. Williams knew or should have known that it is not possible for Mast to explain why he called the November 20th meeting or what was discussed if Dulberg already agreed to $7,500 nearly one month before on October 22nd but she did not make use of this.

2L44. Williams knew or should have known that Mast's story was absurd on its face in that he was claiming that Dulberg made a $7,500 offer to the McGuires to settle the case on October 22, yet Mast repeatedly informed Dulberg from November 20 onward that Dulberg has only 2 options: To accept a $5,000 offer or receive nothing. The story is logically incoherent and not credible on a very simple level.

Chapter 3: COMPARISON BETWEEN LEGAL MALPRACTICE ATTORNEY GOOCH AND LEGAL MALPRACTICE ATTORNEYS CLINTON AND WILLIAMS

3-1. Dulberg's experiences with his second legal malpractice attorneys, the Clinton Law Firm, are described in detail in 'ARDC Complaint against Edward X. Clinton and Julia Williams'. Chapter 1 of the complaint against Clinton and Williams describes and maps a massive system of document and information suppression which Clinton and Williams used against Dulberg. Chapter 2 of the same document shows at least 10 different ways the system of document and information suppression was used to sabotage Dulberg's case. 5 of the ways are:

2-A Bankruptcy and origin of the $300,000 cap and the "high-low" agreement.
2-B Saul Ferris documents
2-C Tilschner v Spangler
2-D Balke
2-F Baudins

3-2. Dulberg did not meet with Clinton and Williams before October 12, 2018, yet Dulberg's previous legal malpractice attorney, Thomas Gooch, was suppressing information on each of these 5 subject matters long before the Clinton Law Firm was retained by Dulberg. In addition, Gooch misspelled Dulberg's name "Duhlberg", just like Clinton and Williams did later, and Defendant Popovich and Mast did earlier.

ON BANKRUPTCY

3-3. Previous to Clinton and Williams, legal malpractice attorney Thomas Gooch ignored anything related to Dulberg's bankruptcy, including: (1) how Balke acted in violation of the automatic stay, (2) how the Baudins acted in violation of the automatic stay, (3) how Popovich and Mast acted in violation of the automatic stay, (4) how Dulberg entered the binding mediation process, and (5) how the $300,000 cap was placed on any binding mediation award. By avoiding the subject of Dulberg's November 2014 bankruptcy, or by mentioning bankruptcy as little as possible, both Gooch and later Clinton and Williams ignored:

(a) That Dulberg's signature was fraudulently placed on the Executed Binding Mediation Agreement executed on December 8, 2016.

(b) That Trustee Olsen misrepresented Dulberg's consent to the Bankruptcy Judge on October 31, 2016.

(c) That Allstate, the Baudins and Trustee Olsen knew Dulberg had no standing to pursue the case 12LA178 while the case was under an automatic stay.

(d) That Allstate, the Baudins and Trustee Olsen all knew the case 12LA178 proceeded in the Circuit Court in violation of the automatic stay.

(e) That the Baudins by agreement with Allstate, in violation of the automatic stay, before the Baudins were approved to be hired as special counsel under Trustee Olsen, misrepresented Dulberg as agreeing to Binding Mediation in Circuit Court on August 10, 2016 and asked Associate Judge Meyer to delay the next status hearing to December 12, 2016 after the binding mediation was to take place on December 8, 2016.

(f) That the Baudins' and Allstate's acts in violation of the automatic stay, started laying the groundwork as early as June 16, 2016 and finally set the binding mediation date for December 8, 2016 on August 10, 2016 in the Circuit Court. This happened before Trustee Olsen was even appointed to the position on August 31, 2016 and before Trustee Olsen received permission from the Honorable Judge Thomas M. Lynch, to hire the Baudins as special counsel and permission to enter into the proposed capped Binding Mediation Agreement on October 31, 2016.

(g) That the Baudins filed their APPEARANCE as REGULAR COUNSEL in 12LA178 on 11/6/2015 in violation of the automatic stay.

(h) That there is no APPEARANCE filed by the Baudin Defendants that is not VOID in case 12LA178.

(i) That the Baudin Defendants' failed to file an APPEARANCE to represent the bankruptcy estate in case 12LA178 after being hired as special counsel by Trustee Olsen.

(j) That Trustee Olsen received permission from the Bankruptcy court to enter into the proposed Binding Mediation Agreement and later made a choice and Trustee Olsen did not act and sign on the advice of his special counsel the Baudins.

(k) That Trustee Olsen did not "pursue" and "exercise control "over the claim/asset and in doing so Abandoned the asset and it reverted back to the DEBTOR.

(l) The Baudin Defendants were approved and hired as Special Counsel for the Estate and in such a capacity had no standing to execute a Binding Mediation Agreement for the DEBTOR.

(m) The only party with standing over abandoned assets is now the DEBTOR.

(n) That there can be no agreement between Allstate and the Baudin Defendants acting as counsel for the bankruptcy estate to have the case dismissed with prejudice in the circuit court on December 12, 2016 since the Baudins failed to file any appearance anywhere that is not VOID and had no standing since they did not represent the DEBTOR.

(o) Trustee Olsen and the Baudins collected the monies paid out by Allstate after ABANDONING the ASSET that then reverted back to the DEBTOR.

These are a lot of messy, complicated issues that could all be avoided by avoiding any mention of 'bankruptcy', which is exactly what Gooch, and later Clinton and Williams did.

GOOCH ON THE BAUDINS AND BALKE

3-4. In "ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams", in both Chapter 1 and Chapter 2, Sections D and E it has been shown that Clinton and Williams suppressed about 40 email documents involving Brad Balke and all email documents of the Baudins. This is consistent with the suppression of the subject of bankruptcy, since both the Baudins and Balke acted in violation of the automatic stay.

3-5. Before Clinton and Williams acted, Gooch also suppressed all mention of violations of the automatic stay by Mast and Popovich, Balke, and the Baudins, as well as all mention of bankruptcy, from the COMPLAINT[1] and the AMENDED COMPLAINT[2].

GOOCH ON TILSCHNER V SPANGLER

3-6. How Clinton and Williams suppressed documents and information of Tilschner v Spangler has already been described in detail in 'ARDC Complaint of Clinton and Williams', Chapter 2, Section C and is shown in 'Visual Aid 5- …". As Explained, Williams was given explicit written instructions on at least 6 different occasions about the importance of Tilschner v Spangler. The

1 Exhibit 3-5-17LA000377--2017-11-28--COA_0002.pdf
2 Exhibit 3-5a-17LA000377--2018-06-07--COAA_0021.pdf

Example of Tilshner v Spangler, Chapter 2, section C demonstrates the extreme degree to which Williams has gone to suppress Tilschner v Spangler and then to deny any knowledge or memory of Tilschner v Spangler.

3-7. Like Clinton and Williams, Gooch was also told about the importance of Tilschner v Spangler at his first meeting with Dulberg. Dulberg brought a certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler[1] (that Mast had given to Dulberg in his office) to Dulberg's first meeting with Gooch and Dulberg handed the document to Gooch. Gooch looked at it, gave it back to Dulberg and told Dulberg he didn't need the document because he just pulled up the Tilschner v Spangler decision on in his computer.

3-8. Gooch never mentioned Tilschner v Spangler when crafting both the COMPLAINT[2] and AMENDED COMPLAINT[3]. In fact, about 5 years later (on November 30, 2022) when Dulberg did mention Tilschner v Spangler in DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S 2nd AMENDED MOTION TO EXCLUDE THE DEPOSITION OF HANS MAST, the defendants answered this way:

> 12) Of concern is a statement on page 19 of Dulberg's motion in which he argues that Mast had insisted that the decision in the Tilschner v. Spangler case was the reason Dulberg would not prevail in the underlying case against the McGuire's. The statement is inexplicably made "on information and belief." This is unacceptable. Dulberg has made no such disclosure in fact discovery (now closed) about this very specific discussion between Mast and himself regarding the Tilschner case. If Dulberg believes he has disclosed it, he should be required to identify where in his answers and amended answers to discovery or his deposition he has identified such discussion with this amount of specificity. Defendants submit that no such disclosure exists.[4]

3-9. Dulberg first met Gooch on December 16, 2016[5] and informed Gooch of the importance of Tilschner v Spangler. Dulberg also informed Gooch about the importance of Tilschner v Spangler in the letter[6] which offended Gooch and led to Gooch's firing on October 8, 2018[7]. Dulberg sent the same letter to Clinton and Williams as an email[8] attachment and discussed the letter and the importance of Tilschner v Spangler with Clinton and Williams at their first meeting. As has been explained in detail in Chapter 3, Section C Williams was given explicit instructions about the importance of Tilschner v Spangler at least 6 different times.

3-10. Yet on November 30, 2022, the defendants made the claims in ¶ 12[9] of DEFENDANTS

THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S 2nd AMENDED MOTION TO EXCLUDE THE DEPOSITION OF HANS MAST and a few weeks earlier, on November 4, 2022, Julia Williams inexplicably stated in court "I cannot recall what cases were included and weren't included at this point."[1] as if its been years, when if fact Williams responded to the subpoena about "Exhibit 12" four times since August 2, 2022. Williams responded to the subpoena on September 1, 2022, September 9, 2022, October 2, 2022, and October 5, 2022. Williams was then Ordered to appear before the Judge over the exhibit. It is just not credible that Williams would not know the contents of an exhibit she created, used in a deposition, recently was issued a subpoena over and gave four responses to, the last of which was less than a month before her statement in court, then had to go through the process and preparation for her appearance in court over the same exhibit and still doesn't know what was in the exhibit.

3-11. For these reasons the example of Tilschner v Spangler shows the extreme degree to which both Gooch, Clinton and Williams went to not allow any mention of Tilschner v Spangler to appear in the 17LA377 common law record or 17LA377 records of proceedings for over 6 years.

3-12. This is a pretty straight-forward and very well documented case of the suppression of key evidence of ones own permanently disabled client by 2 successive legal malpractice attorneys.

ON SAUL FERRIS DOCUMENTS

3-13. The Saul Ferris Declination letter is located in Gooch's case file at:

> Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client/Misc/Kupets & DeCaro Letter RE Case 3.5.15.pdf[2]

3-14. A different letter by the law firm Kupits and DeCaro is located in Gooch's case file at:

> Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files From Client/Misc/Ferris, Thompson & Zweig Letter RE Case 3.4.15.pdf[3]

3-15. The names of the two files were inexplicably switched in Gooch's case file on the Gooch Thumbdrive. We could not find any other files on the entire Gooch Thumbdrive which had their file names switched.

3-16. In ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams, Chapter 2, Section B explains how:

a) Williams suppressed emails between Ferris and Dulberg and emails mentioning Ferris

b) Williams acted to Dulberg as if she did not know who Ferris was and who Balke was

c) Suppressed information that showed the actual Ferris declination letter was in the possession of Popovich and Mast for almost 2 months while Popovich and Mast actively denied it was in their office

d) Opposing counsel Flynn filed an RFA to get Dulberg to admit that the letter was sent to his home directly from the office of Ferris

e) Opposing counsel Flynn then deposed Ferris and had Ferris claim his law office sent the letter directly to Dulberg through first class mail.

f) The address at the top of the letter was that of the law office of Thomas Popovich, and Flynn must have known this the entire time.

3-17. Just one of the suppressed email documents would have contradicted a number of claims Flynn was trying to make. For example, on March 20, 2015 3:49 PM Dulberg sent an email to Balke with the Subject "Missing Depositions and pre-trial settlement brief" stating:

> "Hi Brad, As we discussed, I was to receive via certified US Mail depositions and communications between Hans Mast and myself from Saul Ferris an attorney in Gurnee, IL. Saul Ferris number is (847) 263-7770 I called Saul Ferris office last week and was assured they were sent. I was told to give it another week. I called Saul Ferris office again today to find out they were mailed to and signed for at 3416 W. Elm St. McHenry, IL. by someone named Anne Oupl on March 7th. This is Hans Mast office. I called Hans office and apparently no one by that name works there and no one knows anything about receiving the certified mail. I'm at a loss as to how these documents were sent to the wrong place and am a bit furious because it has the memo about the pre-trial settlement you wanted to see."[1]

3-18. The packages with the Ferris declination letter and the pretrial settlement memo remained in the law office of Popovich for almost 2 months, yet opposing counsel Flynn was pressuring Dulberg to admit he received the letter directly from Ferris at his home by first class mail.

3-19. TABLE 1 compares the actions of Gooch and Clinton/Williams toward each of these 5 subject matters.

TABLE 1

	GOOCH	CLINTON & WILLIAMS
BANKRUPTCY	Never mentioned Dulberg's bankruptcy in Complaint or Amended Complaint	Removed all mention of Dulberg's bankruptcy from Second Amended Complaint. (described in 'ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams', section 2-A)
SAUL FERRIS	In 'Gooch Thimbdrive' the Ferris declination letter was misnamed and switched with 'Kupets and DeCaro' declination letter	Suppressed all but 1 email document mentioning Ferris. Pretended to not know who Ferris was. Suppressed Ferris declination letter (described in 'ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams', section 2-B)
TILSCHNER v SPANGLER	Was in possession of certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler at first meeting. Gave it back to Dulberg saying he does not need it because he already downloaded it. Never mentioned Tilschner v Spangler in Complaint or Amended Complaint. Nothing on Tilschner v Spangler in 'Gooch Thumbdrive'.	Hid certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler and went to extreme lengths to deny they knew anything about the Tilschner v Spangler case. (described in 'ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams', section 2-C)
BALKE	Never mentioned Balke: a) Contracted with Dulberg even though he knew Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in the case. b) Agreed to take case to trial. c) Represented Dulberg in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court even though the automatic stay was in place. d) Did not enter into any agreement with Bankruptcy trustee who he knew has standing as plaintiff in the case. e) Knew or should have known that Gagnon already effectively admitted to negligence. f) Only discernible work done in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court was to try to get Dulberg to agree to Allstate settlement for $50,000 or less.	Hid around 40 documents of email communication between Balke and Dulberg. Claimed to not know who Balke was Never mentioned Balke: a) Contracted with Dulberg even though he knew Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in the case. b) Agreed to take case to trial. c) Represented Dulberg in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court even though the automatic stay was in place. d) Did not enter into any agreement with Bankruptcy trustee who he knew had standing as plaintiff in the case. e) Knew or should have known that Gagnon already effectively admitted to negligence. f) Only discernible work done in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court was to try to get Dulberg to agree to Allstate settlement for $50,000 or less. (described in 'ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams', section 2-D).
BAUDINS	Never mentioned the Baudins: a) Contracted with Dulberg even though they knew Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in the case. b) Agreed to take case to trial. c) Represented Dulberg in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court even though the automatic stay was in place. d) Did not enter into any agreement with Bankruptcy trustee who they knew had standing as plaintiff in the case until 10/31/2016. e) Knew or should have known that Gagnon already effectively admitted to negligence. f) Only discernible work done in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court was to try to get Dulberg to enter into Binding Mediation with Allstate with a $300,000 cap.	Never mentioned the Baudins: a) Contracted with Dulberg even though they knew Dulberg had no standing as plaintiff in the case. b) Agreed to take case to trial when contracting. c) Represented Dulberg in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court even though the automatic stay was in place. d) Did not enter into any agreement with Bankruptcy trustee who they knew has standing as plaintiff in the case until 10/31/2016. e) Knew or should have known that Gagnon already effectively admitted to negligence. f) Only discernible work done in 22nd Judicial Circuit Court was to try to get Dulberg to enter into Binding Mediation with Allstate settlement with a $300,000 cap. (described in 'ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams', section 2-E)

3-20. The actions of Clinton, Williams and Gooch (all legal malpractice attorneys) can be better understood as a part of a larger pattern of successive attorneys committing fraud on the same (fully disabled) client. Table 2 below compares strategies and methods used by 5 consecutive law firms retained by Dulberg.

ATTORNEY	STRATEGY	METHODS
Popovich & Mast Personal Injury Case	Plaintiff's attorney intentionally weakens or sabotages plaintiff's case	Destruction and concealment of evidence Forged signatures Staged depositions (depositions with no actual court reporter present) Knew defendant Gagnon already admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury Worked in violation of federal bankruptcy court automatic stay to force a settlement against client's wishes Represented a client when they knew client had no standing as plaintiff in court Tried to put a cap of $50,000 on the remaining case (ARDC Complaint against them will be submitted)
Balke Personal Injury Case	Plaintiff's attorney intentionally weakens or sabotages plaintiff's case	Knew defendant Gagnon already admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury Worked in violation of federal bankruptcy court automatic stay to force a settlement against client's wishes Represented client when they knew client had no standing as plaintiff in court Tried to put a cap of $50,000 on the remaining case (ARDC Complaint against him will be submitted)
The Baudins Personal Injury Case	Plaintiff's attorney intentionally weakens or sabotages plaintiff's case	Forgery Knew defendant Gagnon already admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury Worked in violation of federal bankruptcy court automatic stay to force a settlement against client's wishes Represented client when they knew client had no standing as plaintiff in court Placed a cap of $300,000 on the remaining case (ARDC Complaint against them will be submitted)
Gooch Legal Malpractice Case	Plaintiff's attorney intentionally weakens or sabotages plaintiff's case	Said he would file lawsuit in 7 days but actually filed more than 11 months later Gooch law office did not even scan client's files into digital form for 6 months Knew defendant Gagnon already admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury Suppression of information on bankruptcy, Baudin and Popovich negligence Filed 2 complaints which intentionally included a 'trap door' to allow defendants to get out of the case on 2-619 and 2-615 summary judgment (ARDC Complaint against him will be submitted)
Clinton & Williams Legal Malpractice Case	Plaintiff's attorney intentionally weakens or sabotages plaintiff's case	Massive and sophisticated suppression of key evidence and information during pleadings and discovery document disclosure process Knew defendant Gagnon already admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury [Described in detail in this Complaint]

3-21. What immediately stands out (in red font) is that all successive attorneys to the same (fully disabled) client used the same overall strategy: To intentionally weaken or sabotage their own client's case. All three personal injury attorneys retained by Dulberg acted in violation of the automatic stay. They continued to appear in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court (which had no jurisdiction) claiming to represent Dulberg (who had no standing as plaintiff). All 3 PI attorneys made efforts (in orange font) to place a cap on the remaining case without having any authority from the Bankruptcy Court to do so. Both legal malpractice attorneys suppressed all information of how all 3 PI law firms violated federal bankruptcy laws (in blue font) from Dulberg and from the complaints.

3-22. Another feature that stands out (in green font) is that all five law firms (3 personal injury law firms and 2 legal malpractice law firms) knew or could easily discover that the personal injury defendant (who was operating the chainsaw that injured Dulberg) Gagnon effectively admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury as of early March, 2013. None of the 5 law firms ever informed Dulberg of this. The original defendant and operator of the chainsaw, Gagnon, admitted to being negligent:

about 10 months before Dulberg was coerced into settling with the owners of the property (the McGuires) on which the accident occurred and for whom Gagnon was working.

about 21 months before Dulberg declared bankruptcy.

about 39 months before any binding mediation agreement with Gagnon was mentioned.

about 40 months before any cap was placed on any binding mediation award from Gagnon.

3-23. There was no reason for any of these activities to take place if the defendant who operated the chainsaw already admitted to being negligent.

3-24. Gooch targeted the same subject matters of information that were later targeted by Clinton and Williams. In short, the Gooch methods of document and information suppression were seamlessly aligned with the more sophisticated system of document and information suppression of Clinton and Williams and targeted the same key subject matters to weaken and sabotage the valid claims of their own (permanently disabled) client.

EVIDENCE OF SECRET COMMUNICATION BETWEEN NETWORKS OF ATTORNEYS TO SYSTEMATICALLY DEFRAUD A (PERMANENTLY DISABLED) CLIENT

3-25. What reveals Gooch as working as part of a network of attorneys is that:

a) He acted in a way that protected all 3 personal injury law firms from facing any consequences for their fraudulent actions at the expense of his own client.

b) His subject matters of information suppression formed a seamless match with those of Clinton and Williams.

3-26. What reveals the 3 personal injury attorneys as working as part of a network of colluding attorneys is that:

a) All 3 PI law firms violated the federal bankruptcy automatic stay with a casualness and sense of impunity that is quite shocking. They each acted in a larger Court environment in which each attorney who violated the automatic stay seemed to have no fear of being detected or called out by any other attorney.

b) All 3 PI attorneys were in possession of an effective admission of negligence against the person (Gagnon) who was operating the chainsaw that injured Dulberg, yet none of them acted on the admission for their own client's benefit.

c) All 3 PI attorneys knew Gagnon never answered any interrogatory questions yet none of them objected.

d) All 3 PI attorneys acted to place an upper limit on the PI case 12LA178 (in violation of the automatic stay) and to coerce Dulberg to accept the upper limit crafted by opposing counsel.

3-27. On the contrary, it strains credulity to claim these alignments of similar actions by different law firms, one after another, are all mere coincidences, and that these different law firms were acting independently of one another. Such a claim, though expected from those caught in the act of collective fraud against a permanently disabled person, is simply not plausible.

	No. 23 IN 2517	No. 23 IN 2518

Dear Ms. Shah:

We are counsel to Edward Clinton and Julia Williams in the above-captioned investigations initiated by Paul Dulberg. We hereby submit this joint response to the Administrator's inquiries on behalf of Mr. Clinton and Ms. Williams. We appreciate your professional courtesy in granting us an extension for this response, as well as your agreement to submit a consolidated response.

Paul Dulberg's Complaint

Paul Dulberg submitted identical requests for investigations against Mr. Clinton and Ms. Williams, who are, respectively, principal of, and of counsel to, the Clinton Law Firm ("CLF"). The gravamen of Mr. Dulberg's grievance, as we understand it, is that Ms. Williams and Mr. Clinton allegedly suppressed the release of discovery documents during its representation of Mr. Dulberg and attempted to undermine and destroy his claims in a case that was filed in 2017. Notably, CLF's representation of Mr. Dulberg ceased in 2020.

Mr. Dulberg request for investigation included a lengthy narrative, including what he refers to as "scalable vector graphics", as apparent support his incredible allegations, which are patently false. None of the myriad quotes and supposed "evidence" support Mr. Dulberg's charges. CLF was retained to represent Mr. Dulberg in a pending legal malpractice case, prosecuted the case for a time, then withdrew. To the extent that Mr. Dulberg is alleging that any Illinois Rules of Professional Conduct were violated by Mr. Clinton and Ms. Wiliams during the time they represented Mr. Dulberg, none were.

Edward Clinton's Background

Edward Clinton graduated cum laude from Harvard Law School and has been licensed to practice law in Illinois since 1991. After serving as a law clerk for the Honorable Michael Kane in the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, Mr. Clinton spent the next several years working for two large Chicago law firms before joining his father's law firm, the Clinton Law Firm, in 1997. Throughout his legal career, Mr. Clinton has practiced extensively in commercial litigation and formation of business entities. He also represents both plaintiffs and defendants in all manners of legal malpractice claims, as well as lawyers before the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission.

In addition to his extensive litigation practice, Mr. Clinton also serves as an expert witness in legal malpractice claims. He has written extensively on the subjects of securities regulation, consumer fraud and trial practice. He is a member of the American Bar Association's Section of Litigation, Trial Practice, Pretrial Practice, and Commercial Litigation Committee, a member of the Seventh Circuit Bar Association, and a member of the Association of Professional Responsibility Lawyers. In 32 years of practice, Mr. Clinton has never been subject to professional discipline.

Julia Williams's Background

Julia Williams graduated from the University of Maine School of Law and has been licensed to practice law in Illinois since 2008 and focuses her practice on business, consumer, and commercial litigation in federal and state courts. Ms. Williams' experience also encompasses class action litigation, legal malpractice, and attorney fees disputes.

She has utilized her legal education and expertise to provide broader access to justice, volunteering for Chicago Volunteer Legal Services where she represented low-income clients in probate matters. She was a Co-Chair of the Chicago Bar Association

Young Lawyers Division Public Outreach Committee, and a Co-Chair of the Women's Bar Association of Illinois Community Outreach Committee. In addition to her role as of counsel to CLF, Ms. Williams also owns and operates a solo practice, Williams Law, LLC. She has practiced for 15 years without incident.

Response to Mr. Dulberg's Allegations

The Clinton Law Firm represented Paul Dulberg in a legal malpractice claim from November 8, 2018, to September 10, 2020, in a case then-pending in the Circuit Court for the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County. The matter is docketed as Dulberg v. the Law Office of Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast, 2017 LA 377. Mr. Dulberg's claim for legal malpractice arises from an underlying personal injury case in which Mr. Dulberg was the plaintiff. Mr. Dulberg was injured in a chainsaw accident while on the property of one of his neighbors, Caroline and William McGuire, whose son, David Gagnon, was operating a chainsaw to cut down a tree. Mr. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw and struck Mr. Dulberg, who suffered permanent injury to one of his arms. He filed a personal injury claim in 2012 against the McGuires and Mr. Gagnon in the Circuit Court for the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, docketed as Dulberg v. Gagnon et al., 2012 LA 178. The complaint for the personal injury matter is attached herein as Exhibit 1. Mr. Dulberg's settled his claim with the McGuires for $5,000, and was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 in his claim against Mr. Gagnon after binding mediation in December 2016. Mr. Dulberg collected $300,000 from the insurance company and was unable to collect from Mr. Gagnon personally.

Mr. Dulberg subsequently sued his attorneys in the personal injury matter, Thomas Popovich and Hans Mast, alleging that they should not have recommended settlement and claimed that the settlement amount was insufficient. He further alleged that Messrs. Popovich and Mast failed to properly investigate his claims, failed to apply relevant case law, and failed to determine an appropriate strategy for recovery. Mr. Dulberg retained Thomas Gooch of The Gooch Firm, who filed on behalf of Mr. Dulberg the initial complaint for legal malpractice on November 28, 2017 (Exhibit 2), followed by a first amended complaint. (Exhibit 3)

On October 30, 2018, Mr. Dulberg retained CLF to represent him in his claim against his former attorneys on a contingency fee basis and paid CLF a refundable retainer of $5,000 to cover initial costs. A copy of that retainer agreement is attached as Exhibit 4. CLF substituted its appearance for Mr. Gooch and, on December 6, 2028, filed on behalf of Mr. Dulberg a second amended complaint. (Exhibit 5) At the time of CLF's involvement, the legal malpractice matter was still in discovery, and much of CLF's efforts during its representation of Mr. Dulberg was focused on discovery: it issued and responded to written discovery requests, took and defended depositions of fact witnesses, and address issues concerning privilege.

The defendants' primary defense was that Mr. Dulberg's legal malpractice claims were barred by the applicable two-year statute of limitations. As such, the issue of when Mr. Dulberg discovered his claims became relevant in the litigation. Mr. Dulberg claimed that he did not discover the injury until consulting with Mr. Gooch in December 2016. Thus, his communications with Mr. Gooch became relevant to the litigation. CLF was concerned about preserving confidentiality and work product privileges surrounding the strategies that were discussed prior to CLF's involvement in the case, and asserted those privileges on behalf of Mr. Dulberg during his deposition.

On August 18, 2020, CLF filed its motion to withdraw from the legal malpractice matter. On September 10, 2020, the court granted CLF's motion to withdraw (Exhibit 6), and its representation of Mr. Dulberg reached a conclusion. CLF chose to withdraw after reassessing the merits of Mr. Dulberg's claim and the defenses raised by the defendants. CLF's withdrawal was accomplished without material adverse effect on Mr. Dulberg and was consistent with Rule 1.16 of the IRPC. On November 24, 2020, CLF refunded Mr. Dulberg the balance of his retainer, which was used to cover costs, in the amount of $3,197.43. (Exhibit 7)

Shortly after CLF withdrew its appearance, Mr. Dulberg retained new counsel, Alphonse Talarico. (Exhibit 8) The case continued to be litigated for over a year. On February 1, 2023, the court entered an order granting the defendants' motion for summary judgment, dismissing the case with prejudice. The court's order is attached as Exhibit 9. Upon information and belief, defendants raised, and ultimately prevailed, on the argument that Mr. Dulberg's legal malpractice claim was barred by the statute of limitations based upon when he knew or should have known of his alleged injury. (See Exhibit 10, Motion for Summary Judgment) CLF is not aware of whether the privileges it asserted was maintained, waived, or addressed by the court subsequent to its withdrawal. Mr. Dulberg has appealed the decision to the Second District Appellate Court. (Exhibit 11) That appeal is currently pending.

Conclusion

During the time the Clinton Law Firm represented Paul Dulberg, they did so with the competence and diligence required of attorneys in Illinois. It betrays common sense that a law firm, as Mr. Dulberg alleges, would intentionally jeopardize its own client's cause of action, especially when its own recovery was contingent upon any recovery it obtains on behalf of its client. Mr. Dulberg's request for investigation against Edward Clinton and Julia Williams lacks merit on its face and his charges are not supported by evidence. We trust that the information provided in this response is sufficient for the Administrator to close this investigation without further action.

Although we believe this matter should be closed, we stand ready to comply with any further requests for information the Administrator may have.

Very truly yours,
HINSHAW & CULBERTSON LLP

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry. County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20 That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the neighborhood.

7. At this time, Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike DULBERG. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants property filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and told DULBERG he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuire's for the sum of $5,000.00. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST and to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

14. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship.

15. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled. Then, due to a claimed failure of communication, MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

16. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. Unfortunately, a "high-low agreement" had been executed by DULBERG, reducing the maximum amount he could recover to $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. The award was substantially more than that sum of money, and could have been recovered from McGuire's had they not been dismissed from the Complaint. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

17. The McGuire's were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuire's were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

18. DULBURG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

19. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBURG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuire's would only complicate the case.

20. Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the "high-low agreement" contained therein, and the final mediation award, DULBURG realized for the first time that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuire's was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation, DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling Legal Malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

21. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBURG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuire's) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG;

d) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property;

e) Improperly urged DULBURG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

f) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuire's and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

g) Falsely advised DULBURG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuire's was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBURG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

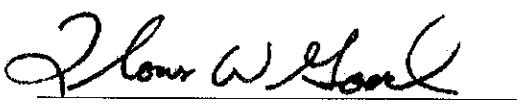
h) Failed to properly explain to DULBURG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

i) Continually reassured DULBURG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;



j) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG, concealing from him necessary facts for DULBURG to make an informed decision as to the McGuire's, instead coercing him into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury.

22. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBURG to release the McGuire's, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

22. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

Binding Mediation Award

Paul Dulberg

v.

David Gagnon

ADR Systems File # 33391BMAG

On December 8, 2016, the matter was called for binding mediation before the Honorable James P. Etchingham, (Ret.), in Chicago, IL. According to the agreement entered into by the parties, if a voluntary settlement through negotiation could not be reached the mediator would render a settlement award which would be binding to the parties. Pursuant to that agreement the mediator finds as follows:

Finding in favor of: Paul Dulberg

Gross Award: $660,000.

Comparative fault: 15 % (if applicable)

Net Award: $561,000

Comments/Explanation

Medical	$ 60,000.
Future medical	$ 200,000.
Lost wage	$ 250,000.
P/S	75,000.
L/N/L	75,000.

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, v. THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., and HANS MAST, Defendant.	)	No. 17 LA 377

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his First Amended Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the same area.

7. At this time, Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike and cut DULBERG's arm. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants properly filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. Also MAST incorrectly informed DULBERG that the insurance policy limit for the Gagnon was only $100,000.00, when in reality the policy was $300,000.00.

14. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST began urging DULBERG to settle the matter against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire for $5,000.00.

15. On November 18, 2013, MAST wrote two emails to DULBERG urging DULBERG to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

16. Similarly, on November 20, 2013 MAST emailed DULBERG urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

17. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told DULBERG that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

18. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

19. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled

20. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, DULBERG wrote MAST an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

21. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

22. On February 22, 2015, as to any chance of settling the remainder of his case against Gagnon MAST wrote to DULBERG that, "There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that." (See Email attached as Exhibit F.)

23. MAST and POPOVICH represented DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship due to a claimed failure of communication. MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

24. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a Court ordered binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. However, due to the settlement with the McGuires, DULBERG was only able to collect $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit G.

25. The McGuires were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuires were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

26. DULBERG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

27. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBERG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuires would only complicate the case.

28. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, DULBERG realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

29. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that DULBERG retained for the mediation, that DULBERG became reasonably aware that MAST and POPOVICH did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

30. DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

31. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBERG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

d.) Failed to investigate the insurance policy amounts of the McGuires and Gagnon;

e.) Incorrectly informed DULBERG that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000.00" and no insurance company would pay close to that;

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

f) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property by consulting an expert regarding these issues;

g) Improperly urged DULBERG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

h) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuires and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

i) Falsely advised DULBERG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuires was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBERG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

j) Coerced DULBERG, verbally and through emails. into accepting the settlement with the McGuires for $5,000.00 by misleading him into believing that had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion".

k) Concealed from DULBERG the necessary facts for him to make an informed decision as to the McGuires, instead coercing him verbally and through emails into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury;

l) Failed to properly explain to DULBERG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

m) Continually reassured DULBERG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

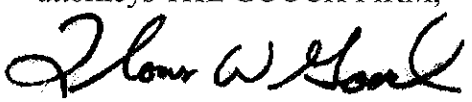
n) Failed to retain a liability expert to prove DULBERG's damages;



o) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG.

32. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBERG to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevent times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

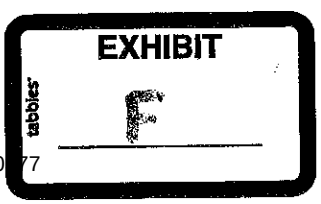
To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide.
Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...



The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of coarse he cut me.

You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

Re: Legal Malpractice Claim Against

Dear Mr. Dulberg:

This will confirm that you have asked us to represent you in connection with your breach of fiduciary duty lawsuit against Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, PC and Hans Mast, which was filed in the Twenty Second Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois, Case No. 17 LA 377, and is currently pending there.

In accordance with Firm policy, the purpose of this letter is to set forth our understanding as to the terms upon which we have been retained.

MUTUAL RESPONSIBILITIES

We will provide the legal services that, in our professional judgment, are appropriate for this matter and in accordance with applicable legal and ethical standards. You agree that you will be reasonably available to confer with us upon request, will provide us with such documents and information relating to the matter, will disclose all facts and circumstances that may bear upon our handling of the matter, will promptly pay our bills for costs incurred in accordance with the terms of this letter, and will otherwise assist our efforts as we reasonably request.

SCOPE OF REPRESENTATION

We are confident that our services in this matter will prove beneficial and we hope that you will seek our assistance with other matters in the future. However, our present agreement to provide legal services is limited to the matter, identified above, for which we have been engaged.

DETERMINATION OF FEE

It is agreed that we will handle this matter on a contingency basis. Our firm will be entitled to one-third of any recovery whether from settlement or judgment.

You will also be responsible for paying our out-of-pocket costs incurred during the pendency of the case. These costs can include court fees, reporter fees, and copying costs. We do not expect this expenses to be extraordinary, but if we expect a costly expense, we will notify you and may require you to pay the vendor directly.

Our firm requests a retainer of $5,000 in order to cover the initial costs in this case. We will not begin work until this letter is signed and the retainer fee is received.

TERMINATION

We anticipate a long and mutually satisfactory relationship. However, you have the right to terminate our engagement at any time by giving us written notice of termination. We also have the right, subject to our responsibilities under applicable ethical rules, to terminate our engagement by giving you written notice if you fail to cooperate with us or to pay our bills for costs incurred when due or if we determine that continuing to represent you would be unethical, impractical or improper. If our relationship is terminated by either of us, you will remain obligated to pay us in full for our past services under principles of quantum meruit and for costs and expenses in accordance with the terms of this letter.

NO GUARANTEE OF OUTCOME

We do not guarantee any outcome in the litigation. Any views expressed as to the possible ruling are our opinions only.

AGREEMENT APPLICABLE UNTIL CHANGED IN WRITING

This agreement will apply to this matter only. If you wish to obtain our assistance with another matter, we will prepare a written engagement agreement for that matter.

DISPUTE RESOLUTION

You agree that this agreement is governed by the substantive law of the State of Illinois.

Any dispute, claim or controversy arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the breach, termination, enforcement, interpretation or validity thereof, including the determination of the scope or applicability of this agreement to arbitrate, shall be determined by arbitration in Chicago, Illinois before one arbitrator. Additionally, any claim against the Clinton Law Firm or any of its attorneys is subject to arbitration. The arbitration shall be administered by JAMS pursuant to its Comprehensive Arbitration Rules and Procedures. Judgment on the Award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction. This clause shall not preclude parties from seeking provisional remedies in aid of arbitration from a court of appropriate jurisdiction. By agreeing to arbitration, you agree to waive your right to a jury trial and your right to appeal.

Please review this letter carefully and raise and discuss with me any questions which you may have. If this letter accurately reflects your understanding of our attorney-client relationship, please indicate your approval and acceptance by dating and signing this letter and returning it to me. You may also have another lawyer review this agreement.

If you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Edward X. Clinton, Jr.

APPROVED AND ACCEPTED:

Paul Dulberg

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, v. THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., and HANS MAST, Defendant.	)	No. 17 LA 377

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW

Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE CLINTON LAW FIRM, LLC, complains against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), as follows:

COUNT I
LEGAL MALPRACTICE

A. Parties and Venue

1. Paul Dulberg, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Hans Mast is an agent, employee, or partner of The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., and is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

4. As an agent, employee, or principal in Popovich, Popovich is liable for Mast's actions alleged herein.

5. Venue is proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

B. Relevant Facts

6. On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg assisted Caroline McGuire ("Caroline"), William McGuire ("Williams") (Caroline and William collectively referred to herein as "the McGuires"), and David Gagnon ("Gagnon") in cutting down a tree on the McGuire's property.

7. Dulberg lives in the next neighborhood over from the McGuire family.

8. Caroline McGuire and William McGuire are a married couple, who own real property in McHenry, McHenry County, Illinois ("the Property").

9. David Gagon is Caroline's son and William's stepson.

10. On June 28, 2011, at the Property, Gagnon was operating a chainsaw to remove branches from a tree and cut it down on the Property.

11. The McGuire's purchased and owned the chainsaw that was being utilized to trim, remove branches, and cut down the tree.

12. Dulberg was invited to the McGuire's property to see if he wanted any of the wood from the tree.

13. William physically assisted with cutting down the tree and, then, later supervised Gagnon's actions.

14. Caroline supervised Gagnon's and William's actions.

15. Gagnon and the McGuires asked Dulberg to assist with trimming and removal of the tree.

16. Gagnon was acting on behalf of Caroline and William and at their direction.

17. Caroline, William, and Gagnon all knew or show have known that a chainsaw was dangerous and to take appropriate precautions when utilizing the chain saw.

18. The safety information was readily available to Caroline and William as the safety instructions are included with the purchase of the chainsaw.

19. It is reasonably foreseeable that the failure to take appropriate caution and safety measures could result in serious injury.

20. The likelihood of injury when not properly utilizing the chainsaw or not following the safety precautions is very high.

21. The safety instructions outlined are easy to follow and do not place a large burden on the operator of the chainsaw or the owner of the property.

22. Caroline, William, and Gagnon had a duty to exercise appropriate caution and follow the safety instructions for the chainsaw.

23. Caroline, William, and Gagnon breached that duty by either not exercising appropriate care, failing to follow the safety instructions, or failing to instruct Gagnon to exercise appropriate care and/or follow the safety instructions.

24. Caroline and William, owners of the property and the chainsaw, instructed Gagnon to use the chain saw despite Gagnon not being a trained in operating the chainsaw.

25. Gagnon was operating the chain saw in close proximity to Dulberg.

26. Neither Gagnon nor Dulberg were provided protective equipment when operating or assisting with operating the chainsaw.

27. Gagnon failed to utilize the chainsaw in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

28. Caroline and William failed to instruct and require that Gagnon utilize the chainsaw only in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

29. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw that he was using and it struck Dulberg in the right arm, cutting him severely.

30. Dulberg incurred substantial and catastrophic injuries, including, but not limited to, pain and suffering, loss of use of his right arm, current and future medical expenses in amount in excess of $260,000, lost wages in excess of $250,000, and other damages.

31. In May 2012, Dulberg hired Mast and Popovich to represent him in prosecuting his claims against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit A.

32. Mast and Popovich, on behalf of Dulberg filed a complaint against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit B.

33. Mast and Popovich entered into an attorney client relationship with Dulberg.

34. Based upon the attorney client relationship, Mast and Popovich owed professional duties to Dulberg, including to a duty of care.

35. On behalf of Dulberg, Mast and Popovich prosecuted claims against both Gagnon and the McGuire's.

36. The claims against Gagnon were resolved later through binding mediation with new counsel.

37. The claims against the McGuires included (a) common law premises liability, (b) statutory premises liability, (c) common law negligence, and (d) vicarious liability for the acts of their son and agent.

38. In late 2013 or early, Mast urged Dulberg to settle the claims against the McGuire's for $5,000.

39. On November 18, 2013, Mast wrote two emails to Dulberg urging Dulberg to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their $5,000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

40. Similarly, on November 20, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

41. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told Dulberg that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

42. During that same time frame, Mast advised Dulberg that the Restatement of Torts 318 was the only mechanism to recover from the McGuires and that Illinois did not recognize the Restate of Torts 318, thus Dulberg did not have any viable claims against the McGuires.

43. Mast failed to advise or inform Dulberg of other basis for recovery against the McGuires.

44. Based upon Mast's erroneously advice that Dulberg's claims against the McGuire's were not viable and that Dulberg would not recover if he pursued the claims, Dulberg settled with the McGuire's and their insurance company, Auto-Owners Insurance Company, for $5,000, which included a release of all claims against the McGuire's and claim for indemnification under the McGuire's insurance policy. Exhibit D (Settlement).

45. Mast also told Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was limited to $100,000.

46. From 2013 forward, Mast and Popovich represented repeatedly to Dulberg that there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and led Dulberg to believe that the matter was being properly handled.

47. Mast also reassured Dulberg that Dulberg would be able to receive the full amount of any eventual recovery from Gagnon.

48. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

49. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

50. The McGuires owned their home, had homeowner's insurance, and had other property that could have been utilized to pay a judgment against them and in favor of Dulberg.

51. Dulberg cooperated with and appropriately assisted Mast and Popovich in prosecuting the claims against Gagnon and the McGuires.

52. In December of 2016, Dulberg participated in binding mediation related to his claims against Gagnon.

53. In December of 2016, Dulberg was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 and a net award of $561,000 after his contributory negligence was considered.

54. Dulberg was only able to recovery approximately $300,000 of the award from Gagnon's insurance and was unable to collect from Gagnon personally.

55. Only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable.

56. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

57. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation, that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:

a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;

b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;

c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires'and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing

Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance compnay would pay close to that;

d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;

e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;

f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

59. As a direct result of Mast and Popovich's wrongful actions, Dulberg suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of Mast and Popovich in urging Dulberg to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of Mast and The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

Respectfully submitted by,

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, by his attorneys The Clinton Law Firm

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

22. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

c. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

Defendants, The Law Offices of Thomas J. I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Paul Dulberg ("Dulberg") was allegedly injured on June 28, 2011 when he was assisting a friend, David Gagnon ("Gagnon"), trim a tree with a chainsaw in the backyard of a home owned by Dulberg's neighbors, Bill and Carolyn McGuire ("The McGuires"). Gagnon, who is Carolyn McGuire's son, and Dulberg were both over the age of 40 at the time of the accident. Dulberg retained defendant Popovich to prosecute a personal injury lawsuit against Gagnon and the McGuires. Defendant Hans Mast was the primary handling attorney. Eventually, in Mast's legal opinion, the case against the property owners was weak because the evidence showed they did not control the work. Mast recommended Dulberg accept the McGuires' settlement offer. Dulberg deliberated and accepted the McGuires' offer in January 2014. Thus McGuires were dismissed from the lawsuit in January 2014, and Dulberg continued to prosecute the case against Gagnon.

Popovich and Mast withdrew from representing Dulberg on March 13, 2015. Dulberg later settled with Gagnon, and waited until November 28, 2017 to sue Popovich and Mast. In an unavailing attempt to excuse the late filing of his lawsuit, Dulberg alleges that he did not become aware of a claim against defendants until he sought a legal opinion in December of 2016. He has never been able to explain what legal opinion he received or how it caused him to "discover" his claim and damages, or why he still waited almost another year after December 2016 to file his lawsuit. Summary judgment must be entered because Dulberg's claims are barred by the two-year statute of limitations for Illinois legal malpractice claims under 735 ILCS 13/214.3(b).

II. STATEMENT OF CLAIM

The following facts can be gleaned from the Complaint (Exhibit A), Amended Complaint (Exhibit B) and Second Amended Complaint (Exhibit C).[1] [2]

On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg was involved in an accident while assisting David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. Exhibit A, ¶6. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike Dulberg. Exhibit A, ¶7. In May 2012, Dulberg retained the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich. Exhibit A, ¶8. In late 2013 or early 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and agreed with Mast to accept $5,000, releasing William and Caroline McGuire. Exhibit A, ¶13. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg through March of 2015. Exhibit A, ¶14. Thereafter, Dulberg retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding mediation where he received an award. Exhibit A, ¶16. Dulberg alleges that following the execution of the mediation agreement and final mediation award, he realized for the first time that the information Mast and Popovich had given him was false and misleading and that the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016. Exhibit A, ¶20.

In his First Amended Complaint, Dulberg modified his "discovery" allegations and alleged "it was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinion that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000 on an "all or nothing" basis. Exhibit B, ¶29. In ¶30 he reiterates that "Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016." Exhibit B, ¶30.

Dulberg's first substitute counsel in this case filed a Second Amended Complaint, further modifying the allegations. It is alleged that "after accepting a $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating that "I trust your judgment." Exhibit C, ¶48. He further alleges in ¶55 of Ex. C that "only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable." Exhibit C, ¶55. He also alleges that following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information that Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading and that the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake. Exhibit C, ¶56. He alleged that it was not until the mediation in December 2016 based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000 on an "all or nothing" basis. Exhibit C, ¶57. Dulberg's allegations of Popovich' breaches of the standard of care are contained in Exhibit C, ¶58 as follows:

> 58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:
>
> a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;
>
> b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;
>
> c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance company would pay close to that;
>
> d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;
>
> e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the[sic] all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;
>
> f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

III. UNDISPUTED MATERIAL FACTS

A. Paul Dulberg Testimony

Dulberg has hired a personal injury attorney in 2002 and has hired a corporate lawyer in the past. (Dulberg Deposition, Exhibit E, pp.8, 9). He was injured on June 28, 2011 while assisting David Gagnon with a chainsaw cutting up some branches after they were removed from a tree. (Exhibit E, pp.12, 13). He hired Popovich to sue Gagnon and Bill and Carolyn McGuire in connection with his June 28, 2011 injury. (Exhibit E, pp. 9, 30). Hans Mast was the primary handling attorney. (Exhibit E, p. 30). Brad Balke substituted for Dulberg on March 19, 2015 when Popovich withdrew. (Exhibit E, p. 35). Dulberg asked hundreds of lawyers to take over his case when Popovich withdrew, but none accepted. (Exhibit, E, p. 36). Dulberg fired Balke prior to the binding arbitration, and he was then represented by the Baudin Law Firm. While Brad Balke handled the case, Balke never gave him an opinion as to the liability of the McGuires and whether the prior settlement was appropriate. (Exhibit E, p. 42). At some point, Dulberg hired The Daley Disability Law Firm to assist him with a Social Security disability claim. A criminal lawyer represented him in a guilty plea for drug possession in 1990. (Exhibit E, pp.34-35) (Exhibit E, p. 43). At some point during the case, it was Hans Mast's opinion that the McGuires did not have liability because they did not control the work David Gagnon was doing. (Exhibit E, pp. 50, 51). Mr. McGuire was inside the house for 45 minutes before the accident happened. (Exhibit E, pp. 51, 52).

On November 18, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg and relayed a $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires. (Exhibit E, p.52). Mast suggested that the $5,000 offer be accepted. Dulberg testified that at one point, "Mast defined what an independent contractor is and he said that David was an independent contractor and the McGuires weren't liable because they had hired somebody outside even though it's their own son, he is an adult, outside to do the work and that they weren't responsible." (Exhibit E, p.55). Dulberg believed that Mast was relying on his honest legal opinion at the time. (Exhibit E, p.59). Dulberg did not accept the settlement offer on November 8, 2013. Dulberg met with Mast on November 20, 2013. (Exhibit E, p.61). Then Dulberg reviewed the depositions of the McGuires and David Gagnon before he accepted the offer. (Exhibit E, p.63). Eventually Dulberg told Mast that he would agree to accept the $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires, just before Christmas in December of 2013. (Exhibit E, p.66) Dulberg received a letter with a settlement release from Mast on January 29, 2014 and signed it and sent it back. (Exhibit E, p.69). From December 25 until he received the settlement release, he contacted Mast again to discuss whether it would be appropriate to let the McGuires out for $5,000. (Exhibit E, p.70). Dulberg did not talk to any other lawyers and there was nothing preventing him from seeking a second opinion from some other lawyer at the time. (Exhibit E, p.71). Dulberg emailed Mast with a question about the release on January 29, 2014, and then put a stamp on the envelope with the executed release, put it in his mailbox, put the flag up, and waited for the mailman. (Exhibit E, pp. 71, 72). Mast did not force him to take the settlement. (Exhibit E, p.73).

The case continued against Gagnon through discovery and some of Dulberg's doctors were deposed. (Exhibit E, pp. 78, 79). Dulberg told Mast "First, I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to prove David cut me with a chainsaw." Dulberg already started looking for new lawyers in the summer of 2014. Mast thought the case against David Gagnon was difficult. (Exhibit E, p.81). Mast told Dulberg that he did not make a good witness at his deposition. (Exhibit E, p.82). Dulberg and Gagnon were the only people who witnessed the accident. (Exhibit E, p.83). There were differences between the factual testimony provided by Gagnon and Dulberg in the underlying case. (Exhibit E, p.83). His relationship with Mast was deteriorating over the fall and winter of 2015, even long before that. (Exhibit E, p.86). On February 22, 2015, Dulberg wrote in an email to Mast "Now I'm left wondering… how hard it is to sue an attorney?" (Exhibit F). When asked what the reference to suing an attorney meant he replied:

A. That was me being angry.

Q. With Hans?

A. Yes. I was seeing red.

Q. You're suggesting that you may sue him?

A. Yeah. I didn't know that I could. I'm wondering about it.

Q. You, basically, made a threat, whether it be a veiled threat or an overt threat to sue him, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. You, ultimately, sued him for legal malpractice, right?

A. Yes.

On February 22, 2015, Mast wrote in an email to Dulberg "Paul, I can no longer represent you in the case. We obviously have differences of opinion as to the value of the case." (Exhibit E, p.91). Mast speculated that seven out of ten times he would lose the case outright. (Exhibit E, p.92). Dulberg filed for bankruptcy. He was ordered by the bankruptcy trustee to participate in binding mediation on December 8, 2016. (Exhibit E, p.96). Dulberg admitted that the allegation in his complaint regarding Popovich being involved with the high/low agreement in the mediation was a mistake. (Exhibit E, p.103). Dulberg testified that it was Baudin that advised him to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters. (Exhibit E, p.108). The lawyer he received the legal opinion on December 16, 2016 was Thomas Gooch, the drafter of the Complaint in this case. (Exhibit E, p.108). It was confirmed by Gooch on December 16, 2016 that Dulberg had a valid case against Popovich. (Exhibit E, p.113). He did not file a lawsuit until nearly a year later because "Thomas Gooch had some health issues and that his wife had some health issues. It took a while." (Exhibit E, p.114). Dulberg agreed that the legal opinion he received on December 16, 2016 was responsive to Interrogatory No. 1 from Dulberg's answers to Mast's Interrogatories. (Exhibit E, pp.125, 126). The legal opinion Dulberg received from Gooch was verbal. (Exhibit E, p.130). Gooch simply stated, "You have a case here. You have a valid case." (Exhibit E, p.130). When asked did he tell you exactly what they did wrong in connection with your – their representation of you, Dulberg replied "He probably did. I'm not recalling it right now. I'm pulling a blank." (Exhibit E, p.131).

Dulberg was questioned further: "Other than you have a case, what did Gooch say to you?" Dulberg responded, "He said they definitely committed malpractice." When asked whether Gooch ever put this in writing, Dulberg replied, "I think he backed it up by filing a suit. That's documented." (Exhibit E, p.136). Dulberg was asked, "As you sit here today, other than you have a case against Popovich and Mast, what did Gooch tell you specifically that was any different than what Mast and Popovich told you with respect to the McGuires' liability? Answer: They were definitely liable. He tried to say that – like Popovich and Mast were first – or second year lawyers and that they may have made a mistake here." (Ex. E, pp.139-140).

B. Hans Mast Testimony

Mast graduated from Kent Law School in 1991 and has been admitted to practice law in Illinois since 1991. (Mast Deposition, Exhibit G, p.10). He joined the Popovich firm in 2001 and worked there for approximately 18 years. (Exhibit G, p.12). He testified that every time he met with Dulberg: "Every time we met, we talked about this because this was the subject at the time with the McGuires and the testimony of the McGuires, given Paul' testimony, given the lack of any evidence that they were controlling any work or even knew what Paul was doing, I felt it was a big, high risk at moving forward on that claim." (Exhibit G, p.43). Mast thought Paul's case was going to be very difficult to prove based on the testimony of everybody, credibility issues, and the lack of evidence to support and prove. (Exhibit G, p.77). Gagon's testimony regarding the facts surrounding the accident differed from Paul Dulberg's version of the facts. (Exhibit G, p.77). Mast took that difference in testimony into account in his evaluation and his analysis of the case. (Exhibit G, p.77). Mast also took into account Paul Dulberg's poor performance as a witness at his discovery deposition. Mast's analysis and evaluation of the case hinged in part on whether the McGuires controlled the method of the use of the chainsaw. Mast testified that the McGuires were inside the house and not paying attention to what was going on outside at the time of the accident. (Exhibit G, p.78). Mast's recommendation or suggestion that Dulberg settle the case for $5,000 against the McGuires was based on his analysis of the entire case, including the risks and benefits of going forward and potentially losing the case at trial. (Exhibit G, pp.78,79). Based on his professional judgment, Mast suggested that Dulberg attempt to settle the matter as opposed to taking it to trial against the McGuires. (Exhibit G, p.79).

IV. LEGAL STANDARD

The purpose of summary judgment is not to try a question of fact but to determine whether there is a genuine issue of material fact. N. Ill. Emergency Physicians v. Landau, Omahana, & Kopka, Ltd., 216 Ill. 2d 294, 305 (2005). Summary judgment is proper if, when viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmovant, the pleadings, depositions, admissions, and affidavits on record establish that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Id. A defendant moving for summary judgment may meet the initial burden of production by either affirmatively showing that some element of the case must be resolved in defendant's favor, or by showing the absence of evidence supporting the plaintiff's position on one or more elements of the cause of action. Hutchcraft v. Independent Mechanical Industries, Inc., 312 Ill App. 3d 351, 355 (4th Dist.,2000). The plaintiff is not required to prove his case at the summary judgment stage; in order to survive a motion for summary judgment, he must present a factual basis that would arguably entitle him to a judgment. Robidoux v. Oliphant, 201 Ill. 2d 324, 335 (2002).

V. ARGUMENT

Dulberg's legal malpractice claim against Popovich is time barred by the two (2) year statute of limitations set forth in 735 ILCS 5/2-614.3.

735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(b) reads as follows:

> (b) An action for damages based on tort, contract or otherwise (i) against an attorney arising out of an act or omission in the performance of professional services [...] must be commenced within 2 years from the time the person bringing the action knew or reasonably should have known of the injury for which damages are sought.

735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(b).

While Popovich denies breaching any standard of care or proximately causing Dulberg any damages, assuming arguendo there was malpractice, Dulberg knew or should have known of his injury and that it was wrongfully caused when Popovich withdrew. In the alternative, Dulberg should have investigated any potential claims when he questioned the appropriateness of settling with the McGuires.

In his various pleadings, Dulberg alleged that Popovich concealed his malpractice and coerced him to settle with the McGuires, but his own testimony does not bear out any such concealment. He also attempts to plead that he did not discover the malpractice and his injury until December 12, 2016, but his anticipatory pleading is not supported by his own testimony. Under any analysis, Dulberg knew or should have known of the alleged malpractice and his injury by the time Popovich withdrew. Dulberg fails to meet his burden of proving a discovery date that would toll the limitations period.

To state a cause of action for legal malpractice, the plaintiff must allege facts to establish (1) the defendant attorney owed the plaintiff client a duty of due care arising from an attorney-client relationship, (2) the attorney breached that duty, (3) the client suffered an injury in the form of actual damages, and (4) the actual damages resulted as a proximate cause of the breach." Nelson v. Quarles & Grady, 2013 IL App (1st) 123122 at [*P28], citing Fox v. Seiden, 382 Ill. App. 3d 288, 294 (1st Dist. 2008). A legal malpractice suit is by its nature dependent upon a predicate lawsuit. Claire Associates v. Pontikes, 151 Ill. App. 3d 116, 122 (1st Dist. 1986). Thus, a legal malpractice claim presents a "case within a case." Id. "[N]o malpractice exists unless counsel's negligence has resulted in the loss of an underlying cause of action, or the loss of a meritorious defense if the attorney was defending in the underlying suit."

The two-year statute of limitations for legal malpractice under 735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(b) incorporates the discovery rule which delays commencement of the statute of limitations until the plaintiff knows or reasonably should have known of the injury or that it may have been wrongfully caused. Scheinblum v. Schain Banks Kenny & Schwartz, Ltd., 2021 IL App. (1st) 200798 at [*P24], quoting Dancor International, Ltd. v. Friedman, Goldberg & Mintz, 288 Ill. App. 3d 666 (1st Dist. 1997). Under this rule, the statute of limitations begins to run when the injured party "has a reasonable belief that the injury was caused by wrongful conduct, thereby creating an obligation to inquire further on that issue." Scheinblum at [*P24] citing Janousek v. Katten Muchin Rosenman LLP, 2015 IL App (1st) 142989. Under the discovery rule, "a statute of limitations may run despite the lack of actual knowledge of negligent conduct." SK Partners I, LP, 408 Ill. App. 3d at 130 (1st Dist. 2011). A "person knows or reasonably should know an injury is 'wrongfully caused' when he or she possesses sufficient information concerning an injury and its cause to put a reasonable person on inquiry to determine whether actionable conduct had occurred." Janousek at [*p13]. Under Illinois law, the burden is on the injured party to inquire further as to the existence of a cause of action. "When a plaintiff uses the discovery rule to delay the commencement of the statute of limitations, the burden is on the plaintiff to prove the date of discovery." Dancor at 673. Identification of one wrongful cause of the plaintiff's injuries initiates his limitations period as to all other causes. Carlson v. Fish, 2015 IL App (1st) 140526 at ¶39.

In Blue Water Partners, Inc. v. Mason, 2012 IL App (1st) 102165, the Appellate Court again had the occasion to examine the discovery rule under the two-year legal malpractice statute of limitations. The court ruled that the statute of limitations begins to run when the purportedly injured party "has a reasonable belief that the injury was caused by wrongful conduct, thereby creating an obligation to inquire further on that issue." Blue Water Partners at [*P51]. In that case, the court found little dispute that the plaintiff acted on its obligation to inquire further on possible wrongful conduct when consulting with an attorney about potential claims, albeit the Plaintiff lacked diligence in filing the suit.

In the recent Illinois Supreme Court case Suburban Real Estate Servs. v. Carlson, 2022 IL 126935, the court distinguished between transactional malpractice and legal malpractice arising out of litigation. The court explained that when the attorney's negligence arises out of underlying litigation, no injury exists, and therefore no actionable claim arises, unless and until the attorney's negligence results in a loss of the underlying cause of action. The court explained that in "this type of legal malpractice claim, commonly referred to as a 'case within a case,' the allegation is that the client suffered a monetary loss and but for the attorney's negligence the client would have recovered in the underlying litigation." Suburban Real Estate at [*P19] and [citing Tri-G, Inc. v. Burke, Bosselman & Weaver, 222 Ill. 2d 218 (2006). In Fox v. Seiden, 382 Ill. App. 3d 288 (1st Dist. 2008), the appellate court analyzed the requirement of actual damages and held that where malpractice was alleged in the prosecution of a case, the entry of judgment in that underlying case, as opposed to the payment of judgment, is sufficient to establish the element of damages in order to state a legal malpractice claim. Fox at 297, 299. Here, the settlement with the McGuires was executed by January 29, 2014, and they were dismissed with prejudice in January 2014. (Dismissal Order, Exhibit H).

On its face, Dulberg's legal malpractice complaint is time barred. He bears the burden of proving a date of discovery that can salvage his claim, but Dulberg has not and can never meet that burden. Dulberg's deposition testimony and pleadings are vague and inconsistent with respect to how Popovich breached the standard of care, and when and how he became aware that his injury was wrongfully caused. As discussed, Dulberg's own testimony refutes many of his allegations of concealment, undue influence and coercion.

Dulberg has fiddled with his "discovery" allegations, going back and forth as to when and how he became aware of his malpractice claim and damages. First, he plead that he sought a legal opinion, and received that opinion on December 16, 2016. The legal opinion was supplied by the same attorney who filed his first two pleadings in this case. Then he changed his pleading and theory and attempted to rely on discovery by virtue of the report of a "chainsaw expert" he read in connection with the December 2016 mediation. However, he actually received the opinion (Exhibit I) in July 2016 but "you don't catch everything the first time you read it." (Exhibit D, p.141). Notably the report from Dr. Lanford is dated much earlier, February 27, 2016 and was addressed to Dulberg's then attorney, Randy Baudin.

Here defendants painstakingly attempted to seek discovery as to how Popovich allegedly breached the standard of care, and when and how Dulberg became aware of any damages. Dulberg's discovery responses and deposition testimony were repeatedly evasive. See Dulberg testimony, Exhibit D, pages 106 to 141. This behavior continued and caused the need for a motion to compel (See Group Exhibit J, Motion to Compel, Motion to Supplement Motion to Compel, and July 19, 2021 transcript from hearing).

Moreover, Dulberg's dissatisfaction with Popovich's representation surfaced much earlier, and he even threatened in writing to sue Mast as early as February 22, 2015. Dulberg, no "babe in the woods" when it comes to experience with litigation retention, met with "hundreds" of attorneys and had opportunity after opportunity to investigate and inquire as to whether Popovich breached the standard of care and caused him any damage in connection with the case (including prosecution of the case against Gagnon and the McGuires). The many cases cited above establish the Plaintiff's duty to inquire, and here Dulberg had the tools, the information, and opportunity to inquire. His contrived late discovery of his claims and damages should not be countenanced by this court. He was clearly questioning whether he should agree to accept the McGuires' offer, and he deliberated on it extensively. Nothing prevented him from seeking a second opinion. Likewise, nothing prevented him from inquiring of Mr. Balke or the Baudin firm whether his injury was wrongfully caused. Summary Judgment must be entered as his claims are barred by the two-year statute of limitations.

VI. CONCLUSION

Wherefore, Defendants, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast, pray that the motion for summary judgment be granted, that summary judgment be entered in its favor and against Plaintiff, and for any other relief that this court deems just and appropriate.

No. 17LA000377

NOTICE

THIS CASE IS HEREBY SET FOR A SCHEDULING CONFERENCE IN COURTROOM 201 ON 02/27/2018 AT 9:00 AM. FAILURE TO APPEAR MAY RESULT IN THE CASE BEING DISMISSED OR AN ORDER OF DEFAULT BEING ENTERED.

COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the neighborhood.

7. At this time, Gaguon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike DULBERG. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants property filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and told DULBERG he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuire's for the sum of $5,000.00. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST and to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

14. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship.

15. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled. Then, due to a claimed failure of communication, MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

16. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. Unfortunately, a "high-low agreement" had been executed by DULBERG, reducing the maximum amount he could recover to $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. The award was substantially more than that sum of money, and could have been recovered from McGuire's had they not been dismissed from the Complaint. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

17. The McGuire's were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuire's were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

18. DULBURG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

19. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBURG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuire's would only complicate the case.

20. Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the "high-low agreement" contained therein, and the final mediation award, DULBURG realized for the first time that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuire's was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation, DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling Legal Malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

21. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBURG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuire's) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG;

d) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property;

e) Improperly urged DULBURG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

f) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuire's and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

g) Falsely advised DULBURG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuire's was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBURG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

h) Failed to properly explain to DULBURG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

i) Continually reassured DULBURG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

j) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG, concealing from him necessary facts for DULBURG to make an informed decision as to the McGuire's, instead coercing him into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury.

22. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBURG to release the McGuire's, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

Respectfully submitted by,

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

c. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on the dates set forth below.

Binding Mediation Award

Paul Dulberg

v.

David Gagnon

ADR Systems File # 33391BMAG

On December 8, 2016, the matter was called for binding mediation before the Honorable James P. Etchingham, (Ret.), in Chicago, IL. According to the agreement entered into by the parties, if a voluntary settlement through negotiation could not be reached the mediator would render a settlement award which would be binding to the parties. Pursuant to that agreement the mediator finds as follows:

Finding in favor of: Paul Dulberg

Gross Award: $660,000.

Comparative fault: 15 % (if applicable)

Net Award: $561,000

Comments/Explanation

Medical	$ 60,000.
Future medical	$ 200,000.
Lost wage	$ 250,000.
P.I.S	75,000.
L.N.L	75,000.

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his First Amended Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the same area.

7. At this time, Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike and cut DULBERG's arm. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants properly filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. Also MAST incorrectly informed DULBERG that the insurance policy limit for the Gagnon was only $100,000.00, when in reality the policy was $300,000.00.

14. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST began urging DULBERG to settle the matter against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire for $5,000.00.

15. On November 18, 2013, MAST wrote two emails to DULBERG urging DULBERG to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

16. Similarly, on November 20, 2013 MAST emailed DULBERG urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

17. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told DULBERG that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

18. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

19. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled

20. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, DULBERG wrote MAST an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

21. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

22. On February 22, 2015, as to any chance of settling the remainder of his case against Gagnon MAST wrote to DULBERG that, "There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that." (See Email attached as Exhibit F.)

23. MAST and POPOVICH represented DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship due to a claimed failure of communication. MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

24. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a Court ordered binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. However, due to the settlement with the McGuires, DULBERG was only able to collect $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit G.

25. The McGuires were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuires were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

26. DULBERG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

27. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBERG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuires would only complicate the case.

28. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, DULBERG realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

29. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that DULBERG retained for the mediation, that DULBERG became reasonably aware that MAST and POPOVICH did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

30. DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

31. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBERG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

d.) Failed to investigate the insurance policy amounts of the McGuires and Gagnon;

e.) Incorrectly informed DULBERG that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000.00" and no insurance company would pay close to that;

f) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property by consulting an expert regarding these issues;

g) Improperly urged DULBERG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

h) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuires and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

i) Falsely advised DULBERG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuires was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBERG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

j) Coerced DULBERG, verbally and through emails. into accepting the settlement with the McGuires for $5,000.00 by misleading him into believing that had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion".

k) Concealed from DULBERG the necessary facts for him to make an informed decision as to the McGuires, instead coercing him verbally and through emails into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury;

l) Failed to properly explain to DULBERG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

m) Continually reassured DULBERG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

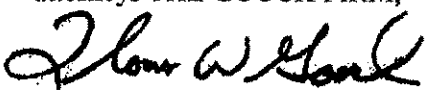
n) Failed to retain a liability expert to prove DULBERG's damages;



o) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG.

32. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBERG to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. Its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide.
Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...

The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of coarse he cut me.

Next issue please?

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW

Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE CLINTON LAW FIRM, LLC, complains against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), as follows:

COUNT I
LEGAL MALPRACTICE

A. Parties and Venue

1. Paul Dulberg, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Hans Mast is an agent, employee, or partner of The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., and is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

4. As an agent, employee, or principal in Popovich, Popovich is liable for Mast's actions alleged herein.

5. Venue is proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

B. Relevant Facts

6. On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg assisted Caroline McGuire ("Caroline"), William McGuire ("Williams") (Caroline and William collectively referred to herein as "the McGuires"), and David Gagnon ("Gagnon") in cutting down a tree on the McGuire's property.

7. Dulberg lives in the next neighborhood over from the McGuire family.

8. Caroline McGuire and William McGuire are a married couple, who own real property in McHenry, McHenry County, Illinois ("the Property").

9. David Gagon is Caroline's son and William's stepson.

10. On June 28, 2011, at the Property, Gagnon was operating a chainsaw to remove branches from a tree and cut it down on the Property.

11. The McGuire's purchased and owned the chainsaw that was being utilized to trim, remove branches, and cut down the tree.

12. Dulberg was invited to the McGuire's property to see if he wanted any of the wood from the tree.

13. William physically assisted with cutting down the tree and, then, later supervised Gagnon's actions.

14. Caroline supervised Gagnon's and William's actions.

15. Gagnon and the McGuires asked Dulberg to assist with trimming and removal of the tree.

16. Gagnon was acting on behalf of Caroline and William and at their direction.

17. Caroline, William, and Gagnon all knew or show have known that a chainsaw was dangerous and to take appropriate precautions when utilizing the chain saw.

18. The safety information was readily available to Caroline and William as the safety instructions are included with the purchase of the chainsaw.

19. It is reasonably foreseeable that the failure to take appropriate caution and safety measures could result in serious injury.

20. The likelihood of injury when not properly utilizing the chainsaw or not following the safety precautions is very high.

21. The safety instructions outlined are easy to follow and do not place a large burden on the operator of the chainsaw or the owner of the property.

22. Caroline, William, and Gagnon had a duty to exercise appropriate caution and follow the safety instructions for the chainsaw.

23. Caroline, William, and Gagnon breached that duty by either not exercising appropriate care, failing to follow the safety instructions, or failing to instruct Gagnon to exercise appropriate care and/or follow the safety instructions.

24. Caroline and William, owners of the property and the chainsaw, instructed Gagnon to use the chain saw despite Gagnon not being a trained in operating the chainsaw.

25. Gagnon was operating the chain saw in close proximity to Dulberg.

26. Neither Gagnon nor Dulberg were provided protective equipment when operating or assisting with operating the chainsaw.

27. Gagnon failed to utilize the chainsaw in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

28. Caroline and William failed to instruct and require that Gagnon utilize the chainsaw only in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

29. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw that he was using and it struck Dulberg in the right arm, cutting him severely.

30. Dulberg incurred substantial and catastrophic injuries, including, but not limited to, pain and suffering, loss of use of his right arm, current and future medical expenses in amount in excess of $260,000, lost wages in excess of $250,000, and other damages.

31. In May 2012, Dulberg hired Mast and Popovich to represent him in prosecuting his claims against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit A.

32. Mast and Popovich, on behalf of Dulberg filed a complaint against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit B.

33. Mast and Popovich entered into an attorney client relationship with Dulberg.

34. Based upon the attorney client relationship, Mast and Popovich owed professional duties to Dulberg, including to a duty of care.

35. On behalf of Dulberg, Mast and Popovich prosecuted claims against both Gagnon and the McGuire's.

36. The claims against Gagnon were resolved later through binding mediation with new counsel.

37. The claims against the McGuires included (a) common law premises liability, (b) statutory premises liability, (c) common law negligence, and (d) vicarious liability for the acts of their son and agent.

38. In late 2013 or early, Mast urged Dulberg to settle the claims against the McGuire's for $5,000.

39. On November 18, 2013, Mast wrote two emails to Dulberg urging Dulberg to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their $5,000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

40. Similarly, on November 20, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

41. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told Dulberg that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

42. During that same time frame, Mast advised Dulberg that the Restatement of Torts 318 was the only mechanism to recover from the McGuires and that Illinois did not recognize the Restate of Torts 318, thus Dulberg did not have any viable claims against the McGuires.

43. Mast failed to advise or inform Dulberg of other basis for recovery against the McGuires.

44. Based upon Mast's erroneously advice that Dulberg's claims against the McGuire's were not viable and that Dulberg would not recover if he pursued the claims, Dulberg settled with the McGuire's and their insurance company, Auto-Owners Insurance Company, for $5,000, which included a release of all claims against the McGuire's and claim for indemnification under the McGuire's insurance policy. Exhibit D (Settlement).

45. Mast also told Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was limited to $100,000.

46. From 2013 forward, Mast and Popovich represented repeatedly to Dulberg that there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and led Dulberg to believe that the matter was being properly handled.

47. Mast also reassured Dulberg that Dulberg would be able to receive the full amount of any eventual recovery from Gagnon.

48. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

49. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

50. The McGuires owned their home, had homeowner's insurance, and had other property that could have been utilized to pay a judgment against them and in favor of Dulberg.

51. Dulberg cooperated with and appropriately assisted Mast and Popovich in prosecuting the claims against Gagnon and the McGuires.

52. In December of 2016, Dulberg participated in binding mediation related to his claims against Gagnon.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

53. In December of 2016, Dulberg was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 and a net award of $561,000 after his contributory negligence was considered.

54. Dulberg was only able to recovery approximately $300,000 of the award from Gagnon's insurance and was unable to collect from Gagnon personally.

55. Only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable.

56. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

57. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation, that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:

a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;

b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;

c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires'and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing

Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance compnay would pay close to that;

d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;

e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;

f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

59. As a direct result of Mast and Popovich's wrongful actions, Dulberg suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of Mast and Popovich in urging Dulberg to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of Mast and The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

22. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Shelia today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. Its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No: 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

o. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide.
Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...

The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of coarse he cut me.

Next issue please?

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

PAUL DULBERG'S ANSWERS TO DEFENDANTS' AFFIRMATIIVE DEFENSES

Paul Dulberg, by and through his attorneys, The Clinton Law Firm, LLC, answers Paul Dulberg's Affirmative Defenses as follows:

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES
FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE: CONTRIBUTION NEGLIGENCE

1. Plaintiff filed a one count Complaint, sounding in negligence, alleging that Defendants failed to properly represent him in the prosecution of a personal injury case, as more fully stated in the Second Amended Complaint, which is incorporated herein.

ANSWER: Plaintiff admits the allegations of this Paragraph #1.

2. Plaintiffs damages, if any, were due to Plaintiffs own fault. In the event Defendants are held liable, any damages awarded to Plaintiff must be reduced by Plaintiffs proximate share of liability. The Plaintiff was negligent and caused his injuries in the following ways:
   (a) Failed to seek outside counsel if he was reluctant to settle the underlying case with the McGuires.
   (b) Provided Mast and Popovich with authority to make a settlement demand against the McGuires for less than $100,000.
   (c) Received a written settlement agreement from the McGuires, forwarded by U.S. Mail from Mast, examined it, deliberated upon it, accepted it, signed it, and mailed it back to Mast.
   (d) Retained successor counsel after Mast and Popovich withdrew, and agreed to a "high-low" agreement at a binding mediation which limited Dulberg's potential recovery against the remaining Defendant, Gagnon.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #2.

EXHIBIT D

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

3. If Plaintiff's contributing fault is found to be more than 50% of the proximate cause of the injury or damage, then Plaintiff shall be barred from recovering any damages whatsoever.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #3.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, respectfully requests that Defendants' Affirmative Defenses be denied and that Plaintiff be awrded damages as requested in his Second Amended Complaint.

SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE
STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

1. In Plaintiffs Complaint, it alleges that The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast failed to adequately represent him in the action captioned, Paul Dulberg, Plaintiffv. David Gagnon, et al., Defendants, Case No. 12 LA 178, McHenry County, Illinois (the 'Underlying Action").

ANSWER: Plaintiff admits the allegations of this Paragraph #1.

2. Plaintiffs damages, if any, were due to Plaintiff's own fault. In the event Defendants are held liable, any damages awarded to Plaintiff must be reduced by Plaintiffs proximate share of liability. The Plaintiff was negligent and caused his injuries in the following ways:
   (a) Failed to seek outside counsel if he was reluctant to settle the underlying case with the McGuires.
   (b) Provided Mast and Popovich with authority to make a settlement demand against the McGuires for less than $100,000.
   (c) Received a written settlement agreement from the McGuires, forwarded by U.S. Mail from Mast, examined it, deliberated upon it, accepted it, signed it, and mailed it back to Mast.
   (d) Retained successor counsel after Mast and Popovich withdrew, and agreed to a "high-low" agreement at a binding mediation which limited Dulberg's potential recovery against the remaining Defendant, Gagnon.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #2, subparts a-d.

3. Plaintiff, however, did not file this action until November 28, 2017, more than two years after the applicable statute of limitations had run.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #3.

4. Accordingly, this matter is time-barred.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #4.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, respectfully requests that Defendants' Affirmative Defenses be denied and that Plaintiff be awrded damages as requested in his Second Amended Complaint.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES
THIRD AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE: PROXIMATE CAUSE

1. Plaintiff filed a one count Complaint, sounding in negligence, alleging that Defendants failed to properly represent him in the prosecution of a personal injury case, as more fully stated in the Second Amended Complaint, which is incorporated herein.

ANSWER: Plaintiff admits the allegations of this Paragraph #1.

2. Plaintiff retained successor counsel after Popovich and Mast withdrew. To the extent that any malpractice occurred during Dulberg's representation by the Popovich firm or its agents, which is expressly denied, and to the extent that any malpractice or proximately caused damages could have been remedied by Dulberg and his successor counsel, then Mast and Popovich can never be found to be the proximate cause ofDulberg's damages.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #2.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, respectfully requests that Defendants' Affirmative Defenses be denied and that Plaintiff be awrded damages as requested in his Second Amended Complaint.

Respectfully submitted,

(WHEREUPON, the witness was duly sworn.)

PAUL DULBERG,

called as the plaintiff herein, having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. Let the record reflect that this is the discovery deposition of Paul Dulberg taken by agreement of the parties and pursuant to notice.

This deposition is being taken pursuant to the Rules of the Illinois Supreme Court, the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure and any applicable local rules in McHenry County.

Sir, could you state your name and spell your last name for the record.

A. Palm Dulberg, D-u-l-b-e-r-g.

Q. What is your address?

A. 4606 Hayden Court, McHenry, Illinois 60051.

Q. How long have you lived there?

A. Forty-nine years.

Q. Who do you live there with now?

Q. Did your mother live there at some point throughout the history of this case?

A. Yes.

Q. I'm just going to go over a few rules for the deposition. I know you've testified at least one time in a deposition before because you testified in the underlying personal injury case, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Have you testified in any other depositions before?

A. No.

Q. I'll just remind you of a few rules that I'm sure you were aware of back then when you gave your deposition.

The court reporter is here to take down everything that you and I say. She can only take down one at a time so I'd ask that before you answer a question, let me finish the entire question. Okay?

A. Yes.

Q. I'll try to do the same. I'll try to let you respond before I ask a follow-up question.

You just nodded your head. That's another good point to make. She can't take down nods of the head, shrugs of the shoulders or other hand gestures. Your answers need to be verbal.

From time to time we forget those rules and I may just point to the court reporter as a reminder, if that's okay.

A. Yes.

Q. If you need to take a break at any time, feel free to stop me. I just ask that it's not while a question is pending that has not been answered. Fair enough?

A. I'll try to do that.

Q. If you've answered a question, I will assume you understood it. Okay?

A. Yes.

Q. I was asking you about your mother. She lived at the house during the pendency of the underlying case?

A. Yes.

Q. Is she still alive?

A. Yes.

MS. WILLIAMS: Can we define "underlying case"?

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. The underlying case is a personal injury

Page 6

case that you filed against Bill and Caroline McGuire and David Gagnon.

A. That sounds correct.

Q. We'll get into the dates of the filing a little bit later. We'll call that, generally, the underlying case.

Your mother lived at the house at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. Did she own the house?

A. No.

Q. Do you own the house currently?

A. Yes.

Q. Does anyone else own the house?

A. No.

Q. How long have you owned it?

A. I think I first purchased it off my parents in '97, '98, something like that.

Q. Did you hire a lawyer in connection with that transaction?

A. No.

Q. Were your parents represented by a lawyer?

A. No.

Page 7

Q. The building, as I understand it, is a duplex; is that right?

A. No.

Q. Were there two apartments in the building at one time?

A. No.

Q. Was there a point in time where you and your mother lived in one half of the house and Mike McArtor lived in the other half?

A. Yes.

Q. How was that arrangement with respect to the location of the living spaces, if you can describe it?

A. It has a walkout basement. He had the downstairs with an exit out the back. We had the upstairs with an exit out the front.

Q. Have you ever been convicted of a crime of fraud, dishonesty or deceit?

A. No.

Q. Besides the hiring of the Popovich firm in connection with the underlying personal injury case, up to that point in time had you ever had an occasion to hire a lawyer?

A. I did during a traffic accident, and I don't remember the year.

Q. Were you injured in about 2002? Does that sound right?

A. Roughly.

Q. Who did you hire?

A. I might get the name wrong because it's been a long time. I think it was Weiss and Michling and something else. It was a lawyer right outside the courthouse in Woodstock.

Q. A McHenry County lawyer?

A. Yeah.

Q. It was a personal injury case?

A. Yeah. It was a car accident.

Q. Did you file a lawsuit in that case?

A. I don't think we needed to.

Q. You just filed an insurance claim?

A. They did, yes.

Q. You settled it?

A. Yes.

Q. Any other occasions to hire a lawyer between that time and the time you hired the Popovich firm?

A. May I consult for a minute because I'm not sure how to answer that.

Page 9

Q. Why don't you just tell me why you can't answer it.
A. Because I've hired lawyers, but they were for the company that I had. That's different.
Q. I'm asking general questions about any interaction you've had with hiring lawyers. Any experience you've had with hiring lawyers.
A. I had a corporate lawyer. My mom and dad hired a lawyer for me when I was a kid. It was something. And myself, just the corporate lawyer, the car accident lawyer and the Popovich firm.
Q. Have you ever been married?
A. No.
Q. So you never hired a divorce lawyer. Good. How old are you now?
A. Forty-nine.
Q. The underlying case arose out of an injury that occurred on June 28, 2011, correct?
A. That sounds correct.
Q. How old were you at that time?
A. Forty-one.
Q. Besides the underlying lawsuit against the McGuires and Mr. Gagnon, had you ever filed any other lawsuit up until that point in time?

Page 10

A. No.
Q. Have you filed any lawsuits since that time besides the lawsuit against Popovich and Mast?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any military experience?
A. Yes.
Q. Please tell me about that.
A. Army National Guard. Illinois Army National Guard.
Q. How long have you been in the National Guard?
A. I'm not currently in it.
Q. When were you, from when to when?
A. I may not get the year correct. '88 or '89 to '92 or '93, somewhere in there.
Q. What was your highest rank when you were discharged from the National Guard?
A. When I was discharged?
Q. Correct.
A. I don't know. I've gotten moved up and moved down. I don't know where I ended up.
Q. How was it that you were discharged?
A. Less than honorable.
Q. What was the cause?

Page 11

A. I missed morning call, roll call. If you're not there, you're AWOL.
Q. Absent without leave?
A. Yes.
Q. What is the highest level of education that you've attained?
A. I do not have a degree. Two years of college.
Q. You graduated from high school?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that in Johnsburg in 1988?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you know Mr. Gagnon from Johnsburg High School?
A. Not from high school but just after high school.
Q. Just coincidentally you attended the same high school?
A. He was three years older than I was. I didn't know who he was until after high school.
Q. You had some education after high school but did not receive a degree, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Where did you study?

Page 12

A. I had a couple classes at McHenry County College and McMurray College.
Q. What did you study?
A. The first two years. The basics.
Q. General studies?
A. Yeah. I did a criminal justice course. I did a macro/microeconomics. I did psychology, sociology. The normal stuff.
Q. How did you meet David Gagnon?
A. Through a mutual friend.
Q. When was that?
A. I want to say, roughly, 1990.
Q. Was your home located somewhere fairly close to his parents' home or his mom and stepdad's home?
A. Two streets away.
Q. That's where you were injured on June 28, 2011, was at David Gagnon's mom's house and his stepdad's house?
A. Yes.
Q. And their name is McGuire?
A. Yes.
Q. Generally speaking, you were injured assisting David with a chainsaw trying to cut down a tree?

A. He was cutting a branch.
Q. Cutting branches off a tree, correct?
A. Cutting up the branches after they were off the tree.
Q. Could you tell me a little bit about your work history. Do you have any licenses or certifications?
A. I'm certified to run printing presses. Or at least I was.
Q. You worked for Sharp Printing, Inc. from '91 to 2011; is that right?
A. Ninety-one? No. I would say 1999.
Q. Did you own that corporation?
A. Yes. Well, partner. I was a partner. I didn't own like...
Q. It was an Illinois corporation?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you –
A. A stockholder.
Q. Let me just finish my question so she can take us down.
You were a stockholder in Sharp Printing, Inc.?

Page 14

A. Yes.
Q. Who else were the stockholders?
A. Mike McArtor and Scott Dulberg and at that time it was Herbert Dulberg.
Q. What does that mean? Do you mean Scott's name was Herbert?
A. No. Scott Dulberg was an owner and Herbert Dulberg was an owner. Three different Dulbergs: me, my brother, my dad.
Q. And Mike McArtor?
A. Yes.
Q. There were four owners at what time?
A. Until my dad died and then it went to three.
Q. Was that business incorporated?
A. Yes.
Q. Did a lawyer assist the corporation with setting up the corporation?
A. Yes.
Q. When did that happen?
A. 1999.
Q. Did you hire the lawyer yourself?
A. All three of us did. All four of us. Sorry.

Page 15

Q. What was the name of that attorney?
A. McAndrews, and I don't remember the rest of it. It was McAndrews in McHenry. I can get you the rest of that information.
Q. They are based in Crystal Lake, Illinois?
A. It used to be in McHenry when we did that.
Q. Patrick McAndrews, he was also identified as the registered agent of that corporation?
A. Yes.
Q. It was voluntarily dissolved on April 8, 2011; is that right?
A. That's what the Secretary of State's Office has, yes.
Q. Is that your understanding as well?
A. I was corrected. My partners – I was corrected. It was actually after the accident. How it got to end up with that date, I'm not sure.
Q. What was corrected, exactly?
A. Well, do you want me to – Mike read my deposition and he said, "You got that wrong." I said, "What do you mean?" because I answered it twice in that deposition.
I was thinking that Juskie happened before the accident. Sharp Printing wasn't actually dissolved until after the accident when we decided to sell off the equipment and end it all. That's the honest truth.

Q. I will represent to you that the Illinois Secretary of State's Website as of today shows that the company was involuntarily dissolved on April 8, 2011. So it's your testimony that that is not true?
A. I don't know how they come up with that.
Q. Why don't we break it down and start with why the corporation was involuntarily dissolved. Do you know that?
A. Involuntarily? I don't know. It may be that I was late on paying the corporate licensing thing, which we just pay a fine and did it. We didn't renew it because we decided to end it.
We had a ten-year thing, I think, on it. I may be wrong. I've got to go back and look at the records.
Q. Is it possible that the corporation was actually involuntarily dissolved by the Illinois Secretary of State on April 8, 2011?
A. Sure.
Q. Did Sharp Printing, Inc. file corporate tax returns while it was a going concern?

A. We had a problem the couple of years before the accident because I was not up in Illinois and I usually did that with the lawyer and the accountant and things got screwed up while I was taking care of a loved one who was dying down in Florida.
Q. Did the corporation ever file tax returns?
A. Oh, yes.
Q. When did they file?
A. Quarterly and annually.
Q. Until what year?
A. Roughly somewhere in 2008. I was missing things because I was not here. I know we missed a few.
Q. I believe you testified in your underlying deposition that Sharp Printing, Inc. was not dissolved as a result of your June 28, 2011 chainsaw accident, correct?
A. Yes, I did. I stood corrected by my partners.
Q. So is it your testimony that the corporation was dissolved because of your personal injury?

A. I don't know how to answer that without going back and looking at records.
Q. Was the company winding down up until about the time you were hurt?
A. The company books got screwed up when I was down in Florida and I was back up in Illinois in 2010 getting back on my feet and I was going to pick things back up, get everything paid up, the fines and everything.
Q. Who were you taking care of in Florida?
A. My grandmother.
Q. You were gone from when until when?
A. I want to say from the mid to end of 2007 until somewhere in the beginning of 2010.
Q. Was anyone running Sharp Printing during that period of time?
A. Mike McArtor.
Q. Did Sharp Printing have any customers for that three-year period?
A. Yes, they did.
Q. How many?
A. I'm not sure, without looking at the books.

Page 19

Q. Can you estimate what the yearly revenues were for Sharp Printing in the year 2007?
A. In 2007? I'd have to look at the books, to be honest with you.
Q. Was it more than $5,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it more than $100,000?
A. No.
Q. Was it more than $20,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Same line of questioning with respect to 2008. Do you know what the revenues were for Sharp Printing in '08?
A. Are you asking me what we reported or what we made and put into accounts for equipment?
Q. I'm asking you about revenues.
A. Total sales?
Q. Total revenues.
A. In two thousand...?
Q. 2008.
A. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Can you estimate what they were?
A. No, because I wasn't there.
Q. Do you know how many customers the company had in 2008?

A. We had a few, I know that. I don't know how many. Mike was handling it and it got messed up.
Q. What types of customers did Sharp Printing have in 2007 and 2008?
A. What kind of customers?
Q. Right. What did you do?
A. We printed on t-shirts. We printed on CDs. We printed on anything that wasn't wet. We printed on glass, all different stuff.
Q. Were there any full-time employees of Sharp Printing in '07 and '08?
A. In '07 and '08, no.
Q. Just the owners?
A. Just the owners.
Q. Did all the owners operate the business?
A. Yes.
Q. Including your brother?
A. Yes.
Q. What were the yearly revenues of Sharp Printing in 2009?
A. I don't know.
Q. What about 2010, do you know?

Page 21

A. No.
Q. When did Sharp Printing start selling its equipment?
A. I put up the ad in August. I think August. I might be off by a month or two. August of 2011.
Q. Did you sell any equipment prior to August 2011?
A. No.
Q. What type of equipment did Sharp Printing, Inc. have or own?
A. Mostly textile screen printing equipment, but we had other screen printing stuff too. Paper.
Q. Where was the equipment located?
A. My home.
Q. Did you require a license to conduct this business out of your home?
A. We had what was called a temporary -- we're in a rural area so we didn't have to have that.
Q. In any event, you didn't have a license, correct?
A. We had a license to do business there, yes.

Page 22

Q. In that location?
A. Yes.
Q. Did customers ever come to the shop?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall how many customers the business had in 2010?
A. Not in 2010.
Q. Was it more than five?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it more than 100?
A. It might be around that. I don't know, specifically.
Q. In 2010 you may have had 100 customers that you did t-shirt screen prints for?
A. Possibly. I'm not saying that is the number, but it's possible.
Q. Did Sharp Printing have any customers in 2011?
A. Mike was finishing up one customer's thing in the spring of 2011, yes. We don't -- I'll give you -- we don't typically get much work between January 1st and the first warm days of Spring. We sell t-shirts and not a lot of people buy during that period. They just don't.

Page 23

Q. You did not earn a salary from Sharp Printing, correct?
A. No.
Q. You did not earn an hourly wage, correct?
A. No.
Q. I think your interrogatory answers indicate you didn't take a profit or a draw, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. How much, if any, money did you earn from Sharp Printing in 2011?
A. Can I ask how to define that? In 2011 I didn't pull any.
Q. Did you earn any income whatsoever from Sharp Printing in 2010?
A. I don't think so.
Q. You were down in Florida for '07 to 2010?
A. Sometime in early 2010, yes.
Q. Did you earn any income from Sharp Printing from 2007 to 2010?
A. No.
Q. Were you working in Florida?
A. No.
Q. Is it fair to say you were unemployed

from 2007 to 2010?
A. Yes. I was not officially collecting unemployment.
Q. You weren't an employee of any business or working for any individual, correct?
A. I did do some work for Mark. I did some traveling back and forth from Florida to Illinois back and forth during that time. When I was up here, I did do some work for Juskie Printing. Not much, though.
Q. What is Juskie Printing?
A. Juskie Printing is another one that I had listed as an employer in the underlying case.
Q. What are they?
A. Another print broker.
Q. Where are they located?
A. I don't know the exact address, but it's off of Chicago Avenue off of 355 going south.
MS. WILLIAMS: I think he's asking what city.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I don't know how the cities break up down there.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Somewhere in the western suburbs of Chicago?

A. Yes.
Q. How long did you have a relationship with Juskie Printing?
A. Since the early 2000s.
Q. What type of printing did Juskie do?
A. Offset, mostly.
Q. What does that mean?
A. Prints on paper.
Q. Did you have a set schedule at any time working for Juskie?
A. I don't know what you mean by "a set schedule."
Q. Did you have a particular number of hours per week?
A. No. The jobs I got were project based.
Q. How many projects did you have from 2007 to 2011 for Juskie?
A. Probably a few hundred quick little things, yeah. At least.
Q. Do you know what you earned from working at Juskie in 2007?
A. Not without looking at the returns, I don't know offhand.

Page 26

Q. How often were you in the Chicago area in 2007?
A. I didn't leave here until, I want to say, August or September of '07.
Q. And then thereafter?
A. I was not back that year.
Q. You didn't work for Juskie in 2008, correct?
A. I might have done some stuff.
Q. You're not sure?
A. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Were you in Florida?
A. Part of the time, yeah.
Q. How often did you come back and forth between –
A. About every three months I tried to get back up here.
Q. For how long?
A. Sometimes a few weeks. Sometimes a month.
Q. Did you come back and work or did you take care of other things?
A. If I'd let Mark know I was back, "I've got something for you or I don't."

Page 27

Q. Who is Mark?
A. Mark owns Juskie Printing.
Q. I think your interrogatory answers indicated from 1999 through 2006 you were employed in a barter situation; is that right?
A. With Mark, yes.
Q. What does that mean, exactly?
A. Well, he would owe me money and he would give me printing equipment instead of cash.
Q. He owed you money for working for him?
A. Well, he owed both Sharp Printing and me, personally, money. They are two different things. But he would just pay by saying, hey, I've got this or I've got this paper cutter or this or that. It was a barter.
Q. So you worked for him from 1999 to 2006 but did not earn any income in the traditional sense?
A. No money changed hands.
Q. He gave you things to pay you for projects?
A. Correct.
Q. You gave a deposition in the underlying case on January 24, 2013. Does that sound right?

Page 28

A. If it says it on there, yes.
Q. You took an oath that day?
A. Yes.
Q. You told the truth?
A. I tried to, to the best of my knowledge, on that day, yes.
Q. You told the truth in response to all of the questions that day, correct?
A. I tried to, yes.
Q. You testified you were last employed prior to the accident in May of 2011?
A. That would be with Juskie, yes.
Q. It's accurate –
A. Actually, I wasn't employed. I was a 1099 so I was self-employment.
Q. When in May did you stop working for Juskie, whether it be as an employee or an independent contractor?
A. I believe it was the end of May.
Q. Then from the beginning of June until your accident on June 28, 2011, you were not employed; is that an accurate statement?
A. Correct.
Q. You were not even acting as an independent contractor for any business from that period of time, correct?

A. Not during that month, no.
Q. Your deposition testimony from 2013 is typed up on 175 pages. I don't intend to go back over each of those details.
A. Okay.
Q. It's fair to say you were injured, your arm was injured on June 28, 2011, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Which arm was that?
A. My right arm.
Q. As a result of the injury, you hired the Popovich law firm to explore a recovery in the case?
A. I hired them to represent me, yes.
Q. You hired them to represent you and file a lawsuit against David Gagnon who was operating the chainsaw that injured you, correct?
A. He was one of them, yes.
Q. I'm asking you if you hired him to – listen to the question, please.
David Gagnon was operating the chainsaw, correct?
A. Correct.

Page 30

Q. No one else was operating the chainsaw?
A. Correct.
Q. You also hired Popovich to sue Bill and Caroline McGuire, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. They were the land owners where your accident occurred?
A. They did own the land, yes.
Q. The accident occurred at their house, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. This was in the backyard, so to speak?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans Mast was the primary handling attorney at the Popovich firm for your case?
A. That's who I met with, yes.
Q. Did any other lawyer communicate with you while Popovich was handling your case?
A. The lady who sat in on my deposition. Ms. Freeman I think it is. I'm not sure about that.
Q. Generally speaking, Hans Mast, though, was the primary handling attorney?
A. Yes.
Q. Before you hired the Popovich firm in May of 2012, is that the correct time period?

A. I don't think so. I don't think they filed it until then, but I might be wrong. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Was there a retainer agreement executed in May 2012?
A. I don't think I paid a retainer.
Q. Did you execute an attorney engagement agreement in May 2012?
A. I believe it was much earlier than that.
Q. You only executed one engagement letter or engagement agreement with Popovich, correct?
A. Yeah.
Q. Before you executed or came to an arrangement with Popovich, had you talked to any other lawyers about investigating –
A. One.
Q. Let me finish the question.
– investigating or filing the lawsuit?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that?
A. I went back to the same firm that handled the car accident for me years earlier.
Q. What was the name of that firm?

Page 32

A. They changed names when I went back there. It was Weiss – I have to go back through paperwork and get you the actual name.
Q. They are known as a personal injury firm; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. Why did you not hire them to take your case?
A. The man who handled my case previously with the car accident was no longer with the firm and they said go find somebody else.
Q. I'm not sure what one has to do with the other.
A. I don't either. I just said okay and I went and found somebody else.
Q. Did you meet with an attorney at that firm?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you tell them what happened with your incident?
A. Yes.
Q. They told you that they did not want to take the case; is that right?
A. Yes.

Page 33

Q. They declined the case?
A. They declined the case.
Q. Did they tell you why they declined the case?
A. No.
Q. You next went to the Popovich firm?
A. Yes.
Q. They took the case?
A. Yes.
Q. They, ultimately, filed a lawsuit against Gagnon and the McGuires on May 15, 2012; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. You reviewed the lawsuit and approved it, correct?
A. I didn't – I never got anything to review.
Q. Did you ever read the lawsuit?
A. No. I was never given any paperwork.
Q. Back to the incorporation of Sharp. What interaction did you have with corporate lawyers when they were first retained?
A. McAndrews?
Q. Correct.

Page 34

A. What relationship?
Q. What experience did you have with McAndrews when you first retained them?
A. He was good.
Q. How often did you meet with him or speak to him?
A. Once a year.
Q. Did he file corporate returns or other documents for the company?
A. No. I had to file them. He just made sure they were all done right, I believe.
Q. Have you ever had occasion to hire a criminal lawyer?
A. I did in 1990. My mom and dad had to hire one. Not me.
Q. Did you hire a criminal lawyer for your mom and dad?
A. No. They hired one for me.
Q. Who was that?
A. Give me a second. You're digging back far in my memory. Driscoll was the last name.
Q. This was a McHenry County-based criminal lawyer?
A. No. Des Plaines.

Page 35

Q. What was the general nature of the reason for the need for a lawyer?
A. Drug possession.
Q. Were you convicted of it?
A. Yes. I pled guilty.
Q. That was a Cook County case, then?
A. No. It was a McHenry County case.
Q. The lawyer was in Des Plaines, though?
A. Yes.
Q. But he represented you in McHenry County in criminal court?
A. Yes.
Q. Throughout the case you met with the lawyer?
A. A few times.
Q. While Popovich represented you in the underlying personal injury case, did you ever communicate with any other lawyers about your case?
A. At the end, yes.
Q. Popovich withdrew sometime in March 2015?
A. Correct.
Q. And Brad Balke entered his appearance on March 19, 2015. Does that sound correct?
A. That is correct.

Page 36

Q. Popovich also withdrew that day, right?
A. I don't know if it was on the same day. I'd have to look at the paperwork.
Q. Besides Mr. Balke, had you talked to any other lawyers towards the end of the relationship with Popovich?
A. Yes.
Q. How many?
A. Hundreds.
Q. Hundreds of lawyers?
A. I'm not kidding. Yes.
Q. Did you ask those lawyers to take your case?
A. I asked them to review it.
Q. Did any of them take the case?
A. No.
Q. They all reviewed it, though?
A. Yes. Most took the time to review it.
Q. Did any of them tell you why they didn't want to take the case?
A. There were different reasons I got from various. Some people just didn't get back to me and some people wrote me letters. I think I gave you some of those. But I got various reasons back from attorneys.

Q. I don't recall seeing any lawyers, but I would ask you to search for those.
MS. WILLIAMS: We'll search for those. I'll make a note.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. As you sit here, do you recall the basis for any attorney declining to take your personal injury case over from Popovich?
A. Say that again.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall any of the reasons why any attorney declined to take your personal injury case over from the Popovich firm?
A. Yes.
Q. What were those reasons?
A. I remember a few. One I was looking at local lawyers in McHenry County and I was told like -- I can name them. My sister was married to him.
Anyway, I was told if Tom Popovich says you don't have a case, you don't have a case and we're not even going to look at it. That I got a lot of it.

Page 38

Q. That's one reason. Any others?
A. That I got locally a lot of. As I started to work away from local further out finding attorneys, the thing was your decision to settle with the McGuires was a mistake and we don't take it because of that.
Q. Who said that?
A. Sal Ferris.
Q. When did you speak to Sal Ferris?
A. I don't know the exact date.
Q. When did he --
A. He wasn't the only one.
Q. When did he say that to you, that you just described?
A. He said it in a letter and he said it on the phone and he sent me an e-mail, I think. I don't remember the ways that he contacted me. I'd have to go back and look.
MS. WILLIAMS: We'll find it.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Besides Sal Ferris, can you recall any other attorney, specifically, that told you they wouldn't take the case because of your settlement with the McGuires?

Page 39

A. Yes.
Q. Who was that?
A. There was at least three firms downtown here right near the Daley Center that I came down to see and I don't remember their names, but they -- I got the same thing out of all three of them.
Q. Did any of the lawyers give you any other reason for declining your case?
A. Mostly it was because they knew Popovich or it was the McGuire settlement.
Q. Did any lawyer tell you that they didn't want to take your case because there was questionable liability against David Gagnon?
A. No.
Q. Did any lawyer tell you that there was questionable liability against the property owners, the McGuires?
A. No.
Q. We're jumping ahead, but did you have different lawyers that handled a binding arbitration or binding mediation for you in the underlying case?
A. Yes.
Q. Their name was Baudin?
A. Yes.

Page 40

Q. Why did Brad Balke not handle the binding arbitration?
A. I fired him.
Q. When did you fire Brad Balke?
A. I'd have to look at the dates. I'm not sure, exactly.
Q. Why did you fire him?
A. Because he forced me to undergo the exact mediation at the McHenry County court in front of Judge Meyer that Hans Mast set up that I specifically said no to.
Q. When was this mediation?
A. I'd have to look at the dates again.
Q. Was it a pretrial conference?
A. Yes.
Q. You actually attended this pretrial conference?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What happened?
A. I said no.
Q. You said no about what?
A. They offered an amount of money and I said no.
Q. The defendants offered an amount of money?

A. Yes.
Q. Was this before or after the McGuires settled out of the case?
A. They were settled.
Q. So there was an offer of settlement from David Gagnon or his insurer?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall what that amount of money was?
A. $50,000.
Q. You refused the offer?
A. Yes.
Q. Why did that cause you to fire Brad Balke?
A. He wouldn't take it any further than that and he agreed to when I hired him. He agreed that that was not going to be the end of it and then he changed his tune, and I said, you know what – and the other thing was, I finally got through to the Baudins who I wanted to take the case because they had helped my family – his dad helped my family many eons earlier.
Q. Did you ever talk to Brad Balke about the liability or lack of liability by the McGuires, the property owners in the case?

A. I don't think so. We were on the Gagnon case.
Q. You didn't discuss the McGuires?
A. There may have been a word or something, but that's not what he was there for.
Q. He never gave you an opinion one way or the other whether the settlement was appropriate?
A. I don't believe Brad did, no. Like I said – I don't think he did.
Q. At some point after your accident did you hire the Daley Disability Law Firm?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that for --
A. I didn't hire.
Q. I know you're anticipating what I'm saying.
A. I was trying to correct myself. I did not hire.
Q. Either way, let me try to get out my question before you raise any kind of response, just so she can take down –
A. Count before I answer.

Page 43

Q. That's a good idea.
Did you ever retain the Daley Disability Law Firm?
A. NO.
Q. Did you have any relationship with Daley Disability –
A. Yes.
Q. – Law? Let me finish it before you answer. I know you're anticipating what you think I'm going to say, but it might not come out the way you think. Either way, she can't take down both of us talking over each other.
What relationship did you ever have with the Daley Disability Law Firm?
A. They stepped in as a substitute counsel for the law firm that I did hire.
Q. You originally hired some other law firm to represent you in connection with social security disability?
A. Yes.
Q. What was the name of that original law --
A. The lady's ladies name was Margaret Bradshaw.
Q. You terminated your relationship with her

Page 44

one way or another?
A. No.
Q. Why did Daley Disability Law substitute in for her?
A. I was told by – I have to go back and look at the communications exactly how it happened, but I was told that, basically, they are going to be taking over the hearing part of it. I don't know why. I don't know whether they sub out work. I don't know how it works.
Q. Would it be fair to say that you first retained Ms. Bradshaw in 2012 sometime?
A. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Is that approximately when you applied for social security?
A. It sounds like it.
Q. The Daley Disability Law Firm came in sometime in 2012 as well?
A. I don't know exactly when. I don't know.
Q. Would it be 2012 or 2013?
A. I know that they were there and – I know that something had to be signed when we went in for the hearings. Margaret Bradshaw had to sign something for the judge allowing Daley Disability to represent me at the hearings. I don't know when exactly they got involved. That's behind the scenes. I didn't have anything to do with that.

Q. Did you file for bankruptcy while your personal injury case was pending?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you file for bankruptcy?
A. I'd have to look at the paperwork again, but I don't believe that was until, I want to say, about eight or nine months, but I'm guessing, after the McGuire settlement.
MS. WILLIAMS: The question was what month and year.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I don't know exactly. I'd have to go back and look at the paperwork.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Did you hire a lawyer to represent you in a bankruptcy?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that lawyer?
A. David Stretch.
MS. WILLIAMS: If it helps, we can stipulate to the date the bankruptcy was filed.

Page 46

MR. FLYNN: That's fine. I think we've got some e-mails that may reflect when it was. I just wondered if he knew offhand.
MS. WILLIAMS: I can stipulate, at least, that it was 2014.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. You filed for bankruptcy while the Popovich firm was still representing you –
A. Yes.
Q. – in the underlying case, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Sometimes I'll still pause in my question so if you could please pause before you answer.
In the underlying case you answered written discovery; is that true?
A. I believe so.
Q. Then you later testified at your deposition January 24, 2013, correct?
A. If that's the date, yes.
Q. Ultimately, David Gagnon was also deposed, true?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you present for his deposition?
A. No.

Page 47

Q. Did Caroline McGuire give a deposition in that case?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. Were you present for that dep?
A. No.
Q. What about Bill McGuire's deposition?
A. I was not present.
Q. Did you e-mail back and forth with Hans Mast a fair amount during the Popovich firm's representation of you?
A. By "fair amount," what do you mean?
Q. Did you regularly e-mail with Hans Mast?
A. Yes.
Q. Those e-mail communications have all been produced in this case?
A. Yes.
Q. On to the exhibits. This will be 1.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 1, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit 1. These are one set of your Answers to Interrogatories in our case, the current legal malpractice case you filed against the Popovich firm and Hans Mast.

Do you recognize this document?
A. Yes.
Q. We've been providing you with various copies of the signature page in the case that's been back and forth between me and your counsel.
I don't, frankly, know if this verification that's attached is the one that went with this document, but I'll just ask you, for the record, if these are your answers, that's your signature, and that this verification is accurate?
A. That is my signature on there, yes.
Q. What was the e-mail address you used in the communication with Hans Mast?
A. Primarily it was pdulberg@comcast.net.
Q. His address was hansmast@comcast.net?
A. And he switched it to at&t.net.
Q. Did you use some other e-mail address as well?
A. I may have accidentally e-mailed him a couple of times from a Yahoo account.
Q. In answering discovery in our case, the legal malpractice case, did you search through both of those e-mail accounts of yours?

A. I no longer have the Yahoo account.
Q. Did you search through the Comcast account?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you search for PDFs or attachments to those e-mails that you produced?
A. Everything that I got, I turned over. I had converted the e-mails to PDFs because Comcast started purging the e-mails after so many years, so I turned them all into PDFs.
MS. WILLIAMS: The question was what did you search in your in box.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. What did I search?
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me ask you a different question. You produced e-mails in this case?
A. Yes.
Q. You turned e-mails into PDFs and sent them to your lawyer; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. Some of the e-mails I reviewed have an icon that indicates there was a PDF or some other attachment to the e-mail. Do you understand that?

Page 50

A. Yes.
Q. Did you produce the attachments to each of the e-mails in this case?
A. We went through that. I produced the attachments that I still had.
Q. There were some that were not available, correct?
A. Yeah. When I looked at them, 99 percent of them were already part of some other document that we turned over. I think 100 percent of them.
Q. At some point in time while Hans was handling your case, did he start to communicate with you relative to his analysis of the McGuires' liability in the case?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he start to generally advise you that he didn't believe that there was a strong case for liability against the McGuires?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that Hans' opinion was that the McGuires did not have liability in the case because they did not control the work that David Gagnon was doing?

Page 51

A. Yes.
Q. That's generally a fair summary of Hans' opinion?
A. Not quite exactly those words, but yeah.
Q. The McGuires' liability as property owners was questionable because based on Hans' analysis of the evidence, they did not control the work or the manner of work of David Gagnon on the date of the accident; is that a fair summary?
A. Depends on which time he said that.
Q. Did he say things like that over and over again?
A. He did say things like that, yes.
Q. Again, I don't want to go over the facts you already testified to with regards to the date of the accident. At some point in time was William McGuire swimming in the swimming pool?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that an above ground pool or –
A. Above ground.
Q. Was there a fair amount of time during the day that Mr. McGuire was inside the house watching television?
A. Maybe – he went inside the house for probably about 45 minutes before the accident happened. I don't know that he was watching television.

MR. FLYNN: Let's mark the next exhibit as 2.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 2, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 2, which is an e-mail chain including e-mails from November 18, 2013, are these e-mails between you and Hans Mast?
A. It looks like it, yes.
Q. I think the time stamps on these e-mails go from the bottom, which would be page 2, to the top of the first page, correct?
A. It's backwards, yes.
Q. In the original e-mail at 1:28 p.m., did Hans Mast relay to you a $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires?
A. Which – where are you at?
Q. We're on Exhibit 2, which is also labeled as Bates label POP 181. At the bottom of the page, does Hans relay to you a settlement offer for $5,000?

A. Yes.
Q. He was telling you that the McGuires' attorney offered to settle the case for $5,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding that that was a settlement just for the McGuires, not including David Gagnon?
A. Yes.
Q. In the e-mail Hans says, quote, "As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now."
Is that an accurate reading?
A. Of that sentence, yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that he suggested that you take the $5,000 but didn't force you to take it?
A. It says, "So my suggestion is..."
Q. Then did you respond to the e-mail?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans replied again at 8:07 p.m. that same day, right?
A. Yes.

Page 54

Q. He said, "Paul, whether you like it or not, they don't have a legal liability for your injury because they were not directing the work."
Is that right?
A. Part of it, yes.
Q. Was my prior summary of Hans' legal analysis a fair summary in view of these e-mails and his opinion that he relayed to you?
A. I think it went further than this, and other things, but yes.
Q. As far as these e-mails, I've accurately –
A. This e-mail, yes.
Q. What else did he tell you about the McGuires and why he didn't think they would be found liable in the case?
A. I'm pulling out of memory because I can't quote which document it's off of.
Q. That's what we're here for.
A. I can only give you the gist.
Q. I'll ask you for the exact language, but if you don't have it –
A. At one point he defined what an independent contractor is for me and he said that

Page 55

David was an independent contractor and that the McGuires weren't liable because they had hired somebody outside even though it's their own son, he's an adult, outside to do the work and that they weren't responsible.
Q. By the way, how old was David at the time that this accident occurred?
A. I'm adding. If I was 41 – I don't know what his birthday is, but I'm assuming he would be 44, 45.
Q. Is it fair to say that there were two 40-plus-year-olds, a 41- and a 44-year-old trimming trees with a chainsaw in David's parent's backyard that day, correct?
A. I was not using it. There was one 44-year-old using a chainsaw.
Q. You, the 41-year-old was holding some branches for him?
A. Yes. Just before the accident, yes.
Q. Up until this point in time when Hans is providing this legal analysis to you, you had a fair number of occasions to interact with lawyers, as we've discussed today, correct?
A. At this point, the only lawyer that I interacted with was the first one.

Q. I'm talking about in your lifetime. You had a corporate lawyer, you had a criminal lawyer, another personal injury lawyer –
A. I didn't hire –
Q. Let me finish. You had experience with lawyers representing you up to this point in time?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding that lawyers evaluate cases differently?
A. Yes.
Q. And judges evaluate cases differently?
A. Sure. That's fair.
Q. Would it be fair to say that some laws in our country are clearer and some are open to interpretation?
A. I think all of them are.
MS. WILLIAMS: Objection. Calls for speculation.
If you understand the question, you can answer it.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Would you say, for example, that the tax code is a little more clearcut than common law

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

that's created by cases and case precedent?
A. I'm not real familiar with tax law. I have accountants for that.
Q. How about an easier question. The stop sign means that you stop, and if you go through it, it's pretty clear that you're liable for a traffic violation?
A. I'll agree with that.
Q. The legal liability for a property owner in Illinois might be a little more complicated; is that a fair statement?
A. I don't know.
Q. Would it be fair to say, in your opinion or your knowledge of the law, the property owner isn't necessarily liable because somebody is injured on their property?
A. Are you talking about what I know now or what I knew back when this was?
Q. At any time.
A. What I know now is in the circumstances that we were in, they were very liable.
Q. I'm just asking if – just because somebody is injured on a property owner's property, they are not necessarily liable, correct? Other factors are required too.

MS. WILLIAMS: I'm going to object for – he's not an expert and can't testify to legal analysis.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. As you sit here today, do you know whether a premises liability case involves multiple factors to prove liability against the property owner?
A. I don't know. I'd say that's fair. You're asking the wrong person for that.
Q. It was Hans' opinion that the McGuires did not control the work based on the evidence, correct?
A. In my opinion?
Q. That's not what I'm asking.
Was it Hans' opinion –
A. I can't –
Q. Let me just finish.
Did Hans tell you that it was his opinion that the McGuires were not liable because they did not control the work?
A. He said that right there, yes.
Q. Do you believe that he truly felt that way? That was his legal opinion?

Page 59

A. Do you want the Monday morning quarterbacking version or at the time?
Q. I'm asking if at that time you felt that he truly believed that the McGuires did not have liability?
A. At the time I trusted him, yes. I hired him to represent me, and yeah.
Q. You believed that he was relying his honest legal opinion to you at that time?
A. Yes.
Q. Including on November 18, 2013?
A. Yes.
Q. You did not accept the settlement offer of $5,000 that he relayed to you on that day, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Did you ultimately meet with Hans to discuss the settlement offer?
A. I think it was the day before this, but I'm not sure. It was either the day before or the day after.
MS. WILLIAMS: I think the question was, did you meet with him, at all, not the date.

BY THE WITNESS:
A. Yes.
MR. FLYNN: Can we mark this as Exhibit 3, please.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 3, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 3. Do you recognize this memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. You may have seen it from the document production that we made in this case. This is a memorandum drafted by Hans Mast, which purportedly memorializes a meeting that he had with you on November 20, 2013.
Does this refresh your memory as to when you met with him or if you met with him?
A. If he took the memorandum on the same day, then sure.
Q. In the memo Hans says, "I met with Paul and his friend."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.

Q. Did you meet with Hans and some third person –
A. Yes.
Q. – at or about this time regarding the case?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that friend?
A. Tom Kost.
Q. Who is Tom Kost?
A. My brother.
Q. Not that it matters necessarily for privilege purposes, but can you tell me how Tom Kost is your brother?
A. We have the same mom.
Q. He was with you and observed the meeting between you and Hans?
A. Yes.
Q. The $5,000 settlement offer was discussed, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. At that time did Hans, again, relay his opinion as to the questionable liability about the McGuires – strike that.
Did he relay to you his opinion about the

Page 62

questionable nature of the McGuires' liability?
A. At the meeting with Tom, yes.
Q. He advised you they maintain they were not directing Dave's work. That was the McGuires' position, correct?
A. I don't know that he stayed on that at that meeting. At different times he gave different reasons.
Q. The next line says, "Paul maintains the McGuires controlled everything that Dave was doing."
Is that an accurate reflection of your opinion?
A. Yes.
Q. As you sit here today, do you know if that statement is consistent with your own deposition testimony from the underlying case?
A. Yes.
Q. We'll come back to that. Did you tell Hans that you wanted to read the depositions of the McGuires and David Gagnon's depositions?
A. Say that again.
Q. Did you tell Paul that you wanted to read the depositions of the McGuires and Dave Gagnon's depositions?

Page 63

A. Did I tell Paul?
Q. I'm sorry. Did you tell Hans that?
A. That I wanted to read the McGuires and David Gagnon's depositions?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What was the purpose of your wanting to review those depositions?
A. Hans had told me that what they said in their depositions meant that they had no liability.
Q. You wanted to review the testimony to determine whether you wanted to consider the $5,000 settlement offer; is that correct?
A. Right.
Q. Did you do that?
A. Eventually, yes.
Q. Before you accepted the offer?
A. I think so.
Q. So sometime after this meeting on November 20, 2013 and before you accepted the settlement offer on January 29, 2014, did you review those three deposition transcripts?
A. I'll correct you. I did not accept the offer on January 20th. I signed a release on

Page 64

January 29th.
Q. Fair point. Did you read the depositions between those two dates, November 20, 2013 and January 29, 2014?
A. Yes.
Q. Those are –
A. I believe I asked him -- I don't know – it may be a little earlier because I don't know that I asked him before or after the meeting. I don't remember. I'd have to go back in the e-mails to give the date.
Q. Some point in time between those two dates you read the deps?
A. I may have asked for them before. I don't know without seeing the e-mail. It was, roughly, in the last quarter of that year, yes. Or the first month. I don't remember the first time that I asked to read them. I don't remember off the top of my head.
Q. At any point in time did you ever grant Hans authority to make a settlement demand in the case?
A. No.
MR. FLYNN: Mark this as Exhibit 4.

BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 4. This is a copy of the original complaint in this instant case. It reflects a filing date of November 28, 2017.
Is this your original legal malpractice complaint against the Popovich firm and Hans Mast?
A. I believe so.
Q. Did you review and approve the allegations in this complaint?
A. For the most part. I wanted to reword some things, but the lawyer, they do their thing.
Q. At the time you were represented by the Gooch firm is when you filed this lawsuit, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Directing your attention back to Exhibit 1, if you still have it. If you could turn to page 10.
The answer to Interrogatory No. 24 indicates that on November 4, 2013, Mast was granted authority to investigate a settlement but a specific dollar amount was never provided. Do you see that?

A. He was verbally granted authority to investigate, yes.
Q. Who did you want him to investigate a settlement with?
A. The McGuires.
Q. Just the McGuires or the McGuires and –
A. He wanted to do it. I didn't. I said, "If you want to look at that, go ahead."
Q. Did you grant him authority to investigate a settlement with David Gagnon as well?
A. I don't know if I did or not, off the top of my head, but that would have been much later.
Q. Eventually did you tell Hans that you would agree to accept the $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires?
A. Eventually did I tell him that?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. When did you tell him that?
A. I want to say just before Christmas in December of 2013.
Q. There's no doubt in your mind that you relayed your acceptance of the $5,000 settlement offer to Hans Mast before Christmas Day, which would be December 25, 2013?

A. Right.
Q. Then did Hans mail to you a settlement release by letter dated January 24, 2014?
A. I'd like to see the letter, but yeah, I believe so.
Q. I believe it's –
A. I believe he had to mail it a couple times because I didn't get it.
MR. FLYNN: Let's mark Exhibit 5.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 5, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 5. I'll represent to you that this is a copy of the second amended complaint that you filed in this case by your new lawyers, your current lawyers. If I could direct your attention to Exhibit D attached to this Exhibit 5.
Is Exhibit D a January 24, 2014 cover letter from Hans Mast to you enclosing the general release and settlement agreement from defense counsel for Caroline and Bill McGuire?

A. That's what it says.
Q. In the letter did he ask you to – it looks like it might be a typo. It says, "Please release and return it to me in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope at your earliest convenience."
A. Right, but I believe it was just a release – it was all tied into one.
Q. This letter is unsigned. Did you receive the letter unsigned?
A. Did I receive this unsigned?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever seen a signed copy of this letter?
A. No.
Q. If I could direct your attention to the next page of Exhibit D. Is that page 1 of the general release and settlement agreement?
A. Exhibit D?
Q. Correct.
MS. WILLIAMS: Turn the page.

Q. Is this what you received attached to the cover letter?
A. I don't think so. Let me see. Yes, this looks like it because it's got these things I remember.
Q. When did you receive this letter and the attachment?
A. I would say I wrote back on January 29th and I probably got it that day, signed it and sent it back.
Q. The copy of the release is also unsigned. It's attached as exhibit -- part of Exhibit D to your second amended complaint.
Do you see the signature lines and the notary signature here that's missing?
A. Yes.
Q. Is this the document that you signed and sent back to Hans Mast?
A. The document that I signed had my signature.
Q. I'm asking if this is the same document that you signed and sent back to him?
A. Yes.

Page 70

Q. Right now we don't have a signed copy. I don't know that I've seen one in the case.
MS. WILLIAMS: Can we go off the record for a second?
MR. FLYNN: Sure.
(WHEREUPON, discussion was had off the record.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Is there any doubt, in your mind, that Exhibit D is the letter and attachment that you received from Hans Mast?
A. No. I believe that this is it.
Q. You signed some copy of this release and sent it back to Hans on January 29; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You accepted the settlement offer prior to Christmas and presumably defense counsel or Hans drafted the settlement release and then Hans mailed it to you, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. At any point in time from December 25th until you received this settlement release, did you contact any lawyer to discuss whether it would be appropriate to let the McGuires out for 5,000?

Page 71

A. I believe I contacted Hans again.
Q. Besides Hans, did you talk to anyone else?
A. No.
Q. Was there anything preventing you from seeking a second opinion from some other lawyer at that time?
A. No.
Q. Directing your attention to Exhibit E attached to the second amended complaint, the second amended complaint, again, being Exhibit 5. Is this an e-mail from you to Hans on January 29, 2014?
A. This is the e-mail chain between me and Hans, yes.
Q. Down below at the bottom of the page, January 29 at 10:51 a.m., it appears that you were questioning Hans regarding some of the language in the release, including social security disability check boxes. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans responded to you and then at the top of the page here at 1:59 p.m. it says, "Okay, it's signed and in the mail."
A. Correct.

Page 72

Q. What did you mean by that?
A. I signed it and mailed it.
Q. Did you -- where did you mail it from?
A. My home.
Q. How did you do that?
A. Put a stamp on the envelope and put it in the mailbox, put the flag up and waited for the mailman.
Q. Is the mailbox attached to your home or is it --
A. It's out on the street.
Q. You walked down there and you put the mail -- the envelope in the mailbox, put the flag up and --
A. That is correct.
Q. Your understanding of signing that release and sending it back to your lawyer was that you would agree to take the $5,000 settlement, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans didn't deliver the letter to you personally. He mailed it to you, correct?
A. He mailed it to me?
Q. He mailed it to you.

A. Correct. U.S. mail.
Q. Do you recall an allegation in your complaint or amended complaint or second amended complaint in this case alleging that you were pressured or alleging undue influence by Hans in urging you to accept the $5,000 settlement from the McGuires?
A. Yes.
Q. How is it, as you sit here today, can you tell me how Hans unduly influenced you to accept the $5,000 settlement offer?
A. I don't know what Hans was thinking. How did I feel influenced?
Q. Unduly influenced.
Let me put it this way. He didn't put a gun to your head?
A. No.
Q. He suggested that you take the settlement?
A. Correct.
Q. He didn't force you to take the settlement?
A. Correct.
Q. It was your decision?

Page 74

A. Correct.
Q. You signed it and you sent it back to him in the mail?
A. Yes.
Q. Aside from your e-mails with Hans on January 29, did you call him that day?
A. I believe so.
Q. Did you also discuss whether it was appropriate to accept the McGuires' $5,000 settlement offer at that time?
A. Yes.
Q. You deliberated on it and decided to take it, correct?
A. There wasn't much – it was take it or get nothing.
Q. You had the opportunity to deliberate on it, correct?
A. For that day, yeah.
Q. You had reviewed the transcripts of the McGuire depositions and David Gagnon's depositions in order to provide you with some information in order to determine whether to accept the settlement offer, correct?
A. I believe I did try to read those, yes.

Page 75

Q. Did you call Hans or e-mail him and question him with respect to the evidence, the testimony contained in those deposition transcripts?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you say to him and what did he say to you?
A. There were many conversations over the phone and I'm sure some through e-mails.
Q. He continued to tell you that it was his opinion that the liability on the McGuires is questionable because they did not control David Gagnon's work that day, correct?
A. It depends on which time. Sometimes he said because they didn't tell them how to squeeze the trigger. It depends which time you are talking about.
Q. Again, there was nothing preventing you from seeking a second opinion from some other lawyer at the time you signed the settlement release and sent it back to Hans, correct?
A. From the time I received it, signed it and sent it back?
Q. Right.
A. No. It was a matter of hours. I got it

Page 76

that morning.
Q. You decided to mail it that day, right?
A. He needed it. He said now or you're not going to get anything.
Q. There was nothing preventing you from seeking the advice of another attorney at that time?
A. At that time it was time. It was now or nothing.
Q. You were in the comfort of your own house when you received the letter, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You had the ability to go find another lawyer and ask them to discuss the case at that time. You had done it hundreds of times earlier – strike that.
After the settlement with the McGuires, you continued to prosecute the case against Gagnon, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding as to what, if any, insurance coverage he had?
A. Yes.
Q. How much was that?
A. What time frame are you talking about?

Page 77

Q. What was your initial understanding as to the limits on David Gagnon's insurance coverage?
A. Hans Mast told me he had $100,000.
Q. Was that in an e-mail?
A. There were – not initially, no, but later on he reiterated that in e-mails, yes.
Q. Did you, ultimately, learn that there was some additional amount of coverage with respect to Gagnon's policy?
A. Long after Hans Mast was gone, not part of the case.
Q. How much was the coverage?
A. The Allstate coverage, I believe, was 300,000.
Q. We'll talk about the settlement later, but did you ultimately settle the case again Gagnon for 300,000?
A. I believe it went to binding mediation.
Q. Was there an award of $300,000 based on a high/low agreement?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that if Hans made a mistake about the $100,000 in coverage, that that was corrected and there was never any harm done as a result of his –

A. No.
Q. Explain to me how you were harmed by the representation that there was $100,000 in coverage.
A. You want me to explain?
Q. Yes.
A. Had I known the value of the case, I would have not filed for bankruptcy.
Q. Explain to me why one has something to do with the other.
A. Is my family and me going to dump money into a black hole that we can't recover or is there a light at the end of the tunnel where I can pay them back.
Q. At the time that you filed for bankruptcy, had any settlement offer been made from David Gagnon or his lawyers to you?
A. At the time of when?
Q. When you filed for bankruptcy.
A. I don't think so. I'd have to check the dates, but I don't think so.
Q. As the case was progressing against David Gagnon, were your doctors deposed?
A. As the case progressed with David Gagnon,

Page 79

I believe they were deposed. I don't remember. I'd have to look at the dates.
Q. Discovery continued on in the case?
A. I believe one doctor was deposed after the McGuire settlement. I'm not sure, though.
Q. Did Hans continue to represent you for some period of time?
A. Yes.
MR. FLYNN: I'll have you mark this as Exhibit 6.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 6, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 6. Do you recognize this e-mail chain?
A. Yes.
Q. This is from September 23, 2014. If we go from the bottom up, it appears that Hans said to you that he wanted to give you the option of finding other counsel at this point if you really want to take the case to trial, which I think ultimately will be necessary. Correct?
A. Are we at "before I proceed" or "that's the very reason"?

Q. "That's the very reason."
Is it fair to say he was suggesting you find another counsel in the case at that point?
A. Yes.
Q. He also said, "I just do not believe strongly that defense counsel will offer much in the way of settlement."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. That's his opinion regardless of what he believed the coverage limits to be; is that a fair statement?
A. Yes.
Q. You responded to him, he responded to you and then you wrote an e-mail to him at 8:25 p.m. that night?
A. Okay.
Q. Do you see that? Did you say, "First, I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to help prove David cut me with a chainsaw"?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you start to look for other lawyers to help you in your case against Gagnon at that point in time?

A. I believe I did, that summer. This is fall, September.
Q. You had already started looking for new lawyers?
A. I believe that Hans had told me to start looking for a new lawyer in April of that year.
Q. Did he say why?
A. We'd have to read his thing. He says why.
Q. Do you recall why he said that to you?
A. He did not feel that the case was provable against David. He did not feel the value of the case was worth it. He did not feel -- actually, this is 2014. The dates are rough.
Q. He thought the case against David was difficult, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever described the case as a he said, she said with respect to the facts of the accident?
A. He described that to me many times.
Q. Have you also --
A. And I used that back, yes.

Page 82

Q. Have you ever described this case as a he said, she said case?
A. I may have. I don't know.
Q. It is your word against David Gagnon's as to what happened and whose fault it was that day?
A. That's what Hans explained to me as what the problem was.
Q. Did you ever describe the accident as a he said, she said?
A. I don't think I called David a "she said" or me a "she said." I don't know. Right here I do.
Q. What do you say there?
A. I said, "I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to help prove David cut me with a chainsaw."
Q. He was denying that he even cut you, correct?
A. No, he never denied that.
Q. What was your reason for writing this sentence in that way?
A. Because Hans said that he believed David over me.
Q. With respect to what fact at issue?
A. His deposition versus mine. He said that I didn't make a good witness.

Page 83

Q. With respect to what points?
A. All of it. He was dumping me and he was coming up with his own excuses.
Q. You and David were the only ones that witnessed this accident?
A. Correct.
Q. Based on your understanding of how the evidence came out in the case, would you agree that there were differences with respect to the version of events?
A. Oh, yeah.
Q. There were differences between what he said happened and what you said happened?
A. Oh, definitely.
Q. Would it be fair to say, then, it would be up to the trier of fact, whether it be a judge or a jury, to determine who they believed?
MS. WILLIAMS: Objection. Calls for a legal conclusion.
You can answer, if you understand.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I believe it would be up to a judge or jury, sure.

Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 7. Is this an e-mail chain between you and Hans?
A. I don't think it's a chain. I think it's one.
Q. Point is well taken. It's you writing to Hans?
A. Yes.
Q. At the bottom it sounds like you had been in the hospital with a migraine and then you wrote, "Bottom line, Hans... do the best you can with what you got."
A. Yes.

A. He wanted to settle, and I can tell you right now this letter was written after a very traumatic experience and – let me read it and refresh myself. I'm melting down in this letter.
Q. You said after a traumatic experience. Are you referring to the bankruptcy filing from that day?
A. That, in combination with migraines, yes.
Q. David Stretch was your lawyer that filed bankruptcy for you?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you meet with Mr. Stretch and discuss the bankruptcy process before you hired him?
A. Yes.
Q. How long did you meet with him?
A. I think I asked about it. I don't know. It may have been a couple of months or a couple weeks before it got filed. I wanted to learn about it.
Q. Did you, ultimately, list the case against David Gagnon as an asset in your bankrupt filing?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. Is that why the bankruptcy trustee became involved with the binding mediation?

Page 86

A. Yes.
Q. Did you ever meet the bankruptcy trustee?
A. Yes. The first one.
Q. What was the name of that person?
A. The first one was Heeg was her last name. H-e-e-g, I think.
Q. Again, we established that Brad Balke became your lawyer in the case on March 19, 2015, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that your relationship with Hans Mast was deteriorating over the fall and beginning of the winter of 2015?
A. I would say it had been deteriorating long before that. You can see from the last exhibit I'm melting down and it was already started deteriorating.
Q. By the time you drafted Exhibit 7, had you talked to other lawyers about taking your case?
A. I have to go back and look, but probably. If he told me to look at other lawyers in April before this, yes.
Q. How many lawyers would you say you talked to between April and the time you drafted this e-mail on September 26?

A. I couldn't count that high, probably.
Q. Quite a few?
A. Yeah.
Q. Did any of them take your case?
A. No.
MR. FLYNN: Mark this as Exhibit 8.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 8, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 8. Is this an e-mail from you to Hans Mast?
A. Yes. It's an e-mail chain, yes.
Q. On February 22, 2015 at 7:42 p.m. you wrote to Hans, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Halfway down in that e-mail message you said, quote, "Now I'm left wondering... how hard it is to sue an attorney?"
A. That is true.
Q. You wrote that?
A. Yes.

Page 88

Q. The next line you wrote, "And yes, I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case..."
A. That is not in reference to suing the attorney. That was in reference to the Gagnon case.
Q. What did the reference to suing an attorney mean?
A. That was me being angry.
Q. With Hans?
A. Yes. I was seeing red.
Q. You're suggesting that you may sue him?
A. Yeah. I didn't know that I could. I'm wondering about it.
Q. You, basically, made a threat, whether it be a veiled threat or an overt threat to sue him, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You, ultimately, sued him for legal malpractice, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that what you had in mind when you wrote this?
A. No. This was about dropping Gagnon. The malpractice is about dropping the McGuires.

Q. This –
A. We're talking – this is 2015.
Q. In this 2015 e-mail you are suggesting to Hans that you may sue him because of the McGuire settlement; is that right?
A. No.
Q. Then what is it that you're saying to him?
A. That if he damaged the Gagnon case, I didn't know if he did or didn't, and I'm threatening because I'm angry. You can see, again, I'm melting down here. These are emotional outbursts, I guess.
Q. Moving up the page a little bit also on February 22, 2015 at 8:14 p.m., you say, "To be honest, you took this case knowing it was my word versus his."
A. Yes.
Q. He said, he said, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that a fair characterization of the case, your word against David's?
A. That's how Hans kept describing it. That's the way I put it back to him, yes.
Q. You didn't correct him or dispute his characterization, did you?

Page 90

A. No. I used his characterization.
Q. You agreed with it?
A. He said – how did it go? We had conversations between these e-mails on the phone. Then we would hang up and I would get angry and type it in an e-mail, type whatever it was that bothered me so he had it.
Q. Let me ask another question, if that's okay.
Did you ever correct Hans if he called this a he said, he said case? Did you ever say it's more than that?
A. Do I ever say it's more than that?
Q. Did you ever correct him? If he said it's a he said, he said case, did you say no, that's not right?
A. He said there's no witnesses. I said, "I'm a witness."
Q. You're one of the hes. It's your word against David Gagnon's, as you said in this e-mail?
A. Yes.
MR. FLYNN: If I could have you mark that as Exhibit 9.

BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Exhibit 9, is that Brad Balke's substitute appearance that was filed on March 19, 2015 in the case against Gagnon?
A. It looks like it, yes.
Q. Back to Exhibit 5, which is the second amended complaint. If I could direct your attention to Exhibit F. This appears to be a more complete copy of another e-mail we just talked about. Is Exhibit F more of the February 22, 2015 e-mail chain?
A. I'm not sure if that's separate or the same. Oh, it looks like it.
Q. At 7:20 p.m. Hans wrote to you and said, "Paul, I can no longer represent you in the case. We obviously have differences of opinion as to the value of the case."
Right?
A. Yes.
Q. He says, "I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them."

Page 92

Correct?
A. That's what it says.
Q. Obviously, a difference of opinion, right?
A. Yes. Are you talking about difference of opinion as to the value or difference of opinion of the problems within the case?
Q. Let's go on. He says, "You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear, it is not. My guess is that seven out of ten times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I've been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to."
Did I accurately read that?
A. Just that part of that paragraph, yes.
Q. So Hans is telling you that in his opinion your case against Gagnon you're going to lose it seven out of ten times, correct?
A. In this one, yes.
Q. He's acknowledging that you may have a chance.

A. I think later on he says nine out of ten.
Q. In this e-mail he says seven out of ten you will lose.
A. Yes.
Q. He's recognizing three times out of ten you may win, right?
A. I don't know what Hans is thinking.
Q. Is that what he said?
A. He says seven out of ten times you lose.
Q. You understood that there are risks in taking the case to trial that you could lose?
A. There are unforeseen risks, yes.
Q. There are always risks, period, in taking a case to trial?
A. Yes.
Q. Before you hired Brad Balke and after Hans told you he couldn't represent you, did you talk to any other lawyers about taking your case?
A. Yes.
Q. How many?
A. I can't tell you. A lot.
Q. Did any of them tell you that they wouldn't take the case because they didn't think you could prevail against Gagnon?

Page 94

A. No.
Q. Not one?
A. No.
Q. What are the names of any of the lawyers you talked to about taking your case over from Popovich?
A. I can't tell you without looking at documents who it was and what date it was, what it was between these two.
Q. I don't think documents I produced would help you in that regard.
I'll just ask you based on your memory the names of any lawyers you met with from the time Hans wrote this February 22 e-mail –
A. I believe –
Q. Let me finish.
A. I believe –
MS. WILLIAMS: He has not finished his question.
THE WITNESS: Sorry.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. From the time that Hans wrote this February 22 e-mail and the time that Brad Balke enters an appearance on March 19. Just the name of any lawyer you –

Page 95

A. I believe that Sal Ferris that I was talking about was one of the lawyers that I talked to.
Q. You're not sure? You believe that he was?
A. In between this time and this time?
Q. Yes.
A. I believe it's right around then.
Q. What type of law practice does Sal Ferris have?
A. I believe personal injury.
Q. Did you ever talk to him about taking your case before that date?
A. Before the date of this e-mail?
Q. Yes.
A. I'd have to look at it.
Q. He wasn't one of the original attorneys that you spoke with at the beginning of the case?
A. No.
Q. Fair to say once Balke entered his appearance on March 19, 2015 that Mast and Popovich were no longer your attorneys, correct?

Page 96

A. When Balke enters his appearance?
Q. Yes.
A. I would believe that, yes.
Q. They were terminated and Balke stepped in?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you tell me how the binding mediation which proceeded on December 8, 2015 evolved and came to be.
A. I was ordered into it from a bankruptcy court.
Q. Why is that?
A. I believe that the trustee put a motion up. I don't know who did it. I assume it was the trustee and the court ordered that it be put into binding mediation.
Q. Did you appear at the mediation?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall the name of the mediator?
A. Not off the top of my head, no.
Q. One of the exhibits to your second amended complaint indicates it was retired Judge James Etchingham.
A. That sounds familiar.

Page 97

Q. Do you recall how long the mediation lasted?
A. All day.
Q. Do you know if the parties submitted mediation briefs or statements to the judge?
A. I believe both sides submitted a whole bunch of things.
Q. The Boudins represented you in this mediation?
A. Yes.
Q. Because you had fired Balke by this point?
A. Oh, yes.
Q. Directing your attention, again, to Exhibit 5, the second amended complaint and Exhibit G. Exhibit G is, apparently, a memorialization of the mediation award. Do you see that?
A. It's how the judge decided to break it down, yes.
Q. Do you see that there's an award for future medical expenses of $200,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Since that date of December 8, 2015, have you received any medical treatment relative to your injuries –

Page 98

A. Yes.
Q. Let me finish. Strike the question.
Since that date, December 8, 2015, have you received any medical treatment for your injuries incurred on January 28, 2011?
A. You're asking since the date of the binding mediation?
Q. That's right.
A. Yes.
Q. What medical treatment have you received?
A. I do an ongoing with the neurologist for the dystonia.
Q. That's in your right arm?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you calculated the medical bills that you've incurred since that day?
A. No, I have not.
Q. Are they anywhere near $200,000?
A. It depends if you calculate with or without insurance. I know what I pay, but then I have to pay for the insurance that pays for that.
Q. How much have you paid out of pocket since that date for medical treatment on your arm?

Page 99

A. I don't know, offhand.
Q. Was there any doctor that opined that you would require $200,000 in future medical expenses?
A. I believe so.
Q. Who was that?
A. I believe that was Dr. Patel. I don't know that she said $200,000. She was the doctor that was handling it at the time.
Q. Did you discuss your injury with the mediator at the mediation?
A. He did ask me a few questions.
Q. How much time did you spend with him?
A. On and off. He would come in and ask me questions and then go away and then come in and would ask me questions and then go away.
I don't remember which one was the mediator, which one was the Allstate adjuster, which one was the – I don't remember.
Q. You're not sure which one was the mediator?
A. They came in and they said they are going to ask you some questions and I answered them.
Q. As you sit here today, you don't know how much face time you had with the mediator that day?

Page 100

A. I don't remember the face of which one is which.
Q. Did the issue of lost wages ever come up?
A. At the mediation with me?
Q. Yes.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you ever make a claim of lost wages of $250,000?
A. I may have.
Q. Do you know what that was based on?
A. Yeah.
Q. What is that based on?
A. Past and future.
Q. What past wages had you ever earned that could lead to an award of $250,000?
A. To me, that's not a very high number. I think I asked for more than that. It would be an average over a certain number of years plus benefits and that's all lost.
Q. Would it be fair to say that your income would be accurately reflected in the tax returns you've produced in this case, so I don't want to ask you about each one of them?
A. I would say my personal income, yeah.

Page 101

Q. Have you filed personal tax returns since 2015?
A. Tried.
Q. I didn't ask you if you tried.
A. No. They won't let me. They said I don't make enough anymore.
MR. FLYNN: I believe the next exhibit is 10.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 10, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 10. This is a six-page binding mediation agreement. The copy I have is unsigned.
Do you recognize this as the mediation agreement that governed your December 8, 2016 mediation?
A. Yes.
Q. If I could direct your attention to -- first, let me ask you.
Do you know why the bankruptcy trustee or the bankruptcy court ordered binding mediation as opposed to nonbinding?
A. I have no idea.

Q. On page 4, section F, subsection B -- I'm sorry, 1B. It says, "The parties agree that for this mediation the minimum award to Paul Dulberg will be $50,000. Also, the maximum award to Paul Dulberg will be $300,000."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know why the parties agreed to this high/low agreement?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall alleging in your original complaint against Popovich that there was a high/low agreement?
A. There is. There was.
MS. WILLIAMS: Can you repeat the question, please.
(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter as requested.)
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I don't know. I'd have to read it.
MS. WILLIAMS: I asked her to read it. And you had answered it previously.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Directing your attention back to

Page 103

Exhibit 4, which is the original complaint in this case. Page 4, paragraph 16.
A. Okay.
Q. There's a sentence that begins with, "Unfortunately, a high/low agreement had been executed by Dulberg reducing the maximum account he could recover to $300,000 based upon the insurance policy available."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It's not your position or testimony that Popovich had anything to do with the high/low agreement?
A. That was a mistake in there. No.
Q. You would agree that Popovich had nothing to do with the high/low agreement?
A. I believe that events that unfolded the way they did was due to Hans Mast's initial assessment of the value of the case.
Q. Let me ask it a different way.
Did Popovich have any idea that this high/low agreement existed when it was entered into?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that he did?

A. I don't know. I don't know how much the Boudins were in contact with them because they worked together. I don't know.
Q. What do you mean, "they worked together"?
A. They worked together on all different cases. That's a small county out there.
Q. Did you ever write to Hans and accuse Popovich of having a conflict of interest because he may have gone to high school with David Gagnon?
A. I did learn that.
Q. Do you believe the fact that someone went to high school with another person may give rise to a conflict of interest in a lawsuit?
A. I was shooting in the dark and guessing why they didn't see this as a viable case.
Q. Do you think that was appropriate to send to your lawyer at the time?
A. When you're wondering why they are doing what they are doing and you learn that and they were pretty much in the same class and they all knew each other and it's a small town, let me ask you, are you friends with the guy I'm suing? That's an appropriate question.

Page 105

Q. You didn't say that. You asked if they went to school together.
A. Correct.
Q. Popovich did not enter into this high/low agreement on your behalf, correct?
A. Popovich, no.
Q. When I say "Popovich," I mean generally the Popovich firm and your lawyers.
A. This was years later. No.
Q. They had nothing to do with it, right?
A. I wouldn't say anything to do with it.
Q. Withdrawn.
Who drafted this high/low agreement that's contained in the mediation agreement?
A. I'm not sure who drafted it.
Q. Would it have been either the mediator, the bankruptcy trustee, your lawyers or the defense attorneys?
A. I assume that this would have been an agreement of all of them.
Q. You don't think Popovich had anything to do with drafting this high/low agreement, do you?
A. I don't know that he did or didn't.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that he did?

A. At this point, no.
Q. Continuing on in Exhibit 4. Directing your attention to the bottom of page 4, paragraph 10.
A. Exhibit 4. Say it again.
Q. The bottom of page 4, paragraph 20. This is your complaint against Popovich and Mast.
A. This has been amended since then.
Q. I understand. Paragraph 20 reads, "Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the high/low agreement contained therein and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading and that, in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you tell me, as you sit here today, what false and misleading information did Mast and Popovich give you?
A. That I realized on the day of the – following the execution of the mediation agreement?

Page 107

Q. Correct.
A. The liability of the McGuires.
Q. What was false about it?
A. What made them liable and what didn't.
Q. What is it you learned to dispute what you were told?
A. I learned from a reliability expert that had the report there that day that the McGuires provided the tools which made Gagnon an agent of the McGuires. He was working at their behest.
Q. Who was this liability expert?
A. What's his name?
Q. He's a doctor?
A. Yes.
Q. Continue on with that paragraph. "Following mediation, Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016."
Do you see that allegation?
A. Yeah.
Q. Who advised you to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters?

Page 108

A. I believe that was Boudin.
Q. You believe that or you know that?
A. I know that.
Q. You alleged it in this complaint so it's important that we know who that was.
A. Yes, that was Boudin.
Q. Boudin told you to seek an independent opinion from an attorney that handles malpractice matters?
A. Yes.
Q. It says you received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.
A. Yes.
Q. That's separate and apart from any opinion you may have received from a liability expert, a doctor, an expert on chainsaws?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was the lawyer that you received a legal opinion from on December 16, 2016?
A. I believe that would be Thomas Gooch.
Q. The drafter of this complaint?
A. I'd have to look at the dates because I think – December 8th was the mediation; is that right?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 109

Q. Correct.
A. So the 16th would sound about right to be meeting with Gooch, but I can get that date.
Q. You met with Gooch –
A. Soon, within weeks. It was quick.
Q. Now that the door has been opened, you fired Gooch in this case, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. He drafted this complaint and he's also the one that gave you an opinion about legal malpractice liability on the part of my clients?
A. Yes.
Q. What is it that he told you on December 16, 2016?
MS. WILLIAMS: Objection. I don't think we've waived that privilege, but – can we go off the record for a second?
MR. FLYNN: I don't want to go off the record. I've asked this interrogatory in about five different ways and it hasn't been answered appropriately.
The allegation was made in the complaint. That's why I drafted the interrogatory the way I did. I don't think that there's been a square answer to it. This is clear that you're talking about a legal opinion.

BY THE WITNESS:
Q. Is this the same wording as we have in the current complaint?
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. It's not exactly.
A. What would this be valid for, then?
Q. You've raised a response to a statute of limitations defense in this case and placed your knowledge of the malpractice and the date of incurring of an injury at issue.
Because your discovery of malpractice has been placed at issue, it's our position that you've waived privilege anyhow with respect to this conversation on December 16, 2016.
A. I'm not sure –
MS. WILLIAMS: There's not a question pending. I'm going to make a standing objection as to privilege with Gooch.
If we can agree that that objection will stand, we can go through this line of questioning and then if we need to later, have a judge determine whether or not that line of questioning is admissible. Are you agreeable to that?

MR. FLYNN: I'm agreeable to continuing on for a few minutes. I want to explore. I'll try to lay foundation for – to confirm this wasn't anyone else, for starters. Why don't we continue on and if you need to raise it again, we can talk.
MS. WILLIAMS: Otherwise, I'm just going to raise it to every single question you ask. I just don't want to have to continue to make the objection as to – if questions are asked about advice given by a legal malpractice attorney, I'm going to raise an objection as to that.
MR. FLYNN: Okay. But this is why we had the 201K conferences, multiple 201K conferences. It was made clear, to me, that there was a waiver with respect to subsequent counsel.
MS. WILLIAMS: Tom Gooch isn't subsequent counsel.
MR. FLYNN: The allegation has been made in this complaint and apparently this is subsequent counsel subsequent to my client's representation.
MS. WILLIAMS: It is a different case. It's not subsequent counsel in the underlying case. It's a new case.

Page 112

MR. FLYNN: We'll get to the interrogatory in a few minutes. I'll pull that out.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me ask you. Is there any other attorney besides Mr. Gooch that gave you an opinion that's referenced here on December 16?
A. No one that isn't privileged.
Q. Could it have been anyone else?
A. No.
Q. So Gooch is the only person that's being referenced here in this allegation that's in your complaint that's a public record?
I'm not asking you right now what the opinion is. I'm going to do that later. I'm asking you who gave it to you. It's not anyone besides Mr. Gooch, correct?
A. Yes. It was Thomas Gooch.
Q. He drafted the very complaint that that allegation is contained in?
A. Yes.
Q. Dr. Landford was the liability expert that you referenced earlier, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Back to the allegation that Gooch and – that Popovich and Mast provided you false and misleading information. That information was simply their legal opinion on the McGuires' liability; isn't that correct?

A. No. There was nothing simple about that. That's a very complex series of things that go all the way back to before the McGuire settlement.
Q. They didn't lie to you, did they?
A. It depends on how you define lie.
Q. How do you define lie?
A. If you know better and you say something else, that's a lie. Omission is a lie.
Q. Did they provide you with anything other than a legal opinion as to the McGuires' liability?
A. Yes. They provided me with case laws. They provided me with all different stuff. Yes.
Q. Whatever the advice that was given to you on December 16, 2016, you felt that you were mislead by Popovich and Mast at that point in time, correct?
A. At that point in time it was confirmed to me that I had a valid case against Popovich.
Q. You had a valid malpractice case against Popovich?
A. Yes. I did not know before that.

Page 114

Q. As of December 16, 2016?
A. Yes.
Q. Why is it that you didn't file that lawsuit until nearly a year later on November 28, 2017?
A. I believe because Thomas Gooch had some health issues and then his wife had some health issues. It took a while.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 11, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I'm handing you what has been marked as Exhibit 11. This is one set of your supplemental Answers to Interrogatories.
First, I'll ask you if that is your verification and signature at the end?
A. That is my signature.
Q. Again, I don't know if that verification was attached to this original document. It may have been. But there's been some confusion with respect to these verification pages. This is your signature and you answered these interrogatories, correct?
A. Yeah.

Page 115

Q. So this is a valid verification page with respect to this discovery document; is that a fair statement?
A. This is supplemental to original answers.
Q. That's your signature and you agree these are your answers?
A. I've reviewed them and we went over them and yes, I agree.
Q. And they are accurate?
A. As accurate as we can be.
Q. If I could direct your attention to Interrogatory No. 26. Do you see that?
A. Okay. Yes, I see it.
Q. This is similar to what we just talked about a few minutes ago. I'll read the interrogatory to you. "Identify and describe the false and misleading information Mast and Popovich provided to you and explain how you realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information was false and misleading and the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake as alleged in paragraph 56 of your second amended complaint."
Do you see your supplemental answer here?

Page 116

A. I see it, yes.
Q. You reference the mediation award and then you state, quote, "At that time Dulberg realized that Mast's advice to settle with the McGuires for $5,000 was incorrect because Mast had cited Dulberg being able to recover in full from Gagnon as his reasoning."
A. I do.
Q. Can you explain what that means because I don't quite understand it.
A. Hans Mast assured me — I want to go back to 2013, the Fall between October and the signature of the final release for the McGuires.
He assured me that, he said -- at that time he didn't tell me what anybody's policies were. He assured me that if we let the McGuires out of the case, Gagnon has enough insurance, you're going to get everything from him, so it doesn't matter that you're carrying the McGuires in the case.
Q. The next interrogatory is 27. "Identify and describe the expert opinions provided to you in December 2016 as alleged in paragraph 57 of your second amended complaint including the identity of the expert, any opinions and any other information provided by the expert which caused you to learn in the summer of 2016 and became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent you."

What does the summer of 2016 have to do with your discovery of malpractice?

A. Technically, I was sent Dr. Landford's report – I might be off a little by a couple months here, but I think in July of that year. And I read it, but I didn't – you don't catch everything the first time you read it.

It was not until later that I caught the part of the report that was brought to the attention – it caught my eye when I was sitting there and reading it.

Q. You didn't read any of this interrogatory or the original interrogatory as requesting legal opinions that you had alleged that gave you notice that there was a malpractice claim against Mast and Popovich?

A. Excuse me?

MR. FLYNN: Can you read that back.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter as requested.)

Page 118

BY THE WITNESS:

A. The way she said it, I don't understand.

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. I'll rephrase it.

We've known about this allegation in the original complaint since it was filed. You received some legal opinion in 2016. That's why you didn't know you had a malpractice case against Mast and Popovich.

We asked you in discovery answers a couple different ways what those legal opinions are. You didn't read 26 and 27 as requesting information about legal opinions?

A. I don't know that an expert witness would be considered a legal opinion. Wouldn't that be more like an attorney?

Q. I'll ask you again. Why is it that you first became aware of a legal malpractice matter against Mast and Popovich on or about December 16, 2016?

A. December 16th I was talking to a legal malpractice attorney.

Q. You were told that there was a case against –

Page 119

A. A valid case, yes.

Q. – Mast and Popovich?

A. Yes.

Q. Why is it you didn't know about this valid case prior to that date?

A. Because I hadn't talked to anybody that was a lawyer that specialized in that area.

Q. Whatever it is that he said to you gave you the basis for believing you had a valid case against Mast and Popovich?

A. Very much so, yes.

Q. You're withholding that information from me right now, as we sit here. You won't tell me what that expert said, correct?

MS. WILLIAMS: Repeat the question.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter as requested.)

MS. WILLIAMS: I'm asserting attorney-client privilege on behalf of my client for Gooch's advice on December – in December of 2016.

However, because I want to move forward with this deposition, if he can answer the question, I believe we should go ahead and move forward and have him answer the question.

Page 120

I'll assert the privilege with the understanding that this may have to be briefed later.

MR. FLYNN: To be stricken later?

MS. WILLIAMS: Right.

MR. FLYNN: The substance of the answer he can put on the record. You're just saying you may move to strike it later?

MS. WILLIAMS: Right. I want to maintain the privilege with the objection, but I don't want to have to call the judge right now. I don't think it's something we should have to call the judge about right now.

MR. FLYNN: Just for the record, I believe it's been placed at issue by virtue of the first amended complaint. The responses to the statute of limitation defenses that were raised in very dispositive motions before Gooch withdrew from the case, the gist of that is the discovery rule has been raised and, therefore, it's our position that the date of discovery has been placed at issue and, accordingly, any legal opinions that were provided to this plaintiff have been exposed and that we're entitled to know what those are.

Page 121

MS. WILLIAMS: Can I also note one more thing?
MR. FLYNN: Sure.
MS. WILLIAMS: In the supplemental -- in the request it specifically refers to paragraph 57 of the second amended complaint, which is different.
MR. FLYNN: It is different. I'll acknowledge that. I believe that the prior original interrogatories asked for any opinions relative to the discovery of the malpractice. I could be wrong. There was a reason I asked this and that's why I believe that's what it was about.
MS. WILLIAMS: So --
MR. FLYNN: That particular one I agree with you is not phrased as calling for --
MS. WILLIAMS: Right. That's the question that was asked. We answered the question that was asked, which that particular paragraph does not refer to a legal expert. It just merely -- I'll read it out loud. "It was not until the mediation in December of 2016 based on the expert's opinion that Dulberg retain for mediation that Dulberg became reasonably aware."
I just want it clear that he did answer the question that was asked. I understand your line of questioning and we'll agree to move forward.

MR. FLYNN: I believe there were other discovery requests that did point to that and I think we can take a break here and I can find them fairly quickly because I think we're getting close to the end anyway.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Did you ever receive any money from the mediation award?
A. No. I received money from the bankruptcy itself. It was a surplus bankruptcy.
Q. There was a $300,000 award given in the mediation.
A. That did not go to me. That went to bankruptcy.
Q. It was collected on your behalf and paid to the bankruptcy trustee, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. All $300,000?
A. I don't know that because I think -- I don't know how exactly it works. I heard attorneys have a lien that's special. I don't know how they break it up. I assume it goes to the trustee.

Page 123

Q. The Boudins weren't working for free. They got something out of it, right?
A. Yes.
Q. The trustee took the remainder and paid off some of your creditors, correct?
A. Correct. All of them.
Q. But the award was paid to the trustee on your behalf?
A. I believe so. I don't know how it worked.
Q. How much was the surplus after your creditors were paid?
A. After just the creditors?
Q. How much did you get?
A. How much did I get?
Q. Yes.
A. A third.
Q. I'm asking how much money did you get?
A. A third of the award.
Q. Dollars. How much money did you get?
A. Roughly a hundred.
Q. $100,000?
A. I don't know the exact number. It's roughly a hundred.

Page 124

Q. Was there a check that was issued to you?
A. By the trustee, yes.
Q. Did you cash it?
A. Yes.
Q. At what bank?
A. McHenry Bank & Trust.
Q. Do you still have an account there?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have a copy of the canceled check?
A. I'm sure the bank has a photo thing.
Q. You can request a copy of the check, correct?
A. I could. I could see if they got it.
Q. I would ask you to do that. If you have any other documentation relative to the payouts that were made by the bankruptcy trustee on your behalf, we are requesting that information.
MR. FLYNN: Why don't we take a break and I'm going to look for one document and then we're just about done here.
(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)
MR. FLYNN: Mark these as the next two.

BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I'm going to show you what I've marked as Exhibits 12 and 13. Twelve are your answers to Hans Mast's interrogatories. Thirteen is your responses to Popovich's request for production.
Interrogatory No. 1 from Mast asks, "Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach."
Do you understand that?
A. Yes.
Q. So how is it they committed malpractice?
A. May I see it?
Q. I'm going to show it to you in a second. I only have one copy.
This is basically, how did you first become aware that they committed malpractice?

Page 126

That's the essence of that interrogatory.
Here is your response. I can show that to you. It doesn't reflect any discussion with any malpractice lawyer in December of 2016.
Tell me –
A. Let me read it again. We're talking about No. 1 on this?
Q. Correct.
A. Okay.
Q. You understand it?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you agree that the legal opinion you received on December 16, 2016 is responsive to that interrogatory, whatever it is that you were told?
A. Yes.
Q. You didn't identify this December 16, 2016 discussion in the answer to that interrogatory, correct?
A. Say that again.
Q. Your discussion with Mr. Gooch on December 16, 2016, that's referenced in your original complaint, you didn't respond and identify it in this answer to the interrogatory, correct?

Page 127

A. This asks for every way Popovich or Mast breached the duty of care. It didn't ask for Gooch's opinion.
Q. How did you find out that Mast and Popovich breached the duty of care to you? Because Gooch told you, right?
A. Yes.
Q. That's what you've alleged here in this complaint.
A. Yes.
Q. Here I'm asking you, each and every way that they ever breached a duty of care to you. I covered the waterfront. You didn't answer --
A. On the McGuire case it was between October 2013 and January 2014. Yes. There's a multitude of things and that's why I listed a range.
Q. I'm asking when you became aware of it, in that interrogatory. Do you see that?
A. I became aware of that when Thomas Gooch read them and said there's a problem here.
Q. That's not the way you answered the interrogatory, correct?
A. I answered the first part. I did not answer after the comma and the and.

Page 128

Q. There's no objection and indication that any information is being withheld, correct?
A. Excuse me?
Q. There's no objection and an indication that you're withholding –
A. I was not withholding.
Q. I'll show you Exhibit 13. It asks – Exhibit 13 are the production requests to you. Number 8 asks for you to produce a privilege log identifying the creator and recipient of any document withheld, the basis for any claimed privilege, the date the document was created and the date the recipient received the document.
The answer is, "The plaintiff is only withholding attorney-client communication between his successor counsel."
Is that your answer to the production request and did I accurately read No. 8?
A. May I consult with her for a minute?
Q. Sure.
THE WITNESS: Can we go off the record?
MS. WILLIAMS: If you can answer the question, answer the question first.

BY THE WITNESS:
A. It's been a while since I've done this, so I'm not sure who the successor counsel is. Is it her or is it the Boudins or Balke?
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I think successor counsel, we can both agree, the successor counsel in the underlying case which would be Balke and then Boudin.
You didn't identify any documents withheld other than documents between you and successor counsel, correct?
THE WITNESS: I believe we waived those, didn't we, for Balke and Boudin?
MS. WILLIAMS: For Balke and Boudin we can represent that we waived those.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me ask a different question.
Did Gooch communicate with you in writing relative to his opinion that you had a legal malpractice case against Mast and Popovich?
A. In writing?
Q. Yes.
A. I suppose the agreement between us that he would represent me because I had the case is a document in writing.

Q. Did he tell you -- strike that.
The discussion that you reference in the complaint, paragraph 20 of December 16, 2016, was that a face-to-face communication with Gooch?
A. What number is that?
Q. Exhibit 4, paragraph 20. The legal opinion you received, was it verbal, was it written?
A. I believe it was verbal.
Q. Now, I'm going to ask you what he said. There was an objection and that will be addressed by the Court later. Please tell me what Gooch told you.
A. He read what I brought him, looked through some things, and I don't remember if it was the same day that we talked to him or he took a day or two. I don't remember. He got back to me and he said, "You have a case here. You have a valid case."
Q. Did he say why?
A. On the basis of what I brought to him. Yes.
Q. Specifics, though. I don't want to talk about generalities. Did he tell you what Mast and

Page 131

Popovich did wrong and how it injured you?
A. How it injured me? Yeah.
Q. The first part of my question was, did he tell you exactly what they did wrong in connection with your -- their representation of you?
A. He probably did. I'm not recalling it right now. I'm pulling a blank.
The parts of the conversation I'm remembering, and for some reason I'm not pulling it. We've been at this a while and this is a long thing. Yes, he said based on what he saw, he saw reason for malpractice.
Q. You don't remember any details, as you sit here? Did you discuss the liability of property owners in Illinois?
A. Well, if they were just property owners in the case, that would be one thing, but they weren't just property owners.
Q. That wasn't my question. I'm asking if you discussed it?
A. Certainly.
Q. You and Gooch discussed the liability of the McGuires in the case?
A. Yes.

Page 132

Q. What did you say to him and what did he say to you?
A. I showed him the expert opinion.
Q. The chainsaw expert?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you show him any deposition transcripts?
A. Yes.
Q. Which ones?
A. All of them.
Q. And he read them before you talked?
A. I don't remember. Like I said, it may have been a few days between our initial meeting and bringing the whole file that I had and trying to get what the Boudins had and letting him go through it. I don't remember how long that took.
Q. How did you transmit the documents to him --
A. My brother carried them.
Q. Let me finish.
How did you transmit the documents to Mr. Gooch, including the deposition transcripts?
A. I believe we brought him a box.
Q. So you physically handed the documents to him?

A. I didn't physically hand them. My brother did.
Q. Did you communicate with Mr. Gooch by e-mail, at all, leading up to this meeting?
A. No.
Q. Did he ever write you any letters?
A. An e-mail or regular mail or what are you talking about?
Q. Any letters whatsoever.
A. Throughout the course of his representation, yes.
Q. What about in December of 2016?
A. I believe we started communicating in December, yes.
Q. But in writing?
A. In e-mails, sure.
Q. Did he discuss –
A. We may have. I'm not – whenever we started – whenever he started sending me things and going back and forth, I don't remember the exact date, but it was right after he started representing me, sure, we exchanged e-mails and started, yes.
Q. When did Gooch begin representing you?

Page 134

A. The day that he agreed to represent me. I believe it would have been the day that he decided that he had a case.
Q. On or about December 16?
A. Yes.
Q. At that point in time, or shortly thereafter, he communicated with you in writing the details of the breach of the standard of care committed by Popovich and Mast; is that correct?
A. I believe he started to detail those out in the complaint and we were working it back and forth trying to get it right.
Q. When did you first exchange drafts of the complaint?
A. I'd have to look back in the e-mails. I don't remember the dates.
Q. Did you look for any of these e-mails in connection with my discovery requests in this case?
A. At the time I think we thought they were privileged.
Q. That privilege objection wasn't exactly made. My question is, did you look for them?
A. Did I look for them? I have them.
Q. I would ask that you preserve each and every communication between you and Mr. Gooch, all written communications, even phone records that might reflect the dates and times of your phone communications, if any. Did you use a cell phone back then?

A. I used VOIP over a data line.
Q. Who was your carrier?
A. Comcast.
Q. Is that still your carrier?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have the same phone that you utilized?
A. Same phone number for 50 years, yes.
Q. What else could you remember that Gooch told you on or about the 16th of December 2016 about Mast and Popovich breaching the standard of care and how it damaged you?
A. Say that again.
Q. What, if anything, else do you recall about your discussions with Gooch on December 16 regarding the breach of the standard of care by Popovich and Mast and how it injured you?
A. We discussed the whole scenario between October and January and what happened. It was pretty detailed. We discussed everything that you see that's been communicated in the e-mails. He didn't have much else to go on other than the documents and the e-mails.

Q. You're talking about the e-mails between you and Hans from the fall of 2013?
A. Yes.
Q. Ultimately leading to the $5,000 settlement?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than you have a case, what did Gooch say to you?
A. He said that they definitely committed malpractice.
Q. Did he ever put this in writing?
A. Did he ever put it in writing? I think he backed it up by filing a suit. That's documented.
Q. Again, the suit wasn't filed until November of 2017.
A. Yes, he had some health problems and then his wife had some health problems. Believe me, I was pushing for him to get that done.
Q. From December of 2016 until the complaint was filed, you exchanged some drafts of complaints with him?

A. I believe he let me see what he wanted to put in the complaint. I got to review some things. Of course I had, do this or that's not right. In fact, a couple of these things in here we had to definitely – you caught one. He totally worded it wrong. It was wrong. We had to amend.
MS. WILLIAMS: His question was, did he give you drafts for you to review?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. These were exchanged by e-mail?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. So you would have records of them?
A. Yes.
Q. Any comments with respect to the pleadings, as well, did you ever ask him questions? Did he explain to you the basis for the allegations in the draft complaints, similar to what you did with Hans?
A. Over many times, yes.
Q. This is all reflected in e-mails?
A. Yes.

Page 138

Q. Ultimately, you didn't file until November of 2017?
A. Correct.
Q. Popovich ceased being your lawyer March 19 of 2015, correct?
A. That sounds about right.
Q. Until December 16, 2016, you didn't have any reason to believe there was a malpractice case against –
A. Say the date again.
Q. Until December 16, 2016, you didn't have any other reason to believe there was a malpractice case against Popovich and Mast?
A. I did not know that I had a case, no.
Q. You threatened one with respect to the Gagnon case –
A. Yes.
Q. – at another point in time, correct?
A. I think I threatened him a few times in there. Yeah. I was actually nice to what I really wanted to say.
Q. Subject to the ruling on these objections, you don't recall any other specific details that you discussed with Popovich – I'm sorry – Gooch on December 16, other than what we already talked about?

A. I discussed the exact same things that you – the same documents that you already have. We went over the case that Mast and Popovich had against the McGuires. He followed through all the way to the end. We went over the whole case. You see as much as he did.
Q. Did Gooch ever explain to you why the McGuires would have been liable any more than Mast explained to you that they wouldn't be liable?
A. He said he agreed right away. He said that's obvious.
Q. Did Gooch ever provide you with any cases or statutes?
A. Provide to me, maybe. Maybe. I don't know.
Q. Would that be by e-mail?
A. It could be. I was in his office quite a few times. He may have.
Q. As you sit here today, other than you have a case against Popovich and Mast, what did Gooch tell you specifically that was any different than what Mast and Popovich told you with respect to the McGuires' liability?

A. That they were definitely liable. He tried to say that – like Popovich and Mast were first- or second-year lawyers and that they may have made a mistake here.
I said they've got 20 years in this. You think they'd know the difference. That's the kind of thing. He agreed with me. Twenty years, yeah, they should have known better.
Q. Did you ever discuss the specifics of the McGuires' potential liability with Gooch?
A. Liability with Gooch?
Q. With Gooch, did you ever discuss the specifics of the McGuires' liability other than he thinks you have a case?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he ever tell you why? What was it?
A. Because he agreed with the expert's opinion.
Q. The expert on the chainsaw?
A. Yes. The liability expert.
Q. The expert said you should use safety goggles and gloves and things like that?
A. He said more than that, but yes.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Q. Do you know who commissioned that expert report?
A. Boudins.
Q. Do you know when the first draft of that doctor's expert report was circulated?
A. I heard that Boudin got it in February, maybe. I don't think I got it until July, but I'm not sure about that.
Q. July of what year?
A. The same year as the mediation.
Q. Of 2016?
A. Yeah.
Q. So you actually read it in advance of the mediation?
A. I talked about this earlier. I said yes. You don't catch everything the first time you read it. I was sitting there at the mediating table and I was reading it and I caught it and I turned to Randy and I said, after it was over, does this mean – that means.
Q. Means what?
A. Does this mean the McGuires are liable? Yeah, that means they are liable. He said, call my office after everything and I'll give you a name for an attorney you should go see.

MR. FLYNN: Any follow-up, Julia?
MS. WILLIAMS: I have two follow-up questions.

EXAMINATION

BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Did you ever give Hans authority to make a settlement demand regarding Mr. Gagnon?
A. I think at one time in one of my meltdown letters I said get whatever you can, but no, I never actually signed anything saying you have the right to offer a settlement.
Q. Did you ever give Hans authority to make a settlement demand with regard to the McGuires?
A. A demand, no. He said he was going to probe and see what was out there, and I said, if you want to do that, that's fine.
MS. WILLIAMS: I have no further questions.
MR. FLYNN: Signature?
MS. WILLIAMS: We can waive signature.
THE REPORTER: Are you ordering this?
MR. FLYNN: Yes.
THE REPORTER: Regular delivery, e-tran?
MR. FLYNN: Yes.

Paul Dulberg, by and through his attorneys, The Clinton Law Firm, LLC, pursuant to the provisions of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213, responds to Defendant, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.'s Interrogatories To Plaintiff Paul Dulberg as follows:

INTERROGATORIES

1. Identify the person(s) answering and/or providing assistance in the answering of these interrogatories.

ANSWER: Paul Dulberg, available through counsel. The Clinton Law Firm, as counsel for Paul Dulberg.

2. Identify all persons who have knowledge of any matters relating to any of the facts, claims, damages, or defenses at issue in this case.

ANSWER: Paul Dulberg is the Plaintiff in this matter and is expected to testify in accordance with any deposition testimony he provided or provides. He has knowledge regarding the circumstances leading to the injury he sustained, the actual injury, the harm he suffered, including financial injury.

William McGuire ("William") has knowledge regarding the facts and circumstances leading to Dulberg's injury.

EXHIBIT # 1

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Caroline McGuire ("Caroline") has knowledge regarding the facts and circumstances leading to Dulberg's injury.

David Gagnon ("Gagnon") has knowledge regarding the facts and circumstances leading to Dulberg's injury.

Barbara Dulberg. 4606 Hayden Ct., McHenry, IL 60051. Retired. Barbara is expected to testify to the facts and circumstances of the November 4, 2013 meeting with Hans Mast. Barbara is also expected to testify as to the facts and circumstances of Paul Dulberg's pain and suffering, and Dulberg's loss of use of his arm.

Thomas Kost. 423 Dempster Ave., Mt Prospect, IL 60056. Electrician. Thomas Kost is expected to testify as to the legal advice given to Dulberg from Mast and The Popovich Firm on the McGuires' liability, or lack of it, and how the judge would rule in the December 2013 meeting, as well as Dulberg's pain and suffering and loss of use of arm.

Mike McArtor, 4606 Hayden Ct., McHenry, IL 60051. McArtor was Dulberg's business partner at Sharp Printing, Inc. He is expected to testify regarding the facts and circumstances as to Dulberg's ability to work, loss of use of arm, and the facts and circumstances of the pain and suffering after the accident.

He is expected to testify regarding the facts and circumstances as to Dulberg's ability to work, loss of use of arm, and the facts and circumstances of the pain and suffering after the accident.

Investigation continues.

3. Identify the address of the McGuire's property described in paragraph 6 of your second amended complaint, and your address identified in paragraph 7 of the second amended complaint.

ANSWER: McGuires' real property is located at 1016 W. Elder Ave., McHenry, IL 60051.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Dulberg's home is located at 4606 Hayden Ct., McHenry IL 60051

4. Identify and describe how you were invited to the McGuires' property to see if you wanted any of the wood from the tree, as alleged in paragraph 12 of your second amended complaint.

ANSWER: Dulberg received a call from Gagnon on June 27, 2011. Over the phone, Gagnon asked Dulberg if he wanted wood from the tree that the McGuires were removing and invited Dulberg to come see the wood.

5. Identify how William McGuire physically assisted in cutting down the tree, including the date, time, and location of his assistance, and describe how and when he supervised David Gagnon's actions in cutting down the tree, as alleged in paragraph 13 of your second amended complaint.

ANSWER: On June 28, 2011, Dulberg went to the McGuires' home and arrived between 8:30-9:00 am. He observed William McGuire working with Gagnon between that time and approximately noon that same day to remove tree branches from the tree. Gagnon continued to work throughout the day, after William stopped working. Caroline was present observing the work and supervising the work.

William and Caroline McGuire purchased and provided the chainsaw that was used to cut the branches. William and Caroline McGuire provided the ropes and straps that Gagnon used to climb the tree. Caroline had the chain saw owner's manual in her possession and instructed Gagnon what fuel/oil ratio to use for the chain saw.

William and Caroline McGuire instructed Gagnon as to which trees and branches that they wanted removed and where they wanted the trees and branches to fall during the removal process. Gagnon climbed into the tree and cut the branches utilizing the chain saw that the McGuire's provided. The branches would fall to the ground and William would pile the branches in the yard. He also started a fire and burnt some of the branches. At times, William started the chainsaw for Gagnon.

Throughout the entire day, Caroline observed the work and instructed Gagnon to "be careful" on several occasions. She also provided water to both William and Gagnon.

William, Caroline, and Gagnon had several conversations throughout the morning as to which trees and branches to cut, how to best remove the trees and branches, where the trees and branches would fall, and how to clean them up. William and Caroline instructed Gagnon regarding those matters.

At approximately noon on that same date, William stopped working on cutting down the tree and went into the house. He then came out of the house and entered the McGuires' pool that is located on the same property.

Gagnon continued to work through the afternoon and early in the afternoon complained to Caroline that he was "working alone" and couldn't complete the work that day without help. Caroline and Gagnon then asked Dulberg to assist. Dulberg agreed to assist.

Dulberg assisted William McGuire by moving branches to the garden and started the chainsaw for Gagnon once while Gagnon was in the tree.

Dulberg then assisted Gagnon by moving the large branches that had already been cut and holding the large limbs steady so that Gagnon could cut them. Dulberg would hold the large branch while Gagnon would cut the smaller branches off the larger branch with the chain saw.

Gagnon would tell Dulberg which branches to pick up and move to the location where Gagnon was cutting them into smaller pieces by cutting off smaller limbs with the chain saw. Gagnon would also instruct Dulberg as to how and where to hold the limbs so that he could cut the branch with the chain saw. Gagnon placed the larger limb, which was now stripped of the smaller branches in a pile and instructed Dulberg to grab the next limb, which still had the smaller branches, to start the process again.

The chain saw was very loud and little conversation occurred during the time the chain saw was on. Instead, Gagnon would gesture to communicate with Dulberg as to how he wanted the branch held or moved.

No one cut down the entire tree that day, instead branches were removed from the tree and cut down into smaller pieces.

6. Identify and describe how Caroline McGuire supervised David Gagnon and William McGuire's actions, as alleged in paragraph 14 of the second amended complaint.

ANSWER: See answer to 5.

7. Identify the date, time, the location, and the exact words exchanged between Gagnon and the McGuires on the one hand and you on the other as alleged in paragraph 15 of your second amended complaint, in which it is alleged that were asked to assist the trimming and removal of the tree.

ANSWER: See answer to 5. Dulberg does not recall the "exact words exchanged" but does recall the incident as outlined in his answer to 5.

8. Identify what safety information was readily available to Caroline and William McGuire as alleged in paragraph 18 of your second amended complaint, and how you know this information.

ANSWER: Caroline and William McGuire had the owner's manual to the chain saw. Caroline was reading parts of it aloud to Gagnon in the morning of June 28, 2011. Dulberg observed Caroline in possession of the owner's manual and saw her reading it in the morning of June 28, 2011.

The owner's manual had safety instructions and warnings that would have prevented the accident.

9. Did you request any protective equipment or other safety devices from the McGuires or Gagnon while you provided assistance to Gagnon in operating the chainsaw?

ANSWER: No, Gagnon instructed Dulberg as to what to do and Dulberg never operated the chain saw or read the owner's manual.

10. Did you assist Gagnon with trimming and removal of the tree? If so, describe each and every action you took in assisting Gagnon with the cutting down or removal of the tree.

ANSWER: See answer to 5.

11. Identify and describe each and every conversation between and David Gagnon while you were assisting him with trimming or cutting down the tree.

ANSWER: See answer to 5.

12. Identify and describe each of your employers in the ten year period prior to the accident of June 28, 2011, including any self-employment. For each employer, identify your wage rate or salary, your title, your job description, your required duties, and your income for the ten year period prior to the accident in question.

Dr. Elterman and Dr. Tarnauskas, Elterman Center, Skokie, Illinois.

Investigation continues. No other major illness or injuries relevant to this case.

15. Have you filed any claim for workers compensation benefits in the ten years prior to the underlying accident of June 28, 2011? If so, state the name and address of your employer, the date(s) of the accidents, the identity of the insurance company that paid you such benefits and the case nos. and jurisdictions where filed.

ANSWER: No.

16. State the personal injuries sustained by you as the result of the underlying occurrence.

ANSWER: Chainsaw injury to the right arm. See medical records.

17. With regard to your injuries, state:

(a) The name and address of each attending physician and/or health care professional;
(b) The name and address of each consulting physician and/or health care professional;
(c) The name and address of each person and/or laboratory taking an x-ray, MRI and/or other radiological tests of you;
(d) The date or inclusive dates on which each of them rendered you service;
(e) The amounts to date of respective bills for services; and
(f) From which of them you have written reports

ANSWER: See medical records provided.

18. As a result of your personal injuries from the underlying case, were you a patient or outpatient at any hospital and/or clinic? If so, state the names and addresses of all hospitals and/or clinics, the amounts of their respective bills and the date or inclusive dates of their services.

19. As a result of your personal injuries from the underlying case, were you unable to work? If so, state:

(a) The name and address of your employer, if any, at the time of the occurrence, your wage and/or salary, and the name of your supervisor and/or foreperson;
(b) The date or inclusive dates on which you were unable to work;
(c) The amount of wage and/or income lost by you; and
(d) The name and address of your present employer and/or wage and/or salary.

ANSWER: Paul Dulberg was self-employed and unable to work after the accident. He has not been employed since the date of the accident. See tax returns for lost wages. See SSDI documents for current income.

20. State any and all other expenses and/or losses you claim as a result of the occurrence in the underlying case or resulting from any alleged legal malpractice committed by Popovich or Mast. As to each expense and/or loss, state the date or dates it was incurred, the name of the person, firm, and/or company to whom such amounts are owed, whether the expense and/or loss in question has been paid, and if so, by whom it was so paid and describe the reason and/or purpose for each expense and/or loss.

ANSWER: Investigation continues. Medical costs, lost wages, loss of use, permanent disability resulting from injury, and pain and suffering.

21. Were any photographs, movies, and/or videotapes taken of the scene of the occurrence or the persons and/or equipment involved? If so, state the date or dates on which such photographs, movies and/or videotapes were taken, the subject thereof, who now has custody of them, and the name, address, occupation and employer of the person taking them.

ANSWER: Photograph of Mr. Gagnon. See all photographs produced with request to produce.

22. Had you consumed any alcoholic beverage within the 12 hours immediately prior to the occurrence or had you used any drugs or medications within 24 hours immediately prior to the occurrence. If so, state the name(s) and address(es) of those from whom it was obtained, where it was used, the particular kind and amount of drug, medication, or alcohol so used by you, and the names and current residence addresses of all persons known by you to have knowledge concerning the use of said drug or medication or alcohol.

ANSWER: Dulberg may have taken Naproxen sodium prior to the accident. Naproxen sodium is a pain reliever available over the counter. Dulberg does not recall whether he took the drug the night before or the day of the accident, but he did take it on a regular basis at that time. He did not consumer any other drugs or alcohol during that time.

23. Describe why you agreed to a binding mediation in the summer of 2016 as alleged in paragraph 52 of your second amended complaint.

ANSWER: At that time, a bankruptcy trustee was appointed by the bankruptcy court and the bankruptcy trustee filed a motion for binding mediation that was granted.

24. Identify the date on which you provided any settlement authority to Hans Mast or the Popovich firm, and the amount of any specific settlement authority to make any settlement demand upon the defendants in the underlying case.

ANSWER: Specific settlement authority was never given. On November 4, 2013, Mast was granted authority to investigate a settlement, but a specific dollar amount was never provided. On or around January 29, 2014, Dulberg signed the settlement agreement.

25. Identify and describe the date on which you received a copy of the settlement agreement from Mast in the underlying case, the date on which you executed the settlement agreement and the date on which you mailed the executed settlement agreement to Mast.

ANSWER: January 29, 2014, received, signed and mailed back to Mast.

26. Identify and describe the false and misleading information Mast and Popovich provided to you, and explain how you realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information was false and misleading and the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake, as alleged in paragraph 56 of your second amended complaint.

ANSWER: Mast told Dulberg that Illinois law does not permit a recovery against the McGuires in the circumstances of Dulberg's case and that Dulberg would not receive any recovery from the McGuires. Mast told Dulberg that the judge would rule in favor of the McGuires on a motion for summary judgment.

Mast further told Dulberg that Dulberg would retain his claim against Gagnon and be able to

MEMORANDUM

TO: File

FROM: Hans

DATE: November 20, 2013

SUBJECT: PAUL DULBERG

On November 20, 2013, I met with Paul and his friend to discuss the McGuire's $5,000 settlement offer and other issues with regard to this case. I also told them there is a dispute as to McGuire's liability, as they maintain that they were not directing Dave's work. Paul maintains that the McGuire's controlled everything that Dave was doing. I told him that that's not what the evidence seems to show. I told them the McGuire's could possibly get out of the case on motion, and the alternative is to accept the $5,000 offer. Paul wants to read the deps of the McGuire's and also wants us to order his and Dave's dep to review. I agreed to do so.

By copy of this memo, I ask Sheila to order copies of Paul and Dave's deps. I think defense counsel ordered them, so all we need to do is get copies. Please let me know if the copies have not been already ordered so we don't have to order the originals.

Thanks,

Hans

PAUL DULBERG,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., and HANS MAST, Defendant.

No. 17LA000377

NOTICE

THIS CASE IS HEREBY SET FOR A SCHEDULING CONFERENCE IN COURTROOM 201 ON 02/27/2018, AT 9:00 AM. FAILURE TO APPEAR MAY RESULT IN THE CASE BEING DISMISSED OR AN ORDER OF DEFAULT BEING ENTERED.

COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the neighborhood.

7. At this time, Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike DULBERG. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants property filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and told DULBERG he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuire's for the sum of $5,000.00. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST and to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

14. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship.

15. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled. Then, due to a claimed failure of communication, MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

16. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. Unfortunately, a "high-low agreement" had been executed by DULBERG, reducing the maximum amount he could recover to $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. The award was substantially more than that sum of money, and could have been recovered from McGuire's had they not been dismissed from the Complaint. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

17. The McGuire's were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuire's were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

18. DULBURG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

19. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBURG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuire's would only complicate the case.

20. Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the "high-low agreement" contained therein, and the final mediation award, DULBURG realized for the first time that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuire's was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation, DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling Legal Malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

21. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBURG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuire's) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG;

d) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property;

e) Improperly urged DULBURG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

f) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuire's and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

g) Falsely advised DULBURG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuire's was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBURG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

h) Failed to properly explain to DULBURG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

i) Continually reassured DULBURG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

j) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG, concealing from him necessary facts for DULBURG to make an informed decision as to the McGuire's, instead coercing him into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury.

22. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBURG to release the McGuire's, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

Page 148 of 464

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CARGLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No: 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW

Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE CLINTON LAW FIRM, LLC, complains against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), as follows:

COUNT I
LEGAL MALPRACTICE

A. Parties and Venue

1. Paul Dulberg, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Hans Mast is an agent, employee, or partner of The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., and is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

4. As an agent, employee, or principal in Popovich, Popovich is liable for Mast's actions alleged herein.

5. Venue is proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

B. Relevant Facts

6. On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg assisted Caroline McGuire ("Caroline"), William McGuire ("Williams") (Caroline and William collectively referred to herein as "the McGuires"), and David Gagnon ("Gagnon") in cutting down a tree on the McGuire's property.

7. Dulberg lives in the next neighborhood over from the McGuire family.

8. Caroline McGuire and William McGuire are a married couple, who own real property in McHenry, McHenry County, Illinois ("the Property").

9. David Gagon is Caroline's son and William's stepson.

10. On June 28, 2011, at the Property, Gagnon was operating a chainsaw to remove branches from a tree and cut it down on the Property.

11. The McGuire's purchased and owned the chainsaw that was being utilized to trim, remove branches, and cut down the tree.

12. Dulberg was invited to the McGuire's property to see if he wanted any of the wood from the tree.

13. William physically assisted with cutting down the tree and, then, later supervised Gagnon's actions.

14. Caroline supervised Gagnon's and William's actions.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

Page 159 of 464

15. Gagnon and the McGuires asked Dulberg to assist with trimming and removal of the tree.

16. Gagnon was acting on behalf of Caroline and William and at their direction.

17. Caroline, William, and Gagnon all knew or show have known that a chainsaw was dangerous and to take appropriate precautions when utilizing the chain saw.

18. The safety information was readily available to Caroline and William as the safety instructions are included with the purchase of the chainsaw.

19. It is reasonably foreseeable that the failure to take appropriate caution and safety measures could result in serious injury.

20. The likelihood of injury when not properly utilizing the chainsaw or not following the safety precautions is very high.

21. The safety instructions outlined are easy to follow and do not place a large burden on the operator of the chainsaw or the owner of the property.

22. Caroline, William, and Gagnon had a duty to exercise appropriate caution and follow the safety instructions for the chainsaw.

23. Caroline, William, and Gagnon breached that duty by either not exercising appropriate care, failing to follow the safety instructions, or failing to instruct Gagnon to exercise appropriate care and/or follow the safety instructions.

24. Caroline and William, owners of the property and the chainsaw, instructed Gagnon to use the chain saw despite Gagnon not being a trained in operating the chainsaw.

25. Gagnon was operating the chain saw in close proximity to Dulberg.

26. Neither Gagnon nor Dulberg were provided protective equipment when operating or assisting with operating the chainsaw.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

27. Gagnon failed to utilize the chainsaw in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

28. Caroline and William failed to instruct and require that Gagnon utilize the chainsaw only in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

29. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw that he was using and it struck Dulberg in the right arm, cutting him severely.

30. Dulberg incurred substantial and catastrophic injuries, including, but not limited to, pain and suffering, loss of use of his right arm, current and future medical expenses in amount in excess of $260,000, lost wages in excess of $250,000, and other damages.

31. In May 2012, Dulberg hired Mast and Popovich to represent him in prosecuting his claims against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit A.

32. Mast and Popovich, on behalf of Dulberg filed a complaint against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit B.

33. Mast and Popovich entered into an attorney client relationship with Dulberg.

34. Based upon the attorney client relationship, Mast and Popovich owed professional duties to Dulberg, including to a duty of care.

35. On behalf of Dulberg, Mast and Popovich prosecuted claims against both Gagnon and the McGuire's.

36. The claims against Gagnon were resolved later through binding mediation with new counsel.

37. The claims against the McGuires included (a) common law premises liability, (b) statutory premises liability, (c) common law negligence, and (d) vicarious liability for the acts of their son and agent.

38. In late 2013 or early, Mast urged Dulberg to settle the claims against the McGuire's for $5,000.

39. On November 18, 2013, Mast wrote two emails to Dulberg urging Dulberg to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their $5,000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

40. Similarly, on November 20, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

41. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told Dulberg that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

42. During that same time frame, Mast advised Dulberg that the Restatement of Torts 318 was the only mechanism to recover from the McGuires and that Illinois did not recognize the Restate of Torts 318, thus Dulberg did not have any viable claims against the McGuires.

43. Mast failed to advise or inform Dulberg of other basis for recovery against the McGuires.

44. Based upon Mast's erroneously advice that Dulberg's claims against the McGuire's were not viable and that Dulberg would not recover if he pursued the claims, Dulberg settled with the McGuire's and their insurance company, Auto-Owners Insurance Company, for $5,000, which included a release of all claims against the McGuire's and claim for indemnification under the McGuire's insurance policy. Exhibit D (Settlement).

45. Mast also told Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was limited to $100,000.

46. From 2013 forward, Mast and Popovich represented repeatedly to Dulberg that there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and led Dulberg to believe that the matter was being properly handled.

47. Mast also reassured Dulberg that Dulberg would be able to receive the full amount of any eventual recovery from Gagnon.

48. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

49. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

50. The McGuires owned their home, had homeowner's insurance, and had other property that could have been utilized to pay a judgment against them and in favor of Dulberg.

51. Dulberg cooperated with and appropriately assisted Mast and Popovich in prosecuting the claims against Gagnon and the McGuires.

52. In December of 2016, Dulberg participated in binding mediation related to his claims against Gagnon.

53. In December of 2016, Dulberg was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 and a net award of $561,000 after his contributory negligence was considered.

54. Dulberg was only able to recovery approximately $300,000 of the award from Gagnon's insurance and was unable to collect from Gagnon personally.

55. Only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable.

56. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

57. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation, that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:

a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;

b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;

c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires'and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing

Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance compnay would pay close to that;

d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;

e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;

f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

59. As a direct result of Mast and Popovich's wrongful actions, Dulberg suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of Mast and Popovich in urging Dulberg to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of Mast and The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. Its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

EXHIBIT GROUP C

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

o. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on the dates set forth below.

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...

The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of coarse he cut me.

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

Hans,
if I use a chainsaw and cut you badly who is going to believe me when I say it's not my fault, Hans just fell into it?

Who in their right mind is going to believe me when your pointing your finger at me saying I did it?

Who?

case to trial. I just don't think we have enough evidence to prove our case and to invest the time and cost and preparing for trial and moving to trial just in my mind does not make sense to me. I have to be very realistic about things and honest with my opinion. It doesn't do you any good if I do not feel strongly about the case.

That's the very reason why I wanted to have this discussion. I want to give you the option of finding other counsel at this point if you really want to take the case to trial which I think ultimately will be necessary. I just do not believe strongly that defense counsel will offer much in the way of a settlement. Although I will ask him if he is going to make an offer and maybe that will allow you to make a better judgment on this.

Subject: Bad night

Hans,

Last evening I was in the hospital with the most severe migraine I've ever had.

This morning I filed for bankruptcy with David Stretch.

This afternoon I spent with my regular physician Dr Zaide doing a follow up from yesterday.

And right now, I have to email you. All when I still have a slight residual headache and should be in bed.

At first I thought the migraine was brought on by the medications I'm taking but it wasn't, it was brought on after our discussions. Now I can't prove that but it seems pretty obvious to me. Joke no pun intended there!

That migraine made me realize I need the stress of this situation over with. All the stress on top of losing everything is too much and I'd rather live than die from it all before my body does something worse.

My body is not reacting well and the migraines are getting more frequent and worse. Have you ever vomited at the same time as deficating while being in some of the most excruciating pain in your life?

If not, neither did I till the chainsaw went through my arm. That's when the migraines became more frequent, stronger and faster coming on. And now for the first time during the day.

Ever since I awoke this morning, all I can I think is the stress of it all is killing me more and more as the reality sets in and I just can't afford to care about it anymore.

My health means more than some lawsuits and the lure of money.

All because some idiot named David Gagnon forgot to tell me to move out of the way and he can't seem to admit it.

Yes, after reading his deposition and hearing it was my fault I was pissed.

In my anger I suspected all sorts of things. Including it being intentional especially after my discussions at his home only trying to get his homeowners policy number and him wanting money and threatening me for it.

Yes, my arm and elbow were hurt from his stupidity irregardless if some dr can link the two together or not.

Yes, there will be ongoing medical as a result of all this because it still hurts and doesn't work right.

Yes, I am now disabled irregardless of what SSDI appeal goes because of this.

Yes. I understand I'm screwed because of a system that allows one person to hurt another and even after a trial and judgement entered all they have to do is go file for bankruptcy in the same courthouse on the same day.

Yes, it just took me almost an hour just to type this.

Yes, yes, yes...

but none of it matters anymore!

Bottom line Hans... Do the best you can with what you got, I've got nothing more to lose or give. I need it all to just go away.

1. The Parties agree that The Honorable James P. Etchingham (Ret.) shall serve as the sole Mediator in this matter (the "Mediator").
2. The Mediator shall have the power to determine the admissibility of evidence and to rule upon the law and the facts of the dispute pursuant to Section III(D)(1). The Mediator shall also have the power to rule on objections to evidence which arise during the hearing.
3. The Mediator is authorized to hold joint and separate caucuses with the Parties and to make oral and written recommendations for settlement purposes.
4. The Parties agree that the Mediator shall decide all issues concerning liability and damages arising from the dispute if this matter cannot be settled, unless any of the above is waived. Any other issues to be decided must be agreed upon by the Parties, and included in this contract.
5. Any failure to object to compliance with these Rules shall be deemed a waiver of such objection.

B. Amendments to the Agreement

1. No Party shall amend the Agreement at any time without the consent and approval of such changes by the opposing Party, and ADR Systems of America.
2. When changes or amendments to the Agreement are being requested, the Parties shall inform the ADR Systems case manager by telephone. The agreed proposal must also be submitted to the ADR Systems case manager in writing, by fax or email, if necessary, and the contract changes MUST be made by ADR Systems. No changes made outside these guidelines will be accepted. Furthermore, if the amended contract made by ADR Systems is not signed by both Parties, the Agreement shall be enforced in its original form, without changes.

C. Pre-Hearing Submission

1. Mediation statements are permitted provided that the statement is shared among the other parties. The Mediation Statement may include: statement of facts, including a description of the injury and a list of special damages and expenses incurred and expected to be incurred; and a theory of liability and damages and authorities in support thereof.

D. Evidentiary Rules

1. The Parties agree that the following documents are allowed into evidence, without foundation or other proof, provided that said items are served upon the Mediator and the opposing Party at least 17 (seventeen) days prior to the hearing date:
   a. Medical records and medical bills for medical services;
   b. Bills for drugs and medical appliances (for example, prostheses);
   c. Property repair bills or estimates;
   d. Reports of lost time from employment, and / or lost compensation or wages;
   e. The written statement of any expert witness, the deposition of a witness, the statement of a witness, to which the witness would be allowed to express if testifying in person, if the statement is made by affidavit sworn to under oath or by certification as provided in section 1-109 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure;
   f. Photographs;
   g. Police reports;
   h. Any other document not specifically covered by any of the foregoing provisions that a Party believes in good faith should be considered by the Mediator; and
   i. Each Party may introduce any other evidence, including but not limited to documents or exhibits, in accordance with the rules of evidence of the State of Illinois.
2. The Parties agree that they will not disclose any and all dollar figures relating to the high/low agreement; last offer and last demand; policy limits; and /or set-offs orally or in written form, to the Mediator at any time before or during the conference, or while under advisement, prior to the Mediator's final decision.

a. Violation of this rule set forth in (D)(2) shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement. The non-disclosing Party must formally object to the Mediator upon learning of the breach, or the breach will be considered waived. The non-disclosing Party shall then have the option to continue the Mediation from the point of objection to its completion; or to terminate the Mediation at the point of objection as null and void. The ADR Systems case manager must be made aware of this breach at the time of the objection, so the objection is addressed in accordance with the Agreement; and

b. If the Mediation is terminated as null and void, all costs of the Mediation will be charged entirely to the disclosing Party. A new Mediation shall then take place with a new Mediator on a new date. If the Mediation is not terminated, the costs of the Mediation shall remain the responsibility of each Party or in accordance with the Agreement.

3. The Parties agree if a Party has an objection to the evidence or material submitted by any other Party pursuant to Paragraph (D)(1), notice of the objection shall be given to the ADR Systems case manager and opposing counsel by telephone and in writing at least seven days prior to the Mediation. If resolution cannot be obtained, the case manager will forward the objection to the Mediator to be ruled upon before or at the Mediation. The case manager will notify each of the Parties of the objection. The objection may result in a postponement of the proceedings. If the objection is because of new material being disclosed with the submission for the first time (for example, new or additional reports, additional medical/wage loss claims, etc.) then the disclosing party shall be charged for the total cost associated with the continuance.

4. The Parties agree that any Party desiring to introduce any of the items described in Paragraph (D)(1) without foundation or other proof, must deliver said items to the Mediator and to the other Parties no later than Monday, November 21, 2016.

5. The items are considered delivered as of the date that one of the following events occur:

   a. If mailed, by the date of the postmark;

   b. If delivered by a courier or a messenger, the date the item is received by the courier or messenger; and

   c. The date transmitted by facsimile or email.

6. The Parties agree to deliver any of the items described in Paragraph (C)(1) and (D)(1) to the following addresses:

E. Conference Procedure

1. The Parties may present opening statements but there will be no live testimony.
2. The Parties will attempt to reach a voluntary settlement through negotiation with the assistance of the Mediator.
3. If the Parties cannot voluntarily reach a settlement, the Mediator will advise the Parties that settlement cannot be reached. The Mediator will then take the matter under advisement and render an award that will be binding to all Parties, (the "Award"), subject to the terms of any high/low agreement that the Parties may have as described below in Paragraph (F)(1).

F. Award Limits

1. The Parties may agree prior to the Mediation that a minimum and maximum amount will serve as parameters for the Award (sometimes referred to as a "high/low agreement"), such that the actual amount that must be paid to the plaintiff or claimant shall not exceed a certain amount (the "high" or "maximum award") and shall not be less than a certain amount (the "low" or "minimum award").

   a. If liability is disputed and comparative fault or negligence is asserted as an affirmative defense, the Mediator shall make a finding regarding comparative fault or negligence, if any. In the event that there is a finding of comparative fault or negligence of the plaintiff that is greater than 50% (fifty percent), the plaintiff shall receive the negotiated minimum award. In the event that there is a finding of comparative fault or negligence of 50% (fifty percent) or less against the plaintiff, then any damages awarded in favor of the plaintiff shall be reduced by the amount of the plaintiff's comparative fault or negligence, but shall be no less than the minimum parameter or more than the maximum parameter.

   b. All award minimum and maximum parameters are subject to applicable set-offs if any, as governed by policy provisions if not specified in the Agreement.

      The Parties agree that for this Mediation the minimum award to Paul Dulberg will be $50,000.00. Also, the maximum award to Paul Dulberg will be $300,000.00. These amounts reflect the minimum and maximum amounts of money that David Gagnon shall be liable to pay to Paul Dulberg.

IV. Effect of this Agreement

A. After the commencement of the Mediation, no Party shall be permitted to cancel this Agreement or the Mediation and the Mediator shall render a decision that shall be in accordance with the terms set forth in this Agreement. When the Award is rendered, the Mediation is resolved, and any Award arising from this Mediation shall operate as a bar and complete defense to any action or proceeding in any court or tribunal that may arise from the same incident upon which the Mediation is based.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

B. The Parties further agree that any pending litigation will be dismissed, with prejudice, as to those Parties participating in this Mediation upon the conclusion thereof. Any and all liens, including contractual rights of subrogation owed are subject to existing Illinois law. By agreement of the Parties, the Mediator's Award will be final and binding and not subject to appeal or motion for reconsideration by any Party.

V. Mediation Costs

A. ADR Systems Fee Schedule

1. A deposit is required for the Administrative Fee, Mediator's estimated review, session, and follow-up time ("Mediation Costs"). Binding-Mediations are billed at a four hour per day minimum. The required deposit amount is $2,590.00 from Party B and is due by November 21, 2016. Any unused portion of the deposit will be refunded based on the four hour minimum. If the Mediator's review, session and follow-up time go over the estimated amount, each Party will be invoiced for the additional time.
2. Mediation Costs are usually divided equally among all Parties, unless otherwise agreed upon by the Parties. ADR Systems must be notified of special fee arrangements.
3. All deposits are due two weeks prior to the session. ADR Systems reserves the right to cancel a session if deposits are not received from all Parties two weeks prior to the session.
4. ADR Systems requires 14-day notice in writing or via electronic transmission of cancellation or continuance. For Binding-Mediations cancelled or continued within 14 days of the session, the Party causing the cancellation will be billed for the Mediation Costs of all the Parties involved, which includes the four hour per day minimum, additional review time, and any other expenses incurred("cancellation fees"). If the cancellation is by agreement of all Parties, or if the case has settled, the cancellation fees will be split equally among all Parties, unless ADR Systems is instructed otherwise. The cancellation fees may be waived if the Mediator's lost time can be filled by another matter.

Administrative Fee	$390.00 (Non-refundable)
Mediator's Review Time	$450.00 per hour
Session Time	$450.00 per hour
Mediator's Decision Writing Time	$450.00 per hour
Mediator's Travel Time (if any)	$75.00 per hour

B. Responsibility for Payment *Special Billing

1. Each Party and its counsel (including that counsel's firm) shall be jointly and severally responsible for the payment of that Party's allocated share of the Mediation Costs as set forth above.
2. All expenses and disbursements made by ADR Systems in connection with the Mediation, including, but not limited to, outside room rental fee, meals, express mail and messenger charges, and any other charges associated with the Mediation, will be billed equally to the Parties at the time of the invoice.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

3. In the event that a Party and/or its counsel fails to pay ADR Systems in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, then that Party and/or its counsel shall be responsible for all costs, including attorney's fees, incurred by ADR Systems in connection with the collection of any amount due and owing. Payment of additional costs incurred by ADR Systems in connection with the collection of any amount due and owing shall be made within 15 days of invoice.

4. In the event ADR Systems' session rooms are completely booked on your selected session date, ADR Systems will attempt to find another complimentary venue for your session. If ADR Systems cannot find a complimentary venue or the parties cannot agree on the complimentary venue, ADR Systems reserves the right to schedule your case in a location that may involve a facilities charge. The facilities charge will be split equally among the parties unless ADR Systems is instructed otherwise.

5. *Defendant agrees to pay up to $3,500.00 of Plaintiff's Binding Mediation Costs.

VI. Acknowledgment of Agreement

A. By signing this Agreement, I acknowledge that I have read and agree to all the provisions as set forth above.

B. Each Party is responsible for only his/her own signature where indicated and will submit this signed Agreement to ADR Systems within 10 days of receipt of the Agreement. Counsel may sign on behalf of the Party.

DULBERG'S SUPPLEMENTAL ANSWERS TO DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'S INTERROGATORIESTO PLAINTIFF PAUL DULBERG

Paul Dulberg, by and through his attorneys, The Clinton Law Firm, LLC, pursuant to the provisions of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213, responds, in supplement, to Defendant, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.'s Interrogatories To Plaintiff Paul Dulberg as follows:

INTERROGATORIES

12. Identify and describe each of your employers in the ten year period prior to the accident of June 28, 2011, including any self-employment. For each employer, identify your wage rate or salary, your title, your job description, your required duties, and your income for the ten year period prior to the accident in question.

SUPPLEMENT TO ORIGINAL ANSWER:

1. 1999-2011 Sharp Printing, Inc., 4606 Hayden Ct., McHenry, IL 60051

Paul Dulberg was an owner and operator of Sharp Printing, Inc. along with his two partners Scott Dulberg and Michael McArtor. Dulberg provided full time employment services to Sharp Printing, Inc. and thus was "employed" by Sharp Printing, Inc. However, Dulberg did not draw a salary from Sharp Printing, Inc. and did not receive any profits from the company.

Paul Dulberg was the President, salesperson, graphic designer, 8 color screen print pressman, handled fulfillment, shipping & receiving, as well as other day to day operations of the company.

For income, see tax returns.

Sharp Printing, Inc. operated out of the lower floor of Paul Dulberg's personal residence and paid all utilities bills, including garbage, water, natural gas, electric, internet, phone, and cable. The approximate value is $650 per month.

19. As a result of your personal injuries from the underlying case, were you unable to work? If so, state:

(a) The name and address of your employer, if any, at the time of the occurrence, your wage and/or salary, and the name of your supervisor and/or foreperson;
(b) The date or inclusive dates on which you were unable to work;
(c) The amount of wage and/or income lost by you; and
(d) The name and address of your present employer and/or wage and/or salary.

SUPPLEMENT TO ORIGINAL ANSWER:

Paul Dulberg was self-employed by Sharp Printing and unable to work after the accident. He was also an independent contractor with Juskie Printing. He has not been employed since the date of the accident. See tax returns for lost wages. See SSDI documents for current income.

26. Identify and describe the false and misleading information Mast and Popovich provided to you, and explain how you realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information was false and misleading and the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake, as alleged in paragraph 56 of your second amended complaint.

SUPPLEMENT TO ORIGINAL ANSWER:

On December 8, 2016, the mediator issued a net award to Dulberg of $561,000. Dulberg discovered he could not recover the entire mediation award from Gagnon. At that time Dulberg realized that Mast's advice to settle with the McGuires for $5,000 was incorrect, because Mast had cited Dulberg being able to recover in full from Gagnon as his reasoning.

27. Identify and describe the expert opinions provided to you in December 2016 as alleged in paragraph 57 of your second amended complaint, including the identity of the expert, the opinions, and any other information provided by the expert which caused you to learn in the summer of 2016 and become reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent you.

SUPLEMENT TO ORIGINAL ANSWER:

Dr. Landford is a chainsaw expert who was retained by Dulberg during the mediation which occurred in 2016. Landford's expert opinion demonstrates that contrary to Mast's advice, the McGuires were liable for Gagnon's actions with the chainsaw. The expert report came out in February of 2016 and the mediation award was issued in December of 2016.

DULBERG'S ANSWERS TO DEFENDANT HANS MAST'S INTERROGATORIESTO PLAINTIFF PAUL DULBERG

Paul Dulberg, by and through his attorneys, The Clinton Law Firm, LLC, pursuant to the provisions of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213, responds to Defendant Hans Mast's Interrogatories To Plaintiff Paul Dulberg as follows:

INTERROGATORIES

1. Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach.

ANSWER: Between October 2013 and January 2014, Mast told Dulberg that Illinois law does not permit a recovery against the McGuires' in the circumstances of Dulberg's case and that he would not receive any recovery from the McGuires. Mast advised Dulberg that the judge would rule in favor of the McGuires on a motion for summary judgment.

Mast further told Dulberg that Dulberg would retain his claim against Gagnon and be able to seek and receive a full recovery from Gagnon.

2. Identify the date and location of any discussion between you and Mast in which Mast represented to you that there was no possibility of any liability against William or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto Owners Insurance Company, and identify what you said to Mast, and what he said to you.

ANSWER: Various dates between October 2013 to January 2014. The advice was Mast further told Dulberg would that he would retain his claim against Gaganon and be able to seek and receive a full recovery from Gagnon.

All documents in Plaintiff's possession and control produced.

3. Identify the other property owned by the McGuire's as alleged in paragraph 50 of your Second Amended Complaint.

ANSWER: The McGuire's owned their home and vehicles. McGuire's also held bank accounts in their name. Investigation continues.

4. When did you or your attorneys (following the withdrawal by Popovich and Mast) first learn that the McGuire's had an insurance policy that potentially would have covered the claim for an amount greater than $100,000?

ANSWER: The McGuire's produced insurance information to Dulberg on the day of the accident and also were represented by insurance counsel.

EXAMINATION

BY MS. WILLIAMS:

MS. WILLIAMS: Okay, so this is the discovery deposition of Hans Mast taken pursuant to all applicable rules and notice in the case of Dulberg versus The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, et al. This deposition is being taken for the purposes of discovery.

Q. Hans, can you state your name for the record, please?

A. Hans Mast.

Q. Have you had your deposition taken before?

A. Yes.

Q. And how many times?

A. I think two.

Q. And for what purpose?

A. Long, long time ago I think there was a malpractice case I was a witness on and a legal -- a medical malpractice case that turned into a legal malpractice case, not against me but against the office I was with.

Q. Okay. So you weren't named in the lawsuit as a defendant?

A. I might have been named. I might have been named, but I was somebody that appeared on a motion. I think I got out eventually.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Q. Okay, and then -- And then -- Sorry. And then you said you think twice, so do you know approximately what year that medical malpractice case that turned into a legal malpractice case, do you know roughly what year that was?

A. '94 or something.

Q. Okay, and then the second time, what would have that been?

A. It's not coming to me. It was another legal case. I don't remember the details.

Q. Okay --

A. There -- Go ahead.

Q. More than 10 years? I'm sorry, I didn't mean to interrupt you.

A. Yes.

Q. We can go over the -- I'm going to try not to interrupt you, you're going to try not to interrupt me. You've taken depositions before, I'm sure we can get into that and appreciate you answering orally, all of those typical things that apply, and I'll try not to interrupt you too much. Have you ever -- Other than the one time you just identified, have you ever been sued other than this suit for legal malpractice?

A. No.

Q. Do you recall any other details about that medical malpractice lawsuit that turned into a legal malpractice suit? Do you know what the basis of the suit was?

A. It was a medical malpractice case that I think lost on a summary judgment motion and they were -- the client was suing the office and I think I got involved in it because I was on a motion.

Q. Were you the one that drafted the summary judgment motion?

A. I don't think so. I don't really remember clearly back then, but I don't think I did.

Q. Okay.

A. I think I argued -- I might have argued it. I don't remember.

Q. Okay. Have you -- Have you taken depositions before?

A. Yes.

Q. Roughly how many depositions do you think you've taken in your legal career?

A. Lots. Lots.

Page 8

Q. Hundreds?

A. Probably.

Q. Oh, I'm sorry, I forgot to do this, but I think we saw your room. It's just you and George Flynn in the room with you, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And there's no one else in the room and if there were, you would identify them, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And you don't have any devices or anything with you? You're not communicating with anyone during this deposition other than the attorney in the room with you, correct?

A. And you and who else is on this meeting.

Q. Okay. I'm sorry, let me rephrase. Is there anyone that I don't know that you are communicating with that I wouldn't know?

A. Not that I'm aware of.

Q. Okay. If you take any notes or otherwise communicate with people during the deposition, we just ask that those notes be produced. Okay. Did you do anything to prepare for the deposition today?

A. Well, I just saw some exhibits you sent George. I didn't really prepare them. I looked them over briefly.

Q. Did you review any of the other files that have been produced in this case?

A. No.

Q. Did you review any notes?

A. No.

Q. Any other documents?

A. No.

Q. Did you meet with anyone --

A. Other than George?

Q. -- to prepare? Other than George.

A. No.

Q. And you did meet with George, I'm assuming. I don't want to know the contents of that meeting, but you met with George to prepare?

A. Not very long.

Q. Okay. Did you talk to anyone else about today's deposition prior to the deposition today?

A. No.

Q. Where did you go to law school?

A. Kent.

Q. And what year did you graduate?

A. '91.

Q. And were you admitted to practice in

Page 10

Illinois that same year?
A. Yes.
Q. And have you -- Are you admitted to practice anywhere else?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever been reprimanded or disciplined by any courts?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever been publicly reprimanded or disciplined by any oversight body, such as the ARDC?
A. No.
Q. When did you start practicing?
A. '91.
Q. And where did you start?
A. In Rockford.
Q. With a firm?
A. Yeah, Cacciatore.
Q. And how long were you there?
A. About a year and a half.
Q. And what kind of work did you do there?
A. Personal injury, plaintiff.
Q. Have you done personal injury your entire career?
A. No, I did some defense work.

Page 11

Q. Okay. So you were at Cacciatore for a year and a half and you were doing plaintiff's personal injury work. What did you do after that?
A. I went to the Loggans firm in Chicago for about 6 months.
Q. And what did you do there?
A. Plaintiff's.
Q. PI again, personal injury?
A. Yeah.
Q. And after that?
A. Judge and James in Park Ridge.
Q. And how long were you there?
A. 7 years, I think.
Q. Did you do plaintiff's personal injury there as well?
A. No, that was defense.
Q. What kind of defense work?
A. Lots -- All kinds, municipal, tort.
Q. Did you defend personal injury cases while you were there as well?
A. Yes.
Q. And then after that, where did you go?
A. Kemper, I think.
Q. And how long were you with Kemper?

Page 12

A. I think a couple years. Maybe a little more than that.
Q. And what kind of work did you do at Kemper?
A. Defense.
Q. Defense of what type of cases?
A. Lots of different kinds, auto accidents, premises.
Q. Mostly torts though, negligence-type cases?
A. Yes.
Q. And then after Kemper?
A. I think Popovich was next.
Q. And how long were you with the Popovich firm?
A. About 18 years, I think.
Q. And do you know what year you -- roughly what year you joined Popovich?
A. 2001 maybe.
Q. And you were there for roughly 18 years you think?
A. Yes.
Q. So you left maybe just last year?
A. In '18.
Q. 2018?
A. Yeah.

Page 13

Q. And why did you leave Popovich?
A. To start on my own.
Q. And where are you now?
A. With Compton Law Group.
Q. I'll give you just a second to come back.
A. Yeah.
Q. And what types of -- I'm sorry, I'm going to go back to the Popovich firm. What kind of cases did you handle at Popovich's firm?
A. Plaintiff's personal injury, all kinds.
Q. And then at Compton, what kind of work do you do?
A. Same thing, same kind of cases, plaintiff's personal injury.
Q. So is it fair to say you've been doing plaintiff's personal injury cases steadily throughout your career?
A. Yeah, except for the time I was with the defense offices.
Q. Okay. But you were still doing personal injury, just on the defense side, not on the plaintiff side?
A. Right.
Q. Okay. Did you answer discovery in this

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

case, in the malpractice case that we're -- the Dulberg versus Thomas Popovich case?
A. I think I did.
Q. Do you remember -- Did you review discovery in this case, do you recall?
A. Like I said, I think I answered some and signed off on some, I just don't remember. I haven't seen them recently.
Q. Okay. Okay. If you recall, do you remember reviewing the documents that were produced in this case?
A. I don't know what was produced.
Q. Okay.
A. I assume the file.
Q. Right. Okay, if I represented that the file was produced, would that make sense to you? Can we kind of agree that the file was produced?
A. Well, if you told me that.
Q. Okay. So when the file was produced, I don't know if you recall, there were black -- some black pages between the file. Do you remember any discussions about that?
A. I didn't produce anything so and I haven't reviewed what was produced, that wasn't my -- I was in a different office when it was produced, I think.

Q. Okay. So Thomas Popovich would have had possession of the file?
A. Right.
Q. You did not have possession of any documents from the underlying case, from the Dulberg versus Gagnon-McGuire case?
A. I didn't.
Q. Okay. So you would not have had access to that file since you were with Thomas Popovich in 2018?
A. Once I left the firm, I have not had the file.
Q. Okay. In this case did you produce emails that you possessed or did you not have access to those either?
A. I would -- I don't know what was produced, again, by the Popovich firm. I don't know if they had my emails, but I have a new email address. I don't think it's the same as it was back then.
Q. Okay.
A. So I didn't produce anything.
Q. So you didn't produce any emails or communications that -- in the -- from the underlying case?

A. Not that I'm aware of. Unless I produced it to Popovich and he produced it. I don't know how that worked.
Q. Okay. When were you retained by Paul Dulberg?
A. I don't recall. I'm assuming there's paperwork that shows that.
Q. Yes. Let me upload a file here. Just give me a second.
A. I don't think he retained me. I think he retained Tom Popovich's office.
Q. Okay. I just uploaded a file that's titled Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit 1, if you can -- And, George, you should have that as well -- and it should be the retainer contract.
A. Yeah, I see it.
Q. Okay. So it's a contract for legal services and it's marked POP, P O P, 000586 on the bottom, just for reference, so this will be the first exhibit in this deposition. Do you recognize this document?
A. I recognize what it looks like, yeah.
Q. Yeah, and it's the contract for legal services and it's undated, it looks like.

Page 17

A. That's what it looks like.
Q. Okay. I'm going to upload another exhibit. So I'm uploading Exhibit 2, it's titled Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit 2, and this should be the original complaint filed in the case of Dulberg versus Gagnon, et al., 12 LA 178, filed in McHenry County. Do you see that document?
A. Yeah. What I'm going off are an email I got with all the exhibits attached, so I'm not — that's what I'm looking at.
Q. Okay.
A. It's a complaint and it says Exhibit 2.
Q. Right, okay. So our numbers may be a little off, but the description should be correct. In that complaint shows file stamp May 15, 2012?
A. Yeah, that's what it says.
Q. Okay, and so Mr. Dulberg would have hired you sometime -- hired the Popovich firm sometime prior to that, correct?
A. I'm assuming. I --
Q. Okay. Do you have any idea?
A. I'm sorry.
Q. I'm sorry, I didn't mean to interrupt you. Go ahead.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 18

A. Go ahead.
Q. Do you have any idea about -- Do you have any idea about what timeframe he would have hired -- retained you?
A. I really, again, I don't have an independent recollection of it. I think there's probably a memo out there of me meeting with him, too.
Q. Okay. Actually, I think there is. Okay, I just uploaded Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit No. 3 and the top says -- it's titled, "Intake Memo." At the top it says, "Memorandum," it's Popovich, it says POP00961 and 000962. Do you recognize this document?
A. I -- It looks familiar.
Q. And it indicates that it's from you, so you would have drafted this document, correct?
A. I would have dictated it, yeah.
Q. Okay, and it looks like you had a new client meeting with Paul on December 1st of 2011?
A. That's what it says.
Q. Okay. Does that seem like that timeframe would have been roughly correct?
A. I have no reason not to believe that's accurate.
Q. Okay. So Paul retained you probably sometime in December of 2011 and then you filed a complaint around May 15, 2012?

Page 19

A. That's what it appears.
Q. Okay. So can you just tell me what the case against Mr. -- I'm sorry. Can you describe the case between Paul Dulberg and David Gagnon, Caroline and William McGuire?
A. What do you mean describe it? What it's about?
Q. Yeah, basically what was it about?
A. An injury, a chain saw injury.
Q. Okay. Was there anything about the case that was unique to you?
A. Other than it was a chain saw injury.
Q. Okay. What was your theory of that case? What was your theory of liability in the case?
A. I think the -- Paul had claimed Dave struck him with the chain saw.
Q. So was it just a negligence theory or was it a strict liability or --
A. I believe it was negligence, if I recall correct.
Q. Negligence against Gagnon, David Gagnon?
A. Yeah, and I think the McGuires actually were named as well.

Page 20

Q. And what was the theory as to the McGuires?
A. I think Paul had said that they were the ones that owned and looked over the work that was being done.
Q. Okay. So if they owned the chain saw and were overseeing the work, what's the legal theory for liability on that? Why would they be liable?
A. Under case law potentially there's liable -- liability for people that oversee and direct the work.
Q. Okay, and is that a strict liability or is it some other form of liability?
A. It would be negligence.
Q. So negligent oversight?
A. Potentially.
Q. Okay. Were there any other theories that you were going to pursue or could be pursued?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Okay. So a negligence claim against Gagnon for negligently utilizing the chain saw and then a negligence claim against McGuires for not -- for not controlling his use of the chain saw, is that accurate?

Page 21

A. I don't recall the exact allegations, but I think in a general theme that was what we were going to try to prove.
Q. Okay. In the intake memo, do you want to go back to that? There are some notes on this exhibit that state -- it looks to me like it says, "Hans BC the accident occurred on their premises, their HO med pay will cover the bills," and then it's signed. Do you recognize that handwriting?
A. Yeah, that would be Tom.
Q. Okay, and what does that note mean?
A. Medical coverage, medical payments coverage.
Q. So there -- So the McGuires -- When he says their, is he referring to Caroline and Bill McGuire?
A. Well, I don't know what he's referring to. I think what he's -- Well, he circled their names, so that probably indicates what he's referring to.
Q. Okay. Would their -- Would their insurance cover medical bills in an instance like this?
A. Possibly.
Q. Okay. Did you reach out to their insurance company about covering any medical bills?
A. I don't recall if that was applicable or I don't know -- I don't recall that issue.

Page 22

Q. Okay.
A. Oh, uh, I think -- It just kicked me off.
MR. FLYNN: I got disconnected, too. It's the Wi-Fi.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay, we'll just wait a minute here.
A. I can hear you. I just can't see you.
Q. We'll wait a minute until you can get your video back on.
MR. FLYNN: Julia, we think the Wi-Fi may have dropped here in the office.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. Well, let's just give it a minute and see.
MR. FLYNN: Okay.
(Whereupon, a break was taken, after which the following proceedings were had:)
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. I think we're back on the record. Barb, are you doing all right?
THE REPORTER: Yes.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay. So we just went through the memo that Tom made a note about insurance and your testimony was that you don't recall whether you made any requests to the McGuires' insurance to pay Paul's medical bills; is that correct?

A. I don't remember, right.
Q. Okay. Back to the actual claims made. Do you remember -- Do you recall what the defense was for first Gagnon and then Bill -- William and Caroline McGuire?
A. What do you mean by defense?
Q. What was their theory of defense in the case, do you recall? As you understood it.
A. I mean, that's a big question. I mean, they, like every case, they were denying what we were alleging.
Q. Were they denying the facts? Did they dispute the facts of the case?
A. Definitely.
Q. Okay. Do you recall what they were alleging as far as the facts that were different from what you were alleging?
A. I mean, I can probably answer that for -- with an hour -- an hour answer. There's a lot that they were denying. There was a lot that, you know, I mean, I'd have to -- I could look at their answer. I could look at their deposition testimony, but, I mean, that brings up a lot of issues.

Q. Okay. Let's -- Let me narrow it down a little bit and try to get more to a point that will be useful for our discussion. At some point, you had recommended that Paul settle the case as to the McGuires; is that correct?
A. Yeah.
Q. And what was the reasoning for settling the case as to William and Bill McGuire?
A. Just risk, like you always discuss with any settlement.
Q. Can you be a little more specific about what type of risk?
A. Again, that's a long question but, I mean, it's like any settlement, you're taking a risk if you don't settle the case when you have issues that could be problematic.
Q. Okay. When you say issues that can be problematic, and I know it could be a very long answer, but as much as you can, can you summarize what you think those risks were?
A. Understanding it's a summary that, I mean, I could probably answer that in a couple hours, but the chance of recovery was in my view very slim if at all because of lots of reasons, one, because of Paul's testimony, Gagnon's testimony, the McGuires' testimony. The evidence didn't seem to be something that was going to allow us to prove the case against the McGuires.

Q. Okay. What -- And, again, I understand this is -- these are very long questions, but just in summary, what were you going to need to prove the case against the McGuires?
A. Now, again, understanding I would have to put myself in my place where I was back at the time that I fully evaluated this with Paul, but if I'm just trying to come up with some thoughts now years later the case law, I think, was against us. The defense was going to file a motion for summary judgment if we didn't work out some sort of settlement that I felt they were going to win and the testimony from all parties was not helpful to us.
Q. Okay. I'm going to move forward and then we may come back to this a little bit. Do you recall when the first time was that you talked to Paul about settling the claims with the McGuires?
A. No, whenever -- You know, the defense attorney would have reached out to me to ask for some sort of demand, I assume.

Q. Did you make a demand at some point?
A. I think -- I think some of your paperwork showed that I did.
Q. Okay. I just uploaded Dulberg Mast Exhibit 4 and it says letter -- it's "Letter Re Settlement," and that should be -- still be Exhibit 4 that was emailed around to Counsel so that you would have it. And it is labeled POP192 and POP193. Do you recognize those documents?
A. Wait. I think the Internet, maybe because we were having problems, is the Internet went down, so now my exhibits aren't pulling up. Can you try it again? Do you have that, George?
MR. FLYNN: Yeah, here's the hard copy.
THE WITNESS: I'll look at the hard copy, so what are you asking?
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Great. So it should be the document it has letterhead on the top, Popovich letterhead on the top, and at the bottom it's POP000192 and POP000193.
A. Right.
Q. Do you recognize those documents?

Page 27

A. I mean, they look familiar. Documents from the Popovich firm, if that's what you're asking.
Q. Is that your signature?
A. Yes.
Q. So you would have drafted or caused this letter to be drafted and sent?
A. It appears that way, yeah.
Q. And this is a demand letter where you make a demand of $7,500; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall making that demand?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall if you talked to Paul prior to making the demand?
A. I'm sure I would have.
Q. Okay. Do you recall -- Do you have any memos or notes regarding that conversation with Paul?
A. I don't personally.
Q. Okay. If there were memos and notes, would they be in Thomas Popovich's file?
A. It should.
Q. Okay. Do you recall any emails about the demand -- the 7,500 demand?
A. I know there were lots of emails. I don't know if this number is identified in those emails, but, again, it would have been something I would have talked to him about before making it.

Q. Okay. But at this time you don't know if there are any memos, notes or emails memorializing any conversation with Paul prior to sending the October 22, 2013 demand?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Okay, and if they did exist, they would be in the possession of Thomas Popovich, correct?
A. I would think so.
Q. Okay, and if you had those in your possession, you would produce them in discovery, correct?
A. If I had them.
Q. Okay. Just uploaded Exhibit 5, and this is email dated October 30, 2013, and it's marked at the bottom POP000195.
A. Okay.
Q. Okay, and here in this email it looks like you started this email chain to Paul on October 25, 2013. Do you see that?
A. It looks like there's a couple emails here. There's several pages. You just mean the first page?

Page 29

Q. I think -- It should only be, I believe it's only one page and it looks like --
A. Oh, these aren't part of it? Just one page?
Q. The document that I have is just one page. Are we looking at the same thing?
A. Okay.
Q. It's POP00195 on the bottom.
A. Yeah, he had a couple other pages on it, but okay.
Q. Okay. I just want to make sure that I didn't -- Okay. And on the bottom there of the first sheet, if you have several, I've only published one sheet for the purposes of this deposition, it states, "Friday, October 25, 2013," do you see that?
A. Where does it say that?
Q. So about halfway down the page it looks like it says, "Original message from Paul"?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. So that looks like Paul reached out to you about medical deposition and then on the top it appears to be your reply of October 30, 2013. Does that seem like that's accurate?
A. That's what it shows.
Q. Okay. Okay. And here you first -- Am I correct in summarizing this is an email where you talk to Paul about liability for Mr. Gagnon?

A. Look likes I did cover that issue.
Q. Okay, and do you recall at the time what your purpose was behind this email?
A. I mean, every purpose is just to have open communication. That's all the purpose --
Q. Okay. Would you have been trying to explain to Paul the liability issues in his case that you described earlier?
A. Yeah, I definitely was discussing several issues for him so he knows what's going on.
Q. Okay, and this email response is dated October 30th, so that was after you sent that initial letter. Do you recall whether there would have been anything prior to this?
A. Whether what was prior to this?
Q. Would there have been any communications about liability either to Gagnon or the McGuires prior to the October 30, 2013 email?
A. Every time we talked, there were issues about liability, I mean, for whatever I first -- he first came to the office I recall he was lots of questions and I gave him lots of answers as is reflected in my emails.

Q. Okay. Did you meet with Paul after you sent that October 22nd demand letter?
A. Did I meet with him?
Q. Yes. In person.
A. I'm sure I did.
Q. Okay. Do you recall -- Do you recall meeting -- the dates of those meetings?
A. No, I don't recall the dates.
Q. Okay. So I'm going to upload another file here.
A. Yeah, our Internet is down. That's why I can't bring these up.
Q. Okay.
MR. FLYNN: Julia, just so you know, I've got hard copies of the majority of the exhibits you sent with the exception of the larger files, like the insurance policy and the dep transcripts.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. Okay, great.
MR. FLYNN: I've got some of the deposition transcripts, but I didn't want to waste a lot of paper and ink at home.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. I think we'll be -- For the most part, I think we'll be fine and we'll deal with it if and when we get to that point.

Q. Okay. So the document that I'm looking at now is another email on the -- it's now titled Exhibit 6. I don't think it was entitled Exhibit 6 in what I sent to George, but it's an email that the first date on the email is November 4, 2013, and the last date on the email is November 5, 2013 email chain and it's -- at the bottom it's stamped Dulberg001531.
A. What exhibit is it?
Q. I think it might have been 5-A to George. It's now Exhibit 6 for the purposes of this deposition.
A. Yeah, that wasn't part of the download then. Do you have --
MR. FLYNN: Yeah, I don't think that was included.
THE WITNESS: What's the Bates stamp or what's the stamp?
MS. WILLIAMS: The Bates stamp is Dulberg001531.
THE WITNESS: Yeah, I don't recall --
MR. FLYNN: I don't recall seeing a 5-A on the download. I think it just went straight from 5 to 6.

MS. WILLIAMS: Okay, let me see if I can do something else. I'm going to try to share my screen. I don't know if I'm going to be able to do it. So bear with me. Okay. I can't -- I can't share the screen. Can I email -- George, can you pull up an email if I email it to you?
MR. FLYNN: I should be able to eventually.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay, let me see if that will --
THE WITNESS: Let me run to the washroom real quick while you guys do --
MS. WILLIAMS: We'll take a quick break, that's fine, we'll try to work this out. If anybody else needs a break, obviously take a break now.
(Whereupon, a break was taken, after which the following proceedings were had:)
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay, back on the record. This is the Exhibit 6 for the deposition and it's marked at the bottom Dulberg001531 and it's an email chain between Paul Dulberg and Hans Mast dated November 4th through about November 5th, is that accurate, Hans?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 34

A. That's what it appears.
Q. Okay, and it appears at the bottom that Paul is asking you if he should bring anything to a meeting.
A. Okay.
Q. And that meeting appears to be at 3:00 p.m. on November 4th of 2013.
A. Okay.
Q. Is that an accurate description? Okay? Do you recall having --
A. Go ahead, I'm sorry.
Q. Do you recall having a meeting on November 4th of 2013 with Paul Dulberg?
A. I don't have an independent recollection.
Q. Okay. Okay.
MR. FLYNN: Julia, now I recall, this is a separate exhibit you sent a little bit later than the original download, so I did have this.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. Okay. We got it worked out.
MR. FLYNN: Yeah, okay.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay. So you don't recall calling a meeting for November 4th?

Page 35

A. We had lots of meetings so --
Q. Okay.
A. -- I don't have an independent recollection of that one particular date.
Q. Okay. Okay, I'm going to stop screen sharing. Okay. I'm going to upload another file. This is Deposition Exhibit 7. George, you probably had it as Exhibit 6, but for the purposes of this deposition right now it's going to be 7 and it's an email chain dated --
A. I have these on the computer. You don't need to, unless you want to, but I'm just saying I have these on the computer.
Q. Okay, but Barb needs them, so that's why I keep uploading them, otherwise she doesn't have them. Okay. So Exhibit 7, and it's POP00181 and POP00182, and it's two pages of an email chain, November 15th, looks like on the second page it starts November 15th and ends November 19th, is that accurate?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay, great. So here it looks like Paul started this email chain, but then on November 18th you note that, "The McGuires' attorney has offered us, you, $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only," do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Do you recall that offer being made?
A. I do have some recollection of having a conversation with them.
Q. Okay. So I'm going to upload another document and then we can keep going here. And then this is Exhibit 8 and for -- it is a letter from Ronald Barch to you, Hans, and it's POP000667. Do you have that?
A. What's it dated?
Q. I'm sorry, dated November 18, 2013.
A. Yeah, I have that.
Q. Okay. And that's a settlement letter from Barch offering the settlement of $5,000, correct?
A. Right.
Q. Do you recall receiving this letter?
A. I mean, I don't today recall getting the letter, but I'm familiar with the transaction, yes.
Q. Okay. Okay. So you would have received the $5,000 offer from Barch and you communicated it to Paul via the email on November 18th?
A. As well as when we talked, yes.
Q. Okay. Okay. And when did you talk?

Page 37

A. Again, I don't know the dates. I just know generally how this all transpired.
Q. Would you have talked to Paul on the 18th when the letter came in?
A. It's dated the 18th. I doubt I got it on the 18th. Whenever I got it, I would have told Paul.
Q. Okay. And it looks like the email you sent, which is Exhibit 7, communicated that offer?
A. Okay.
Q. Would you have talked to the McGuires' attorney prior to receiving the letter about the offer?
A. I don't recall. It might have -- that might have happened.
Q. Okay. Do you recall whether you met with Paul sometime after -- on or after November 18 to discuss the settlement offer?
A. I'm sure we did. I know we had several conversations and meetings about that.
Q. Okay. In this email chain that's Exhibit 7 about halfway down the page it says on November 18, 2013, at 7:40 p.m., Paul responds to your email. Can you see that?
A. Are we going back to the email now?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 38

Q. Yep, it's POP00181.
A. What exhibit?
Q. It's Exhibit 7.
A. 7, that's the letter.
Q. If may be 6 for you. It may be 6 for you.
A. Let's take a look. What page is the email?
Q. The date at the top of the email chain is Tuesday, November 19, 2013.
A. Yeah, I have that.
Q. Okay. And then about maybe halfway down the page it's dated on November 18, 2013, at 7:40 p.m., do you see that?
A. Yep.
Q. And there it says, "Only five? That's not much at all," do you see that?
A. That's his response, yes.
Q. Right. Right. Do you recall talking to Paul about the $5,000 and that not being much?
A. Like I said, yes, we've had plenty of conversations and meetings on that.
Q. Okay. When you originally offered the 7,500, did you talk about what the possible outcomes as far as counteroffers, what they may demand, something like that, did you talk about that prior to making that $7,500 offer?

A. I mean, I think I generally understand what you're asking. Did we just have general conversations of numbers? Yes.
Q. Okay. In this email and this is -- I understand this is speculation, but in this email it appears that Paul is surprised that it's $5,000 was the offer, correct? Would that be fair to characterize it that way?
A. Is he surprised at it or is he surprised at the amount? It looks like he didn't think it was much.
Q. Right. So if you originally offered 7,500 and they came back at 5,000, in your experience, does that seem like much of a difference when it comes to counteroffers?
MR. FLYNN: I'll object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Yeah, I'm not real sure what you mean by that.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. I guess let me rephrase because I don't think I'm getting to the point. Prior to making the $7,500 offer, did you discuss with Paul that the McGuires may come back with an offer that was lower than the 7,500?

A. Again, I'm -- I understand the question. I'm just not trying to play games, but you're asking me do I recall specific words that are used or topics. All I can tell you about this is we talked about the whole gamut of options, that I didn't feel it was a strong case, that they were reaching out to us for $5,000, and that balancing everything, the risks, costs, even though it wasn't much, it was something that would have been desirable for him if he wants to end up with money versus the McGuires.
Q. I'm going to add another exhibit here. Okay, for the purposes of this deposition it's Deposition Exhibit 9. This is a memorandum. At the top it will say, "Memorandum," and the date is November 20, 2013, and at the bottom it's identified as POP and then 3 — there's 000003, I believe. Do you have that?
A. What exhibit is it?
Q. I think you're probably going to have it as Exhibit 8, but for the purposes of this deposition it's actually going to be Exhibit 9.
A. Okay.
Q. And it's Dulberg Mast Memo,

Page 41

2013 November 20.
A. Okay, yeah.
Q. Okay. It looks from this memo that you had a meeting with Paul and his friend on November 20th, is that accurately reflected what's stated in the memo?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember this document? Do you recall this?
A. As I said before, I understand what you're asking, but we've had lots of meetings. Do I remember that particular date, no, but I remember the meetings.
Q. Do you recognize this memorandum?
A. I recognize the discussion that's referenced in the memo. I haven't seen the memo for 7 years.
Q. Okay. Do you recall the advice that you gave in that meeting of November 20th?
A. Yeah, like I said, it's summarized a little bit in there. Yeah.
Q. Okay. And what was the -- Why don't -- What was the advice that you gave?
A. Do you want me to read the memo or you want me to just tell you generally what the topics were or what?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Q. Generally to the best that you can recall.
A. Looks like on that day he brought his friend in because before he wanted to consider the offer, he wanted to have his friend come with him to talk about these issues with me. So we went over --
Q. So --
A. Go ahead.
Q. No, I'll let you finish. Go ahead. I'm sorry.
A. Well, we went over all the issues, all the risks, all the money issues, all of the issues.
Q. Do you recall who the friend was?
A. Not as I sit here today.
Q. From this memo it says, "Paul maintains the McGuires controlled everything that they were doing and you told him that wasn't what the evidence seemed to show." So can you expound on what -- This is really going to be a complicated question, but to the best of your ability, can you explain what the theory of your case was against the McGuires and what the evidence was that was going to -- what evidence was your reason for believing that you couldn't prove your theory?

Page 43

A. We already talked a little bit about that earlier, but every time we met, we talked about this because this was a subject at the time with the McGuires and given the testimony of the McGuires, given Paul's testimony, given the lack of any evidence that they were controlling any work or even knew what Paul was doing, I felt it was a big, high risk of moving forward on that claim.
Q. So I'm going to try to summarize this. Maybe in parts. So in order for the McGuires to be liable for Gagnon's work, Paul would have to prove in his case that the McGuires controlled Gagnon's work, is that accurate?
A. Are you asking me if that's an accurate statement of the law?
Q. Yes.
A. I think that's partially right. There's a lot more to it. It's different branches and elements that you have to prove, control was a factual matter, and he would have to be able to establish there was some oversight. It goes down into some factual issues that you have to be able to show.
Q. Okay. So can you -- To the best of your ability, can you kind of walk me through for the negligence claim against the McGuires what the legal elements were that you would have to show?

A. I haven't brushed up recently on that area, but I can tell you that under the case law they have to have some oversight and control over what was going on and some involvement in the work and some knowledge higher and above what Paul was doing, and if you look at their testimony, they were not out there, they were not looking at it, they didn't even really know what Paul was doing frankly.
Q. And what about David? Did they have to control what David was doing as well?
A. I meant David, I'm sorry.
Q. Okay. So the McGuires would have to have oversight and control over David Gagnon?
A. Over the work.
Q. Okay. Over the work. Okay. So William and Caroline did buy the chain saw, correct?
A. I believe that is true.
Q. Okay. But then David Gagnon was the one operating the chain saw?
A. Right.
Q. And you would have to show in Paul's case that Bill and Caroline, one or the other, had control over David's operation of the chain saw?

A. Control could mean a lot of things. They would have to be in a position to instruct him, tell him what to do, be aware of the work that was being done and have some control over what he was doing.
Q. Okay. So in your -- Your opinion of the case was that it was insufficient for them to have simply purchased the chain saw and provided it to Gagnon?
A. Yeah.
Q. And what about if they were paying him? Would that make any difference?
A. No.
Q. I'm sorry, I don't know or no?
A. No.
Q. Just bear with me for a second here. And you informed Paul -- I'm sorry, let me back up. In exhibit -- Deposition Exhibit 7, so it's probably 6 for you, the email chain between you and Paul, roughly November 18th through the 19th, Popovich 000181, on the bottom of that first page, November 18, 2013, at 1:28 p.m. there's an email from you. Do you see that?
A. Yes.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 46

Q. "In addition, the McGuires' attorney," so it's ATTY, "has offered us, you, 5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners so they likely will get out of the case on a motion." Did I read that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. So this is where you told Paul that you didn't believe the McGuires had any liabilities for the reasons -- in part for the reasons we just discussed?

A. Right.

Q. Ultimately Paul accepted that $5,000 offer, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And you communicated that to the other side later in 2013, does that sound correct to you?

A. Yes.

Q. I'm uploading Exhibit 10, and it should be Exhibit 10 for you as well, and it's a memorandum dated December 20, 2013, and at the bottom it's POP000884, do you see that?

A. Yes.

Page 47

Q. And that's a memorandum that you wrote to the legal file; is that correct?

A. It looks like that.

Q. I think I already said this, it's dated December 20, 2013?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And the substance of it, it appears that you had a conversation on December 18th with Paul and that he was authorizing you to accept the $5,000 settlement?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you recall that conversation of December 18?

A. I recall having lots of conversations, this is one of them, and generally I do recall the conversations in a general sense, not the exact dates.

Q. Okay. So you don't remember anything specific to this December 18th call what you would have discussed?

A. Not other than what I've already said we discussed over the time.

Q. Okay.

A. Paul was weighing his options. He knew the risk and he had -- he wanted some time to think about it and consider it.

Page 48

Q. Okay. All right, just bear with me here. Okay, I just uploaded Deposition Exhibit 11, it's a settlement acceptance letter, letterhead from Thomas Popovich's office dated December 26, 2013. Hans, your signature appears on there and it's POP00670. Do you recognize this document?

A. That appears to be a letter from Popovich's office to defense counsel.

Q. Do you recognize your signature on here?

A. Yes.

Q. And this is the letter where you accepted the offer on behalf of Paul, is that accurate?

A. It appears, yeah.

Q. Okay. So the Defendants made the original offer around November 18 and Paul -- November 18, 2013, and Paul accepted it around December 20, 2013. Is that statement accurate?

A. I don't have, like I said, independent recollection of the dates. I would just have to go off the documents.

Q. Okay. Was there -- If that timeframe is roughly correct, was there anything that occurred during that timeframe that indicated to you, you know, why Paul changed his mind from originally thinking it was too little to now accepting it. Was there anything that stuck out in your mind about that?

Page 49

A. Yeah.

Q. Can you expound on that?

A. Well, he had his friend with him during our meeting and he reviewed the depositions.

Q. Okay. Did he not have the depositions prior to that?

A. I remember he asked for copies of them, so I provided them to him.

Q. Okay, and when you say the depositions, do you mean just the party depositions, the McGuires and the Gagnon?

A. I don't remember if I gave him the doctors. I don't remember which ones I gave him, but I know specifically it was Gagnon and the McGuires.

Q. Okay, I'm uploading Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit 12. This is titled, "Legal Research." And this is hard because there's -- it's 27 pages. Some of them have Bates numbers, but some of them are black on the bottom, so I think the Bates numbers didn't -- didn't take, but it's roughly -- looks like roughly 204, maybe 205, Dulberg204, 205 through roughly Dulberg00304 -- Actually, I'm sorry, these aren't going to be continuous. But do you have that packet of legal research in front of you? It appears to be copies out of a -- copies of case law out of the Northeastern Digest.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

A. I just have the one case here.

Q. Just one case? Which -- What's the case title?

A. The first one, it's L A J A T O.

Q. Okay. Do you -- Did you copy this case law?

A. I don't know.

Q. Do you recall providing any case law to Paul?

A. I don't know if I did or didn't. I don't know if he asked.

Q. Okay. Do you recall doing case law research?

A. I'm sure I did, yeah.

Q. Would have there been a memo or something regarding that research?

A. Not necessarily. I was familiar with the law.

Page 51

Q. Okay. Okay. Was there any -- Was there any case law that stuck out to you, any particular cases that stuck out to you?

MR. FLYNN: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: You mean stuck out to me with regard to Paul and his case?

BY MS. WILLIAMS:

Q. No. Were there any applicable cases that stuck out to you one way or the other as to whether the McGuires would be liable? Was there any specific cases that made you think that the McGuires may not be liable given the facts in Paul's case?

A. I mean, you deal with this issue a lot and I can't think of one particular name of a case, but these cases all go along the same line, so there were lots of cases on this one particular issue. It wasn't a complicated issue.

Q. So particularly the issue of control of Gagnon.

A. Of a premises owner's liability for an independent contractor.

Q. Okay. So can you explain generally what an independent contractor is?

A. I'll give you have an answer if you want, but just, I mean, we're talking now, what is it, 7 years later? I haven't been asked to do any research before today's deposition, but so, I mean, if you're asking me for what the case law says, I'd have to look at the case law, if that's what you're asking.

Q. I'm asking based on your -- on your experience and knowledge as a personal injury attorney and not necessarily related to Dulberg's case specifically.

A. Okay.

Q. But based on your knowledge and experience in premises liability cases, what is an independent contractor?

A. Someone that works on their own.

Q. And can you explain what you mean by on their own?

A. Somebody that's hired, like, somebody that's hired to paint the house.

Q. Okay. So somebody that's hired by a homeowner or maybe a business?

A. Yes.

Q. But someone that's hired by a homeowner but the homeowner doesn't -- doesn't tell them how to do their job?

Page 53

A. Right.

Q. Did you ever obtain a copy of the McGuires' insurance policy, do you recall?

A. I don't have an independent recollection.

Q. Did you ever advise Paul as to the limits of the McGuires' policy?

A. I'm sure we talked about it.

Q. Okay. I just uploaded Dulberg Mast Deposition Exhibit 13 McGuire Interrogatory Answers and they're Bates stamped Dulberg000162 is the first page and there's roughly 14 pages. Do you see that document?

A. Yes.

MR. FLYNN: This is 14?

MS. WILLIAMS: It should be Exhibit 13 -- 13 or 14. I think I have it as 13. Yes, okay. And this -- I'm looking at paragraph 15 or at least I'm trying to look at paragraph 15.

Q. Okay. In paragraph 15 it looks like there was a question about the homeowner's insurance and the McGuires respond with their personal liability and their medical liability, do you see that?

A. Yes.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 54

Q. Okay. Now that you see that, do you recall whether you ever got a copy of that policy?
A. I don't -- You mean the dec pages or the whole policy?
Q. Either. Did you get a copy of the dec pages?
A. I have no idea.
Q. And you have no idea whether you got a copy of the whole policy?
A. Yeah, don't know.
Q. But they are representing what their insurance was and the liability there, correct, or their liability coverage there?
A. That's what it appears.
Q. Okay. And these -- This was -- looks like this was responded to based on the McGuires' signature on roughly the 12th page of the document. It looks like it was August 6th of 2012.
A. That's what it appears.
Q. Yeah. So prior to when they would have made the settlement offers, correct?
A. That's what it appears.
Q. Okay. Did you ever talk to Paul about those -- the limits of the insurance policy and how that may be important in his case?

A. I suspect we talked about the policy, yeah.
Q. Okay. Prior to any settlement discussions?
A. Yeah.
Q. Okay. But you've already testified you didn't -- You don't know if you -- You don't know if you obtained a copy. What about Gagnon's insurance policy, did you ever obtain a copy of that?
A. I don't know. I don't know.
Q. Okay. Did you issue interrogatories to Mr. Gagnon?
A. I'm sure I did.
Q. Let me upload this. Would they have been in Popovich's file if you --
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. So I can tell you, I don't recall seeing any documents issued by you. I'm going to upload a document that appears to be interrogatories issued by McGuires' counsel in the case. I'm going to upload it right now. It's Exhibit 14 and Answers to Co-Defendant Interrogatories and it is stamped Dulberg00178. Do you see that document?
A. Yes.
Q. It appears that these were issued by

Page 56

Co-Defendants, in other words, the McGuires, does that seem accurate to you?
A. Yes.
Q. So would you have issued interrogatories in addition to what the McGuires' counsel issued?
A. It's probable.
Q. Okay. Do you recall one way or the other today as we sit here?
A. Not other than it's probable I did.
Q. I have not seen those in discovery, so if they exist, we'd ask that they be produced. Do you ever recall talking to Paul about the policy limits of the Gagnon insurance policy?
A. It's a topic that frequently comes up. I don't have an independent recollection.
Q. Would you have any memos or notes on that?
A. I could. I may. I don't have an independent recollection of that.
Q. Okay. And, again, that would have been in the file that -- in Thomas Popovich's file?
A. Correct.
Q. In your knowledge and experience not related to the Dulberg case but just in your general knowledge and experience, are there any situations where a homeowner may be strictly liable for someone doing work on their property?

MR. FLYNN: I'm just going to object to the hypothetical being inaccurate and incomplete, also calls for an expert opinion. While this witness is a lawyer, I won't necessarily -- I don't expect to call him as an F-2 or F-3 witness in the case.
THE WITNESS: So you're asking if a homeowner can be strictly liable for an injury?
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Right.
A. In general terms, not with regard to this case?
Q. No, in general terms. I'm just asking in general terms in your -- based on your experience and knowledge of injury cases.
A. I mean, I think -- Not in Paul's case, but I think I could probably think of something that maybe could be -- as products strict liability, there's hazardous materials strict liability, there's different issues that potentially factually if they're applicable could apply, but not in Paul's case.
Q. Okay. Just in general, what kind of hazardous -- When you say hazardous, are you talking about hazardous chemical-type cases?

A. There's a string of cases when you're dealing with hazardous chemicals and hazardous materials, like a bomb or something like that, things like that.

Q. Okay. Okay. Are there any, like, hazardous actions? Could something be considered, like, some type of action be considered hazardous?

A. What do you mean by action? Activity?

Q. Yeah, like, I'm trying to give you an example because I'm just trying to understand it more than anything else. Yeah, is there an activity that you could be doing on your property, I don't know, like, what about tearing down your home, would that be considered -- would that be something that could be hazardous?

A. There would have to be statutory authority for that and there isn't.

Q. Okay. Okay. Okay. So generally for strict liability there has to be some type of statutory authority for that?

A. Or common law. Yeah. They have a particular fact pattern.

Page 59

Q. Okay. But this case particularly is simply a negligence case. Paul's case against the McGuires was a simple negligent failure to control case in your opinion?

A. That's what was pled.

Q. Okay. Did you ever make any -- ever consider pleading any other allegations?

MR. FLYNN: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I don't -- No. Not that I recall.

MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. Can we take about a 4-minute break?

MR. FLYNN: Sure.

MS. WILLIAMS: Let's just take -- I just want to take a quick break and review my notes and I want to give everybody an opportunity to kind of stretch for a second. I'm going to go on mute.

MR. FLYNN: Okay.

(Whereupon, a break was taken, after which the following proceedings were had:)

MS. WILLIAMS: Let's go back on the record. Okay, thank you everyone. Okay, just a little bit more here.

Page 60

Q. On -- When you were talking to Paul about settlement in the general timeframe of November-December 2013, did you ever suggest at that time that he seek alternative counsel or any recommendation related to that?

A. I think that did come up.

Q. Do you recall what your advice to him was or what the discussion was?

A. I think, you know, we always talk about the risks of not settling and further down the road what, you know, having to try the case and having to try prove the case or getting a motion for summary judgment, having the costs exceed the benefits and all that, and I think my position with Paul, since he didn't give a relatively very good deposition, my thought was we were going to have a tough time, an uphill battle, and he can always seek other counsel if he doesn't agree with me.

Q. And you just stated that you thought Paul didn't give a very good deposition, that may not have been your exact language, but roughly that the deposition wasn't great. Can you explain what -- as you recall it, what about the deposition was problematic?

A. I mean, he even agreed with me, but he just doesn't do a very good job.

Q. You mean -- Can you expand on that a little bit?

A. As a witness, as I recall, again, it's been quite some time, as I recall he was -- his testimony wasn't given -- wasn't strong, it wasn't definite, it didn't have credible points and some points were incredible when compared to other -- other testimony. I mean, there's just a lot -- there was a lot of problems with his testimony.

Q. Okay. Do you recall the circumstances that Paul described as to why he came to the McGuires'?

A. I think he was either going to pick up something or drop something off.

Q. Okay.

A. I don't really recall. I'm just thinking back now.

Q. Okay. Do you recall whether he was asked to come over to help with the tree, to help take down the tree? Was that the purpose of his visit?

A. I don't recall that.

Q. Would it matter as for liability whether it was or wasn't?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 62

A. As by who? As to whose liability?
Q. I'm sorry, his and McGuires' liability.
A. As to how he got there?
Q. Whether he was -- Whether he was invited for the purpose of assisting with the removal of the tree.
MR. FLYNN: Object to the form. Just invited by whom?
THE WITNESS: Yeah, that's a complicated question, but I don't think --
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Let me clarify if I can. Okay. So my question was does it matter if the McGuires invited Paul to their residence to remove the tree on that -- on the June -- roughly June, I believe, 2011 date?
MR. FLYNN: Object to the hypothetical.
THE WITNESS: I don't think it matters.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay. Would it matter if they were paying Paul?
A. That's not the issue. The issue is Dave.
Q. Okay. So the relationship between the McGuires and Paul is somewhat irrelevant?
A. I'm just saying the issue really that -- about liability is Dave's relationship with them.

Page 63

Q. Because Dave is the one that controlled the chain saw that injured Paul, is that accurate?
A. He was the one hired to do the work or asked to do the work, however, whatever that background was.
Q. And Caroline and William McGuire both testified that they had never used a chain saw; is that correct?
A. I think that's accurate. I'd have to refresh my memory, but that sounds right.
Q. Okay. Do you remember discussing bankruptcy with Paul?
A. I don't remember that.
Q. Do you remember that Paul filed for bankruptcy? Do you recall that?
A. I saw a -- Maybe I didn't see one. I remember there was some sort of bankruptcy matter. I don't know the dates or when it came up.
Q. Okay. Do you recall if you advised Paul to file for bankruptcy?
A. I don't advise people to file for bankruptcy.
Q. All right. So you would not have advised

Page 64

Paul to file for bankruptcy?
A. Would not.
Q. Okay. And then sometime after the McGuire settlement but before the -- but while the Gagnon -- the claims against David Gagnon were still pending you withdrew from the case; is that correct?
A. The law firm did. I -- Again, he hired the law firm.
Q. Sure. Sure. I'm sorry. The Popovich firm withdrew?
A. Right.
Q. And I -- Let's see -- I think we're on Exhibit 14.
THE REPORTER: 15.
MS. WILLIAMS: 15, okay.
Q. I have, I think, one more and then -- Okay, I am uploading Exhibit 15, Dulberg Mast Dep Exhibit 15. It's a motion to withdraw and it's four pages and on the first page it has a Dulberg versus Gagnon case caption and file stamped March 13, 2015. Do you have that document?
A. Yeah.
Q. And this is the Popovich's firm motion to withdraw as counsel for Paul Dulberg in the Dulberg versus Gagnon-McGuire case, correct?

Page 65

A. Yes.
Q. And you drafted or caused this motion to be drafted and filed?
A. Yes.
Q. And was it granted that same day it was filed?
A. I'm sure it had to be noticed up.
Q. Okay. On the notice of motion it looks like it was noticed for March 13, filed on March 13, but sent to the service list on March 5th, does that seem accurate?
A. That's what it says.
Q. But at any rate, you withdrew sometime in roughly March of 2015?
A. It appears that way. Again, I don't have an independent recollection of the date.
Q. Okay. Okay. That's fine. And I didn't see it -- an order actually showing the exact date of when you withdrew. Can you explain why you withdrew from the case?
A. The short version is just we had a difference of opinion.
Q. Can you give me the long version or slightly

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

longer?
A. Well, we have difference of opinion but Paul was a bit difficult, so I just had to -- there were a couple times that I told him I was going to withdraw and then he begged me not to and so I didn't, but then ultimately he -- it got pretty -- it got pretty tough. He was saying some unfavorable, unflattering things and I just decided we're not going to get anywhere, I'm going to move on.
Q. Okay, so you -- the client relationship broke down and you withdrew?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Was there anything about Gagnon's liability or your thoughts on his liability that would have caused you to withdraw?
A. That was another aspect of it. Paul was looking for the stars and the moon and I didn't see it.
Q. And when you say Paul was looking for the stars and the moon, you mean -- Well, what do you mean by that?
A. He was looking for a lot of money.
Q. Okay, and what was your opinion as to David Gagnon's liability in the case?

Page 67

A. I didn't think much of the liability issue. I thought it was going to be a long, tough haul given that --
Q. And --
A. -- Paul was going to be our only witness on our side pretty much.
Q. Okay, and there were no other witnesses other than Paul and David; is that correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And what about -- Anything related to, like, the actual injury, the doctors' depositions or anything like that?
A. That all -- It was the whole ball of wax. The doctors weren't supporting his claim. Dave was saying he's a liar, he tried to bribe him. There was just a lot of -- a lot of bad stuff, not enough good stuff.
Q. Okay, and then at that point you and Paul disagreed and Paul retained alternative counsel?
A. Right.
Q. Okay. Was there anything else about the case that you can recall right now that gave you pause as to the liability either to the McGuires or David Gagnon?

Page 68

A. Anything other than what? Pretty much everything was not good.
Q. Okay. I mean, anything that we haven't really discussed here today. We've talked about Paul's testimony, Gagnon's testimony a little bit, the McGuires, the premises liability. We talked -- You mentioned the doctors' depositions. Is that sort of the general gamut of it?
A. That's the whole case.
Q. Okay. Have you ever had any other chain saw liability cases other than this particular case?
A. I'm sure I have. I don't -- If you're going to ask me to name a date, I don't know. I mean, it's not a common issue, but it comes up from time to time.
Q. Okay. Did you state -- Did you seek out a liability expert, a chain saw liability expert, during the time you were representing Paul?
A. No.
Q. Is there a reason for that?
A. That's always a possibility. It's always a consideration, but I had to consider even more whether we could even get to prove a credible case and that was my first object, my first -- my first tier. It doesn't do any good to hire an expert if you don't have a good case.

Q. Okay. Okay. If you were going to take the case to trial, at that point would you have hired an expert, chain saw expert?
A. For this case, I don't know. I'd have to look at it again and see what we need to prove, what they're arguing. There's -- As I recall, they weren't arguing the chain saw -- They weren't arguing. He didn't get hit with the chain saw. So I'm not real sure. I'd have to think whether we need to prove -- what we need to prove, anything more than that.
Q. Okay.
A. It was more what happened, who caused it to happen, not that it happened.
Q. Okay. Is there a difference between an independent contractor and an employee?
A. In terms of what? In terms of duty or what?
Q. Right. In terms of the supervisor's duty. So if the Gagnons -- If Gagnon was, and this is a hypothetical, if Gagnon was an employee of his parents as opposed to an independent contractor, would there be a liability difference?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 70

MR. FLYNN: Object to the hypothetical. It's inaccurate and incomplete.
THE WITNESS: That's a very complicated question, even though it doesn't sound like one. It depends on lots of things.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay. We've already talked about an independent contractor. So just in your experience and knowledge, what is a supervisor's duty as to an employee? That's actually a really terrible question. Let's strike that question.
Is there a difference -- Is there a difference between the control aspect of -- Would an -- Let me start again. This is a complicated question, more complicated than I'm anticipating right now. Okay.
We've generally established that in order for an -- someone who hires an independent contractor to be liable for the actions of that independent contractor, they would have to control the work. In a situation, an employer-employee situation, is that control element also present when considering liability? Does the employer have to control the work of the employee in the same way?

A. I think there are --
MR. FLYNN: I just want to raise an objection for the record. I object to the form. I think that the premise of the question indicated that we already established some legal precedent. I don't think that's the case. I don't think that he's testified to that, so, again, I'll just object to the form. But if you can --
THE WITNESS: You're asking me to compare two different theories without a fact pattern, but there's a lot to each issue and it's hard to just say, well, if you have this, then you have that. There's a lot of different facts that apply, but now I'm forgetting what you asked initially about the employer-employee question.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. So I guess my question to the point of is an employer liable for their employees in a different way than a homeowner would be liable for an independent contractor?
A. I think --
Q. Based on -- You go ahead.
A. I think under the law there are different elements to those actions.

Page 72

Q. And there are --
A. Go ahead.
Q. So there would be different elements if something was an employer-employee situation, that would be different law, different case law?
A. Yeah, there's a different cause of action.
Q. Okay.
A. Different elements potentially have to be pled and proved.
Q. Okay. But in this case you were trying to prove -- In Dulberg's case against the McGuires and Gagnon you were trying to show that -- The theory of the case was that Gagnon was not an employee, but an independent contractor, and the McGuires had to control him in order to be liable?
A. Well, that's ultimately what it appeared. You followed the evidence, you follow the facts, so if it turned out it was employee-employer-employee relationship, that's a different evaluation.
Q. Okay. So but, for the most part, you were -- your evaluations of the liability were based on an independent contractor analysis?
A. Well, that's where it went because of the evidence.

Page 73

MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. I'm going to go on mute for just a second so you guys don't hear me shuffling papers, but I think I'm almost finished here or may be finished.
MR. FLYNN: Okay.
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Okay. Just a couple more questions and then we'll wrap things up here. When did you first advise Paul that you didn't think the claims against Gagnon were going to be very strong?
A. Probably day one.
Q. Before the settlement with the McGuires?
A. Yeah.
Q. And did you discuss that several times prior to that McGuire settlement?
A. Like I said, we discussed those issues every time we'd meet, liability issues, damages issues.
Q. Do you recall any particular instances, like maybe after Paul's deposition, after David's deposition, did that stick out in your mind at all?
A. Discussing what, the issues of liability against Gagnon?
Q. Yes.
A. Those are probably something we talked about

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

every visit.
Q. Okay. So we discussed this a little bit before, but I believe the testimony was that the McGuires testified that they purchased the chain saw and I believe you said yes, that was your recollection as well; is that correct?
A. That sounds right. I just don't have an independent recollection at this point.
Q. Okay. If the McGuires -- Let's assume that -- Just for the purposes of this, let's assume that the McGuires did -- it was their chain saw, they purchased it and let Gagnon use it on their property. Would they have any duties to share the manual of that chain saw with Gagnon or provide any other education as to the use of the chain saw to Gagnon?
A. All right, so you're asking me to make a judicial decision whether they had a duty or not?
Q. No, I'm asking you in your experience with these types of cases is there any duty there for them.
A. All right, so a legal duty?
Q. Right. Right. And -- Go ahead, George.
MR. FLYNN: Yeah, I'll just object. I mean, there isn't any evidence that Gagnon asked for a manual, for one, but as far as him providing legal opinions not based on the facts of this case, I'm just going to caution him not to provide what could be considered an expert opinion.

THE WITNESS: You don't want me to answer?
MR. FLYNN: It's up to you. I don't know if you can.
THE WITNESS: I don't remember the question. You're asking me should the McGuires have given Gagnon the manual to the chain saw?
BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Yes.
A. Sure, if he asked for it or if they wanted to give it to him.
Q. Are there any other warnings that they should have provided?
A. See, I mean, you're asking me to -- I get the question, but I'm saying you're asking me to evaluate the conduct of both parties and interpret something and I don't know that that's my position as a witness, but should they have warned him? You know, sure, go ahead and warn him, but obviously when you take on a piece of equipment that you're skilled and experienced in operating, you should be able to operate it effectively yourself safely.

Q. Sure. Okay. And --
A. So I mean --
Q. Okay. But today you're not giving an opinion one way or the other whether they had a duty to provide warnings, whether they had a duty to provide the manual, fair enough?
A. Yeah, legal wise, no, I'm not giving you a legal opinion on that.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay. Okay, I don't think I have anything further.
MR. FLYNN: I actually have just a few follow-ups to that.
MS. WILLIAMS: Sure.
EXAMINATION
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Hans, is your understanding based on the evidence that there were only two eyewitnesses to Mr. Dulberg's accident, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. That was Mr. Dulberg himself and David Gagnon?
A. Correct.
Q. And did you have an understanding as to how the evidence and testimony shook out as to each gentleman's version of the accident and how it occurred?

A. Well, as I said before, I thought Paul's case was going to be very difficult to prove based on the testimony of everybody, credibility issues, and the lack of evidence to support and prove.
Q. David Gagnon's testimony regarding the facts surrounding the accident differed from Paul Dulberg's version of the facts, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. You took that into account in your evaluation and analysis of the case?
A. Definitely.
Q. Did you also take into account your professional analysis of Paul Dulberg's performance as a witness at his discovery deposition?
A. Definitely.
Q. You didn't think he made a very good witness for himself, did he?
A. He even admits he didn't and I don't think he -- I think -- that was one of the worst -- that was one of my worst fears with this case. I had lots of cases and on a scale of weak witnesses, he's probably up at the top, and I'm not putting him down, that's just a reality and I think he even acknowledged that reality.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Q. Okay. Not everyone is a professional witness?

A. Right.

Q. Okay. Generally speaking, your evaluation of the case hinged in part on whether the McGuires controlled the manner and method of the use of the chain saw, correct?

A. Right.

Q. Do you have any recollection as to what the McGuires were doing while the work was being done?

A. They were inside the house, just another day to them. They weren't even -- I don't think even paying attention to what was going on outside.

Q. Did Mr. McGuire testify that he was watching television inside the house while David was working on the tree?

A. They were both inside as I recall.

Q. Your recommendation or suggestion that Mr. Dulberg settle the case for $5,000 was based on your analysis of the entire case, including the risks and benefits of going forward and potentially losing the case at trial, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you have any way to predict whether the case would result in a verdict on behalf of the plaintiff in the case against the McGuires?

A. I'm sorry?

Q. Did you have any -- Did you have any certainty as to whether Mr. Dulberg could prevail at trial on liability against the McGuires?

A. I would have staked a lot that we would not have recovered in the case and just something that didn't come up with the direct is they didn't offer the arbitrator to me. That was something that was later decided. I talked to them about that. They did not offer that to me, so that was not an option to me.

Q. So you were -- Based on your professional judgment, you suggested that you attempt to settle the matter as opposed to taking it to trial versus the McGuires, correct?

A. Right.

MR. FLYNN: Okay. That's all I have.

MS. WILLIAMS: I have no follow-up.

THE REPORTER: Signature?

Page 80

THE WITNESS: I'll waive signature.

MS. WILLIAMS: We'll order the original, E-tran.

MR. FLYNN: I'll take a regular and a mini copy.

CONTRACT FOR LEGAL SERVICES

I agree to employ the LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter "my attorney") to represent me in the prosecution or settlement of my claim against persons or entities responsible for causing me to suffer injuries and damages on the _____ day of _____, 20__.

My attorney agrees to make no charge for legal services unless a recovery is made in my claim. The approval of any settlement amount cannot be made without my knowledge and consent.

I agree to pay my attorney in consideration for his legal services a sum equal to one-third (33 1/3%) of my recovery from my claim by suit or settlement; this will increase to 40% in the event my claim results in more than one (1) trial and/or an appeal of a trial. I understand my attorney may need to incur reasonable expenses in properly handling my claim including, but not limited to, expenses such as accident reports, filing fees, court reporters fees, video fees, records fees, and physician fees. I understand those expenses will be taken out of my settlement, in addition to my attorney's legal fee.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20 That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

22. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

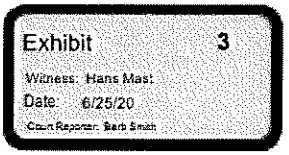
MEMORANDUM

TO: Tom, Marla, Diana and Alarie



FROM: Hans

DATE: December 5, 2011

SUBJECT: PAUL DULBERG - NEW CLIENT

HAM
B/C the accident occurred on their premises, their H.O. med-pay will cover the bills.

On December 1, 2011, I met Paul Dulberg and his mother, concerning a recent injury that Paul suffered at a friend's house due to a chainsaw accident on June 28, 2011. Paul was referred to our office by a former client, Hubert McArtor. Paul had previously been with Francisco Botto in Woodstock but they rejected the case. He did sign a contract with Botto but we have correspondence in the file that they rejected him and sent him away. They did not refer him to us. Apparently, they rejected the case because they did not think that they would be able to prove that the defendant was more than 50% negligent causing the accident. I disagree.

Paul's contact information is as follows:

Paul Dulberg
4606 Hayden Court
McHenry, IL 60051
847/497-4250
SSN 323-76-4001
DOB 03-19-70
DOA 06/28/11

Paul describes that he was at a friend's house, Caroline and Bill McGuire who live at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, McHenry, IL 60051, phone 815/344-4274. The McGuire's son, Dave was at the home and Dave was cutting up some tree limbs in the yard. Caroline had called Paul over to the house earlier to see if he wanted the wood for firewood. Dave asked Paul to hold some tree limbs while he cut them up. He had held two tree branches previously and then about an hour after he arrived he was holding another branch and Dave suddenly swung around with the chainsaw rising it in the air and cutting his Paul's forearm severely while holding on to a branch. Paul said that the chainsaw went about 40% through his forearm. Dave took him immediately to NIMC where they stitched him up. It was a very deep and open wound. Unfortunately, he did not take any photos of the wound. Instead, he followed up with his family physician, Dr. Frank Sek on Route 120 in McHenry who removed the stitches about a week later. Dr. Sek thought there was going to be possible nerve damage due to his arm being very painful. About two weeks later he went to a doctor at the Associates in Neurology in Libertyville and they took and EMG test which found that there were some branch nerves that had been severed which may be the cause of his ongoing pain. They thought that the pain was probably more ligamentous and they referred him to Dr. Paul Papierski, phone 847/247-0547. That was in August. He has not returned to see Dr. Papierski because apparently they needed an MRI and he did not have money to pay for an MRI. I urged him to return to see Dr. Papierski and to have the MRI done even if they have to hold a lien on our case. His arm is very painful when he lifts anything and he drops things continuously. He said that he will follow up with Dr. Papierski and advise me further what needs to be done as far as treatment.

At the time of the accident he was not employed but he had been just recently hired when the accident occurred by AMS Screw Products in Spring Grove. He was going to earn $12 an hour for 40 hours per week. He had talked to Karen over at AMS Screw and she agreed to hire him, but unfortunately, he was injured before he could start work. Their phone number is 732/545-8888x231.

The central issue in my view in this case is whether there is insurance coverage. Since the son was not living with the McGuire's at the time of the accident, it may be that David Gagnon is not going to be insured for the accident. However, Paul and his mother advised me that Dave also had a home and lived at 39010 90th Place in Genoa City, Wisconsin. Therefore, hopefully he has homeowner's insurance that will apply to this claim as well as med-pay coverage to help pay for the MRI that needs to be done.

The McGuire's were insured by:

Auto Owners Insurance

Claim No. 13-2779-11

By copy of this memo, I ask Alarie to set up a new file.

By copy of this memo, I ask Marla to order the medical records and bills from NIMC, Dr. Frank Sek and Associates in Neurology in Libertyville. Please also diary the 1 and 2 year SOL deadlines in this case.

Thanks,

Paul, here are my thoughts regarding your case. There are two issues. The first liability, or whether Mr. Gagnon is liable for your injury. If he is not proven liable, then it does not matter how badly you were hurt since he will not be found responsible for your damages. The second issue is your damages, or to what extent you were injured due to Mr. Gagnon’s acts.
Both of these issues are strongly contested in your case.
As to liability, there were no witnesses to the accident. So, whether Mr. Gagnon will be held responsible for your damages is uncertain and a gamble. That is because it is your word against his word. Our argument is that you were simply holding a limb when he caused the chain saw to strike you. His argument is that you moved your arm in the path of the chain saw unexpectedly. If the jury determines that we did not prove your "version" of the accident, then they can find against you and in favor of Mr. Gagnon at trial.
As to damages, the issue is complicated. That is because your treating physicians do not all agree on exactly what injury you suffered or whether your had a fully recovery or not.
Dr. Talerico at MidAmerica Hand and Shoulder, saw you twice. The first time was in December, six months after your injury. He was not supportive of your claim in most respects. He didn’t really feel there was anything wrong with you - as to the forearm. He said that you complained mostly of pain radiating down the forearm from the laceration site with numbness and tingling. On exam he noted no tenderness and it was mostly a normal presentation. Strength was good. He did not see any nerve problem. He prescribed physical therapy due to a muscular sort of symptomology - not nerve related. Apparently you did only 2 sessions of therapy and returned January, 2012. No new complaints at the time. The EMG was normal. He did not believe you were disabled. He continued you on therapy. He saw no evidence of nerve problems. The only symptoms were subjective - not represented by any abnormal exam finding.
Dr. Sagerman has also been deposed. I will summarize his testimony for your soon. His was more favorable, but still limited in what he related to the chain saw accident. Apparently he does not believe you presently have any symptoms relatable to the chain saw injury.
Think about these issues. I will provide you Dr. Sagerman’s summary soon.
Hans

Morning Hans,Wanted to touch base this morning because the call from you about something not being medically linked has been on my mind.I'm not sure what was said during that deposition with the drs that prompted the call but I have been thinking about what it could be. Most likely it was the right elbow procedure. During my deposition I remember being asked if the two were linked and I answered yes. Let me explain my answer to you. If the chainsaw had not gone through my arm then the procedure on my elbow wouldn't have happened. That procedure was exploratory to find what was bothering the arm from the chainsaw. Upon opening up the arm they did find some compressions which from my understanding was nothing unusual for a male of my age and very well may or may not have happened during my retreat from the chainsaw when I ended up half way across the yard on the ground. Incidental finding or not it still would not have been found if I hadn't had the chainsaw incident. So as I see it they are linked good or bad and cannot be separated. The exploratory procedure was to find and possibly fix issues relating to the chainsaw incident. They also removed a ton of scar tissue in the forearm on the same day during the same exploratory procedure that was a direct result of the chainsaw.

Hope this helps explain things better.Let me know,Thanks,Paul

Hans,

Below is a link to an article talking about the integration of digital cameras at the centegra facilities.

A friend of mine who works at NIMC for well over a decade just replied to me and she says everything is recorded and available exactly for the purposes we discussed.

I still don't get how they don't feel responsible for work done on their property by their own son that ended up cutting through 40% of my arm.

Perhaps their negligence is the fact that they didn't supervise the work close enough but they did oversee much of the days activity with David. Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

(McHenry County Case No. 12 LA 178)

Issued For Settlement Purposes Only

Dear Mr. Mast:

I am writing to confirm our telephone conversation earlier this morning, wherein I advised you that I was authorized to propose settlement of Mr. Dulberg's claim against Carolyn and Bill McGuire for a lump-sum total of $5,000.00. The settlement would of course be contingent upon customary settlement documents, including a release, a good faith settlement finding and dismissal.

Pursuant to your request, I searched my file materials for lien notices. The only notice of lien contained in my file at this time is your Attorney's Lien (enclosed). I have asked my contact at Auto-Owners Insurance Company to confirm no lien notices have arrived on his end since Mr. Dulberg's case was assigned to me for the defense of Mr. and Mrs. McGuire. I do not anticipating any lien notices, but just wanted to be safe.

I understand that you intend to run my settlement proposal by Mr. Dulberg. I look forward to hearing from you once you have had a chance to confer with him.

Very truly yours,

SUBJECT: PAUL DULBERG

On November 20, 2013, I met with Paul and his friend to discuss the McGuire's $5,000 settlement offer and other issues with regard to this case. I also told them there is a dispute as to McGuire's liability, as they maintain that they were not directing Dave's work. Paul maintains that the McGuire's controlled everything that Dave was doing. I told him that that's not what the evidence seems to show. I told them the McGuire's could possibly get out of the case on motion, and the alternative is to accept the $5,000 offer. Paul wants to read the deps of the McGuire's and also wants us to order his and Dave's dep to review. I agreed to do so.

By copy of this memo, I ask Sheila to order copies of Paul and Dave's deps. I think defense counsel ordered them, so all we need to do is get copies. Please let me know if the copies have not been already ordered so we don't have to order the originals.

debridement and skin grafting. In Fomond, a two-and-one-half-year-old girl sustained third-degree burns that required at least seven surgeries, including two skin grafts and continued physical therapy even several years after receiving the burns. In Negrete, a 17-month-old baby boy sustained burns from hot water, resulting in permanent scarring across 60% of his body and, due to the burning of his genital area, possible permanent damage to his reproductive capacity. In Rogers, the defendant poured grain alcohol on top of the female victim's head and then threw a lit match at her, causing her head, face, chest and pants to ignite.

In light of the above-cited case law, I would reverse defendant's conviction for heinous battery.

Defendant was properly convicted of aggravated battery against a child, however, no sentence was imposed for that crime. If a reviewing court reverses a conviction on which the sentence was imposed, it can remand for sentencing on a conviction on which no sentence was imposed. Such process has been approved in People v. Dizon, 91 Ill.2d 346, 63 Ill.Dec. 442, 438 N.E.2d 180 (1982) and People v. Frantz, 150 Ill.App.3d 296, 300, 103 Ill.Dec. 649, 501 N.E.2d 966 (1986) ("[i]f the reviewing court acts to affirm the incomplete judgment of conviction, the reviewing court then must remand the cause for imposition of sentence").

No. 1–95–0447.

Appellate Court of Illinois,
First District, Fifth Division.

Aug. 9, 1996.

Independent contractor who was injured when loading telephone company's battery hoist for transport brought negligence action against telephone company. The Circuit Court, Cook County, Anthony J. Bosco, J., granted summary judgment for telephone company. Contractor appealed. The Appellate Court, Gordon, J., held that: (1) contractor's motion for reconsideration was timely; (2) telephone company had not voluntarily undertaken duty to properly maintain and secure battery hoist for transport; (3) telephone company was not liable as gratuitous bailor; and (4) trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying contractor's motion to amend his complaint.

Affirmed.

1. Judgment ⇐321, 386(1)

Posttrial motion must be filed within 30 days of final judgment or trial court will lose jurisdiction to modify or vacate final order which it entered after lapse of 30 days. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2–1203.

2. Motions ⇐39

Motion to reconsider is posttrial motion, and therefore falls within purview of post-judgment motions which must be filed within 30 days after challenged judgment is entered. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2–1203.

3. Appeal and Error ⇐344

Only if posttrial motion is timely filed will it extend time for filing notice of appeal. Sup.Ct.Rules, Rule 303(a)(1).

4. Judgment ⇐186

Motion to reconsider filed within 30 days of entry of summary judgment was timely, although no certificate of service was filed until well after 30 days of entry of summary judgment. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2–1203; Sup. Ct.Rules, Rule 104.

Negligence ⇐1

To withstand motion for summary judg- ent in action based in negligence, plaintiff ust allege facts sufficient to show that de- ndant owed him a duty, that defendant reached that duty, and that his injury proxi- ately resulted from that breach.

Negligence ⇐20

Telephone company did not voluntarily ndertake duty to properly maintain and se- re its battery hoist for transport, where dependent contractor, who was injured by ist when loading it for transport as result loosening of strap securing motor, had tal discretion in preparing and moving ist, and there was no evidence that tele- one company had strapped motor, that rapping was undertaken as protection for ntractor, or that contractor relied upon fety of strapping. Bailment ⇐35

Telephone company was not liable as ratuitous bailor for injuries sustained by dependent contractor when strap securing otor on battery hoist loosened when con- ractor was loading hoist for transport, here contractor presented no evidence oth- r than inadmissible hearsay rumors to show either defect in hoist or that telephone company knew or should have known of any dangerous propensities in hoist.

12. Appeal and Error ⇐169

Contentions not raised in trial court are waived on appeal, even in summary judgment case.

13. Bailment ⇐9, 21

Gratuitous bailor may be liable for physical harm caused by use of chattel when he knows or has reason to know that chattel is or is likely to be dangerous when put to use for which it was supplied, has no reason to believe that those for whose use chattel is supplied will realize its dangerous condition, and fails to exercise reasonable care to inform user of its dangerous condition or of facts which make it likely to be dangerous.

14. Judgment ⇐185(1)

Unsubstantiated hearsay statements cannot be considered in ruling on motion for summary judgment.

15. Pleading ⇐236(6)

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying motion of independent contractor, who was injured when loading telephone company's battery hoist for transport, to amend his complaint to allege more specifically facts that there was voluntary undertaking by telephone company, after trial court granted summary judgment for telephone company, where issue was not that complaint was deficient in its framing of issues but that evidence presented in support of voluntary undertaking theory failed to establish genuine issue of material fact, and amendment would be prejudicial to telephone company in that amendment was sought on eve of trial and five years after inception of lawsuit, with no explanation as to why contractor never before attempted to develop facts necessary to withstand telephone company's summary judgment motion.

Justice GORDON delivered the opinion of the Court:

This is an action for damages brought by the plaintiff, Fernando Lajato, arising from injuries he incurred while working as an independent contractor for third-party defendant Quinn Delivery Service, Inc. (Quinn) to move a battery hoist owned by defendant AT & T. AT & T filed a contingent third-party complaint against Quinn, not at issue in this appeal, seeking indemnification pursuant to the delivery service contract between Quinn and AT & T, in the event plaintiff recovered a judgment in his tort action against AT & T. AT & T subsequently filed a motion for summary judgment against plaintiff which the trial court granted. In that order, the court also denied plaintiff's oral motion requesting leave to amend his complaint. Subsequently, plaintiff filed a motion to reconsider, which the court ultimately struck by reason of its alleged lack of jurisdiction to hear it. Plaintiff appeals from the orders granting summary judgment to AT & T, denying his motion to amend his complaint, and refusing to hear his motion to reconsider. AT & T has moved to dismiss this appeal for lack of appellate jurisdiction.

In November 1989, plaintiff filed a complaint against AT & T, wherein he alleged that on July 1, 1988, he was on the premises of AT & T on behalf of Quinn in order to move an AT & T battery hoist. The complaint further alleged that while performing that task, the hoist fell upon him, causing him injuries for which he sought damages. The complaint averred that AT & T was negligent in its failure to maintain, inspect, and repair the battery hoist, and for AT & T's failure to warn plaintiff of the propensity of the hoist to fall. In April 1990, AT & T filed its answer, specifically denying each basis for recovery alleged in plaintiff's complaint. The matter was scheduled for trial in June 1995.

On April 25, 1994, AT & T filed a motion for summary judgment, alleging that, based upon the undisputed facts, it was clear that [illegible] owed no duty of care to plaintiff with respect to his injuries. In support of its motion, AT & T submitted excerpts of the deposition testimony of plaintiff and a copy of the delivery services contract between AT & T and Quinn. In his deposition, plaintiff testified that on the date of the accident, July 1, 1988, he was making pick-ups and deliveries of telephone equipment at various AT & T locations as an independent contractor for Quinn. He stated that he had received instructions from Quinn via radio to go to an AT & T property in Rolling Meadows, Illinois, the scene of the accident, to pick up a battery hoist and to transport it to another AT & T location in Rockford, Illinois. Approximately 99% of plaintiff's delivery work for Quinn involved pick-ups and deliveries of AT & T equipment. The plaintiff stated that AT & T did not direct him in his moving work, but rather, allowed him to use his own expertise to determine how each move would be accomplished.

Plaintiff further testified that the battery hoist, which weighs approximately [illegible] pounds, was used to lift batteries weighing approximately 300 pounds up onto shelves. Plaintiff described the hoist as being rectangular in shape, on wheels, and consisting of a large, black metal frame with a motor and hoist accessories suspended from the middle of the frame. The hanging motor and accessories could be pulled to one side of the hoist frame and secured thereto with a nylon strap and a chain, both of which were permanently attached to the hoist, in order to stabilize the hoist during transport and when not in use to perform its battery-lifting function. It was plaintiff's customary practice to inspect the hoist to ensure that the motor and accessories were firmly secured with the strap and the chain prior to moving the hoist. Plaintiff had moved this particular hoist on at least 10-15 different occasions.

Plaintiff's deposition further revealed that when he reached the AT & T Rolling Meadows location, an AT & T employee directed him to the hoist, and that after that brief conversation, plaintiff had no further discussions with anyone, AT & T employees or otherwise, until after the accident. [illegible] intiff approached the hoist, he observed t its motor and accessories were already apped and secured to the hoist's frame. also testified that he personally examined strap to ensure that the hanging appara- was firmly secured to the frame of the st with the nylon strap and the motor ain before attempting to move the hoist. intiff then wheeled the hoist to the back his truck and onto his truck's hydraulic lift form, which he had lowered to ground- el in order to lift the hoist into his truck. er raising the lift and the hoist from und-level up to the truck's bed, plaintiff bed into the truck bed and began to pull hoist into the bed.

Plaintiff further testified that while pulling hoist into the truck, the strap around the or and hoist accessories loosened for rea- beyond his knowledge, permitting the or and the accessories to swing free and weight of the hoist to shift towards him. ediately thereafter, the hoist fell onto tiff, causing him various injuries. Plain- stated that there were no known wit- es to the accident. He also stated that t, two months after the accident, he d from an AT & T installer that certain laborers at AT & T had told him that plaintiff's accident, they would not use hoist because it was unsafe, and that AT ultimately shipped the hoist back to the facturer.

addition to plaintiff's deposition testimo- AT & T submitted the Quinn–AT & T ery contract in support of its motion for mary judgment. That contract reveals Quinn, through its own independent con- tors, performed moving services for de- ant AT & T. The contract required n to eceive, pick up, load, transport, unload, d deliver telephone equipment and other terial (the "Material"), and perform the er services provided for in this agree- ent as ordered by [AT & T] from April 1, 87 to March 31, 1989."

contract further provided that Quinn or gents

hall have the sole and exclusive care, ustody and control of the Material from the time it is tendered to [Quinn], [Quinn's] agents or servants, until it is delivered to and accepted by [AT & T] * * *."

In his response to AT & T's motion for summary judgment, plaintiff argued that AT & T had voluntarily assumed and breached a duty to him to keep its premises safe and to maintain the hoist such that it would not do harm to those moving it. In support of his position, plaintiff attached additional excerpts from his own deposition, pointing to his testimony that the AT & T hoist's motor and accessories were already secured to the frame of the hoist by the nylon strap and the motor chain when he arrived at the site to move the hoist. He also referred to his testimony that there was no motor lock securing the motor to the frame, and that the motor and accessories would not have swung free after the strap loosened if there had been such a motor lock.

In a hearing on July 27, 1994, the trial court granted AT & T's motion for summary judgment with prejudice. Later at that same hearing, the trial court heard plaintiff's oral request for leave to amend his complaint pursuant to section 2–1005(g) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure (735 ILCS 5/2–1005(g) (West 1994)), where plaintiff argued that he should be allowed to amend his complaint to show that AT & T voluntarily undertook to secure the hoist and did so negligently. The court denied plaintiff's motion to amend, stating as its reason that "[i]t's an '89 case."

On August 25, 1994, within 30 days of the July 27 order granting summary judgment and denying leave to amend, plaintiff filed a motion to reconsider. However, plaintiff did not serve AT & T with that motion until September 18, 1994, at which time he transmitted that motion to AT & T via facsimile at AT & T's request. No notice of motion was served upon AT & T until November 9, 1994, and plaintiff did not file a certificate of service for that motion until November 17, 1994.

AT & T subsequently filed a motion objecting to plaintiff's motion to reconsider, arguing that the trial court had no jurisdiction to hear it based on plaintiff's failure to file a proof of service within 30 days of the July 27 order. On January 13, 1995, the trial court sustained AT & T's objection, finding that it had no jurisdiction to hear plaintiff's motion to reconsider, and therefore did not address the merits of that motion. On January 25, 1995, within 30 days of the trial court's January 13 order, plaintiff filed his notice of appeal, both from that order and from the July 27, 1994 order granting summary judgment and denying plaintiff leave to amend.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Plaintiff contends on appeal that the trial court erred in granting summary judgment because by improperly securing the battery hoist for transport, AT & T negligently performed a voluntary undertaking, and because as a gratuitous bailor, AT & T knew the hoist was dangerous yet failed to inform plaintiff of its dangerous condition. Plaintiff also contends that the trial court abused its discretion in denying him leave to amend his complaint after the grant of summary judgment.

I. JURISDICTION:

Before reaching plaintiff's contentions on appeal, we must first address defendant's motion to dismiss this appeal for want of appellate jurisdiction. Bell Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Bank of Ravenswood, 203 Ill.App.3d 219, 148 Ill.Dec. 559, 560 N.E.2d 1156 (1990). In its motion to dismiss, AT & T contends that plaintiff's failure to file a proof of service with its August 25, 1994 motion to reconsider prevents this court from reviewing either of the trial court's July 27 or January 13 orders. Defendant argues, somewhat obliquely, that plaintiff's motion to reconsider should not be considered as being timely filed, because it was not accompanied by a proof of service, and as a result, the trial court was correct in stating that it had no jurisdiction to consider it. Consequently, defendant would urge that the motion to reconsider did not have the effect of extending the time for filing plaintiff's notice of appeal beyond the initial 30 day period following entry of the summary judgment order. See Illinois Supreme Court Rule 303(a)(1) (155 Ill.2d R. 303(a)(1)) (discussed more fully below). We disagree.

[1–3] Under Supreme Court Rule 303(a)(1), a notice of appeal must be filed within 30 days after the entry of the final judgment from which the appeal is taken, or, if a timely post-trial motion directed at the judgment is filed, within 30 days after entry of the order disposing of the last pending post-trial motion. (134 Ill.2d R. 303(a)(1)). Under section 2–1203 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure, a post-trial motion must be filed within 30 days of a final judgment. 735 ILCS 5/2–1203 (West 1994). Otherwise, the trial court will lose jurisdiction to modify or vacate the final order which it entered after the lapse of 30 days. Archer Daniels Midland Co. v. Barth, 103 Ill.2d 536, 83 Ill.Dec. 332, 470 N.E.2d 290 (1984); In Matter of Application of County Treasurer, 208 Ill. App.3d 561, 153 Ill.Dec. 528, 567 N.E.2d 486 (1990). A motion to reconsider is a post-trial motion (Elmhurst Auto Parts v. Fencl–Tufo Chevrolet, 235 Ill.App.3d 88, 175 Ill.Dec. 771, 600 N.E.2d 1229 (1992)), and therefore "falls within the purview of post-judgment motions which must be filed within 30 days after the challenged judgment is entered." Sho–Deen, Inc. v. Michel, 263 Ill.App.3d 288, 290, 200 Ill.Dec. 729, 732, 635 N.E.2d 1068, 1071 (1994). Only if a post-trial motion is timely filed pursuant to section 2–1203 will it extend the time for filing the notice of appeal under Rule 303(a). In Matter of Application of County Treasurer.

[4] Thus, the question as to whether the appellant's notice of appeal was filed beyond the 30 day period allowed under Rule 303(a), thereby depriving this court of its jurisdiction, depends upon whether the failure to file a certificate of service vitiated the filing of the plaintiff's motion to reconsider. If we determine that the filing of plaintiff's motion to reconsider on August 25 within 30 days after the July 27 summary judgment order was timely, notwithstanding the failure to file an accompanying certificate of service within that 30–day period, then plaintiff's notice of appeal from both the July 27 and the January 13 orders was timely. This would follow under Rule 303(a), since the notice of appeal was filed on January 25, within 30 days after the trial court's disposition on January 13 of plaintiff's motion to reconsider. On the other hand, if the trial court was correct in its determination that under section 2–1203, the timely filing of a certificate of service is jurisdictional, [illegible] reconsider cannot [illegible] timely filed, then [illegible] case, filed more tha[n] entry of the summa[ry] be untimely pursu[ant] leave this court w[ith]out tion.

[5] Defendant next would urge that if we determine that the January 13 order is reviewable, we should confine our review solely to the correctness of the trial court's denial of its jurisdiction over the motion to reconsider. Defendant contends that if we find that the trial court's jurisdictional determination was erroneous, we should remand the matter to the trial court to allow the trial court to first consider the merit of that motion. We disagree for the same reasons as articulated in Myers v. Health Specialists, S.C., 225 Ill.App.3d 68, 167 Ill.Dec. 225, 587 N.E.2d 494 (1992). There, the court stated as follows:

> "Defendant initially urges us, without citation to authority, to remand this matter to the circuit court because that court did not address the merits of plaintiff's motion. This argument betrays a misperception of the nature both of the question presented and of our review. As noted above, we consider summary judgment orders de novo: we, like the circuit court, must decide only whether the parties' pleadings and other submissions present an issue of triable fact and if not, whether plaintiff is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. This is a question of law, not of fact." Myers v. Health Specialists, S.C., 225 Ill.App.3d 68, 76, 167 Ill.Dec. 225, 231, 587 N.E.2d 494, 500 (1992).

Here, too, the grant of summary judgment is subject to de novo review, requiring our de novo determination whether the submissions of the parties presented triable issues of fact and if not whether defendant was entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Thus, here, as in Myers, we may consider this appeal on its merits without the necessity of a remand.

II. MERITS:

[6] As noted earlier, plaintiff contends on appeal that the trial court erred in granting summary judgment because the facts are sufficient to create an inference that AT & T voluntarily assumed a duty to properly secure the battery hoist for transport, a duty which was breached as a result of AT & T's negligence. Additionally, plaintiff contends, for the first time on appeal, that there was error in granting summary judgment because the facts are sufficient to create an inference that as a gratuitous bailor, AT & T knew the hoist was dangerous yet failed to inform plaintiff of its dangerous condition. Plaintiff also contends that even if summary judgment was properly entered in favor of AT & T under the issues framed by the existing complaint, the trial court abused its discretion in denying him leave to amend his complaint pursuant to section 2–1005(g) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure (735 ILCS 5/2–1005(g) (West 1994)).[1]

[7, 8] We first address plaintiff's contention that the trial court erred in entering summary judgment pursuant to the issues framed by the existing complaint. Summary judgment is proper when the pleadings, depositions and affidavits on file, construed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, establish that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See generally 735 ILCS 5/2–1005 (West 1994); First State Insurance Co. v. Montgomery Ward & Co., 267 Ill.App.3d 851, 204 Ill.Dec. 814, 642 N.E.2d 715 (1994); Torres v. City of Chicago, 261 Ill.App.3d 499, 197 Ill.Dec. 985, 632 N.E.2d 54 (1994); Giannoble v. P & M Heating & Air Conditioning, Inc., 233 Ill.App.3d 1051, 175 Ill.Dec. 169, 598 N.E.2d 1183 (1992). Appellate review of an order granting summary judgment is de novo. E.g., Hesselink v. R.L. Perlow Corp., 265 Ill.App.3d 478, 202 Ill.Dec. 36, 637 N.E.2d 575 (1994); La Salle National Bank v. Skidmore, Owings & Merrill, 262 Ill.App.3d 899, 200 Ill.Dec. 225, 635 N.E.2d 564

1. As previously noted, at the trial level, plaintiff urged liability both on the basis of premises liability and the law governing voluntary undertakings. Plaintiff has conceded on appeal that he cannot base his action against AT & T upon a theory of premises liability as a matter of law, due to the holding in Pagano v. Occidental Chemical Corp., 257 Ill.App.3d 905, 913, 196 Ill.Dec. 24, 30, 629 N.E.2d 569, 575 (1994), insofar as he incurred his injuries in the bed of his truck, and not due to any condition of AT & T's premises. See also Jackson v. Hilton Hotels Corp., 271 Ill.App.3d 457, 214 Ill.Dec. 31, 660 N.E.2d 222 (1995) (in action based on premises liability, no duty to plaintiff existed where plaintiff failed to show that his injuries were caused by any condition of the premises).

jurisdictional, without which the motion to reconsider cannot be deemed to have been timely filed, then the notice of appeal in this case, filed more than three months after the entry of the summary judgment order, would be untimely pursuant to Rule 303(a) and leave this court without appellate jurisdiction.

The rule is clear that the absence of a certificate of service will not vitiate the filing of a motion to reconsider. This matter has been specifically preempted by Illinois Supreme Court Rule 104 (134 Ill.2d Rule 104), which provides at parts (b) and (d) as follows:

"(b) Filing of Papers and Proof of Service. Pleadings subsequent to the complaint, written motions, and other papers required to be filed shall be filed with the clerk with a certificate of counsel or other proof that copies have been served on all parties who have appeared * * *.

* * * * * *

(d) Failure to deliver or serve copies as required by this rule does not in any way impair the jurisdiction of the court over the person of any party, but the aggrieved party may obtain a copy from the clerk and the court shall order the offending party to reimburse the aggrieved party for the expense thereof." 134 Ill.2d R. 104(b), (d) (Emphasis added).

Thus, under Rule 104(d), the failure to deliver or serve copies does not impair the jurisdiction of the court. This rule has been applied to post-trial motions in In re Marriage of Collins, 154 Ill.App.3d 655, 107 Ill.Dec. 109, 506 N.E.2d 1000 (1987) and in Kollath v. Chicago Title and Trust Co., 24 Ill.App.3d 353, 321 N.E.2d 344 (1974), which held that the failure to include proof of service with a post-trial motion will not invalidate the motion or render it untimely.

Defendant contends that Rule 104(d) only addresses the failure to actually serve copies of the motion but does not address the failure to file a certificate of service. This contention is devoid of any rationale since a failure to serve will preclude the filing of a certificate, unless the movant seeks to perjure himself. Thus, if the failure to actually serve notice does not impair jurisdiction, then a fortiori, the failure to serve a certificate of service will not impair the validity or timeliness of the motion. See In re Marriage of Collins.

Defendant's reliance on Vlahakis v. Parker, 3 Ill.App.3d 126, 278 N.E.2d 523 (1971) (abstract of op.) and Ingrassia v. Ingrassia, 156 Ill.App.3d 483, 109 Ill.Dec. 68, 509 N.E.2d 729 (1987) is misplaced. Although Vlahakis reached a contrary result, it is clear that that opinion did not purport to in any way consider or confront the impact of Rule 104(d) in its determination. That opinion has therefore been distinguished and rejected on that basis in Kollath v. Chicago Title and Trust Co., 24 Ill.App.3d at 357–58, 321 N.E.2d at 348 ("Rule 104(d) renders a failure to comply with Rule 104(b) * * * non-jurisdictional * * * [and] the only cases decided since enactment of rule 104(d) which reached a contrary result [, including Vlahakis v. Parker,] did not consider that provision at all"). Likewise, the opinion in Ingrassia does not purport to consider rule 104(d) in its determination. Moreover, Ingrassia does not purport to deal with the validity or timeliness of the filing of a post-trial motion, but, rather, with the sufficiency of the notice of that motion when given to the opposing party only a few hours before the hearing on the motion. Hence, Ingrassia is not in point, since here there is no question that defendant had actual knowledge of the pendency of plaintiff's motion to reconsider well in advance of the scheduled hearing date on that motion.

Consequently, plaintiff's August 25 motion to reconsider, and therefore his January 25 notice of appeal, were seasonably filed, notwithstanding that no certificate of service was filed until long after 30 days had passed since summary judgment was entered on July 27. Since the August 25 motion was timely, the notice of appeal filed on January 25 complied with Rule 303(a) since it was filed within 30 days after the trial court disposed of the motion to reconsider, albeit on jurisdictional grounds, on January 13. Accordingly, our jurisdiction to review both the July 27 and January 13 orders of the trial court remains unimpaired.

(1994). To withstand a motion for summary judgment in an action based in negligence, a plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to show that the defendant owed him a duty, that defendant breached that duty, and that his injury proximately resulted from that breach. See DiBenedetto v. Flora Township, 153 Ill.2d 66, 178 Ill.Dec. 777, 605 N.E.2d 571 (1992); Ziemba v. Mierzwa, 142 Ill.2d 42, 153 Ill.Dec. 259, 566 N.E.2d 1365 (1991).

[9, 10] With respect to plaintiff's contention concerning AT & T's duty arising from its purported voluntary undertaking, section 323 of the Restatement (Second) of Torts provides as follows:

"One who undertakes, gratuitously or for consideration, to render services to another which he should recognize as necessary for the protection of the other's person or things, is subject to liability to the other for physical harm resulting from his failure to exercise reasonable care to perform his undertaking, if

(a) his failure to exercise such care increases the risk of such harm, or

(b) the harm is suffered because of the other's reliance upon the undertaking." Restatement (Second) of Torts § 323, at 135 (1965).

See generally, Cross v. Wells Fargo Alarm Services, 82 Ill.2d 313, 45 Ill.Dec. 121, 412 N.E.2d 472 (1980); Jackson v. Hilton Hotels Corp., 277 Ill.App.3d 457, 214 Ill.Dec. 31, 660 N.E.2d 222 (1995). Whether a duty has been voluntarily undertaken is a question of law to be determined by the court. Gouge v. Central Illinois Public Service Co., 144 Ill.2d 535, 163 Ill.Dec. 842, 582 N.E.2d 108 (1991); Jackson v. Hilton Hotels Corp.

In the instant case, plaintiff has failed to allege facts sufficient to establish in the first instance that defendant voluntarily assumed or undertook any duty to properly maintain and secure the battery hoist for transport. First, it is undisputed that AT & T had neither control nor influence over the manner in which plaintiff, an independent contractor retained by Quinn (who was also an independent contractor), readied or moved the hoist, and that plaintiff had total discretion in preparing and moving the hoist. Moreover, plaintiff did not submit any evidence that AT & T strapped the motor to the hoist, nor any evidence regarding whether the strapping was undertaken as protection for the plaintiff. Lastly, and more overridingly, even if we were to presume that the strapping was effected by AT & T, there is no evidence whatsoever submitted by plaintiff that he relied upon the safety of that strapping. In fact, the record is clear that plaintiff himself checked the strapping of the motor to ensure it was fastened securely prior to moving the hoist, as was his customary practice when moving that particular hoist.

[11-13] Plaintiff urges that even if there is no basis for liability under a theory of voluntary undertaking, there is a basis established for liability under a theory of gratuitous bailment. In that regard, he contends that there is a genuine issue of material fact that AT & T, as a gratuitous bailor of the hoist, breached a duty to plaintiff to provide a safe hoist or to warn plaintiff of its dangers. We first note that contentions not raised in the trial court are waived on appeal, even in a summary judgment case. Witek v. Leisure Technology Midwest, Inc., 39 Ill.App.3d 637, 640, 350 N.E.2d 242, 245 (1976) ("This rule of waiver applies even in a summary judgment case"); Wilson v. Gorski's Food Fair, 196 Ill.App.3d 612, 143 Ill.Dec. 477, 554 N.E.2d 412 (1990). However, even if the argument were preserved, we note that there was no evidence presented that AT & T breached a duty to plaintiff as a gratuitous bailor of the hoist.

"[A] gratuitous bailor may be liable for physical harm caused by the use of his chattel when he knows or has reason to know that the chattel is or is likely to be dangerous when put to the use for which it is supplied; has no reason to believe that those for whose use the chattel is supplied will realize its dangerous condition; and fails to exercise reasonable care to inform the user of its dangerous condition or of the facts which make it likely to be dangerous." Pagano v. Occidental Chemical Corp., 257 Ill.App.3d 905, 913, 196 Ill.Dec. 24, 30, 629 N.E.2d 569, 575 (1994).

[14] Plaintiff has not produced evidence as to any specific defect either in the design or manufacture of the hoist itself which would indicate that AT & T had actual or constructive knowledge that the hoist was unsafe when it was handed over to plaintiff. Plaintiff himself did not testify as to the condition of the hoist except to say that the strap loosened. The only other evidence that plaintiff has presented consists of unsubstantiated hearsay statements. In that regard, plaintiff testified in his deposition to a conversation which took place after the accident with an AT & T installer who told plaintiff that certain other fellow employees had stated that after plaintiff's accident they refused to use the hoist because it was unsafe, and that AT & T ultimately returned the hoist to its manufacturer. However, plaintiff was unable to identify those other AT & T employees, and he did not provide any further detail regarding the specific contents of their statements. Such unsubstantiated hearsay statements cannot be considered in a ruling on a motion for summary judgment. See Certified Mechanical Contractors, Inc. v. Wight & Co., Inc., 162 Ill.App.3d 391, 113 Ill.Dec. 888, 515 N.E.2d 1047 (1987) (in deciding a motion for summary judgment, court should ignore personal conclusions, opinions and self-serving statements and consider only facts admissible in evidence under the rules of evidence); Seefeldt v. Millikin National Bank of Decatur, 154 Ill.App.3d 715, 107 Ill.Dec. 161, 506 N.E.2d 1052 (1987) (although a complaint may purport to raise an issue of material fact, summary judgment is appropriate if such issue is not further supported by evidentiary facts, and in determining the genuineness of a fact, a court should ignore personal conclusions and opinions and consider only admissible facts).

Plaintiff's reliance on Pagano is not well taken. There, the court on appeal did find an issue of fact as to whether a defective dolly supplied by the defendant to help move certain barrel drums of ink rendered the defendant liable under a theory of gratuitous bailment. However, in that case, plaintiff gave direct testimony as to specific, observable defects in the dolly which, if believed, would establish that the dolly was defective. Here, aside from the inadmissible hearsay rumors which were reported, the plaintiff himself presented no evidence to show either a defect in the hoist or that AT & T knew or should have known of any dangerous propensities in the hoist. Consequently, the evidence presented here was not effective to support a counterinference for purposes of summary judgment.

[15] Plaintiff next contends that the trial court erred in its refusal in its July 27 order to allow him leave to amend his complaint to more specifically allege facts that there was a voluntary undertaking and that it was implemented negligently. We disagree.

Section 2-1005(g) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure (735 ILCS 5/2-1005(g) (West 1994)) provides as follows:

"(g) Amendment of pleading. Before or after the entry of a summary judgment, the court shall permit pleadings to be amended upon just and reasonable terms."

The allowance of an amendment to the pleadings is in the trial court's discretion, and reversible error can only be found if there is a manifest abuse of discretion. Loyola Academy v. S & S Roof Maintenance, Inc., 146 Ill.2d 263, 166 Ill.Dec. 882, 586 N.E.2d 1211 (1992). See also Misselhorn v. Doyle, 257 Ill.App.3d 983, 195 Ill.Dec. 881, 629 N.E.2d 189 (1994); Eyman v. McDonough District Hospital, 245 Ill.App.3d 394, 184 Ill.Dec. 502, 613 N.E.2d 819 (1993).

As noted, on July 27, immediately after the trial court entered summary judgment against him, plaintiff made an oral motion to amend his complaint, as follows:

"MR. JOHNSON [Plaintiff's attorney]: I set it out to specifics that they undertook the duty to secure the hoist and they negligently performed that duty and as a result Plaintiff was injured based upon the Nelson v. Pippen, Phillips [sic] case, that once undertakes a duty to do something, they do so negligently, and someone is injured they are absolutely liable.

The court denied plaintiff's motion to amend, stating that "It's an '89 case. I'll deny the motion [to amend]."

We first note that plaintiff never made the proposed amended complaint a part of the record on appeal, except for his oral proposal before the trial judge which, without any offers of new evidence, essentially duplicates the voluntary undertaking theory which has already been argued and rejected. Plaintiff's failure to include the proposed amendment and supporting facts therefor in the record could be found to constitute a waiver in this court of his right to have the denial of his request for leave to amend reviewed. See Mendelson v. Ben A. Borenstein & Co., 240 Ill.App.3d 605, 181 Ill.Dec. 114, 608 N.E.2d 87 (1992) (plaintiff's failure to tender amended complaint or to include it in the appellate record diminished the appellate court's ability to determine whether the proposed amendment would provide a viable theory against defendant, and constituted waiver of right to a review of the denial of his request for leave to amend). See also Ignar v. Norbut, 271 Ill.App.3d 522, 207 Ill.Dec. 2, 648 N.E.2d 285 (1995) (no abuse of discretion in denying motion for leave to amend complaint where movant orally moved to amend yet failed to submit proposed amendment to trial court).

Notwithstanding waiver, even if we were to review the amendment which plaintiff orally proposed, we would find no abuse of discretion by the trial court in denying plaintiff leave to amend. As already discussed, there is ample evidence before the trial court to support its conclusion that the facts in this case as revealed in the summary judgment submissions would not permit a pleading which could allege a valid cause of action. Moreover, by the same token, even if the complaint were amended to more specifically allege a voluntary undertaking as requested by the plaintiff, the allegations of the complaint would be superseded by the extrinsic facts already submitted which as noted would dictate for summary judgment. See Werckenthein v. Bucher Petrochemical Co., 248 Ill.App.3d 282, 188 Ill.Dec. 332, 618 N.E.2d 902 (1993) (where allegations in nonmovant's complaint are contravened by movant's extrinsic submissions in summary judgment proceedings, extrinsic submissions control); East Side Fire Protection District v. City of Belleville, 221 Ill.App.3d 654, 164 Ill.Dec. 192, 582 N.E.2d 755 (1991) (nonmovant must controvert proofs offered by movant in support of motion for summary judgment and cannot merely rest on pleadings); Seefeldt v. Millikin National Bank of Decatur. The issue here is not simply that plaintiff's complaint is deficient in its framing of the issues, but that, as discussed, the testimony and evidence presented in support of his negligent voluntary undertaking theory are deficient, and fall short of establishing a genuine issue of material fact such that judgment should not be entered as a matter of law on that theory of action.

Plaintiff's reliance on Loyola Academy v. S & S Roof Maintenance, Inc., 146 Ill.2d 263, 166 Ill.Dec. 882, 586 N.E.2d 1211 (1992) is not well taken. In Loyola, the court on appeal set forth four factors to determine whether the trial court had abused its discretion in denying a section 2–1005(g) amendment, including whether the proposed amendment would cure the defective pleading, whether it would cause prejudice or surprise to other parties, whether it was timely, and whether previous opportunities to amend the pleading could be identified.

Applying these factors in order, in the instant case the question of whether plaintiff's proposed amendment would cure the defective pleading is not relevant, because as already discussed, AT & T succeeded in its motion for summary judgment not because plaintiff's complaint was improperly pleaded, but because the evidence presented at summary judgment shows no genuine issue of material fact regarding the allegations in the complaint. Werckenthein v. Bucher Petrochemical Co.; East Side Fire Protection District v. City of Belleville. Taking the second and third Loyola factors together (whether there would be prejudice or surprise to AT & T and whether the proposed amendment was timely), the record is ample to support the trial court's determination that the allowance of an amendment would in fact be prejudicial to AT & T, insofar as the amendment was being sought on the eve of trial, five years after the inception of this lawsuit, with no explanation from plaintiff as to why he never before attempted to develop the facts which would be necessary to withstand AT & T's motion for summary judgment. See Mendelson v. Ben A. Borenstein & Co. (no abuse of discretion in denying leave to amend following grant of summary judgment where proposed amendment was sought beyond the pleading stages). See also Ignarski v. Norbut.

The final Loyola factor is whether plaintiff had sufficient prior opportunities to amend. To that extent, we note that plaintiff indeed had substantial opportunities to amend. Although plaintiff complains that AT & T never gave him notice of any deficiency in his complaint which would require amendment because AT & T never filed a motion to dismiss prior to filing its motion for summary judgment, it is axiomatic that a party can amend its pleading on its own motion. See 3 R. Michael, Illinois Practice, ch. 26, at 446 (West 1989). The case of Evans v. United Bank of Illinois, N.A., 226 Ill.App.3d 526, 168 Ill.Dec. 533, 589 N.E.2d 933 (1992), upon which plaintiff relies, does give credence to plaintiff's contention under the fourth Loyola factor that the failure of AT & T to challenge his pleadings prior to its motion for summary judgment deprived plaintiff of any prior opportunity to amend. However, we note that in Evans the court on appeal did not rely on that factor alone in finding that the trial court abused its discretion in denying the plaintiff in that case leave to amend, but found that all of the Loyola factors supported that plaintiff's motion for leave to amend.

In any event, even if plaintiff were correct in his reliance upon Evans, we need not consider its application here. As already discussed, the issue here is not whether the allegations of the complaint were sufficient to state a cause of action based upon a voluntary undertaking theory, but whether the facts adduced were sufficient to create an inference to support such allegations. See Werckenthein v. Bucher Petrochemical Co.; East Side Fire Protection District v. City Belleville. As previously noted, the fa submitted here are insufficient to raise su an inference. Hence, we find that the tr court's denial of the motion to amend was an abuse of discretion. See Regas v. Asso ated Radiologists, Ltd., 230 Ill.App.3d 9 172 Ill.Dec. 553, 595 N.E.2d 1223 (19 (where a cause of action cannot be sta even after amendment, leave to am should be denied).

laintiff approached the hoist, he observed t its motor and accessories were already apped and secured to the hoist's frame. e also testified that he personally examined e strap to ensure that the hanging appara- was firmly secured to the frame of the st with the nylon strap and the motor ain before attempting to move the hoist. laintiff then wheeled the hoist to the back his truck and onto his truck's hydraulic lift form, which he had lowered to ground- el in order to lift the hoist into his truck. er raising the lift and the hoist from ound-level up to the truck's bed, plaintiff bed into the truck bed and began to pull hoist into the bed.

Plaintiff further testified that while pulling hoist into the truck, the strap around the or and hoist accessories loosened for rea- beyond his knowledge, permitting the r and the accessories to swing free and weight of the hoist to shift towards him. ediately thereafter, the hoist fell onto tiff, causing him various injuries. Plain- stated that there were no known wit- s to the accident. He also stated that two months after the accident, he d from an AT & T installer that certain laborers at AT & T had told him that plaintiff's accident, they would not use hoist because it was unsafe, and that AT ultimately shipped the hoist back to the facturer.

addition to plaintiff's deposition testimo- AT & T submitted the Quinn–AT & T ry contract in support of its motion for ary judgment. That contract reveals Quinn, through its own independent con- ors, performed moving services for de- nt AT & T. The contract required n to eceive, pick up, load, transport, unload, d deliver telephone equipment and other terial (the "Material"), and perform the her services provided for in this agree- nt as ordered by [AT & T] from April 1, 87 to March 31, 1989."

contract further provided that Quinn or gents

hall have the sole and exclusive care, ustody and control of the Material from the time it is tendered to [Quinn], [Quinn's] agents or servants, until it is delivered to and accepted by [AT & T] * * *."

In his response to AT & T's motion for summary judgment, plaintiff argued that AT & T had voluntarily assumed and breached a duty to him to keep its premises safe and to maintain the hoist such that it would not do harm to those moving it. In support of his position, plaintiff attached additional excerpts from his own deposition, pointing to his testimony that the AT & T hoist's motor and accessories were already secured to the frame of the hoist by the nylon strap and the motor chain when he arrived at the site to move the hoist. He also referred to his testimony that there was no motor lock securing the motor to the frame, and that the motor and accessories would not have swung free after the strap loosened if there had been such a motor lock.

In a hearing on July 27, 1994, the trial court granted AT & T's motion for summary judgment with prejudice. Later at that same hearing, the trial court heard plaintiff's oral request for leave to amend his complaint pursuant to section 2–1005(g) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure (735 1LCS 5/2–1005(g) (West 1994)), where plaintiff argued that he should be allowed to amend his complaint to show that AT & T voluntarily undertook to secure the hoist and did so negligently. The court denied plaintiff's motion to amend, stating as its reason that "[i]t's an '89 case."

On August 25, 1994, within 30 days of the July 27 order granting summary judgment and denying leave to amend, plaintiff filed a motion to reconsider. However, plaintiff did not serve AT & T with that motion until September 18, 1994, at which time he transmitted that motion to AT & T via facsimile at AT & T's request. No notice of motion was served upon AT & T until November 9, 1994, and plaintiff did not file a certificate of service for that motion until November 17, 1994.

AT & T subsequently filed a motion objecting to plaintiff's motion to reconsider, arguing that the trial court had no jurisdiction to hear it based on plaintiff's failure to file a proof of service within 30 days of the July 27 order. On January 13, 1995, the trial court debridement and skin grafting. In Fomond, a two-and-one-half-year-old girl sustained third-degree burns that required at least seven surgeries, including two skin grafts and continued physical therapy even several years after receiving the burns. In Negrete, a 17-month-old baby boy sustained burns from hot water, resulting in permanent scarring across 60% of his body and, due to the burning of his genital area, possible permanent damage to his reproductive capacity. In Rogers, the defendant poured grain alcohol on top of the female victim's head and then threw a lit match at her, causing her head, face, chest and pants to ignite.

In light of the above-cited case law, I would reverse defendant's conviction for heinous battery.

Defendant was properly convicted of aggravated battery against a child, however, no sentence was imposed for that crime. If a reviewing court reverses a conviction on which the sentence was imposed, it can remand for sentencing on a conviction on which no sentence was imposed. Such process has been approved in People v. Dixon, 91 Ill.2d 346, 63 Ill.Dec. 442, 438 N.E.2d 180 (1982) and People v. Frantz, 150 Ill.App.3d 296, 300, 103 Ill.Dec. 649, 501 N.E.2d 966 (1986) ("[i]f the reviewing court acts to affirm the incomplete judgment of conviction, the reviewing court then must remand the cause for imposition of sentence").

Independent contractor who was injured when loading telephone company's battery hoist for transport brought negligence action against telephone company. The Circuit Court, Cook County, Anthony J. Justice GORDON delivered the opinion of the Court:

This is an action for damages brought by the plaintiff, Fernando Lajato, arising from injuries he incurred while working as an independent contractor for third-party defendant Quinn Delivery Service, Inc. (Quinn) to move a battery hoist owned by defendant AT & T. AT & T filed a contingent third-party complaint against Quinn, not at issue in this appeal, seeking indemnification pursuant to the delivery service contract between Quinn and AT & T, in the event plaintiff recovered a judgment in his tort action against AT & T. AT & T subsequently filed a motion for summary judgment against plaintiff which the trial court granted. In that order, the court also denied plaintiff's oral motion requesting leave to amend his complaint. Subsequently, plaintiff filed a motion to reconsider, which the court ultimately struck by reason of its alleged lack of jurisdiction to hear it. Plaintiff appeals from the orders granting summary judgment to AT & T, denying his motion to amend his complaint, and refusing to hear his motion to reconsider. AT & T has moved to dismiss this appeal for lack of appellate jurisdiction.

In November 1989, plaintiff filed a complaint against AT & T, wherein he alleged that on July 1, 1988, he was on the premises of AT & T on behalf of Quinn in order to move an AT & T battery hoist. The complaint further alleged that while performing that task, the hoist fell upon him, causing him injuries for which he sought damages. The complaint averred that AT & T was negligent in its failure to maintain, inspect, and repair the battery hoist, and for AT & T's failure to warn plaintiff of the propensity of the hoist to fall. In April 1990, AT & T filed its answer, specifically denying each basis for recovery alleged in plaintiff's complaint. The matter was scheduled for trial in June 1995.

On April 25, 1994, AT & T filed a motion for summary judgment, alleging that, based upon the undisputed facts, it was clear that [illegible] owed no duty of care to plaintiff with respect to his injuries. In support of its motion, AT & T submitted excerpts of the deposition testimony of plaintiff and a copy of the delivery services contract between AT & T and Quinn. In his deposition, plaintiff testified that on the date of the accident, July 1, 1988, he was making pick-ups and deliveries of telephone equipment at various AT & T locations as an independent contractor for Quinn. He stated that he had received instructions from Quinn via radio to go to an AT & T property in Rolling Meadows, Illinois, the scene of the accident, to pick up a battery hoist and to transport it to another AT & T location in Rockford, Illinois. Approximately 99% of plaintiff's delivery work for Quinn involved pick-ups and deliveries of AT & T equipment. The plaintiff stated that AT & T did not direct him in his moving work, but rather, allowed him to use his own expertise to determine how each move would be accomplished.

Plaintiff further testified that the battery hoist, which weighs approximately [illegible] pounds, was used to lift batteries weighing approximately 300 pounds up onto shelves. Plaintiff described the hoist as being rectangular in shape, on wheels, and consisting of a large, black metal frame with a motor and hoist accessories suspended from the middle of the frame. The hanging motor and accessories could be pulled to one side of the hoist frame and secured thereto with a nylon strap and a chain, both of which were attached to the hoist, in order to stabilize the hoist during transport and when not in use to perform its battery-lifting function. It was plaintiff's customary practice to inspect the hoist to ensure that the motor and accessories were firmly secured with the strap and the chain prior to moving the hoist. Plaintiff had moved this particular hoist on at least 10–15 different occasions.

Plaintiff's deposition further revealed that when he reached the AT & T Rolling Meadows location, an AT & T employee directed him to the hoist, and that after that brief conversation, plaintiff had no further discussions with anyone, AT & T employees or otherwise, until after the accident.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

sustained AT & T's objection, finding that it had no jurisdiction to hear plaintiff's motion to reconsider, and therefore did not address the merits of that motion. On January 25, 1995, within 30 days of the trial court's January 13 order, plaintiff filed his notice of appeal, both from that order and from the July 27, 1994 order granting summary judgment and denying plaintiff leave to amend.

Plaintiff contends on appeal that the trial court erred in granting summary judgment because by improperly securing the battery hoist for transport, AT & T negligently performed a voluntary undertaking, and because as a gratuitous bailor, AT & T knew the hoist was dangerous yet failed to inform plaintiff of its dangerous condition. Plaintiff also contends that the trial court abused its discretion in denying him leave to amend his complaint after the grant of summary judgment.

I. JURISDICTION:

Before reaching plaintiff's contentions on appeal, we must first address defendant's motion to dismiss this appeal for want of appellate jurisdiction. Bell Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Bank of Ravenswood, 203 Ill.App.3d 219, 148 Ill.Dec. 559, 560 N.E.2d 1156 (1990). In its motion to dismiss, AT & T contends that plaintiff's failure to file a proof of service with its August 25, 1994 motion to reconsider prevents this court from reviewing either of the trial court's July 27 or January 13 orders. Defendant argues, somewhat obliquely, that plaintiff's motion to reconsider should not be considered as being timely filed, because it was not accompanied by a proof of service, and as a result, the trial court was correct in stating that it had no jurisdiction to consider it. Consequently, defendant would urge that the motion to reconsider did not have the effect of extending the time for filing plaintiff's notice of appeal beyond the initial 30 day period following entry of the summary judgment order. See Illinois Supreme Court Rule 303(a)(1) (155 Ill.2d R. 303(a)(1)) (discussed more fully below). We disagree.

[1-3] Under Supreme Court Rule 303(a)(1), a notice of appeal must be filed within 30 days after the entry of the final judgment from which the appeal is taken, or, if a timely post-trial motion directed at the judgment is filed, within 30 days after entry of the order disposing of the last pending post-trial motion. (134 Ill.2d R. 303(a)(1)). Under section 2-1203 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure, a post-trial motion must be filed within 30 days of a final judgment. 735 ILCS 5/2-1203 (West 1994). Otherwise, the trial court will lose jurisdiction to modify or vacate the final order which it entered after the lapse of 30 days. Archer Daniels Midland Co. v. Barth, 103 Ill.2d 536, 83 Ill.Dec. 332, 470 N.E.2d 290 (1984); In Matter of Application of County Treasurer, 208 Ill. App.3d 561, 153 Ill.Dec. 528, 567 N.E.2d 486 (1990). A motion to reconsider is a post-trial motion (Elmhurst Auto Parts v. Fencl-Tufo Chevrolet, 235 Ill.App.3d 88, 175 Ill.Dec. 771, 600 N.E.2d 1229 (1992)), and therefore "falls within the purview of post-judgment motions which must be filed within 30 days after the challenged judgment is entered." Sho-Deen, Inc. v. Michel, 263 Ill.App.3d 288, 290, 200 Ill.Dec. 729, 732, 635 N.E.2d 1068, 1071 (1994). Only if a post-trial motion is timely filed pursuant to section 2-1203 will it extend the time for filing the notice of appeal under Rule 303(a). In Matter of Application of County Treasurer.

[4] Thus, the question as to whether the appellant's notice of appeal was filed beyond the 30 day period allowed under Rule 303(a), thereby depriving this court of its jurisdiction, depends upon whether the failure to file a certificate of service vitiated the filing of the plaintiff's motion to reconsider. If we determine that the filing of plaintiff's motion to reconsider on August 25 within 30 days after the July 27 summary judgment order was timely, notwithstanding the failure to file an accompanying certificate of service within that 30-day period, then plaintiff's notice of appeal from both the July 27 and the January 13 orders was timely. This would follow under Rule 303(a), since the notice of appeal was filed on January 25, within 30 days after the trial court's disposition on January 13 of plaintiff's motion to reconsider. On the other hand, if the trial court was correct in its determination that under section 2-1203, the timely filing of a certificate of service is dictional, without which the motion to consider cannot be deemed to have been ely filed, then the notice of appeal in this e, filed more than three months after the try of the summary judgment order, would untimely pursuant to Rule 303(a) and ve this court without appellate jurisdic-n.

The rule is clear that the absence of a tificate of service will not vitiate the filing a motion to reconsider. This matter has en specifically preempted by Illinois Su-me Court Rule 104 (134 Ill.2d Rule 104), ich provides at parts (b) and (d) as follows:

"(b) Filing of Papers and Proof of Service. Pleadings subsequent to the complaint, written motions, and other papers required to be filed shall be filed with the clerk with a certificate of counsel or other proof that copies have been served on all parties who have appeared * * *.

* * * * * *

(d) Failure to deliver or serve copies as required by this rule does not in any way impair the jurisdiction of the court over the person of any party, but the aggrieved party may obtain a copy from the clerk and the court shall order the offending party to reimburse the aggrieved party for the expense thereof." 134 Ill.2d R. 104(b), (d) (Emphasis added).

Thus, under Rule 104(d), the failure to liver or serve copies does not impair the isdiction of the court. This rule has been plied to post-trial motions in In re Mar-ge of Collins, 154 Ill.App.3d 655, 107 Ill. ec. 109, 506 N.E.2d 1000 (1987) and in ollath v. Chicago Title and Trust Co., 24 Ill.App.3d 353, 321 N.E.2d 344 (1974), which eld that the failure to include proof of ser-ce with a post-trial motion will not invali-ate the motion or render it untimely.

Defendant contends that Rule 104(d) only addresses the failure to actually serve copies of the motion but does not address the fail-ure to file a certificate of service. This con-tention is devoid of any rationale since a failure to serve will preclude the filing of a certificate, unless the movant seeks to per-jure himself. Thus, if the failure to actually serve notice does not impair jurisdiction, then a fortiori, the failure to serve a certifi-cate of service will not impair the validity or timeliness of the motion. See In re Mar-riage of Collins.

Defendant's reliance on Vlahakis v. Par-ker, 3 Ill.App.3d 126, 278 N.E.2d 523 (1971) (abstract of op.) and Ingrassia v. Ingrassia, 156 Ill.App.3d 483, 109 Ill.Dec. 68, 509 N.E.2d 729 (1987) is misplaced. Although Vlahakis reached a contrary result, it is clear that that opinion did not purport to in any way consider or confront the impact of Rule 104(d) in its determination. That opinion has therefore been distinguished and rejected on that basis in Kollath v. Chicago Title and Trust Co., 24 Ill.App.3d at 357–58, 321 N.E.2d at 348 ("Rule 104(d) renders a failure to comply with Rule 104(b) * * * non-jurisdictional * * * [and] the only cases decided since enactment of rule 104(d) which reached a contrary result [, including Vlahakis v. Parker,] did not consider that provision at all"). Likewise, the opinion in Ingrassia does not purport to consider rule 104(d) in its determination. Moreover, Ingrassia does not purport to deal with the validity or timeliness of the filing of a post-trial motion, but, rather, with the sufficiency of the notice of that motion when given to the opposing party only a few hours before the hearing on the motion. Hence, Ingrassia is not in point, since here there is no question that defendant had actual knowledge of the pendency of plaintiff's motion to reconsider well in advance of the scheduled hearing date on that motion.

Consequently, plaintiff's August 25 motion to reconsider, and therefore his January 25 notice of appeal, were seasonably filed, notwithstanding that no certificate of service was filed until long after 30 days had passed since summary judgment was entered on July 27. Since the August 25 motion was timely, the notice of appeal filed on January 25 complied with Rule 303(a) since it was filed within 30 days after the trial court disposed of the motion to reconsider, albeit on jurisdictional grounds, on January 13. Accordingly, our jurisdiction to review both the July 27 and January 13 orders of the trial court remains unimpaired.

[5] Defendant next would urge that if we determine that the January 13 order is reviewable, we should confine our review solely to the correctness of the trial court's denial of its jurisdiction over the motion to reconsider. Defendant contends that if we find that the trial court's jurisdictional determination was erroneous, we should remand the matter to the trial court to allow the trial court to first consider the merit of that motion. We disagree for the same reasons as articulated in Myers v. Health Specialists, S.C., 225 Ill.App.3d 68, 167 Ill.Dec. 225, 587 N.E.2d 494 (1992). There, the court stated as follows:

> "Defendant initially urges us, without citation to authority, to remand this matter to the circuit court because that court did not address the merits of plaintiff's motion. This argument betrays a misperception of the nature both of the question presented and of our review. As noted above, we consider summary judgment orders de novo: we, like the circuit court, must decide only whether the parties' pleadings and other submissions present an issue of triable fact and if not, whether plaintiff is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. This is a question of law, not of fact." Myers v. Health Specialists, S.C., 225 Ill.App.3d 68, 76, 167 Ill.Dec. 225, 231, 587 N.E.2d 494, 500 (1992).

Here, too, the grant of summary judgment is subject to de novo review, requiring our de novo determination whether the submissions of the parties presented triable issues of fact and if not whether defendant was entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Thus, here, as in Myers, we may consider this appeal on its merits without the necessity of a remand.

II. MERITS

[6] As noted earlier, plaintiff contends on appeal that the trial court erred in granting summary judgment because the facts are sufficient to create an inference that AT & T voluntarily assumed a duty to properly secure the battery hoist for transport, a duty which was breached as a result of AT & T's negligence. Additionally, plaintiff contends, for the first time on appeal, that there was error in granting summary judgment because the facts are sufficient to create an inference that as a gratuitous bailor, AT & T knew the hoist was dangerous yet failed to inform plaintiff of its dangerous condition. Plaintiff also contends that even if summary judgment was properly entered in favor of AT & T under the issues framed by the existing complaint, the trial court abused its discretion in denying him leave to amend his complaint pursuant to section 2–1005(g) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure (735 ILCS 5/2–1005(g) (West 1994)).[1]

[7, 8] We first address plaintiff's contention that the trial court erred in entering summary judgment pursuant to the issues framed by the existing complaint. Summary judgment is proper when the pleadings, depositions and affidavits on file, construed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, establish that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. See generally 735 ILCS 5/2–1005 (West 1994); First State Insurance Co. v. Montgomery Ward & Co., 267 Ill.App.3d 851, 204 Ill.Dec. 814, 642 N.E.2d 715 (1994); Torres v. City of Chicago, 261 Ill.App.3d 499, 197 Ill.Dec. 985, 632 N.E.2d 54 (1994); Giannoble v. P & M Heating & Air Conditioning, Inc., 233 Ill.App.3d 1051, 175 Ill.Dec. 169, 599 N.E.2d 1183 (1992). Appellate review of an order granting summary judgment is de novo. E.g., Hesselink v. R.L. Perlow Corp., 265 Ill.App.3d 473, 202 Ill.Dec. 36, 637 N.E.2d 575 (1994); La Salle National Bank v. Skidmore, Owings & Merrill, 262 Ill.App.3d 899, 200 Ill.Dec. 225, 635 N.E.2d 564

1. As previously noted, at the trial level, plaintiff urged liability both on the basis of premises liability and the law governing voluntary undertakings. Plaintiff has conceded on appeal that he cannot base his action against AT & T upon a theory of premises liability as a matter of law, due to the holding in Pagano v. Occidental Chemical Corp., 257 Ill.App.3d 905, 913, 196 Ill.Dec. 24, 30, 629 N.E.2d 569, 575 (1994), insofar as he incurred his injuries in the bed of his truck, and not due to any condition of AT & T's premises. See also Jackson v. Hilton Hotels Corp. 273 Ill.App.3d 457, 214 Ill.Dec. 31, 660 N.E.2d 222 (1995) (in action based on premises liability, no duty to plaintiff existed where plaintiff failed to show that his injuries were caused by any condition of the premises).

(1994). To withstand a motion for summary judgment in an action based in negligence, a plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to show that the defendant owed him a duty, that defendant breached that duty, and that his injury proximately resulted from that breach. See DiBenedetto v. Flora Township, 153 Ill.2d 66, 178 Ill.Dec. 777, 605 N.E.2d 571 (1992); Ziemba v. Mierzwa, 142 Ill.2d 42, 153 Ill.Dec. 259, 566 N.E.2d 1365 (1991).

[9, 10] With respect to plaintiff's contention concerning AT & T's duty arising from its purported voluntary undertaking, section 323 of the Restatement (Second) of Torts provides as follows:

"One who undertakes, gratuitously or for consideration, to render services to another which he should recognize as necessary for the protection of the other's person or things, is subject to liability to the other for physical harm resulting from his failure to exercise reasonable care to perform his undertaking, if

(a) his failure to exercise such care increases the risk of such harm, or

(b) the harm is suffered because of the other's reliance upon the undertaking." Restatement (Second) of Torts § 323, at 135 (1965).

See generally, Cross v. Wells Fargo Alarm Services, 82 Ill.2d 313, 45 Ill.Dec. 121, 412 N.E.2d 472 (1980); Jackson v. Hilton Hotels Corp., 277 Ill.App.3d 457, 214 Ill.Dec. 31, 660 N.E.2d 222 (1995). Whether a duty has been voluntarily undertaken is a question of law to be determined by the court. Gouge v. Central Illinois Public Service Co., 144 Ill.2d 535, 163 Ill.Dec. 842, 582 N.E.2d 108 (1991); Jackson v. Hilton Hotels Corp.

In the instant case, plaintiff has failed to allege facts sufficient to establish in the first instance that defendant voluntarily assumed or undertook any duty to properly maintain and secure the battery hoist for transport. First, it is undisputed that AT & T had neither control nor influence over the manner in which plaintiff, an independent contractor retained by Quinn (who was also an independent contractor), readied or moved the hoist, and that plaintiff had total discretion in preparing and moving the hoist. Moreover, plaintiff did not submit any evidence that AT & T strapped the motor to the hoist, nor any evidence regarding whether the strapping was undertaken as protection for the plaintiff. Lastly, and more overridingly, even if we were to presume that the strapping was effected by AT & T, there is no evidence whatsoever submitted by plaintiff that he relied upon the safety of that strapping. In fact, the record is clear that plaintiff himself checked the strapping of the motor to ensure it was fastened securely prior to moving the hoist, as was his customary practice when moving that particular hoist.

[11–13] Plaintiff urges that even if there is no basis for liability under a theory of voluntary undertaking, there is a basis established for liability under a theory of gratuitous bailment. In that regard, he contends that there is a genuine issue of material fact that AT & T, as a gratuitous bailor of the hoist, breached a duty to plaintiff to provide a safe hoist or to warn plaintiff of its dangers. We first note that contentions not raised in the trial court are waived on appeal, even in a summary judgment case. Witek v. Leisure Technology Midwest, Inc., 39 Ill.App.3d 637, 640, 350 N.E.2d 242, 245 (1976) ("This rule of waiver applies even in a summary judgment case"); Wilson v. Gorski's Food Fair, 196 Ill.App.3d 612, 143 Ill.Dec. 477, 554 N.E.2d 412 (1990). However, even if the argument were preserved, we note that there was no evidence presented that AT & T breached a duty to plaintiff as a gratuitous bailor of the hoist.

"[A] gratuitous bailor may be liable for physical harm caused by the use of his chattel when he knows or has reason to know that the chattel is or is likely to be dangerous when put to the use for which it is supplied; has no reason to believe that those for whose use the chattel is supplied will realize its dangerous condition; and fails to exercise reasonable care to inform the user of its dangerous condition or of the facts which make it likely to be dangerous." Pagano v. Occidental Chemical Corp., 257 Ill.App.3d 905, 913, 196 Ill.Dec. 24, 30, 629 N.E.2d 569, 575 (1994).

[14] Plaintiff has not produced evidence as to any specific defect either in the design or manufacture of the hoist itself which would indicate that AT & T had actual or constructive knowledge that the hoist was unsafe when it was handed over to plaintiff. Plaintiff himself did not testify as to the condition of the hoist except to say that the strap loosened. The only other evidence that plaintiff has presented consists of unsubstantiated hearsay statements. In that regard, plaintiff testified in his deposition to a conversation which took place after the accident with an AT & T installer who told plaintiff that certain other fellow employees had stated that after plaintiff's accident they refused to use the hoist because it was unsafe, and that AT & T ultimately returned the hoist to its manufacturer. However, plaintiff was unable to identify those other AT & T employees, and he did not provide any further detail regarding the specific contents of their statements. Such unsubstantiated hearsay statements cannot be considered in a ruling on a motion for summary judgment. See Certified Mechanical Contractors, Inc. v. Wight & Co., Inc., 162 Ill.App.3d 391, 113 Ill.Dec. 888, 515 N.E.2d 1047 (1987) (in deciding a motion for summary judgment, court should ignore personal conclusions, opinions and self-serving statements and consider only facts admissible in evidence under the rules of evidence); Seefeldt v. Millikin National Bank of Decatur, 154 Ill.App.3d 715, 107 Ill.Dec. 161, 506 N.E.2d 1052 (1987) (although a complaint may purport to raise an issue of material fact, summary judgment is appropriate if such issue is not further supported by evidentiary facts, and in determining the genuineness of a fact, a court should ignore personal conclusions and opinions and consider only admissible facts).

Plaintiff's reliance on Pagano is not well taken. There, the court on appeal did find an issue of fact as to whether a defective dolly supplied by the defendant to help move certain barrel drums of ink rendered the defendant liable under a theory of gratuitous bailment. However, in that case, plaintiff gave direct testimony as to specific, observable defects in the dolly which, if believed, would establish that the dolly was defective. Here, aside from the inadmissible hearsay rumors which were reported, the plaintiff himself presented no evidence to show either a defect in the hoist or that AT & T knew or should have known of any dangerous propensities in the hoist. Consequently, the evidence presented here was not effective to support a counterinference for purposes of summary judgment.

[15] Plaintiff next contends that the trial court erred in its refusal in its July 27 order to allow him leave to amend his complaint to more specifically allege facts that there was a voluntary undertaking and that it was implemented negligently. We disagree.

Section 2–1005(g) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure (735 ILCS 5/2–1005(g) (West 1994)) provides as follows:

"(g) Amendment of pleading. Before or after the entry of a summary judgment, the court shall permit pleadings to be amended upon just and reasonable terms."

The allowance of an amendment to the pleadings is in the trial court's discretion, and reversible error can only be found if there is a manifest abuse of discretion. Loyola Academy v. S & S Roof Maintenance, Inc., 146 Ill.2d 263, 166 Ill.Dec. 882, 586 N.E.2d 1211 (1992). See also Misselhorn v. Doyle, 257 Ill.App.3d 983, 195 Ill.Dec. 881, 629 N.E.2d 189 (1994); Eyman v. McDonough District Hospital, 245 Ill.App.3d 391, 184 Ill.Dec. 502, 613 N.E.2d 819 (1993).

As noted, on July 27, immediately after the trial court entered summary judgment against him, plaintiff made an oral motion to amend his complaint, as follows:

"MR. JOHNSON [Plaintiff's attorney]: [I] set it out to specifics that they undertook the duty to secure the hoist and they negligently performed that duty and as a result Plaintiff was injured based upon the Nelson v. Pippen, Phillips [sic] case, that when undertakes a duty to do something, they do so negligently, and someone is injured they are absolutely liable.

There will be no new deps. That's what the evidence is through the Plaintiff's deposition."

The court denied plaintiff's motion to amend, stating that "It's an '89 case. I'll deny the motion [to amend]."

We first note that plaintiff never made the proposed amended complaint a part of the record on appeal, except for his oral proposal before the trial judge which, without any offers of new evidence, essentially duplicates the voluntary undertaking theory which has already been argued and rejected. Plaintiff's failure to include the proposed amendment and supporting facts therefor in the record could be found to constitute a waiver in this court of his right to have the denial of his request for leave to amend reviewed. See Mendelson v. Ben A. Borenstein & Co., 240 Ill.App.3d 605, 181 Ill.Dec. 114, 608 N.E.2d 97 (1992) (plaintiff's failure to tender amended complaint or to include it in the appellate record diminished the appellate court's ability to determine whether the proposed amendment would provide a viable theory against defendant, and constituted waiver of right to a review of the denial of his request for leave to amend). See also Ignar v. Norbut, 271 Ill.App.3d 522, 207 Ill.Dec. 9, 648 N.E.2d 285 (1995) (no abuse of discretion in denying motion for leave to amend complaint where movant orally moved to amend yet failed to submit proposed amendment to trial court).

Notwithstanding waiver, even if we were to review the amendment which plaintiff orally proposed, we would find no abuse of discretion by the trial court in denying plaintiff leave to amend. As already discussed, there was ample evidence before the trial court to support its conclusion that the facts in this case as revealed in the summary judgment submissions would not permit a pleading which could allege a valid cause of action. Moreover, by the same token, even if the complaint were amended to more specifically allege a voluntary undertaking as requested by the plaintiff, the allegations of the complaint would be superseded by the extrinsic facts already submitted which as noted would dictate for summary judgment. See Werckenthein v. Bucher Petrochemical Co., 248 Ill.App.3d 282, 188 Ill.Dec. 332, 618 N.E.2d 902 (1993) (where allegations in nonmovant's complaint are contravened by movant's extrinsic submissions in summary judgment proceedings, extrinsic submissions control); East Side Fire Protection District v. City of Belleville, 221 Ill.App.3d 654, 164 Ill.Dec. 192, 582 N.E.2d 755 (1991) (nonmovant must controvert proofs offered by movant in support of motion for summary judgment and cannot merely rest on pleadings); Seefeldt v. Millikin National Bank of Decatur. The issue here is not simply that plaintiff's complaint is deficient in its framing of the issues, but that, as discussed, the testimony and evidence presented in support of his negligent voluntary undertaking theory are deficient, and fall short of establishing a genuine issue of material fact such that judgment should not be entered as a matter of law on that theory of action.

Plaintiff's reliance on Loyola Academy v. S & S Roof Maintenance, Inc., 146 Ill.2d 263, 166 Ill.Dec. 882, 586 N.E.2d 1211 (1992) is not well taken. In Loyola, the court on appeal set forth four factors to determine whether the trial court had abused its discretion in denying a section 2–1005(g) amendment, including whether the proposed amendment would cure the defective pleading, whether it would cause prejudice or surprise to other parties, whether it was timely, and whether previous opportunities to amend the pleading could be identified.

Applying these factors in order, in the instant case the question of whether plaintiff's proposed amendment would cure the defective pleading is not relevant, because as already discussed, AT & T succeeded in its motion for summary judgment not because plaintiff's complaint was improperly pleaded, but because the evidence presented at summary judgment shows no genuine issue of material fact regarding the allegations in the complaint. Werckenthein v. Bucher Petrochemical Co.; East Side Fire Protection District v. City of Belleville. Taking the second and third Loyola factors together (whether there would be prejudice or surprise to AT & T and whether the proposed amendment was timely), the record is ample to support the trial court's determination that the allowance of an amendment would in fact be prejudicial to AT & T, insofar as the amendment was being sought on the eve of trial, five years after the inception of this lawsuit, with no explanation from plaintiff as to why he never before attempted to develop the facts which would be necessary to withstand AT & T's motion for summary judgment. See Mendelson v. Ben A. Borenstein & Co. (no abuse of discretion in denying leave to amend following grant of summary judgment where proposed amendment was sought beyond the pleading stages). See also Ignarski v. Norbut.

The final Loyola factor is whether plaintiff had sufficient prior opportunities to amend. To that extent, we note that plaintiff indeed had substantial opportunities to amend. Although plaintiff complains that AT & T never gave him notice of any deficiency in his complaint which would require amendment because AT & T never filed a motion to dismiss prior to filing its motion for summary judgment, it is axiomatic that a party can amend its pleading on its own motion. See 3 R. Michael, Illinois Practice, ch. 26, at 446 (West 1989). The case of Evans v. United Bank of Illinois, N.A., 226 Ill.App.3d 526, 168 Ill.Dec. 533, 589 N.E.2d 933 (1992), upon which plaintiff relies, does give credence to plaintiff's contention under the fourth Loyola factor that the failure of AT & T to challenge his pleadings prior to its motion for summary judgment deprived plaintiff of any prior opportunity to amend. However, we note that in Evans the court on appeal did not rely on that factor alone in finding that the trial court abused its discretion in denying the plaintiff in that case leave to amend, but found that all of the Loyola factors supported that plaintiff's motion for leave to amend.

In any event, even if plaintiff were correct in his reliance upon Evans, we need not consider its application here. As already discussed, the issue here is not whether the allegations of the complaint were sufficient to state a cause of action based upon a voluntary undertaking theory, but whether the facts adduced were sufficient to create an inference to support such allegations. See Werckenthein v. Bucher Petrochemical Co.; East Side Fire Protection District v. City Belleville. As previously noted, the fa submitted here are insufficient to raise su an inference. Hence, we find that the tr court's denial of the motion to amend was an abuse of discretion. See Regas v. Asso ated Radiologists, Ltd., 230 Ill.App.3d 9 172 Ill.Dec. 553, 595 N.E.2d 1223 (19 (where a cause of action cannot be sta even after amendment, leave to am should be denied).

appointed to you and we will not ask questions until he has been appointed—"I told him, without his attorney I wouldn't talk to him and that would be it. That he didn't have to say anything." (He said he didn't want a lawyer.) (5) If you decide to answer now with or without a lawyer, you have the right to stop questioning at any time or stop questioning and consult a lawyer—"I told him, if I start talking to you and it becomes apparent to you that you suddenly think you want an attorney to tell me and we will stop right there and we won't ask any further questions at that point. In other words, he could stop me from asking anything, at any time and I will just stop and leave the room." (He said he still wanted to talk to me.)

Dickett testified that she gave defendant the Miranda warnings one at a time, speaking slowly. After each one she asked defendant if he understood and he said he did. She testified that she told him the word attorney meant lawyer and instead of the phrase, "appoint a lawyer", she told him the court would give him a lawyer.

In contrast to this questioning by Kill and Dickett, Smith testified that she interviewed defendant on December 15, 1989, six months after the fire. In questions she posed which were intended to determine whether or not he could intelligently waive what are commonly known as "Miranda rights or Miranda warnings" she would ask him "what does this mean, and then I would say what the particular right was" and his reaction would be to "look around, scratch his head and draw a blank. He didn't say anything." From these reactions she concluded that "he didn't understand what these rights meant."

The contrast in the manner in which the police officer and assistant State's Attorney advised the defendant and the form of the questions posed to the defendant by the psychologist lead us to the conclusion that the record does not support the trial court's conclusion that defendant did not understand his rights and therefore did not knowingly and intelligently waive them. The court's grant of defendant's motion to suppress is not supported by the record.

Here we find the defendant was advised of his right to remain silent and his right to have an attorney present in language he could understand. He was advised that anything he told the officer could be used against him in court. Defendant then stated that he wanted to tell the police about the fire. He repeated the story to the officer and to the assistant State's Attorney in a coherent manner. Although he was asked to do so, he chose not have his statement taken down verbatim in writing. Since he was unable to read, he could not verify what a written statement contained.

While the State has a heavy burden to show that a defendant has waived his constitutional rights in a knowing, intelligent and voluntary manner, (Brownell, 79 Ill.2d at 516, 38 Ill.Dec. 757, 404 N.E.2d 181) we find the State has met that burden. We find the weight of the evidence establishes that defendant waived his Miranda rights in a knowing and intelligent manner. For all of the foregoing reasons the order of the trial court granting defendant's motion to suppress his statements is reversed.

The Circuit Court, Cook County, Dean Sodaro, J., granted summary judgment for owner, and employee appealed. Duty owed by owner of nuclear power plant to independent contractor's employee to provide reasonably safe workplace did not include duty to mop up water that accumulated on concrete floor when snow and ice from pipes being brought in from outside for use in construction project melted onto floor, causing puddles of water, where there was no evidence that owner did anything to aggravate that condition, but instead condition was continuation of natural accumulation.

Johnson, Cusack and Bell, Ltd., John W. Bell, Michael B. Gunzburg and Thomas H. Fegan, Chicago, for defendant-appellee.

Presiding Justice CERDA delivered the opinion of the court:

Plaintiff, Byong K. Choi, brought this action against defendant Commonwealth Edison Company seeking recovery for injuries sustained when plaintiff fell on a concrete floor while working at a construction site. The trial court granted defendant's motion for summary judgment. On appeal, plaintiff argues that the trial court erred in granting defendant's motion for summary judgment because a genuine issue of material fact exists. In addition, he argues that the trial court erred by failing to recognize defendant's duty to provide a safe workplace for workmen engaged in construction work on its premises and by failing to extend that duty to include taking precautions against the accumulation of water inside the building.

On January 10, 1979, plaintiff Choi was employed by Universal Power Piping, Inc. (UPP) as a welder at the Dresden Nuclear Power Plant, which is owned by defendant Commonwealth Edison Company. UPP was a subcontractor hired by Commonwealth Edison to complete installation of a decontamination flushing system in the Reactor 1 building. Plaintiff was working on the third-floor turbine deck receiving pipes brought in from the outside by UPP employees. While stored outside, the pipes became encrusted with snow and ice. Once inside, the pipes were raised from the ground floor to the third-floor turbine deck area by an overhead crane, which was operated by a Commonwealth Edison employee. Then, the pipe was taken from the crane, placed on a cart, and moved through the interlock hatch to the reactor building by UPP employees, including plaintiff. Snow and ice melted from the frozen pipes, forming puddles of water on the deck wherever the pipes were transported. Plaintiff was working in this manner all day prior to the accident.

As plaintiff and a co-worker were carrying a pipe, approximately 20 feet long and 10 inches in diameter, plaintiff slipped on water that was on the concrete floor. He fell backward, hitting his back on a pipe, and a floor spacer fell across his mid-section, causing injuries.

Previously, the appellate court upheld the trial court's summary judgment order for defendant regarding a Structural Work Act (Ill.Rev.Stat.1983, ch. 48, pars. 60 through 69). (Choi v. Commonwealth Edison Co. (1984), 129 Ill.App.3d 878, 85 Ill.Dec. 17, 473 N.E.2d 385.) In plaintiff's second amended complaint, he alleged that defendant was guilty of several negligent acts in its supervision of the construction work. Defendant filed a motion for summary judgment, arguing that under Illinois law, it had no duty to take precautions against natural accumulations of snow, ice or water that were tracked into a building. Defendant noted that the UPP foreman's deposition stated that he did not inform Edison of the condition because it was the duty of the contractor's own employees to clean up after themselves. Defendant pointed out that the snow came from pipes that plaintiff and his co-workers had brought in and carried to the area.

In response to defendant's motion for summary judgment, plaintiff argued that defendant owed him a duty to maintain a reasonably safe work place because it retained control over the construction work performed by UPP employees and could stop the work in progress for safety or other reasons. Plaintiff also argued that defendant breached that duty by failing to provide a reasonably safe workplace and by failing to stop work that was being performed in an unsafe manner. In addition, plaintiff contended that the melted snow and ice that caused the unsafe condition did not accumulate naturally, was not transported into the building by pedestrian traffic, and was caused by defendant's refusal to allow the pipes to be brought into the building and cleaned off before being transported to the work area. Plaintiff notes that the deposition of Commonwealth Edison's superintendent stated that Commonwealth Edison employees had the responsibility to clean snow and ice which came into the building, had the authority to stop work being performed in an unsafe manner, and regularly inspected the area.

Concluding that the facts were essentially undisputed, the trial court ordered summary judgment for defendant. The trial court stated that there was a common law duty of an occupier of land to exercise reasonable care for the safety of people lawfully on the premises, but that duty did not extend to a building owner being required to mop up water from an accumulation of snow, ice or water brought inside a building construction site. The trial court indicated that it would be an impossible burden placed on an owner of a building construction site to require following the independent contractor's employees around, mopping up every drip of water brought in from the outside. The trial court further ruled that Commonwealth Edison did not create the dangerous condition, but merely failed to clean up a mess which is common whenever building materials from the outside of a building are moved into a building.

The trial court analogized this case to Lohan v. Walgreens Co. (1986), 140 Ill.App.3d 171, 173, 94 Ill.Dec. 680, 488 N.E.2d 679, which ruled that a landowner has no duty to clean up snow, ice or water that is tracked into a building from a natural accumulation on the outside. The trial court made no finding whether the accumulation inside the building was natural or unnatural, but did state that the water began as a natural accumulation of snow and ice on the pipes outside, and was brought into the building the same way as people tracking it on their feet. The trial court did not consider the expert's affidavit and deposition because it was not factually based. The expert did not actually examine the premises, the court noted, but merely looked at photographs.

After the trial court denied plaintiff's motion to reconsider, plaintiff appealed the summary judgment order. Plaintiff's argument emphasizes that Commonwealth Edison owed him a duty to maintain a safe workplace even though he was employed by an independent contractor hired by Commonwealth Edison. He asserts that the duty included mopping up water that accumulated on the building's floor when snow and ice from the pipes melted onto the floor, causing puddles of water. Plaintiff relies on cases holding that the landowner owes a duty to the employee of an independent contractor if the owner retains sufficient control over the contractor's work. Claudy v. City of Sycamore (1988), 170 Ill.App.3d 990, 120 Ill.Dec. 812, 524 N.E.2d 994; See Haberer v. Village of Sauget (1987), 158 Ill.App.3d 313, 110 Ill.Dec. 628, 511 N.E.2d 805; Tsourmas v. Dineff (1987), 161 Ill.App.3d 897, 113 Ill.Dec. 758, 515 N.E.2d 743; Weber v. Northern Illinois Gas Co. (1973), 10 Ill.App.3d 625, 295 N.E.2d 41; Pasko v. Commonwealth Edison Co. (1973), 14 Ill.App.3d 481, 302 N.E.2d 642. These cases state that the duty owed is to maintain a reasonably safe workplace.

Even if the water began as a natural accumulation on the outside, plaintiff asserts, Commonwealth Edison's intervening acts caused the water to be unnaturally accumulated on the inside of the building. In the alternative, plaintiff states, the condition was aggravated by Commonwealth Edison because it would not allow the pipes to be stored inside where the snow and ice could be safely removed after it melted. Furthermore, plaintiff argues, the pipes were brought in from the outside and loaded onto an overhead crane operated by a Commonwealth Edison employee. The overhead crane then took the pipes to the third floor of the building, where UPP employees transported the pipes through a tunnel into the reactor building. By the time the pipes reached the third floor, the snow and ice was melting, and water from the pipes was dripping on the floor. It is on that water that plaintiff fell and injured himself.

Defendant responds that the water was a natural accumulation tracked in from the outside by UPP employees, including plaintiff. It asserts that this situation should be treated the same as a natural accumulation tracked in from the outside by pedestrian traffic, thus creating no duty by the landowner.

Defendant relies on two types of cases: those concerning natural accumulations of snow, ice or water outdoors and those concerning snow, ice or water tracked into a building from the outside, whether tracked in by pedestrians' shoes, coats or umbrellas. In Lohan, 140 Ill.App.3d at 172, 94 Ill.Dec. 680, 488 N.E.2d 679, the plaintiff slipped and fell on water that had been tracked from the outside into the common hallway of the defendants' stores. The appellate court ruled that the owners did not have a duty to continuously remove the tracks left by customers who had walked through the natural accumulations of snow or water outside, tracking them inside. Even if the owner has knowledge that the accumulation caused a dangerous condition, the court stated, there is no duty if the accumulation is natural. tiff fell on snow and slush covered steps of bus owned and operated by defendant).

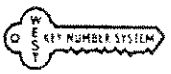
[1, 2] The purpose of summary judgment is to determine whether a triable issue of fact exists. (Haberer, 158 Ill.App.3d at 316, 110 Ill.Dec. 628, 511 N.E.2d 805.) It may be granted if the pleadings, exhibits, affidavits, and depositions on file establish that there is no genuine issue of material fact, and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. (Ill.Rev. Stat.1985, ch. 110, par. 2–1005(c); Branson v. R & L Investment, Inc. (1990), 196 Ill. App.3d 1088, 1090, 143 Ill.Dec. 689, 554 N.E.2d 624.) Although the plaintiff does not have to try his case, he must provide a factual basis which would arguably entitle him to judgment. (Handy, 182 Ill.App.3d at 972, 131 Ill.Dec. 471, 538 N.E.2d 846.) The determination that summary judgment is appropriate will not be reversed absent an abuse of the trial court's discretion such that the plaintiff's right to fundamental justice is violated. Breeze v. Payne (1989), 181 Ill.App.3d 720, 727, 130 Ill.Dec. 386, 537 N.E.2d 453.



[3–5] Commonwealth Edison owed plaintiff the duty to maintain a reasonably safe workplace, but it did not extend to taking precautions against water tracked inside from a natural accumulation outside. Duty is determined by considering a number of factors: the foreseeability of harm (Breeze, 181 Ill.App.3d at 727, 130 Ill.Dec. 386, 537 N.E.2d 453), the likelihood of the injury, the magnitude of the burden of guarding against it, the consequences of placing that burden on the defendant, public policy, and social considerations. Dealers Service & Supply Co. v. St. Louis National Stock. (1987), 155 Ill.App.3d 1075, 1080, 108 Ill.Dec. 664, 508 N.E.2d 1241.

[6, 7] In Illinois, a landowner owes no duty where a natural accumulation of snow, ice or water exists on the outside or is tracked into a building by pedestrian traffic. (Lohan, 140 Ill.App.3d at 172, 94 Ill.Dec. 680, 488 N.E.2d 679.) However, a property owner does have a duty and may be liable where the injuries are a result of an unnatural or artificial accumulation, or a natural condition aggravated by the owner's use of the area and creation of the condition. (Handy v. Sears, Roebuck & Co. (1989), 182 Ill.App.3d 969, 971, 131 Ill. Dec. 471, 538 N.E.2d 846.) To establish a duty, the plaintiff must make an affirmative showing of an unnatural accumulation or an aggravation of a natural condition before recovery will be allowed. (McCann v. Bethesda Hospital (1979), 80 Ill.App.3d 544, 549, 35 Ill.Dec. 879, 400 N.E.2d 16.) Plaintiff made no such showing in this case.

[8] Therefore, summary judgment for defendant was proper. The water in the nuclear power plant was a continuation of a natural accumulation. There was no evidence presented that Commonwealth Edison did anything to aggravate the condition. To require an owner of a construction site to follow workmen around and immediately clean up any melting snow, ice or water that had been brought in from the outside would be too high a burden.

Affirmed.

9. State the name and address of each witness that knows or claims to know the circumstances of the alleged accident, how it occurred or how the Plaintiff became injured – as alleged in the Complaint.

ANSWER: On information and belief, David Gagnon and Paul Dulberg were present at the time of the alleged occurrence and therefore know the circumstances surrounding the occurrence. Answering further, Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire were not present at the time of the occurrence but knew that David Gagnon and Paul Dulberg were present on the date of the occurrence. From conversations with David Gagnon, the answering Defendants believe that Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg had been cutting logs and tree branches into smaller sections without incident. While in the process of cutting tree branches Paul Dulberg unexpectedly and without warning moved his right arm directly in the path of the running chain saw. Investigation continues.

10. With respect to the chain saw that was being operated on the premises at the time of the alleged injury, state as follows:

a. Who was operating the chain saw at the time of the Plaintiff's alleged injury;

b. Who owned the chain saw at the time of Plaintiff's alleged injury;

c. who requested that the chain saw be used to perform work at the time of Plaintiff's injury.

ANSWER:

a. On information and belief, David Gagnon was operating the chain saw at the time Mr. Dulberg was injured.

b. Bill McGuire was the owner of the chain saw on the date of the occurrence.

c. David Gagnon had Bill McGuire's permission to use the chain saw.

11. With respect to David Gagnon's experience in use of a chain saw prior to the date of the alleged accident, state as follows:

a. How many times had David Gagnon operated the same or similar chain saw prior to the date of alleged accident;

b. What formal training did David Gagnon receive in use or operation of a chain saw prior to the occurrence alleged;

c. Who, if any, (names and addresses) trained David Gagnon in use or operation of a chain saw prior to the occurrence.

ANSWER:

a. Objection. This interrogatory is better directed to David Gagnon. Answering subject to objection, and to the best of the answering parties' knowledge, David Gagnon has used chain saws in the past but the answering parties do not known how often he has used chain saws in the past.

b. Objection. This interrogatory is better directed to David Gagnon. Answering subject to objection, the answering parties do not know whether David Gagnon has been formally trained the use or operation of a chain saw. Answering further, the answering parties are aware that Mr. Gagnon has used chain saws many times in the past and he appears/appeared to know what he is doing.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

c. Objection. This interrogatory is better directed to David Gagnon. Answering subject to objection, the answering party do now know whether or by whom David Gagnon was trained in the use of chain saws. Answering further, the answering parties are aware that Mr. Gagnon has used chain saws many times in the past and he appears/appeared to know what he is doing.

12. What was the scope of work or task David Gagnon was engaged in with use of the chain saw at or about the time of the alleged accident.

ANSWER:

To the extent "scope of work" or "engaged" constitute legal conclusions, the answering Defendants object to Interrogatory No. 12. Answering subject to objection, at the time of the alleged occurrence, the answering Defendants were in the process of replacing an old shed on their property. Paul Dulberg helped David Gagnon tear down the old shed. The answering Defendants further believe that Mr. Dulberg took the components of the old shed to his property for eventual reassembly. On the date of the occurrence, Mr. Dulberg was helping David Gagnon take down several trees to make room for a new shed. On information and belief, prior to the occurrence Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg had been cutting logs and tree branches into smaller sections without incident. While in the process of cutting tree branches Paul Dulberg unexpectedly and without warning moved his right arm directly in the path of the running chain saw. Answering further, the answering Defendants did not engage, hire or pay either individual for their activities on site. Nor did either answering Defendant dictate, control or otherwise supervise the methods and means by which Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg performed the tree and branch cutting at issue.

13. Who (names and addresses) requested or chose to engage Gagnon in the "task" of use and operation of the chain saw at or about the time of the alleged accident.

ANSWER:

To the extent the words "chose" and "engage" constitute legal conclusions, the answering Defendants object to Interrogatory No. 13. Answering subject to objection, David Gagnon undertook the tree cutting and trimming in question as a favor to his parents. He was not engaged, hired or paid for the activities in question.

14. What instructions or guidance, if any, was given to Gagnon prior to Plaintiff's alleged injury/accident with regard to how he was to perform the chain saw work at the premises.

ANSWER: See response to Interrogatory No. 11.

17. Were any photographs, movies and/or videotapes taken of the scene of the occurrence or of the persons involved? If so, state the date or dates on which such photographs, movies and/or videotapes were taken, the subject thereof, who now has custody of them, the name, address and occupation and employer of the person taking them.

ANSWER: None, other than those furnished as part of Plaintiff's discovery response.

18. Have you (or anyone acting on your behalf) had any conversations with any person at any time with regard to the manner in which the occurrence complained of occurred, or have you overheard any statements made by any person at any time with regard to the injuries complained of by plaintiff or the manner in which the occurrence complained of occurred? If the answer to this Interrogatory is in the affirmative, state the following:

(a) The date or dates of such conversations and/or statements;
(b) The place of such conversations and/or statements;
(c) All persons present for the for the conversations and/or statements;
(d) The matters and things stated by the person in the conversations and/or statements;
(e) Whether the conversation was oral, written and/or recorded; and
(f) Who has possession of said statement if written and/or recorded.

ANSWER: (a) thru (f): See summary of oral communication received from David Gagnon set forth in response to Interrogatory No. 9. Answering further, on information and belief, a few weeks after the subject occurrence Paul Dulberg did roofing work and moved heavy pieces of lumber for Mike Thomas, 460 Walbeck Drive, Twin Lakes, WI 53181 (312/961-9655). Investigation continues.

19. Do you know of any statements made by any person relating to the occurrence complained of by the plaintiff? If so, give the name and address of each such witness, the date of said statement, and state whether such statement was written and/or oral.

ANSWER: See answers to Interrogatories No. 9 and 18.

20. State the name and address of each person having knowledge of Plaintiff's activities on the premises PRIOR to the accident in question.

ANSWER: Paul Dulberg and David Gagnon.

21. State the name and address of each person having knowledge of Plaintiff's activities on the premises AFTER the accident in question.

ANSWER: Paul Dulberg, David Gagnon, Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire.

22. Had the Plaintiff ever used or operated a chain saw on the premises or for the Defendant's prior to his alleged accident. If so, state the dates and times such occurred.

ANSWER: Yes. In June 2011 Carolyn and Bill McGuire had a contractor take down a large tree on their property. The contractor left the fallen limbs. Shortly thereafter, Paul Dulberg brought his own chain saw down to the property. He cut the limbs into logs. David Gagnon helped him cut and load the logs.

23. Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f), provide the name and address of each witness who will testify at trial, and state the subject of each witness' testimony, giving the following information:

(a) The subject matter on which the opinion witness is expected to testify;
(b) The conclusions and/or opinions of the opinion witness and the basis therefore, including reports of said witness, if any;
(c) The qualifications of each opinion witness, including a Curriculum Vitae and/or resume, if any; and
(d) Identify any written reports of the opinion witness regarding this occurrence.

ANSWER:

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(1) – Lay Witnesses:

The answering party has not yet determined the identity of the witnesses that might be called upon to offer lay witness testimony and opinions at trial. However, each of the following individuals are possible trial witnesses:

a. Paul Dulberg. Presumably, Mr. Kemp will testify about his age, education and work experience. He may testify concerning all the events and occurrences alleged in his complaint. He may also testify concerning his state of health before the events and occurrences alleged in his complaint, the injuries he attributes to the events and occurrences alleged in his complaint, and his current state of health. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered by his discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

b. David Gagnon. The answering party does not know the specifics of Mr. Gagnon's potential trial testimony. Presumably, however, Mr. Gagnon will testify about his age, education and work experience. He may testify concerning his connection to Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire. He may testify concerning the events and occurrences alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. He may also testify concerning observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health before the events and occurrences alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, observations he made about the injuries Mr.

Dulberg attributes to the events and occurrences alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, and observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's current state of health. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered by his discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

c. Bill McGuire. If called upon to testify, Mr. McGuire will testify about his age, education and work experience. He will testify concerning his connection to David Gagnon and Carolyn McGuire. He may testify concerning the circumstances surrounding the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. He may also testify concerning observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health immediately after and since the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, including observations he made about the injuries Mr. Dulberg attributes to the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered by his discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

d. Carolyn McGuire. If called upon to testify, Mrs. McGuire will testify about her age, education and work experience. She will testify concerning her connection to David Gagnon and Bill McGuire. She may testify concerning the circumstances surrounding the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. She may also testify concerning observations she made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health immediately after and since the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, including observations she made about the injuries Mr. Dulberg attributes to the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint. Lastly, it is anticipated that she will testify concerning all matters covered by her discovery responses and discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

e. Mike Thomas. If called upon to testify, Mr. Thomas may testify about his age, education and work experience. He may testify concerning his connection to Paul Dulberg. He may also testify concerning observations he made about Mr. Dulberg's state of health after the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint, including observations he made of Mr. Dulberg performing roofing work and moving lumber. Lastly, it is anticipated that he will testify concerning all matters covered in his discovery deposition, if taken. Investigation continues.

f. Investigation continues.

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(2) – Independent Opinion Witnesses.

To the extent any of the individuals disclosed above as potential Rule 213(f)(1) witnesses also qualify for disclosure as an independent expert witness within the meaning of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(2), the responding Defendants incorporate the above Rule 213(f)(1) disclosure as though fully and completely set forth herein as a Rule 213(f)(2) disclosure. Answering further, the responding Defendants further incorporate the identity and opinions of any medical provider that treated Plaintiff for injuries he claims are associated with the occurrence alleged in his Complaint. For additional detail, see the medical records and materials produced by Plaintiff as part of his production response. Investigation continues.

Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213(f)(3) – Controlled Opinion Witnesses.

None at this time. Answering further, Defendants reserve the right to retain and disclose controlled opinion witnesses and will do so, if necessary, in accordance with all applicable court orders and discovery rules.

24. List the names and addresses of all other persons (other than yourself and persons heretofore listed) who have knowledge of the facts of said occurrence and/or of the injuries and damages claimed to have resulted therefrom.

ANSWER: None, other than as disclosed in response to the interrogatories above.

25. Identify any statements, information and/or documents known to you and requested by any of the foregoing Interrogatories which you claim to be work product or subject to any common law or statutory privilege, and with respect to each Interrogatory, specify the legal basis for the claim as required by Supreme Court Rule 201(n).

ANSWER: None at this time.

26. State the name and address of each person at the premises (although maybe at different location or not a witness to the incident) described at the time of the occurrence.

ANSWER: See response to Interrogatory Nos. 1 and 2.

27. Was the Plaintiff struck and injured by the chain saw while in operation on the date and time alleged. If so, what caused the chain saw to strike the Plaintiff.

ANSWER: On information and belief, yes. Answering further, Defendants were not present at the time of the occurrence. See answer to Interrogatory No. 9.

Plaintiff(s), vs.

DAVID GAGNON, Individually, and as Agent of CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, and CAROLINE MCGUIRE and BILL MCGUIRE, Individually, Defendant(s).

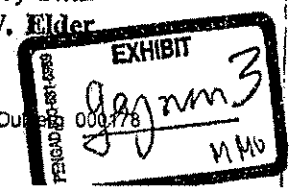
CASE NO. 12LA000178

ANSWERS TO CO-DEFENDANT INTERROGATORIES

The Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, in response to the Interrogatories propounded states as follows:

1. State the full name, present residence address and birth date of the person answering these Interrogatories.

ANSWER: David A. Gagnon, 39010 90th Place, Genoa City Wisconsin 53128
DOB: 4/3/1697



2. State your marital status on the date of the occurrence in question and, if married, your spouse's name and age on said date.

ANSWER: Married; Pamela Gagnon, 39010 90th Place, Genoa City Wisconsin 53128.

3. State the full name and present or last known address (indicating which) of each person who:

(a) Witnessed or claims to have witnessed the occurrence in question.
(b) Was present or claims to have been present at the scene immediately before said occurrence.
(c) Was present or claims to have been present immediately after said occurrence.
(d) Otherwise has or claims to have any knowledge of the facts or possible causes of the occurrence to include any damages or injuries alleged to have resulted from said occurrence.

ANSWER: David A. Gagnon, 39010 90th Place, Genoa City Wisconsin 53128; Paul Dulberg, 4606 Hayden Ct, McHenry Illinois 60050; Carolyn McGuire, 1016 W. Elder

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Avenue, McHenry Illinois 60051; William McGuire, 1016 W. Elder Avenue, McHenry Illinois 60051.

4. State specifically and with certainty the personal injuries and property damage, if any, sustained by PAUL DULBERG as a result of said occurrence.

ANSWER: Defendant has no knowledge regarding the plaintiff's personal injuries and/or property damage claims.

7. State whether PAUL DULBERG was hospitalized or had suffered any illness or personal injury prior to or subsequent to the date of said occurrence, and if so, state the nature and date of each such hospitalization, illness or personal injury.

ANSWER: I do not know.

8. State whether PAUL DULBERG suffered any permanent scarring as a result of the accident alleged in the complaint. If so, state the location of such scar, the width and length of such scar or scars. (Pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 214, please attach any photos of any such scar to your answers hereto.)

ANSWER: I do not know.

9. State whether prior to the accident alleged in the complaint PAUL DULBERG suffered any physical disability or impairment of any kind whatsoever. If so, state the nature of such physical disability or impairment and how PAUL DULBERG came to have such physical disability or impairment.

ANSWER: I do not know.

10. State the location of the alleged occurrence, pinpointing such location in feet, inches and direction from fixed objects or boundaries at the scene of the occurrence.

ANSWER: The accident occurred in ~~front~~ BACK of my parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, McHenry Illinois 60051.

11. State with particularity the nature of the alleged defect, object substance or condition which caused the alleged occurrence giving the exact dimensions and physical description of such including the size, shape, color, height, length and depth of such defect or object.

ANSWER: Chainsaw, EFCO, Model # MT3500, 2.38 Cubic Inch, 16" blade.

12. State with particularity what PAUL DULBERG was doing at the time of the accident alleged in the complaint.

ANSWER: He was helping me trim a tree by holding a branch.

13. State with particularity what DAVID GAGNON was doing at the time of the accident alleged in the complaint.

ANSWER: I was cutting through a branch with the chainsaw.

14. State with particularity the address for David Gagnon on June 28, 2011.

ANSWER: 39010 90th Place, Genoa City Wisconsin 53128.

15. State with particularity all the reasons why PAUL DULBERG was present on the premises known commonly as 1016 W. Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois on the date of the alleged occurrence.

ANSWER: I asked him to help me trim the tree at my parents' home.

16. State with particularity all the reasons why DAVID GAGNON was present on the premises known commonly as 1016 W. Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois on the date of the alleged occurrence.

ANSWER: I was trimming a tree for my parents.

17. State with particularity your basis for alleging that David Gagnon was working under the supervision and control of Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire at the time of the occurrence, as asserted in your answer to Plaintiff's Complaint.

ANSWER: N/A

18. State with particularity your basis for alleging that Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire instructed and/or advised David Gagnon in the use of a chain saw on or before the date of the occurrence, as asserted in your answer to Plaintiff's Complaint.

ANSWER: N/A

19. State with particularity your basis for alleging that David Gagnon was under the supervision and control of Defendants Bill McGuire and Carolyn McGuire and working as their apparent and actual agent on the date of and at the time of the occurrence, as asserted in your answer to Plaintiff's Complaint.

ANSWER: N/A

20. State with particularity any and all defects associated with the chain saw you believe or claim was involved in the occurrence alleged in Plaintiff's Complaint.

ANSWER: None.

21. State whether any photographs or videos were taken of the scene of the occurrence or of the persons, objects or premises involved, and if so, state the number of photographs or videos taken, their subject matter and who now has custody of them.

ANSWER: No.

22. Pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 213(f), furnish the identity and addresses of witnesses who will testify at trial and the following information:

(a) For each lay witness, identify the subjects on which the witness will testify.

Subject: Findings and Conclusions for Dulberg v. Gagnon and McGuire

After reviewing the Depositions of Mr. Dulberg and Mr. Gagnon and the chainsaw owner's manual, the following observations and conclusions were made:

Mr. Dulberg was cut on the forearm (bottom) by a chainsaw while helping Mr. Gagnon limb a pine tree on the property of Mr. Gagnon's parents – Bill and Carol McGuire. While power tools such as this chainsaw make work more efficient, they carry hazards such as experienced in this incident. Manufacturers and retailers of power equipment go to great lengths to reduce the dangers associated with such equipment through training and warnings listed in owner's manuals. The chainsaw in this incident appears from a photograph to be a EFCO MT3500 purchased by the McGuires close to the date of the incident and probably was a new saw and probably equipped with an owner's manual. Depositions from both Mr. Gagnon and Mr. Dulberg indicated that they received no additional chainsaw training. Therefore, the owner's manual and their field experience were the primary sources of instructions for the safe use of the saw.

Mr. Gagnon was the only operator of the saw and, therefore, was responsible for its use. While the saw was appropriate for the tasks involved, there are safe and unsafe activities that could have taken place. The owner's manual shows 2 bar lengths for this saw – 14 and 16 inches. It appears that the McGuires chose the 16 inch bar. For the work involved, the shorter bars would have been safer and might have prevented or reduced the injury. It appears that Mr. Gagnon performed some unsafe acts which lead to Mr. Dulberg being cut. Also, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire who owned the saw apparently did not heed the warnings posted on page 2 of the owners manual which states: "Allow persons only who understand this manual to operate your chainsaw."

Cuts with chainsaws cause more damage than those caused by power or hand tools having a thinner blade such as that of a table saw. Chainsaws are designed to take out a "kerf" of about ¼ -inch, so if someone is cut, the sides of the cut are separated by this gap (or kerf) removing a chunk of meat and causing excessive bleeding and organ damage.

From the depositions, there is no mention of safety apparel – hard hat with ear and eye protection, safety chaps or pants nor safety gloves. (See page 7 of the owners manual for proper safety apparel.)

EXHIBIT I

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Proper safety apparel may have eliminated or reduced the severity of the injury.

Mr. Gagnon and the McGuires' goal was to remove a tall pine tree (40 – 50 feet in height) in their yard without damaging their buildings. From depositions, Mr. Gagnon chose to delimb this tree as it stood in a vertical position. According to Mr. Dulberg, Mr. Gagnon did this by climbing and cutting off limbs as he climbed the tree using limb stubs as a ladder where he placed his feet. In the owner's manual on page 9, it tells to never cut limbs from a ladder or a tree and always cut from a firm foundation or platform. Not having seen the exact circumstances, it cannot be stated unequivocally, but my recommendations would have been to fell the tree first before trying to remove any limbs higher than could be reached safely from the ground. Once the tree has been felled on the ground, the secondary limbs could have been removed while the primary limbs were still attached to the main bole. Bucking the primary limbs into firewood lengths could also be done in a safer fashion with them attached to the bole. Doing the work in this fashion would have eliminated the conditions of where Mr. Dulberg was cut. From Mr. Gagnon's deposition, there was room to fell the pine tree with its described height.

The EFCO MT3500 has a number of features designed to operate it safely. The handle where the accelerator trigger is located has a throttle trigger lockout device that must be depressed before the engine can accelerate which means that Mr. Gagnon had a tight hold on the trigger handle when the saw accelerated before cutting Mr. Dulberg. Mr. Dulberg states in his deposition that he was holding the butt end of a primary limb, and Mr. Gagnon was removing the secondary limbs moving from the tip of that primary limb toward the butt. The accident occurred after Mr. Gagnon removed the last secondary limb and was moving toward him with the saw. The saw accelerated with the bar and chain moving upward contacting the bottom of Mr. Dulberg's arm.

There was no mention of the chain brake being used. The MT3500 has a lever mounted just forward of the front handle. This lever serves to stop and lock the cutting chain movement when pushed forward; when in the rear position, the chain travels freely on the bar. On page 8 of the owners manual, it is recommended that the chain brake be set whenever the operator moves from place to place. Also, the bar should be facing to the rear of the direction of travel so that the sawyer would not fall on the bar and chain if he were to trip and fall. This applies directly to this incident. If Mr. Gagnon had set his chain brake and/or put the bar in a rearward position as he finished cutting the last secondary limb, Mr. Dulberg would not have been cut.

The MT3500 comes with a saw chain designed to reduce kickback. Kickback is a violent upward action of a chainsaw bar when the chain on the upper quadrant of the bar's tip comes in contact with an object. While this chain does not completely eliminate kickback, it helps. It is assumed here that the chain supplied by the manufacturer had not been replaced. In addition, if the saw chain had come in contact with some object that caused a kickback, the chain brake would have instantly stopped the chain as the bar traveled vertically and Mr. Gagnon's hand activated the chain brake. This brake activation would probably have protected Mr. Dulberg. Therefore, it is doubtful that a kickback occurred.

Page 7 of the owner's manual recommends that other people (bystanders) be kept at least 35 feet from someone operating a chainsaw. This is because the chainsaw operator should be focusing his attention on his task, not bystanders. Chainsaws are noisy and anyone around them should be wearing ear protection thus muffling emergency calls for help. It is recommended that bright clothing be worn by all bystanders and operators to help operators see people who might inadvertently move into the danger zones. This distance of 35 feet may be a bit overcautious, but the intent is to keep bystanders beyond the reach of the saw, limbs or trees being cut. The operator is the person in control of his saw and responsible for whatever results from his cutting. When trees are being felled, bystanders should be beyond the height of the tree; 2 tree heights is the recommended distance. If this rule had been followed, Mr. Dulberg would not have been cut.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 7 of the owner's manual has some additional recommendations that might apply to this incident. Cutting with chainsaws is fatiguing even for professional sawyers who use their saws everyday. For the occasional operator, chainsaw work can be very exhaustive. In this incident, Mr. Gagnon not only used a chainsaw when he was not accustomed to using one, but he also climbed a tree and delimbed it as he climbed. By the time Mr. Gagnon stop limbing and started removing secondary limbs from the primary limbs, he must have been very fatigued even with frequent breaks as described by Mr. Dulberg. The warning of the owner's manual not to cut when fatigued is very important in that fatigue impairs judgment, reduces response time and probably impairs reflexive actions. Simply put, we make mistakes when we are tired.

Another factor of this incident may have been a loose chain. New saw chains stretch when first used. This saw was probably new; this may have been its first application. The owner's manual discussed how to tension the chain on page 17 and describes proper break-in of the chain. The chain should have been tightened after the engine had become warm and later after some use. A loose chain might jump off the bar. Pertinent to this incident was that a loose chain will not decelerate as fast as a properly tightened one. Without the chain brake engaged, the chain continues to travel along the bar until it naturally comes to a stop. Mr. Dulberg said he tried to move away from the saw chain but could not escape its travel path. With a properly tensioned chain, it may have stopped before contacting his arm or at least been traveling at a slower speed and caused less damage to his arm.

After the review of the above evidence, it is my opinion that Mr. Gagnon was fully responsible for this accident and his parents – the McGuires – were also somewhat responsible by letting their son, Mr. Gagnon, use their chainsaw – a potentially dangerous tool – without enforcing the warnings and instructions available in the owner's manual. Mr. Gagnon was in full control of the saw and Mr. Dulberg was his assistant. Mr. Gagnon could have prevented this accident by following the instructions given in the owner's manual. The instructions in the owner's manual are quite clear and unambiguous, and if followed, would have prevented this accident. Mr. Gagnon admits that he was relatively inexperienced in the use of chainsaws, and therefore, should have been more careful while using such a potentially dangerous tool.

Respectfully submitted,

DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S MOTION TO COMPEL PLAINTIFF TO ANSWER WRITTEN DISCOVERY

Defendants The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast ("Popovich"), by and through their attorneys, Karbal, Cohen, Economou, Silk & Dunne, LLC, for their motion to compel Plaintiff to answer written discovery, state as follows:

1) On November 28, 2017, Plaintiff Paul Dulberg ("Dulberg") filed a complaint for legal malpractice against Defendants, more than two years after Defendants withdrew their appearance for Dulberg in his personal injury action against Defendant David Gagnon in Dulberg v. Gagnon, Case No. 12 LA 178 in the Circuit Court of McHenry County, Illinois (the underlying complaint), which arose out of a chainsaw accident.

2) At the time of the original filing in the instant matter, Plaintiff was represented by the Gooch Law Firm, and the complaint against Popovich was signed by Thomas W. Gooch, III. (Complaint, Ex. A)

3) In ¶20 of Exhibit A, Dulberg invoked the "discovery rule" in an attempt to toll the two year statute of limitations for legal malpractice claims under 735 ILCS 5/13-214.3. He alleged that Mast and Popovich had provided Dulberg false and misleading information in connection with his settlement in the premises liability case with Gagnon's co-defendants, Bill and Carolyn McGuire in the premises liability case, and that Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

4) The Gooch firm withdrew from representing Dulberg in the instant case, and the Clinton Law Firm substituted as his counsel, with attorney Julia Williams as the primary handling attorney.

5) On December 6, 2018, Dulberg filed his second amended complaint in this case (Ex., B) filed by the Clinton Law Firm. As compared to Exhibit A, Dulberg's allegations regarding the "discovery" on his cause action against Popovich are slightly different. In ¶¶ 56 and 57 of his second amended complaint, Dulberg alleges that he did not learn that false and misleading information had been provided to him until the mediation in December 2016 based on the expert opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation.

6) Dulberg gave a discovery deposition in this case on February 19, 2020 (Ex. C). Dulberg was questioned about the "discovery" of his cause of action against Popovich and his law firm beginning on page 106 of his deposition (See also, page 108 where plaintiff Dulberg testified that his attorney at the time, Randy Boudin had told him to seek an independent opinion from an attorney that handles malpractice matters, and that Dulberg received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016 from Thomas Gooch.) Dulberg again confirmed that Gooch provided him with the legal opinion on December 16, at page 112 of his deposition. See also, pp. 113 and 114.

7) At Dulberg's deposition, Ms. Williams asserted the attorney-client privilege on behalf of her client relative to Gooch's advice in December 2016, but over the objection allowed Dulberg to testify concerning the substantive the discussions. The substantive testimony was sparse and vague. At p. 126 of his deposition, Dulberg agreed that his discussion with any malpractice lawyer in December 2016 is responsive to interrogatory no. 1 from Hans Mast (Ex. D). At p. 127 of his deposition, Dulberg responded to the following question:

Q: How did you find out that Mast and Popovich breached the duty of care to you? Because Gooch told you, right?

A: Yes.

Q: That's what you've alleged here in this complaint.

A: Yes.

8) On July 2, Popovich served supplemental production requests aimed at Dulberg's discovery of the malpractice as alleged in December of 2016, including the following production requests. (Ex. E)

9) On July 30, 2020, Julia Williams, then Dulberg's counsel requested 28 days to respond to Popovich's supplemental request for production. Counsel for Popovich agreed, but then received notice of the Clinton Law Firm's motion to withdraw on August 18, 2020.

10) On September 10, 2020, this Honorable Court granted the Clinton Law firm's motion to withdraw as Dulberg's counsel. Dulberg currently has a pro se appearance filed on his own behalf.

11) The attorney-client privilege exists to encourage and promote full and frank consultation between a client and legal advisor by removing the fear of compelled disclosure of information. Waste Management, Inc. v. International Surplus Lines Ins. Co., 144 Ill. 2d 178, 190 (1991); Daily v. Greensfelder, Hemker & Gale, P.C., 2018 IL App (5th) 150384, ¶1122-23. However, it is not unconditional, and it is the privilege, not the duty to disclose, that is the exception. Id. Illinois adheres to a strong policy of encouraging disclosure, with an eye toward ascertaining that the truth which is essential to the proper disposition of a lawsuit. Center Partners, Ltd. v. Growth Head GP, LLC, 2012 IL 113107, ¶ 35; Daily, 2018 IL App (5th) 150384 at ¶ 23. Accordingly, "the privilege ought to be strictly confined within its narrowest possible limits." Waste Management, Inc., 144 Ill. 2d at 190; Daily, 2018 IL App (5th) 150384, ¶ 23.

While the Illinois Supreme Court has not had occasion to find an "at issue" exception to the attorney-client privilege, it has clearly recognized that such an exception exists where the client voluntarily injects into a case either a factual or legal issue, the truthful resolution of which requires examination of confidential communications. Center Partners, Ltd., 2012 IL 113107 at ¶ 35; Daily, 2018 IL App (5th) 150384 at Irri 24-25. The Illinois Supreme Court in Fischel & Kahn, Ltd. v. Van Straaten Gallery, Inc. illustrated that the test in determining whether the exception exists is whether or not the communications in question are necessary to resolve the truthfulness of a factual or legal issue that was introduced by the client holding the privilege. 189 Ill. 2d 579 (2000). Furthermore, when a plaintiff places at issue in a case the extent to which multiple attorneys representing it proximately caused its alleged damages, all communications between the plaintiff and its attorneys are discoverable "to truthfully resolve the factual and legal issues necessary to adjudicate the causation element of plaintiff's claims." Daily, 2018 IL App (5th) 150384 at ¶¶31- 32 (finding that the "at-issue" exception applied because "there is an issue of whether [plaintiffs' attorneys] contributed to the cause . . . and the relative contribution of each to the plaintiffs' damages").

12) In Lama v. Preskill, 353 Ill. App. 3d 300 (2nd Dist. 2004), the Plaintiff's husband met with an attorney 4 days after her medical procedure (in March 1999) that was the subject of a medical malpractice claim. The claim was untimely filed, and the doctor sought production of records relative to the husband's meeting with the attorney. The patient asserted that production would violate the attorney-client privilege. The court affirmed the trial court's finding that the privilege was waived when she voluntarily injected the statute of limitations issue into her case, alleging she did not discover her medical malpractice claim until June 1999. This case is on point and binding.

13) At pages 133-142 of his deposition, Dulberg admitted that he communicated in writing with Gooch regarding Popovich's breaches of the standard of care, and the bases for same.

14) Based on all of the above, Dulberg has placed the discovery of his malpractice claim "at issue" and must produce any and all communications which form the basis for his "discovery" of his malpractice claims, and the bases for his argument that the 2 year statute of limitations should be tolled.

WHEREFORE Defendants The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast, respectfully request that this Court grant their motion to compel Plaintiff to answer written discovery and produce requested documents and that Plaintiff be required to answer the outstanding written discovery and produce all documents requested in Exhibit D within 14 days of the presentation of this motion, deny any and all objections to said production, including any objection based on the attorney-client privilege, and for any and all further relief this Court deems just and appropriate.

PAUL DULBERG,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., and HANS MAST, Defendant.

No. 17LA000377

NOTICE

THIS CASE IS HEREBY SET FOR A SCHEDULING CONFERENCE IN COURTROOM 201 ON 02/27/2018, AT 9:00 AM. FAILURE TO APPEAR MAY RESULT IN THE CASE BEING DISMISSED OR AN ORDER OF DEFAULT BEING ENTERED.

COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the neighborhood.

7. At this time, Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike DULBERG. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants property filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and told DULBERG he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuire's for the sum of $5,000.00. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST and to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

14. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship.

15. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled. Then, due to a claimed failure of communication, MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

16. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. Unfortunately, a "high-low agreement" had been executed by DULBERG, reducing the maximum amount he could recover to $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. The award was substantially more than that sum of money, and could have been recovered from McGuire's had they not been dismissed from the Complaint. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

17. The McGuire's were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuire's were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

18. DULBURG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

19. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBURG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuire's would only complicate the case.

20. Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the "high-low agreement" contained therein, and the final mediation award, DULBURG realized for the first time that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuire's was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation, DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling Legal Malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

21. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBURG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuire's) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG;

d) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property;

e) Improperly urged DULBURG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

f) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuire's and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

g) Falsely advised DULBURG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuire's was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBURG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

h) Failed to properly explain to DULBURG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

i) Continually reassured DULBURG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

j) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG, concealing from him necessary facts for DULBURG to make an informed decision as to the McGuire's, instead coercing him into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury.

22. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBURG to release the McGuire's, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, RAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW

Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE CLINTON LAW FIRM, LLC, complains against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), as follows:

COUNT I
LEGAL MALPRACTICE

A. Parties and Venue

1. Paul Dulberg, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Hans Mast is an agent, employee, or partner of The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C., and is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

EXHIBIT B

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

4. As an agent, employee, or principal in Popovich, Popovich is liable for Mast's actions alleged herein.

5. Venue is proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

B. Relevant Facts

6. On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg assisted Caroline McGuire ("Caroline"), William McGuire ("Williams") (Caroline and William collectively referred to herein as "the McGuires"), and David Gagnon ("Gagnon") in cutting down a tree on the McGuire's property.

7. Dulberg lives in the next neighborhood over from the McGuire family.

8. Caroline McGuire and William McGuire are a married couple, who own real property in McHenry, McHenry County, Illinois ("the Property").

9. David Gagon is Caroline's son and William's stepson.

10. On June 28, 2011, at the Property, Gagnon was operating a chainsaw to remove branches from a tree and cut it down on the Property.

11. The McGuire's purchased and owned the chainsaw that was being utilized to trim, remove branches, and cut down the tree.

12. Dulberg was invited to the McGuire's property to see if he wanted any of the wood from the tree.

13. William physically assisted with cutting down the tree and, then, later supervised Gagnon's actions.

14. Caroline supervised Gagnon's and William's actions.

Page 343 of 464

15. Gagnon and the McGuires asked Dulberg to assist with trimming and removal of the tree.

16. Gagnon was acting on behalf of Caroline and William and at their direction.

17. Caroline, William, and Gagnon all knew or show have known that a chainsaw was dangerous and to take appropriate precautions when utilizing the chain saw.

18. The safety information was readily available to Caroline and William as the safety instructions are included with the purchase of the chainsaw.

19. It is reasonably foreseeable that the failure to take appropriate caution and safety measures could result in serious injury.

20. The likelihood of injury when not properly utilizing the chainsaw or not following the safety precautions is very high.

21. The safety instructions outlined are easy to follow and do not place a large burden on the operator of the chainsaw or the owner of the property.

22. Caroline, William, and Gagnon had a duty to exercise appropriate caution and follow the safety instructions for the chainsaw.

23. Caroline, William, and Gagnon breached that duty by either not exercising appropriate care, failing to follow the safety instructions, or failing to instruct Gagnon to exercise appropriate care and/or follow the safety instructions.

24. Caroline and William, owners of the property and the chainsaw, instructed Gagnon to use the chain saw despite Gagnon not being a trained in operating the chainsaw.

25. Gagnon was operating the chain saw in close proximity to Dulberg.

26. Neither Gagnon nor Dulberg were provided protective equipment when operating or assisting with operating the chainsaw.

27. Gagnon failed to utilize the chainsaw in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

28. Caroline and William failed to instruct and require that Gagnon utilize the chainsaw only in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

29. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw that he was using and it struck Dulberg in the right arm, cutting him severely.

30. Dulberg incurred substantial and catastrophic injuries, including, but not limited to, pain and suffering, loss of use of his right arm, current and future medical expenses in amount in excess of $260,000, lost wages in excess of $250,000, and other damages.

31. In May 2012, Dulberg hired Mast and Popovich to represent him in prosecuting his claims against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit A.

32. Mast and Popovich, on behalf of Dulberg filed a complaint against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit B.

33. Mast and Popovich entered into an attorney client relationship with Dulberg.

34. Based upon the attorney client relationship, Mast and Popovich owed professional duties to Dulberg, including to a duty of care.

35. On behalf of Dulberg, Mast and Popovich prosecuted claims against both Gagnon and the McGuire's.

36. The claims against Gagnon were resolved later through binding mediation with new counsel.

37. The claims against the McGuires included (a) common law premises liability, (b) statutory premises liability, (c) common law negligence, and (d) vicarious liability for the acts of their son and agent.

38. In late 2013 or early, Mast urged Dulberg to settle the claims against the McGuire's for $5,000.

39. On November 18, 2013, Mast wrote two emails to Dulberg urging Dulberg to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their $5,000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

40. Similarly, on November 20, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

41. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told Dulberg that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

42. During that same time frame, Mast advised Dulberg that the Restatement of Torts 318 was the only mechanism to recover from the McGuires and that Illinois did not recognize the Restate of Torts 318, thus Dulberg did not have any viable claims against the McGuires.

43. Mast failed to advise or inform Dulberg of other basis for recovery against the McGuires.

44. Based upon Mast's erroneously advice that Dulberg's claims against the McGuire's were not viable and that Dulberg would not recover if he pursued the claims, Dulberg settled with the McGuire's and their insurance company, Auto-Owners Insurance Company, for $5,000, which included a release of all claims against the McGuire's and claim for indemnification under the McGuire's insurance policy. Exhibit D (Settlement).

45. Mast also told Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was limited to $100,000.

46. From 2013 forward, Mast and Popovich represented repeatedly to Dulberg that there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and led Dulberg to believe that the matter was being properly handled.

47. Mast also reassured Dulberg that Dulberg would be able to receive the full amount of any eventual recovery from Gagnon.

48. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

49. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

50. The McGuires owned their home, had homeowner's insurance, and had other property that could have been utilized to pay a judgment against them and in favor of Dulberg.

51. Dulberg cooperated with and appropriately assisted Mast and Popovich in prosecuting the claims against Gagnon and the McGuires.

52. In December of 2016, Dulberg participated in binding mediation related to his claims against Gagnon.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

53. In December of 2016, Dulberg was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 and a net award of $561,000 after his contributory negligence was considered.

54. Dulberg was only able to recovery approximately $300,000 of the award from Gagnon's insurance and was unable to collect from Gagnon personally.

55. Only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable.

56. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

57. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation, that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:

a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;

b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;

c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires'and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing

Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance compnay would pay close to that;

d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;

e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;

f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

59. As a direct result of Mast and Popovich's wrongful actions, Dulberg suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of Mast and Popovich in urging Dulberg to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of Mast and The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

Page 354 of 464

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No: 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide.
Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...

The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of ccarse he cut me.

Next issue please?

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

Binding Mediation Award

v.

David Gagnon

ADR Systems File # 33391BMAG

On December 8, 2016, the matter was called for binding mediation before the Honorable James P. Etchingham, (Ret.), in Chicago, IL. According to the agreement entered into by the parties, if a voluntary settlement through negotiation could not be reached the mediator would render a settlement award which would be binding to the parties. Pursuant to that agreement the mediator finds as follows:

Finding in favor of: Paul Dulberg

Gross Award: $660,000.

Comparative fault: 15 % (if applicable)

Net Award: $561,000

Comments/Explanation

Medical	$ 60,000.
future medical	$ 200,000.
Lost wage	$ 250,000.
P.I.S	75,000.
L.N.L	75,000.

PAUL DULBERG,

called as the plaintiff herein, having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. Let the record reflect that this is the discovery deposition of Paul Dulberg taken by agreement of the parties and pursuant to notice.

This deposition is being taken pursuant to the Rules of the Illinois Supreme Court, the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure and any applicable local rules in McHenry County.

Sir, could you state your name and spell your last name for the record.

A. Palm Dulberg, D-u-l-b-e-r-g.

Q. What is your address?

A. 4606 Hayden Court, McHenry, Illinois 60051.

Q. How long have you lived there?

A. Forty-nine years.

Q. Who do you live there with now?

A. Mike McArtor.

Q. Did your mother live there at some point throughout the history of this case?

A. Yes.

Q. I'm just going to go over a few rules for the deposition. I know you've testified at least one time in a deposition before because you testified in the underlying personal injury case, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Have you testified in any other depositions before?

A. No.

Q. I'll just remind you of a few rules that I'm sure you were aware of back then when you gave your deposition.

The court reporter is here to take down everything that you and I say. She can only take down one at a time so I'd ask that before you answer a question, let me finish the entire question. Okay?

A. Yes.

Q. I'll try to do the same. I'll try to let you respond before I ask a follow-up question.

You just nodded your head. That's another good point to make. She can't take down nods of the head, shrugs of the shoulders or other hand gestures. Your answers need to be verbal.

From time to time we forget those rules and I may just point to the court reporter as a reminder, if that's okay.

A. Yes.

Q. If you need to take a break at any time, feel free to stop me. I just ask that it's not while a question is pending that has not been answered. Fair enough?

A. I'll try to do that.

Q. If you've answered a question, I will assume you understood it. Okay?

A. Yes.

Q. I was asking you about your mother. She lived at the house during the pendency of the underlying case?

A. Yes.

Q. Is she still alive?

A. Yes.

MS. WILLIAMS: Can we define "underlying case"?

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. The underlying case is a personal injury

Page 6

case that you filed against Bill and Caroline McGuire and David Gagnon.

A. That sounds correct.

Q. We'll get into the dates of the filing a little bit later. We'll call that, generally, the underlying case.

Your mother lived at the house at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. Did she own the house?

A. No.

Q. Do you own the house currently?

A. Yes.

Q. Does anyone else own the house?

A. No.

Q. How long have you owned it?

A. I think I first purchased it off my parents in '97, '98, something like that.

Q. Did you hire a lawyer in connection with that transaction?

A. No.

Q. Were your parents represented by a lawyer?

A. No.

Page 7

Q. The building, as I understand it, is a duplex; is that right?

A. No.

Q. Were there two apartments in the building at one time?

A. No.

Q. Was there a point in time where you and your mother lived in one half of the house and Mike McArtor lived in the other half?

A. Yes.

Q. How was that arrangement with respect to the location of the living spaces, if you can describe it?

A. It has a walkout basement. He had the downstairs with an exit out the back. We had the upstairs with an exit out the front.

Q. Have you ever been convicted of a crime of fraud, dishonesty or deceit?

A. No.

Q. Besides the hiring of the Popovich firm in connection with the underlying personal injury case, up to that point in time had you ever had an occasion to hire a lawyer?

A. I did during a traffic accident, and I don't remember the year.

Q. Were you injured in about 2002? Does that sound right?

A. Roughly.

Q. Who did you hire?

A. I might get the name wrong because it's been a long time. I think it was Weiss and Michling and something else. It was a lawyer right outside the courthouse in Woodstock.

Q. A McHenry County lawyer?

A. Yeah.

Q. It was a personal injury case?

A. Yeah. It was a car accident.

Q. Did you file a lawsuit in that case?

A. I don't think we needed to.

Q. You just filed an insurance claim?

A. They did, yes.

Q. You settled it?

A. Yes.

Q. Any other occasions to hire a lawyer between that time and the time you hired the Popovich firm?

A. May I consult for a minute because I'm not sure how to answer that.

Page 9

Q. Why don't you just tell me why you can't answer it.
A. Because I've hired lawyers, but they were for the company that I had. That's different.
Q. I'm asking general questions about any interaction you've had with hiring lawyers. Any experience you've had with hiring lawyers.
A. I had a corporate lawyer. My mom and dad hired a lawyer for me when I was a kid. It was something. And myself, just the corporate lawyer, the car accident lawyer and the Popovich firm.
Q. Have you ever been married?
A. No.
Q. So you never hired a divorce lawyer. Good. How old are you now?
A. Forty-nine.
Q. The underlying case arose out of an injury that occurred on June 28, 2011, correct?
A. That sounds correct.
Q. How old were you at that time?
A. Forty-one.
Q. Besides the underlying lawsuit against the McGuires and Mr. Gagnon, had you ever filed any other lawsuit up until that point in time?

Page 10

A. No.
Q. Have you filed any lawsuits since that time besides the lawsuit against Popovich and Mast?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any military experience?
A. Yes.
Q. Please tell me about that.
A. Army National Guard. Illinois Army National Guard.
Q. How long have you been in the National Guard?
A. I'm not currently in it.
Q. When were you, from when to when?
A. I may not get the year correct. '88 or '89 to '92 or '93, somewhere in there.
Q. What was your highest rank when you were discharged from the National Guard?
A. When I was discharged?
Q. Correct.
A. I don't know. I've gotten moved up and moved down. I don't know where I ended up.
Q. How was it that you were discharged?
A. Less than honorable.
Q. What was the cause?

Page 11

A. I missed morning call, roll call. If you're not there, you're AWOL.
Q. Absent without leave?
A. Yes.
Q. What is the highest level of education that you've attained?
A. I do not have a degree. Two years of college.
Q. You graduated from high school?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that in Johnsburg in 1988?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you know Mr. Gagnon from Johnsburg High School?
A. Not from high school but just after high school.
Q. Just coincidentally you attended the same high school?
A. He was three years older than I was. I didn't know who he was until after high school.
Q. You had some education after high school but did not receive a degree, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Where did you study?

Page 12

A. I had a couple classes at McHenry County College and McMurray College.
Q. What did you study?
A. The first two years. The basics.
Q. General studies?
A. Yeah. I did a criminal justice course. I did a macro/microeconomics. I did psychology, sociology. The normal stuff.
Q. How did you meet David Gagnon?
A. Through a mutual friend.
Q. When was that?
A. I want to say, roughly, 1990.
Q. Was your home located somewhere fairly close to his parents' home or his mom and stepdad's home?
A. Two streets away.
Q. That's where you were injured on June 28, 2011, was at David Gagnon's mom's house and his stepdad's house?
A. Yes.
Q. And their name is McGuire?
A. Yes.
Q. Generally speaking, you were injured assisting David with a chainsaw trying to cut down a tree?

A. He was cutting a branch.
Q. Cutting branches off a tree, correct?
A. Cutting up the branches after they were off the tree.
Q. Could you tell me a little bit about your work history. Do you have any licenses or certifications?
A. I'm certified to run printing presses. Or at least I was.
Q. You worked for Sharp Printing, Inc. from '91 to 2011; is that right?
A. Ninety-one? No. I would say 1999.
Q. Did you own that corporation?
A. Yes. Well, partner. I was a partner. I didn't own like...
Q. It was an Illinois corporation?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you –
A. A stockholder.
Q. Let me just finish my question so she can take us down.
You were a stockholder in Sharp Printing, Inc.?

Page 14

A. Yes.
Q. Who else were the stockholders?
A. Mike McArtor and Scott Dulberg and at that time it was Herbert Dulberg.
Q. What does that mean? Do you mean Scott's name was Herbert?
A. No. Scott Dulberg was an owner and Herbert Dulberg was an owner. Three different Dulbergs: me, my brother, my dad.
Q. And Mike McArtor?
A. Yes.
Q. There were four owners at what time?
A. Until my dad died and then it went to three.
Q. Was that business incorporated?
A. Yes.
Q. Did a lawyer assist the corporation with setting up the corporation?
A. Yes.
Q. When did that happen?
A. 1999.
Q. Did you hire the lawyer yourself?
A. All three of us did. All four of us. Sorry.

Page 15

Q. What was the name of that attorney?
A. McAndrews, and I don't remember the rest of it. It was McAndrews in McHenry. I can get you the rest of that information.
Q. They are based in Crystal Lake, Illinois?
A. It used to be in McHenry when we did that.
Q. Patrick McAndrews, he was also identified as the registered agent of that corporation?
A. Yes.
Q. It was voluntarily dissolved on April 8, 2011; is that right?
A. That's what the Secretary of State's Office has, yes.
Q. Is that your understanding as well?
A. I was corrected. My partners – I was corrected. It was actually after the accident. How it got to end up with that date, I'm not sure.
Q. What was corrected, exactly?
A. Well, do you want me to – Mike read my deposition and he said, "You got that wrong." I said, "What do you mean?" because I answered it twice in that deposition.
I was thinking that Juskie happened before the accident. Sharp Printing wasn't actually dissolved until after the accident when we decided to sell off the equipment and end it all. That's the honest truth.

Q. I will represent to you that the Illinois Secretary of State's Website as of today shows that the company was involuntarily dissolved on April 8, 2011. So it's your testimony that that is not true?
A. I don't know how they come up with that.
Q. Why don't we break it down and start with why the corporation was involuntarily dissolved. Do you know that?
A. Involuntarily? I don't know. It may be that I was late on paying the corporate licensing thing, which we just pay a fine and did it. We didn't renew it because we decided to end it.
We had a ten-year thing, I think, on it. I may be wrong. I've got to go back and look at the records.
Q. Is it possible that the corporation was actually involuntarily dissolved by the Illinois Secretary of State on April 8, 2011?
A. Sure.
Q. Did Sharp Printing, Inc. file corporate tax returns while it was a going concern?

A. We had a problem the couple of years before the accident because I was not up in Illinois and I usually did that with the lawyer and the accountant and things got screwed up while I was taking care of a loved one who was dying down in Florida.
Q. Did the corporation ever file tax returns?
A. Oh, yes.
Q. When did they file?
A. Quarterly and annually.
Q. Until what year?
A. Roughly somewhere in 2008. I was missing things because I was not here. I know we missed a few.
Q. I believe you testified in your underlying deposition that Sharp Printing, Inc. was not dissolved as a result of your June 28, 2011 chainsaw accident, correct?
A. Yes, I did. I stood corrected by my partners.
Q. So is it your testimony that the corporation was dissolved because of your personal injury?

A. I don't know how to answer that without going back and looking at records.
Q. Was the company winding down up until about the time you were hurt?
A. The company books got screwed up when I was down in Florida and I was back up in Illinois in 2010 getting back on my feet and I was going to pick things back up, get everything paid up, the fines and everything.
Q. Who were you taking care of in Florida?
A. My grandmother.
Q. You were gone from when until when?
A. I want to say from the mid to end of 2007 until somewhere in the beginning of 2010.
Q. Was anyone running Sharp Printing during that period of time?
A. Mike McArtor.
Q. Did Sharp Printing have any customers for that three-year period?
A. Yes, they did.
Q. How many?
A. I'm not sure, without looking at the books.

Page 19

Q. Can you estimate what the yearly revenues were for Sharp Printing in the year 2007?
A. In 2007? I'd have to look at the books, to be honest with you.
Q. Was it more than $5,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it more than $100,000?
A. No.
Q. Was it more than $20,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Same line of questioning with respect to 2008. Do you know what the revenues were for Sharp Printing in '08?
A. Are you asking me what we reported or what we made and put into accounts for equipment?
Q. I'm asking you about revenues.
A. Total sales?
Q. Total revenues.
A. In two thousand...?
Q. 2008.
A. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Can you estimate what they were?
A. No, because I wasn't there.
Q. Do you know how many customers the company had in 2008?

A. We had a few, I know that. I don't know how many. Mike was handling it and it got messed up.
Q. What types of customers did Sharp Printing have in 2007 and 2008?
A. What kind of customers?
Q. Right. What did you do?
A. We printed on t-shirts. We printed on CDs. We printed on anything that wasn't wet. We printed on glass, all different stuff.
Q. Were there any full-time employees of Sharp Printing in '07 and '08?
A. In '07 and '08, no.
Q. Just the owners?
A. Just the owners.
Q. Did all the owners operate the business?
A. Yes.
Q. Including your brother?
A. Yes.
Q. What were the yearly revenues of Sharp Printing in 2009?
A. I don't know.
Q. What about 2010, do you know?

Page 21

A. No.
Q. When did Sharp Printing start selling its equipment?
A. I put up the ad in August. I think August. I might be off by a month or two. August of 2011.
Q. Did you sell any equipment prior to August 2011?
A. No.
Q. What type of equipment did Sharp Printing, Inc. have or own?
A. Mostly textile screen printing equipment, but we had other screen printing stuff too. Paper.
Q. Where was the equipment located?
A. My home.
Q. Did you require a license to conduct this business out of your home?
A. We had what was called a temporary – we're in a rural area so we didn't have to have that.
Q. In any event, you didn't have a license, correct?
A. We had a license to do business there, yes.

Page 22

Q. In that location?
A. Yes.
Q. Did customers ever come to the shop?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall how many customers the business had in 2010?
A. Not in 2010.
Q. Was it more than five?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it more than 100?
A. It might be around that. I don't know, specifically.
Q. In 2010 you may have had 100 customers that you did t-shirt screen prints for?
A. Possibly. I'm not saying that is the number, but it's possible.
Q. Did Sharp Printing have any customers in 2011?
A. Mike was finishing up one customer's thing in the spring of 2011, yes. We don't – I'll give you – we don't typically get much work between January 1st and the first warm days of Spring. We sell t-shirts and not a lot of people buy during that period. They just don't.

Page 23

Q. You did not earn a salary from Sharp Printing, correct?
A. No.
Q. You did not earn an hourly wage, correct?
A. No.
Q. I think your interrogatory answers indicate you didn't take a profit or a draw, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. How much, if any, money did you earn from Sharp Printing in 2011?
A. Can I ask how to define that? In 2011 I didn't pull any.
Q. Did you earn any income whatsoever from Sharp Printing in 2010?
A. I don't think so.
Q. You were down in Florida for '07 to 2010?
A. Sometime in early 2010, yes.
Q. Did you earn any income from Sharp Printing from 2007 to 2010?
A. No.
Q. Were you working in Florida?
A. No.
Q. Is it fair to say you were unemployed

Page 24

from 2007 to 2010?
A. Yes. I was not officially collecting unemployment.
Q. You weren't an employee of any business or working for any individual, correct?
A. I did do some work for Mark. I did some traveling back and forth from Florida to Illinois back and forth during that time. When I was up here, I did do some work for Juskie Printing. Not much, though.
Q. What is Juskie Printing?
A. Juskie Printing is another one that I had listed as an employer in the underlying case.
Q. What are they?
A. Another print broker.
Q. Where are they located?
A. I don't know the exact address, but it's off of Chicago Avenue off of 355 going south.
MS. WILLIAMS: I think he's asking what city.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I don't know how the cities break up down there.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Somewhere in the western suburbs of Chicago?

A. Yes.
Q. How long did you have a relationship with Juskie Printing?
A. Since the early 2000s.
Q. What type of printing did Juskie do?
A. Offset, mostly.
Q. What does that mean?
A. Prints on paper.
Q. Did you have a set schedule at any time working for Juskie?
A. I don't know what you mean by "a set schedule."
Q. Did you have a particular number of hours per week?
A. No. The jobs I got were project based.
Q. How many projects did you have from 2007 to 2011 for Juskie?
A. Probably a few hundred quick little things, yeah. At least.
Q. Do you know what you earned from working at Juskie in 2007?
A. Not without looking at the returns, I don't know offhand.

Page 26

Q. How often were you in the Chicago area in 2007?
A. I didn't leave here until, I want to say, August or September of '07.
Q. And then thereafter?
A. I was not back that year.
Q. You didn't work for Juskie in 2008, correct?
A. I might have done some stuff.
Q. You're not sure?
A. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Were you in Florida?
A. Part of the time, yeah.
Q. How often did you come back and forth between –
A. About every three months I tried to get back up here.
Q. For how long?
A. Sometimes a few weeks. Sometimes a month.
Q. Did you come back and work or did you take care of other things?
A. If I'd let Mark know I was back, "I've got something for you or I don't."

Page 27

Q. Who is Mark?
A. Mark owns Juskie Printing.
Q. I think your interrogatory answers indicated from 1999 through 2006 you were employed in a barter situation; is that right?
A. With Mark, yes.
Q. What does that mean, exactly?
A. Well, he would owe me money and he would give me printing equipment instead of cash.
Q. He owed you money for working for him?
A. Well, he owed both Sharp Printing and me, personally, money. They are two different things. But he would just pay by saying, hey, I've got this or I've got this paper cutter or this or that. It was a barter.
Q. So you worked for him from 1999 to 2006 but did not earn any income in the traditional sense?
A. No money changed hands.
Q. He gave you things to pay you for projects?
A. Correct.
Q. You gave a deposition in the underlying case on January 24, 2013. Does that sound right?

Page 28

A. If it says it on there, yes.
Q. You took an oath that day?
A. Yes.
Q. You told the truth?
A. I tried to, to the best of my knowledge, on that day, yes.
Q. You told the truth in response to all of the questions that day, correct?
A. I tried to, yes.
Q. You testified you were last employed prior to the accident in May of 2011?
A. That would be with Juskie, yes.
Q. It's accurate –
A. Actually, I wasn't employed. I was a 1099 so I was self-employment.
Q. When in May did you stop working for Juskie, whether it be as an employee or an independent contractor?
A. I believe it was the end of May.
Q. Then from the beginning of June until your accident on June 28, 2011, you were not employed; is that an accurate statement?
A. Correct.
Q. You were not even acting as an independent contractor for any business from that period of time, correct?

A. Not during that month, no.
Q. Your deposition testimony from 2013 is typed up on 175 pages. I don't intend to go back over each of those details.
A. Okay.
Q. It's fair to say you were injured, your arm was injured on June 28, 2011, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Which arm was that?
A. My right arm.
Q. As a result of the injury, you hired the Popovich law firm to explore a recovery in the case?
A. I hired them to represent me, yes.
Q. You hired them to represent you and file a lawsuit against David Gagnon who was operating the chainsaw that injured you, correct?
A. He was one of them, yes.
Q. I'm asking you if you hired him to – listen to the question, please.
David Gagnon was operating the chainsaw, correct?
A. Correct.

Page 30

Q. No one else was operating the chainsaw?
A. Correct.
Q. You also hired Popovich to sue Bill and Caroline McGuire, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. They were the land owners where your accident occurred?
A. They did own the land, yes.
Q. The accident occurred at their house, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. This was in the backyard, so to speak?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans Mast was the primary handling attorney at the Popovich firm for your case?
A. That's who I met with, yes.
Q. Did any other lawyer communicate with you while Popovich was handling your case?
A. The lady who sat in on my deposition. Ms. Freeman I think it is. I'm not sure about that.
Q. Generally speaking, Hans Mast, though, was the primary handling attorney?
A. Yes.
Q. Before you hired the Popovich firm in May of 2012, is that the correct time period?

A. I don't think so. I don't think they filed it until then, but I might be wrong. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Was there a retainer agreement executed in May 2012?
A. I don't think I paid a retainer.
Q. Did you execute an attorney engagement agreement in May 2012?
A. I believe it was much earlier than that.
Q. You only executed one engagement letter or engagement agreement with Popovich, correct?
A. Yeah.
Q. Before you executed or came to an arrangement with Popovich, had you talked to any other lawyers about investigating –
A. One.
Q. Let me finish the question.
– investigating or filing the lawsuit?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that?
A. I went back to the same firm that handled the car accident for me years earlier.
Q. What was the name of that firm?

Page 32

A. They changed names when I went back there. It was Weiss – I have to go back through paperwork and get you the actual name.
Q. They are known as a personal injury firm; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. Why did you not hire them to take your case?
A. The man who handled my case previously with the car accident was no longer with the firm and they said go find somebody else.
Q. I'm not sure what one has to do with the other.
A. I don't either. I just said okay and I went and found somebody else.
Q. Did you meet with an attorney at that firm?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you tell them what happened with your incident?
A. Yes.
Q. They told you that they did not want to take the case; is that right?
A. Yes.

Page 33

Q. They declined the case?
A. They declined the case.
Q. Did they tell you why they declined the case?
A. No.
Q. You next went to the Popovich firm?
A. Yes.
Q. They took the case?
A. Yes.
Q. They, ultimately, filed a lawsuit against Gagnon and the McGuires on May 15, 2012; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. You reviewed the lawsuit and approved it, correct?
A. I didn't – I never got anything to review.
Q. Did you ever read the lawsuit?
A. No. I was never given any paperwork.
Q. Back to the incorporation of Sharp. What interaction did you have with corporate lawyers when they were first retained?
A. McAndrews?
Q. Correct.

Page 34

A. What relationship?
Q. What experience did you have with McAndrews when you first retained them?
A. He was good.
Q. How often did you meet with him or speak to him?
A. Once a year.
Q. Did he file corporate returns or other documents for the company?
A. No. I had to file them. He just made sure they were all done right, I believe.
Q. Have you ever had occasion to hire a criminal lawyer?
A. I did in 1990. My mom and dad had to hire one. Not me.
Q. Did you hire a criminal lawyer for your mom and dad?
A. No. They hired one for me.
Q. Who was that?
A. Give me a second. You're digging back far in my memory. Driscoll was the last name.
Q. This was a McHenry County-based criminal lawyer?
A. No. Des Plaines.

Page 35

Q. What was the general nature of the reason for the need for a lawyer?
A. Drug possession.
Q. Were you convicted of it?
A. Yes. I pled guilty.
Q. That was a Cook County case, then?
A. No. It was a McHenry County case.
Q. The lawyer was in Des Plaines, though?
A. Yes.
Q. But he represented you in McHenry County in criminal court?
A. Yes.
Q. Throughout the case you met with the lawyer?
A. A few times.
Q. While Popovich represented you in the underlying personal injury case, did you ever communicate with any other lawyers about your case?
A. At the end, yes.
Q. Popovich withdrew sometime in March 2015?
A. Correct.
Q. And Brad Balke entered his appearance on March 19, 2015. Does that sound correct?
A. That is correct.

Page 36

Q. Popovich also withdrew that day, right?
A. I don't know if it was on the same day. I'd have to look at the paperwork.
Q. Besides Mr. Balke, had you talked to any other lawyers towards the end of the relationship with Popovich?
A. Yes.
Q. How many?
A. Hundreds.
Q. Hundreds of lawyers?
A. I'm not kidding. Yes.
Q. Did you ask those lawyers to take your case?
A. I asked them to review it.
Q. Did any of them take the case?
A. No.
Q. They all reviewed it, though?
A. Yes. Most took the time to review it.
Q. Did any of them tell you why they didn't want to take the case?
A. There were different reasons I got from various. Some people just didn't get back to me and some people wrote me letters. I think I gave you some of those. But I got various reasons back from attorneys.

Q. I don't recall seeing any lawyers, but I would ask you to search for those.
MS. WILLIAMS: We'll search for those. I'll make a note.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. As you sit here, do you recall the basis for any attorney declining to take your personal injury case over from Popovich?
A. Say that again.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall any of the reasons why any attorney declined to take your personal injury case over from the Popovich firm?
A. Yes.
Q. What were those reasons?
A. I remember a few. One I was looking at local lawyers in McHenry County and I was told like – I can name them. My sister was married to him.
Anyway, I was told if Tom Popovich says you don't have a case, you don't have a case and we're not even going to look at it. That I got a lot of it.

Page 38

Q. That's one reason. Any others?
A. That I got locally a lot of. As I started to work away from local further out finding attorneys, the thing was your decision to settle with the McGuires was a mistake and we don't take it because of that.
Q. Who said that?
A. Sal Ferris.
Q. When did you speak to Sal Ferris?
A. I don't know the exact date.
Q. When did he –
A. He wasn't the only one.
Q. When did he say that to you, that you just described?
A. He said it in a letter and he said it on the phone and he sent me an e-mail, I think. I don't remember the ways that he contacted me. I'd have to go back and look.
MS. WILLIAMS: We'll find it.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Besides Sal Ferris, can you recall any other attorney, specifically, that told you they wouldn't take the case because of your settlement with the McGuires?

Page 39

A. Yes.
Q. Who was that?
A. There was at least three firms downtown here right near the Daley Center that I came down to see and I don't remember their names, but they – I got the same thing out of all three of them.
Q. Did any of the lawyers give you any other reason for declining your case?
A. Mostly it was because they knew Popovich or it was the McGuire settlement.
Q. Did any lawyer tell you that they didn't want to take your case because there was questionable liability against David Gagnon?
A. No.
Q. Did any lawyer tell you that there was questionable liability against the property owners, the McGuires?
A. No.
Q. We're jumping ahead, but did you have different lawyers that handled a binding arbitration or binding mediation for you in the underlying case?
A. Yes.
Q. Their name was Baudin?
A. Yes.

Page 40

Q. Why did Brad Balke not handle the binding arbitration?
A. I fired him.
Q. When did you fire Brad Balke?
A. I'd have to look at the dates. I'm not sure, exactly.
Q. Why did you fire him?
A. Because he forced me to undergo the exact mediation at the McHenry County court in front of Judge Meyer that Hans Mast set up that I specifically said no to.
Q. When was this mediation?
A. I'd have to look at the dates again.
Q. Was it a pretrial conference?
A. Yes.
Q. You actually attended this pretrial conference?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What happened?
A. I said no.
Q. You said no about what?
A. They offered an amount of money and I said no.
Q. The defendants offered an amount of money?

A. Yes.
Q. Was this before or after the McGuires settled out of the case?
A. They were settled.
Q. So there was an offer of settlement from David Gagnon or his insurer?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall what that amount of money was?
A. $50,000.
Q. You refused the offer?
A. Yes.
Q. Why did that cause you to fire Brad Balke?
A. He wouldn't take it any further than that and he agreed to when I hired him. He agreed that that was not going to be the end of it and then he changed his tune, and I said, you know what – and the other thing was, I finally got through to the Baudins who I wanted to take the case because they had helped my family – his dad helped my family many eons earlier.
Q. Did you ever talk to Brad Balke about the liability or lack of liability by the McGuires, the property owners in the case?

A. I don't think so. We were on the Gagnon case.
Q. You didn't discuss the McGuires?
A. There may have been a word or something, but that's not what he was there for.
Q. He never gave you an opinion one way or the other whether the settlement was appropriate?
A. I don't believe Brad did, no. Like I said – I don't think he did.
Q. At some point after your accident did you hire the Daley Disability Law Firm?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that for –
A. I didn't hire.
Q. I know you're anticipating what I'm saying.
A. I was trying to correct myself. I did not hire.
Q. Either way, let me try to get out my question before you raise any kind of response, just so she can take down –
A. Count before I answer.

Page 43

Q. That's a good idea.
Did you ever retain the Daley Disability Law Firm?
A. NO.
Q. Did you have any relationship with Daley Disability –
A. Yes.
Q. – Law? Let me finish it before you answer. I know you're anticipating what you think I'm going to say, but it might not come out the way you think. Either way, she can't take down both of us talking over each other.
What relationship did you ever have with the Daley Disability Law Firm?
A. They stepped in as a substitute counsel for the law firm that I did hire.
Q. You originally hired some other law firm to represent you in connection with social security disability?
A. Yes.
Q. What was the name of that original law –
A. The lady's ladies name was Margaret Bradshaw.
Q. You terminated your relationship with her

Page 44

one way or another?
A. No.
Q. Why did Daley Disability Law substitute in for her?
A. I was told by – I have to go back and look at the communications exactly how it happened, but I was told that, basically, they are going to be taking over the hearing part of it. I don't know why. I don't know whether they sub out work. I don't know how it works.
Q. Would it be fair to say that you first retained Ms. Bradshaw in 2012 sometime?
A. I'd have to go back and look.
Q. Is that approximately when you applied for social security?
A. It sounds like it.
Q. The Daley Disability Law Firm came in sometime in 2012 as well?
A. I don't know exactly when. I don't know.
Q. Would it be 2012 or 2013?
A. I know that they were there and – I know that something had to be signed when we went in for the hearings. Margaret Bradshaw had to sign something for the judge allowing Daley Disability to represent me at the hearings. I don't know when exactly they got involved. That's behind the scenes. I didn't have anything to do with that.

Q. Did you file for bankruptcy while your personal injury case was pending?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you file for bankruptcy?
A. I'd have to look at the paperwork again, but I don't believe that was until, I want to say, about eight or nine months, but I'm guessing, after the McGuire settlement.
MS. WILLIAMS: The question was what month and year.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I don't know exactly. I'd have to go back and look at the paperwork.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Did you hire a lawyer to represent you in a bankruptcy?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that lawyer?
A. David Stretch.
MS. WILLIAMS: If it helps, we can stipulate to the date the bankruptcy was filed.

Page 46

MR. FLYNN: That's fine. I think we've got some e-mails that may reflect when it was. I just wondered if he knew offhand.
MS. WILLIAMS: I can stipulate, at least, that it was 2014.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. You filed for bankruptcy while the Popovich firm was still representing you –
A. Yes.
Q. – in the underlying case, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Sometimes I'll still pause in my question so if you could please pause before you answer.
In the underlying case you answered written discovery; is that true?
A. I believe so.
Q. Then you later testified at your deposition January 24, 2013, correct?
A. If that's the date, yes.
Q. Ultimately, David Gagnon was also deposed, true?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you present for his deposition?
A. No.

Page 47

Q. Did Caroline McGuire give a deposition in that case?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. Were you present for that dep?
A. No.
Q. What about Bill McGuire's deposition?
A. I was not present.
Q. Did you e-mail back and forth with Hans Mast a fair amount during the Popovich firm's representation of you?
A. By "fair amount," what do you mean?
Q. Did you regularly e-mail with Hans Mast?
A. Yes.
Q. Those e-mail communications have all been produced in this case?
A. Yes.
Q. On to the exhibits. This will be 1.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 1, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as Exhibit 1. These are one set of your Answers to Interrogatories in our case, the current legal malpractice case you filed against the Popovich firm and Hans Mast.

Do you recognize this document?
A. Yes.
Q. We've been providing you with various copies of the signature page in the case that's been back and forth between me and your counsel.
I don't, frankly, know if this verification that's attached is the one that went with this document, but I'll just ask you, for the record, if these are your answers, that's your signature, and that this verification is accurate?
A. That is my signature on there, yes.
Q. What was the e-mail address you used in the communication with Hans Mast?
A. Primarily it was pdulberg@comcast.net.
Q. His address was hansmast@comcast.net?
A. And he switched it to at&t.net.
Q. Did you use some other e-mail address as well?
A. I may have accidentally e-mailed him a couple of times from a Yahoo account.
Q. In answering discovery in our case, the legal malpractice case, did you search through both of those e-mail accounts of yours?

A. I no longer have the Yahoo account.
Q. Did you search through the Comcast account?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you search for PDFs or attachments to those e-mails that you produced?
A. Everything that I got, I turned over. I had converted the e-mails to PDFs because Comcast started purging the e-mails after so many years, so I turned them all into PDFs.
MS. WILLIAMS: The question was what did you search in your in box.
BY THE WITNESS:
A. What did I search?
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me ask you a different question. You produced e-mails in this case?
A. Yes.
Q. You turned e-mails into PDFs and sent them to your lawyer; is that right?
A. Yes.
Q. Some of the e-mails I reviewed have an icon that indicates there was a PDF or some other attachment to the e-mail. Do you understand that?

Page 50

A. Yes.
Q. Did you produce the attachments to each of the e-mails in this case?
A. We went through that. I produced the attachments that I still had.
Q. There were some that were not available, correct?
A. Yeah. When I looked at them, 99 percent of them were already part of some other document that we turned over. I think 100 percent of them.
Q. At some point in time while Hans was handling your case, did he start to communicate with you relative to his analysis of the McGuires' liability in the case?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he start to generally advise you that he didn't believe that there was a strong case for liability against the McGuires?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that Hans' opinion was that the McGuires did not have liability in the case because they did not control the work that David Gagnon was doing?

Page 51

A. Yes.
Q. That's generally a fair summary of Hans' opinion?
A. Not quite exactly those words, but yeah.
Q. The McGuires' liability as property owners was questionable because based on Hans' analysis of the evidence, they did not control the work or the manner of work of David Gagnon on the date of the accident; is that a fair summary?
A. Depends on which time he said that.
Q. Did he say things like that over and over again?
A. He did say things like that, yes.
Q. Again, I don't want to go over the facts you already testified to with regards to the date of the accident. At some point in time was William McGuire swimming in the swimming pool?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that an above ground pool or –
A. Above ground.
Q. Was there a fair amount of time during the day that Mr. McGuire was inside the house watching television?
A. Maybe – he went inside the house for probably about 45 minutes before the accident happened. I don't know that he was watching television.

MR. FLYNN: Let's mark the next exhibit as 2.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 2, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 2, which is an e-mail chain including e-mails from November 18, 2013, are these e-mails between you and Hans Mast?
A. It looks like it, yes.
Q. I think the time stamps on these e-mails go from the bottom, which would be page 2, to the top of the first page, correct?
A. It's backwards, yes.
Q. In the original e-mail at 1:28 p.m., did Hans Mast relay to you a $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires?
A. Which – where are you at?
Q. We're on Exhibit 2, which is also labeled as Bates label POP 181. At the bottom of the page, does Hans relay to you a settlement offer for $5,000?

A. Yes.
Q. He was telling you that the McGuires' attorney offered to settle the case for $5,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding that that was a settlement just for the McGuires, not including David Gagnon?
A. Yes.
Q. In the e-mail Hans says, quote, "As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now."
Is that an accurate reading?
A. Of that sentence, yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that he suggested that you take the $5,000 but didn't force you to take it?
A. It says, "So my suggestion is..."
Q. Then did you respond to the e-mail?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans replied again at 8:07 p.m. that same day, right?
A. Yes.

Page 54

Q. He said, "Paul, whether you like it or not, they don't have a legal liability for your injury because they were not directing the work."
Is that right?
A. Part of it, yes.
Q. Was my prior summary of Hans' legal analysis a fair summary in view of these e-mails and his opinion that he relayed to you?
A. I think it went further than this, and other things, but yes.
Q. As far as these e-mails, I've accurately –
A. This e-mail, yes.
Q. What else did he tell you about the McGuires and why he didn't think they would be found liable in the case?
A. I'm pulling out of memory because I can't quote which document it's off of.
Q. That's what we're here for.
A. I can only give you the gist.
Q. I'll ask you for the exact language, but if you don't have it –
A. At one point he defined what an independent contractor is for me and he said that

Page 55

David was an independent contractor and that the McGuires weren't liable because they had hired somebody outside even though it's their own son, he's an adult, outside to do the work and that they weren't responsible.
Q. By the way, how old was David at the time that this accident occurred?
A. I'm adding. If I was 41 – I don't know what his birthday is, but I'm assuming he would be 44, 45.
Q. Is it fair to say that there were two 40-plus-year-olds, a 41- and a 44-year-old trimming trees with a chainsaw in David's parent's backyard that day, correct?
A. I was not using it. There was one 44-year-old using a chainsaw.
Q. You, the 41-year-old was holding some branches for him?
A. Yes. Just before the accident, yes.
Q. Up until this point in time when Hans is providing this legal analysis to you, you had a fair number of occasions to interact with lawyers, as we've discussed today, correct?
A. At this point, the only lawyer that I interacted with was the first one.

Q. I'm talking about in your lifetime. You had a corporate lawyer, you had a criminal lawyer, another personal injury lawyer –
A. I didn't hire –
Q. Let me finish. You had experience with lawyers representing you up to this point in time?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding that lawyers evaluate cases differently?
A. Yes.
Q. And judges evaluate cases differently?
A. Sure. That's fair.
Q. Would it be fair to say that some laws in our country are clearer and some are open to interpretation?
A. I think all of them are.
MS. WILLIAMS: Objection. Calls for speculation.
If you understand the question, you can answer it.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Would you say, for example, that the tax code is a little more clearcut than common law

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

that's created by cases and case precedent?
A. I'm not real familiar with tax law. I have accountants for that.
Q. How about an easier question. The stop sign means that you stop, and if you go through it, it's pretty clear that you're liable for a traffic violation?
A. I'll agree with that.
Q. The legal liability for a property owner in Illinois might be a little more complicated; is that a fair statement?
A. I don't know.
Q. Would it be fair to say, in your opinion or your knowledge of the law, the property owner isn't necessarily liable because somebody is injured on their property?
A. Are you talking about what I know now or what I knew back when this was?
Q. At any time.
A. What I know now is in the circumstances that we were in, they were very liable.
Q. I'm just asking if – just because somebody is injured on a property owner's property, they are not necessarily liable, correct? Other factors are required too.

MS. WILLIAMS: I'm going to object for – he's not an expert and can't testify to legal analysis.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. As you sit here today, do you know whether a premises liability case involves multiple factors to prove liability against the property owner?
A. I don't know. I'd say that's fair. You're asking the wrong person for that.
Q. It was Hans' opinion that the McGuires did not control the work based on the evidence, correct?
A. In my opinion?
Q. That's not what I'm asking.
Was it Hans' opinion –
A. I can't –
Q. Let me just finish.
Did Hans tell you that it was his opinion that the McGuires were not liable because they did not control the work?
A. He said that right there, yes.
Q. Do you believe that he truly felt that way? That was his legal opinion?

Page 59

A. Do you want the Monday morning quarterbacking version or at the time?
Q. I'm asking if at that time you felt that he truly believed that the McGuires did not have liability?
A. At the time I trusted him, yes. I hired him to represent me, and yeah.
Q. You believed that he was relying his honest legal opinion to you at that time?
A. Yes.
Q. Including on November 18, 2013?
A. Yes.
Q. You did not accept the settlement offer of $5,000 that he relayed to you on that day, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Did you ultimately meet with Hans to discuss the settlement offer?
A. I think it was the day before this, but I'm not sure. It was either the day before or the day after.
MS. WILLIAMS: I think the question was, did you meet with him, at all, not the date.

Page 60

A. Yes.
MR. FLYNN: Can we mark this as Exhibit 3, please.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 3, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 3. Do you recognize this memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. You may have seen it from the document production that we made in this case. This is a memorandum drafted by Hans Mast, which purportedly memorializes a meeting that he had with you on November 20, 2013.
Does this refresh your memory as to when you met with him or if you met with him?
A. If he took the memorandum on the same day, then sure.
Q. In the memo Hans says, "I met with Paul and his friend."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.

Page 61

Q. Did you meet with Hans and some third person –
A. Yes.
Q. – at or about this time regarding the case?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that friend?
A. Tom Kost.
Q. Who is Tom Kost?
A. My brother.
Q. Not that it matters necessarily for privilege purposes, but can you tell me how Tom Kost is your brother?
A. We have the same mom.
Q. He was with you and observed the meeting between you and Hans?
A. Yes.
Q. The $5,000 settlement offer was discussed, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. At that time did Hans, again, relay his opinion as to the questionable liability about the McGuires – strike that.
Did he relay to you his opinion about the

Page 62

questionable nature of the McGuires' liability?
A. At the meeting with Tom, yes.
Q. He advised you they maintain they were not directing Dave's work. That was the McGuires' position, correct?
A. I don't know that he stayed on that at that meeting. At different times he gave different reasons.
Q. The next line says, "Paul maintains the McGuires controlled everything that Dave was doing."
Is that an accurate reflection of your opinion?
A. Yes.
Q. As you sit here today, do you know if that statement is consistent with your own deposition testimony from the underlying case?
A. Yes.
Q. We'll come back to that. Did you tell Hans that you wanted to read the depositions of the McGuires and David Gagnon's depositions?
A. Say that again.
Q. Did you tell Paul that you wanted to read the depositions of the McGuires and Dave Gagnon's depositions?

Page 63

A. Did I tell Paul?
Q. I'm sorry. Did you tell Hans that?
A. That I wanted to read the McGuires and David Gagnon's depositions?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What was the purpose of your wanting to review those depositions?
A. Hans had told me that what they said in their depositions meant that they had no liability.
Q. You wanted to review the testimony to determine whether you wanted to consider the $5,000 settlement offer; is that correct?
A. Right.
Q. Did you do that?
A. Eventually, yes.
Q. Before you accepted the offer?
A. I think so.
Q. So sometime after this meeting on November 20, 2013 and before you accepted the settlement offer on January 29, 2014, did you review those three deposition transcripts?
A. I'll correct you. I did not accept the offer on January 20th. I signed a release on

Page 64

January 29th.
Q. Fair point. Did you read the depositions between those two dates, November 20, 2013 and January 29, 2014?
A. Yes.
Q. Those are –
A. I believe I asked him – I don't know – it may be a little earlier because I don't know that I asked him before or after the meeting. I don't remember. I'd have to go back in the e-mails to give the date.
Q. Some point in time between those two dates you read the deps?
A. I may have asked for them before. I don't know without seeing the e-mail. It was, roughly, in the last quarter of that year, yes. Or the first month. I don't remember the first time that I asked to read them. I don't remember off the top of my head.
Q. At any point in time did you ever grant Hans authority to make a settlement demand in the case?
A. No.

Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 4. This is a copy of the original complaint in this instant case. It reflects a filing date of November 28, 2017.
Is this your original legal malpractice complaint against the Popovich firm and Hans Mast?
A. I believe so.
Q. Did you review and approve the allegations in this complaint?
A. For the most part. I wanted to reword some things, but the lawyer, they do their thing.
Q. At the time you were represented by the Gooch firm is when you filed this lawsuit, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Directing your attention back to Exhibit 1, if you still have it. If you could turn to page 10.
The answer to Interrogatory No. 24 indicates that on November 4, 2013, Mast was granted authority to investigate a settlement but a specific dollar amount was never provided. Do you see that?

A. He was verbally granted authority to investigate, yes.
Q. Who did you want him to investigate a settlement with?
A. The McGuires.
Q. Just the McGuires or the McGuires and –
A. He wanted to do it. I didn't. I said, "If you want to look at that, go ahead."
Q. Did you grant him authority to investigate a settlement with David Gagnon as well?
A. I don't know if I did or not, off the top of my head, but that would have been much later.
Q. Eventually did you tell Hans that you would agree to accept the $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires?
A. Eventually did I tell him that?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. When did you tell him that?
A. I want to say just before Christmas in December of 2013.
Q. There's no doubt in your mind that you relayed your acceptance of the $5,000 settlement offer to Hans Mast before Christmas Day, which would be December 25, 2013?

A. Right.
Q. Then did Hans mail to you a settlement release by letter dated January 24, 2014?
A. I'd like to see the letter, but yeah, I believe so.
Q. I believe it's –
A. I believe he had to mail it a couple times because I didn't get it.
MR. FLYNN: Let's mark Exhibit 5.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 5, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 5. I'll represent to you that this is a copy of the second amended complaint that you filed in this case by your new lawyers, your current lawyers. If I could direct your attention to Exhibit D attached to this Exhibit 5.
Is Exhibit D a January 24, 2014 cover letter from Hans Mast to you enclosing the general release and settlement agreement from defense counsel for Caroline and Bill McGuire?

A. That's what it says.
Q. In the letter did he ask you to – it looks like it might be a typo. It says, "Please release and return it to me in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope at your earliest convenience."
A. Right, but I believe it was just a release – it was all tied into one.
Q. This letter is unsigned. Did you receive the letter unsigned?
A. Did I receive this unsigned?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever seen a signed copy of this letter?
A. No.
Q. If I could direct your attention to the next page of Exhibit D. Is that page 1 of the general release and settlement agreement?
A. Exhibit D?
Q. Correct.
MS. WILLIAMS: Turn the page.

Q. Is this what you received attached to the cover letter?
A. I don't think so. Let me see. Yes, this looks like it because it's got these things I remember.
Q. When did you receive this letter and the attachment?
A. I would say I wrote back on January 29th and I probably got it that day, signed it and sent it back.
Q. The copy of the release is also unsigned. It's attached as exhibit -- part of Exhibit D to your second amended complaint.
Do you see the signature lines and the notary signature here that's missing?
A. Yes.
Q. Is this the document that you signed and sent back to Hans Mast?
A. The document that I signed had my signature.
Q. I'm asking if this is the same document that you signed and sent back to him?
A. Yes.

Page 70

Q. Right now we don't have a signed copy. I don't know that I've seen one in the case.
MS. WILLIAMS: Can we go off the record for a second?
MR. FLYNN: Sure.
(WHEREUPON, discussion was had off the record.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Is there any doubt, in your mind, that Exhibit D is the letter and attachment that you received from Hans Mast?
A. No. I believe that this is it.
Q. You signed some copy of this release and sent it back to Hans on January 29; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You accepted the settlement offer prior to Christmas and presumably defense counsel or Hans drafted the settlement release and then Hans mailed it to you, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. At any point in time from December 25th until you received this settlement release, did you contact any lawyer to discuss whether it would be appropriate to let the McGuires out for 5,000?

Page 71

A. I believe I contacted Hans again.
Q. Besides Hans, did you talk to anyone else?
A. No.
Q. Was there anything preventing you from seeking a second opinion from some other lawyer at that time?
A. No.
Q. Directing your attention to Exhibit E attached to the second amended complaint, the second amended complaint, again, being Exhibit 5. Is this an e-mail from you to Hans on January 29, 2014?
A. This is the e-mail chain between me and Hans, yes.
Q. Down below at the bottom of the page, January 29 at 10:51 a.m., it appears that you were questioning Hans regarding some of the language in the release, including social security disability check boxes. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans responded to you and then at the top of the page here at 1:59 p.m. it says, "Okay, it's signed and in the mail."
A. Correct.

Page 72

Q. What did you mean by that?
A. I signed it and mailed it.
Q. Did you -- where did you mail it from?
A. My home.
Q. How did you do that?
A. Put a stamp on the envelope and put it in the mailbox, put the flag up and waited for the mailman.
Q. Is the mailbox attached to your home or is it –
A. It's out on the street.
Q. You walked down there and you put the mail -- the envelope in the mailbox, put the flag up and –
A. That is correct.
Q. Your understanding of signing that release and sending it back to your lawyer was that you would agree to take the $5,000 settlement, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Hans didn't deliver the letter to you personally. He mailed it to you, correct?
A. He mailed it to me?
Q. He mailed it to you.

A. Correct. U.S. mail.
Q. Do you recall an allegation in your complaint or amended complaint or second amended complaint in this case alleging that you were pressured or alleging undue influence by Hans in urging you to accept the $5,000 settlement from the McGuires?
A. Yes.
Q. How is it, as you sit here today, can you tell me how Hans unduly influenced you to accept the $5,000 settlement offer?
A. I don't know what Hans was thinking. How did I feel influenced?
Q. Unduly influenced.
Let me put it this way. He didn't put a gun to your head?
A. No.
Q. He suggested that you take the settlement?
A. Correct.
Q. He didn't force you to take the settlement?
A. Correct.
Q. It was your decision?

Page 74

A. Correct.
Q. You signed it and you sent it back to him in the mail?
A. Yes.
Q. Aside from your e-mails with Hans on January 29, did you call him that day?
A. I believe so.
Q. Did you also discuss whether it was appropriate to accept the McGuires' $5,000 settlement offer at that time?
A. Yes.
Q. You deliberated on it and decided to take it, correct?
A. There wasn't much – it was take it or get nothing.
Q. You had the opportunity to deliberate on it, correct?
A. For that day, yeah.
Q. You had reviewed the transcripts of the McGuire depositions and David Gagnon's depositions in order to provide you with some information in order to determine whether to accept the settlement offer, correct?
A. I believe I did try to read those, yes.

Page 75

Q. Did you call Hans or e-mail him and question him with respect to the evidence, the testimony contained in those deposition transcripts?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you say to him and what did he say to you?
A. There were many conversations over the phone and I'm sure some through e-mails.
Q. He continued to tell you that it was his opinion that the liability on the McGuires is questionable because they did not control David Gagnon's work that day, correct?
A. It depends on which time. Sometimes he said because they didn't tell them how to squeeze the trigger. It depends which time you are talking about.
Q. Again, there was nothing preventing you from seeking a second opinion from some other lawyer at the time you signed the settlement release and sent it back to Hans, correct?
A. From the time I received it, signed it and sent it back?
Q. Right.
A. No. It was a matter of hours. I got it

Page 76

that morning.
Q. You decided to mail it that day, right?
A. He needed it. He said now or you're not going to get anything.
Q. There was nothing preventing you from seeking the advice of another attorney at that time?
A. At that time it was time. It was now or nothing.
Q. You were in the comfort of your own house when you received the letter, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You had the ability to go find another lawyer and ask them to discuss the case at that time. You had done it hundreds of times earlier – strike that.
After the settlement with the McGuires, you continued to prosecute the case against Gagnon, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding as to what, if any, insurance coverage he had?
A. Yes.
Q. How much was that?
A. What time frame are you talking about?

Page 77

Q. What was your initial understanding as to the limits on David Gagnon's insurance coverage?
A. Hans Mast told me he had $100,000.
Q. Was that in an e-mail?
A. There were — not initially, no, but later on he reiterated that in e-mails, yes.
Q. Did you, ultimately, learn that there was some additional amount of coverage with respect to Gagnon's policy?
A. Long after Hans Mast was gone, not part of the case.
Q. How much was the coverage?
A. The Allstate coverage, I believe, was 300,000.
Q. We'll talk about the settlement later, but did you ultimately settle the case again Gagnon for 300,000?
A. I believe it went to binding mediation.
Q. Was there an award of $300,000 based on a high/low agreement?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that if Hans made a mistake about the $100,000 in coverage, that that was corrected and there was never any harm done as a result of his —

Page 78

A. No.
Q. Explain to me how you were harmed by the representation that there was $100,000 in coverage.
A. You want me to explain?
Q. Yes.
A. Had I known the value of the case, I would have not filed for bankruptcy.
Q. Explain to me why one has something to do with the other.
A. Is my family and me going to dump money into a black hole that we can't recover or is there a light at the end of the tunnel where I can pay them back.
Q. At the time that you filed for bankruptcy, had any settlement offer been made from David Gagnon or his lawyers to you?
A. At the time of when?
Q. When you filed for bankruptcy.
A. I don't think so. I'd have to check the dates, but I don't think so.
Q. As the case was progressing against David Gagnon, were your doctors deposed?
A. As the case progressed with David Gagnon,

Page 79

I believe they were deposed. I don't remember. I'd have to look at the dates.
Q. Discovery continued on in the case?
A. I believe one doctor was deposed after the McGuire settlement. I'm not sure, though.
Q. Did Hans continue to represent you for some period of time?
A. Yes.
MR. FLYNN: I'll have you mark this as Exhibit 6.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 6, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 6. Do you recognize this e-mail chain?
A. Yes.
Q. This is from September 23, 2014. If we go from the bottom up, it appears that Hans said to you that he wanted to give you the option of finding other counsel at this point if you really want to take the case to trial, which I think ultimately will be necessary. Correct?
A. Are we at "before I proceed" or "that's

the very reason"?
Q. "That's the very reason."
Is it fair to say he was suggesting you find another counsel in the case at that point?
A. Yes.
Q. He also said, "I just do not believe strongly that defense counsel will offer much in the way of settlement."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. That's his opinion regardless of what he believed the coverage limits to be; is that a fair statement?
A. Yes.
Q. You responded to him, he responded to you and then you wrote an e-mail to him at 8:25 p.m. that night?
A. Okay.
Q. Do you see that? Did you say, "First, I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to help prove David cut me with a chainsaw"?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you start to look for other lawyers to help you in your case against Gagnon at that point in time?

A. I believe I did, that summer. This is fall, September.
Q. You had already started looking for new lawyers?
A. I believe that Hans had told me to start looking for a new lawyer in April of that year.
Q. Did he say why?
A. We'd have to read his thing. He says why.
Q. Do you recall why he said that to you?
A. He did not feel that the case was provable against David. He did not feel the value of the case was worth it. He did not feel -- actually, this is 2014. The dates are rough.
Q. He thought the case against David was difficult, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever described the case as a he said, she said with respect to the facts of the accident?
A. He described that to me many times.
Q. Have you also --
A. And I used that back, yes.

Page 82

Q. Have you ever described this case as a he said, she said case?
A. I may have. I don't know.
Q. It is your word against David Gagnon's as to what happened and whose fault it was that day?
A. That's what Hans explained to me as what the problem was.
Q. Did you ever describe the accident as a he said, she said?
A. I don't think I called David a "she said" or me a "she said." I don't know. Right here I do.
Q. What do you say there?
A. I said, "I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to help prove David cut me with a chainsaw."
Q. He was denying that he even cut you, correct?
A. No, he never denied that.
Q. What was your reason for writing this sentence in that way?
A. Because Hans said that he believed David over me.
Q. With respect to what fact at issue?
A. His deposition versus mine. He said that I didn't make a good witness.

Page 83

Q. With respect to what points?
A. All of it. He was dumping me and he was coming up with his own excuses.
Q. You and David were the only ones that witnessed this accident?
A. Correct.
Q. Based on your understanding of how the evidence came out in the case, would you agree that there were differences with respect to the version of events?
A. Oh, yeah.
Q. There were differences between what he said happened and what you said happened?
A. Oh, definitely.
Q. Would it be fair to say, then, it would be up to the trier of fact, whether it be a judge or a jury, to determine who they believed?
MS. WILLIAMS: Objection. Calls for a legal conclusion.
You can answer, if you understand.
BY THE WITNESS:

Q. You said after a traumatic experience. Are you referring to the bankruptcy filing from that day?
A. That, in combination with migraines, yes.
Q. David Stretch was your lawyer that filed bankruptcy for you?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you meet with Mr. Stretch and discuss the bankruptcy process before you hired him?
A. Yes.
Q. How long did you meet with him?
A. I think I asked about it. I don't know. It may have been a couple of months or a couple weeks before it got filed. I wanted to learn about it.
Q. Did you, ultimately, list the case against David Gagnon as an asset in your bankrupt filing?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. Is that why the bankruptcy trustee became involved with the binding mediation?

Page 86

A. Yes.
Q. Did you ever meet the bankruptcy trustee?
A. Yes. The first one.
Q. What was the name of that person?
A. The first one was Heeg was her last name. H-e-e-g, I think.
Q. Again, we established that Brad Balke became your lawyer in the case on March 19, 2015, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that your relationship with Hans Mast was deteriorating over the fall and beginning of the winter of 2015?
A. I would say it had been deteriorating long before that. You can see from the last exhibit I'm melting down and it was already started deteriorating.
Q. By the time you drafted Exhibit 7, had you talked to other lawyers about taking your case?
A. I have to go back and look, but probably. If he told me to look at other lawyers in April before this, yes.
Q. How many lawyers would you say you talked to between April and the time you drafted this e-mail on September 26?

A. I couldn't count that high, probably.
Q. Quite a few?
A. Yeah.
Q. Did any of them take your case?
A. No.
MR. FLYNN: Mark this as Exhibit 8.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 8, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Showing you what's been marked as Exhibit 8. Is this an e-mail from you to Hans Mast?
A. Yes. It's an e-mail chain, yes.
Q. On February 22, 2015 at 7:42 p.m. you wrote to Hans, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Halfway down in that e-mail message you said, quote, "Now I'm left wondering... how hard it is to sue an attorney?"
A. That is true.
Q. You wrote that?
A. Yes.

Page 88

Q. The next line you wrote, "And yes, I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case..."
A. That is not in reference to suing the attorney. That was in reference to the Gagnon case.
Q. What did the reference to suing an attorney mean?
A. That was me being angry.
Q. With Hans?
A. Yes. I was seeing red.
Q. You're suggesting that you may sue him?
A. Yeah. I didn't know that I could. I'm wondering about it.
Q. You, basically, made a threat, whether it be a veiled threat or an overt threat to sue him, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You, ultimately, sued him for legal malpractice, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that what you had in mind when you wrote this?
A. No. This was about dropping Gagnon. The malpractice is about dropping the McGuires.

Q. This –
A. We're talking – this is 2015.
Q. In this 2015 e-mail you are suggesting to Hans that you may sue him because of the McGuire settlement; is that right?
A. No.
Q. Then what is it that you're saying to him?
A. That if he damaged the Gagnon case, I didn't know if he did or didn't, and I'm threatening because I'm angry. You can see, again, I'm melting down here. These are emotional outbursts, I guess.
Q. Moving up the page a little bit also on February 22, 2015 at 8:14 p.m., you say, "To be honest, you took this case knowing it was my word versus his."
A. Yes.
Q. He said, he said, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that a fair characterization of the case, your word against David's?
A. That's how Hans kept describing it. That's the way I put it back to him, yes.
Q. You didn't correct him or dispute his characterization, did you?

Page 90

A. No. I used his characterization.
Q. You agreed with it?
A. He said – how did it go? We had conversations between these e-mails on the phone. Then we would hang up and I would get angry and type it in an e-mail, type whatever it was that bothered me so he had it.
Q. Let me ask another question, if that's okay.
Did you ever correct Hans if he called this a he said, he said case? Did you ever say it's more than that?
A. Do I ever say it's more than that?
Q. Did you ever correct him? If he said it's a he said, he said case, did you say no, that's not right?
A. He said there's no witnesses. I said, "I'm a witness."
Q. You're one of the hes. It's your word against David Gagnon's, as you said in this e-mail?
A. Yes.
MR. FLYNN: If I could have you mark that as Exhibit 9.

Page 91

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 9, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Exhibit 9, is that Brad Balke's substitute appearance that was filed on March 19, 2015 in the case against Gagnon?
A. It looks like it, yes.
Q. Back to Exhibit 5, which is the second amended complaint. If I could direct your attention to Exhibit F. This appears to be a more complete copy of another e-mail we just talked about. Is Exhibit F more of the February 22, 2015 e-mail chain?
A. I'm not sure if that's separate or the same. Oh, it looks like it.
Q. At 7:20 p.m. Hans wrote to you and said, "Paul, I can no longer represent you in the case. We obviously have differences of opinion as to the value of the case."
Right?
A. Yes.
Q. He says, "I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them."

Page 92

Correct?
A. That's what it says.
Q. Obviously, a difference of opinion, right?
A. Yes. Are you talking about difference of opinion as to the value or difference of opinion of the problems within the case?
Q. Let's go on. He says, "You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear, it is not. My guess is that seven out of ten times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I've been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to."
Did I accurately read that?
A. Just that part of that paragraph, yes.
Q. So Hans is telling you that in his opinion your case against Gagnon you're going to lose it seven out of ten times, correct?
A. In this one, yes.
Q. He's acknowledging that you may have a chance.

A. I think later on he says nine out of ten.
Q. In this e-mail he says seven out of ten you will lose.
A. Yes.
Q. He's recognizing three times out of ten you may win, right?
A. I don't know what Hans is thinking.
Q. Is that what he said?
A. He says seven out of ten times you lose.
Q. You understood that there are risks in taking the case to trial that you could lose?
A. There are unforeseen risks, yes.
Q. There are always risks, period, in taking a case to trial?
A. Yes.
Q. Before you hired Brad Balke and after Hans told you he couldn't represent you, did you talk to any other lawyers about taking your case?
A. Yes.
Q. How many?
A. I can't tell you. A lot.
Q. Did any of them tell you that they wouldn't take the case because they didn't think you could prevail against Gagnon?

Page 94

A. No.
Q. Not one?
A. No.
Q. What are the names of any of the lawyers you talked to about taking your case over from Popovich?
A. I can't tell you without looking at documents who it was and what date it was, what it was between these two.
Q. I don't think documents I produced would help you in that regard.
I'll just ask you based on your memory the names of any lawyers you met with from the time Hans wrote this February 22 e-mail –
A. I believe –
Q. Let me finish.
A. I believe –
MS. WILLIAMS: He has not finished his question.
THE WITNESS: Sorry.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. From the time that Hans wrote this February 22 e-mail and the time that Brad Balke enters an appearance on March 19. Just the name of any lawyer you –

Page 95

A. I believe that Sal Ferris that I was talking about was one of the lawyers that I talked to.
Q. You're not sure? You believe that he was?
A. In between this time and this time?
Q. Yes.
A. I believe it's right around then.
Q. What type of law practice does Sal Ferris have?
A. I believe personal injury.
Q. Did you ever talk to him about taking your case before that date?
A. Before the date of this e-mail?
Q. Yes.
A. I'd have to look at it.
Q. He wasn't one of the original attorneys that you spoke with at the beginning of the case?
A. No.
Q. Fair to say once Balke entered his appearance on March 19, 2015 that Mast and Popovich were no longer your attorneys, correct?

Page 96

A. When Balke enters his appearance?
Q. Yes.
A. I would believe that, yes.
Q. They were terminated and Balke stepped in?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you tell me how the binding mediation which proceeded on December 8, 2015 evolved and came to be.
A. I was ordered into it from a bankruptcy court.
Q. Why is that?
A. I believe that the trustee put a motion up. I don't know who did it. I assume it was the trustee and the court ordered that it be put into binding mediation.
Q. Did you appear at the mediation?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall the name of the mediator?
A. Not off the top of my head, no.
Q. One of the exhibits to your second amended complaint indicates it was retired Judge James Etchingham.
A. That sounds familiar.

Page 97

Q. Do you recall how long the mediation lasted?
A. All day.
Q. Do you know if the parties submitted mediation briefs or statements to the judge?
A. I believe both sides submitted a whole bunch of things.
Q. The Boudins represented you in this mediation?
A. Yes.
Q. Because you had fired Balke by this point?
A. Oh, yes.
Q. Directing your attention, again, to Exhibit 5, the second amended complaint and Exhibit G. Exhibit G is, apparently, a memorialization of the mediation award. Do you see that?
A. It's how the judge decided to break it down, yes.
Q. Do you see that there's an award for future medical expenses of $200,000?
A. Yes.
Q. Since that date of December 8, 2015, have you received any medical treatment relative to your injuries –

Page 98

A. Yes.
Q. Let me finish. Strike the question.
Since that date, December 8, 2015, have you received any medical treatment for your injuries incurred on January 28, 2011?
A. You're asking since the date of the binding mediation?
Q. That's right.
A. Yes.
Q. What medical treatment have you received?
A. I do an ongoing with the neurologist for the dystonia.
Q. That's in your right arm?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you calculated the medical bills that you've incurred since that day?
A. No, I have not.
Q. Are they anywhere near $200,000?
A. It depends if you calculate with or without insurance. I know what I pay, but then I have to pay for the insurance that pays for that.
Q. How much have you paid out of pocket since that date for medical treatment on your arm?

Page 99

A. I don't know, offhand.
Q. Was there any doctor that opined that you would require $200,000 in future medical expenses?
A. I believe so.
Q. Who was that?
A. I believe that was Dr. Patel. I don't know that she said $200,000. She was the doctor that was handling it at the time.
Q. Did you discuss your injury with the mediator at the mediation?
A. He did ask me a few questions.
Q. How much time did you spend with him?
A. On and off. He would come in and ask me questions and then go away and then come in and would ask me questions and then go away.
I don't remember which one was the mediator, which one was the Allstate adjuster, which one was the – I don't remember.
Q. You're not sure which one was the mediator?
A. They came in and they said they are going to ask you some questions and I answered them.
Q. As you sit here today, you don't know how much face time you had with the mediator that day?

Page 100

A. I don't remember the face of which one is which.
Q. Did the issue of lost wages ever come up?
A. At the mediation with me?
Q. Yes.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you ever make a claim of lost wages of $250,000?
A. I may have.
Q. Do you know what that was based on?
A. Yeah.
Q. What is that based on?
A. Past and future.
Q. What past wages had you ever earned that could lead to an award of $250,000?
A. To me, that's not a very high number. I think I asked for more than that. It would be an average over a certain number of years plus benefits and that's all lost.
Q. Would it be fair to say that your income would be accurately reflected in the tax returns you've produced in this case, so I don't want to ask you about each one of them?
A. I would say my personal income, yeah.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 101

Q. Have you filed personal tax returns since 2015?
A. Tried.
Q. I didn't ask you if you tried.
A. No. They won't let me. They said I don't make enough anymore.
MR. FLYNN: I believe the next exhibit is 10.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 10, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 10. This is a six-page binding mediation agreement. The copy I have is unsigned.
Do you recognize this as the mediation agreement that governed your December 8, 2016 mediation?
A. Yes.
Q. If I could direct your attention to -- first, let me ask you.
Do you know why the bankruptcy trustee or the bankruptcy court ordered binding mediation as opposed to nonbinding?
A. I have no idea.

Q. On page 4, section F, subsection B -- I'm sorry, 1B. It says, "The parties agree that for this mediation the minimum award to Paul Dulberg will be $50,000. Also, the maximum award to Paul Dulberg will be $300,000."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know why the parties agreed to this high/low agreement?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall alleging in your original complaint against Popovich that there was a high/low agreement?
A. There is. There was.
MS. WILLIAMS: Can you repeat the question, please.
(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter as requested.)
BY THE WITNESS:
A. I don't know. I'd have to read it.
MS. WILLIAMS: I asked her to read it. And you had answered it previously.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Directing your attention back to

Page 103

Exhibit 4, which is the original complaint in this case. Page 4, paragraph 16.
A. Okay.
Q. There's a sentence that begins with, "Unfortunately, a high/low agreement had been executed by Dulberg reducing the maximum account he could recover to $300,000 based upon the insurance policy available."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. It's not your position or testimony that Popovich had anything to do with the high/low agreement?
A. That was a mistake in there. No.
Q. You would agree that Popovich had nothing to do with the high/low agreement?
A. I believe that events that unfolded the way they did was due to Hans Mast's initial assessment of the value of the case.
Q. Let me ask it a different way.
Did Popovich have any idea that this high/low agreement existed when it was entered into?
A. I don't know.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that he did?

A. I don't know. I don't know how much the Boudins were in contact with them because they worked together. I don't know.
Q. What do you mean, "they worked together"?
A. They worked together on all different cases. That's a small county out there.
Q. Did you ever write to Hans and accuse Popovich of having a conflict of interest because he may have gone to high school with David Gagnon?
A. I did learn that.
Q. Do you believe the fact that someone went to high school with another person may give rise to a conflict of interest in a lawsuit?
A. I was shooting in the dark and guessing why they didn't see this as a viable case.
Q. Do you think that was appropriate to send to your lawyer at the time?
A. When you're wondering why they are doing what they are doing and you learn that and they were pretty much in the same class and they all knew each other and it's a small town, let me ask you, are you friends with the guy I'm suing? That's an appropriate question.

Page 105

Q. You didn't say that. You asked if they went to school together.
A. Correct.
Q. Popovich did not enter into this high/low agreement on your behalf, correct?
A. Popovich, no.
Q. When I say "Popovich," I mean generally the Popovich firm and your lawyers.
A. This was years later. No.
Q. They had nothing to do with it, right?
A. I wouldn't say anything to do with it.
Q. Withdrawn.
Who drafted this high/low agreement that's contained in the mediation agreement?
A. I'm not sure who drafted it.
Q. Would it have been either the mediator, the bankruptcy trustee, your lawyers or the defense attorneys?
A. I assume that this would have been an agreement of all of them.
Q. You don't think Popovich had anything to do with drafting this high/low agreement, do you?
A. I don't know that he did or didn't.
Q. Do you have any reason to believe that he did?

A. At this point, no.
Q. Continuing on in Exhibit 4. Directing your attention to the bottom of page 4, paragraph 10.
A. Exhibit 4. Say it again.
Q. The bottom of page 4, paragraph 20. This is your complaint against Popovich and Mast.
A. This has been amended since then.
Q. I understand. Paragraph 20 reads, "Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the high/low agreement contained therein and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading and that, in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you tell me, as you sit here today, what false and misleading information did Mast and Popovich give you?
A. That I realized on the day of the – following the execution of the mediation agreement?

Page 107

Q. Correct.
A. The liability of the McGuires.
Q. What was false about it?
A. What made them liable and what didn't.
Q. What is it you learned to dispute what you were told?
A. I learned from a reliability expert that had the report there that day that the McGuires provided the tools which made Gagnon an agent of the McGuires. He was working at their behest.
Q. Who was this liability expert?
A. What's his name?
Q. He's a doctor?
A. Yes.
Q. Continue on with that paragraph. "Following mediation, Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016."
Do you see that allegation?
A. Yeah.
Q. Who advised you to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters?

Page 108

A. I believe that was Boudin.
Q. You believe that or you know that?
A. I know that.
Q. You alleged it in this complaint so it's important that we know who that was.
A. Yes, that was Boudin.
Q. Boudin told you to seek an independent opinion from an attorney that handles malpractice matters?
A. Yes.
Q. It says you received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.
A. Yes.
Q. That's separate and apart from any opinion you may have received from a liability expert, a doctor, an expert on chainsaws?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was the lawyer that you received a legal opinion from on December 16, 2016?
A. I believe that would be Thomas Gooch.
Q. The drafter of this complaint?
A. I'd have to look at the dates because I think – December 8th was the mediation; is that right?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

Page 109

Q. Correct.
A. So the 16th would sound about right to be meeting with Gooch, but I can get that date.
Q. You met with Gooch –
A. Soon, within weeks. It was quick.
Q. Now that the door has been opened, you fired Gooch in this case, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. He drafted this complaint and he's also the one that gave you an opinion about legal malpractice liability on the part of my clients?
A. Yes.
Q. What is it that he told you on December 16, 2016?
MS. WILLIAMS: Objection. I don't think we've waived that privilege, but – can we go off the record for a second?
MR. FLYNN: I don't want to go off the record. I've asked this interrogatory in about five different ways and it hasn't been answered appropriately.
The allegation was made in the complaint. That's why I drafted the interrogatory the way I did. I don't think that there's been a square answer to it. This is clear that you're talking about a legal opinion.

BY THE WITNESS:
Q. Is this the same wording as we have in the current complaint?
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. It's not exactly.
A. What would this be valid for, then?
Q. You've raised a response to a statute of limitations defense in this case and placed your knowledge of the malpractice and the date of incurring of an injury at issue.
Because your discovery of malpractice has been placed at issue, it's our position that you've waived privilege anyhow with respect to this conversation on December 16, 2016.
A. I'm not sure –
MS. WILLIAMS: There's not a question pending. I'm going to make a standing objection as to privilege with Gooch.
If we can agree that that objection will stand, we can go through this line of questioning and then if we need to later, have a judge determine whether or not that line of questioning is admissible. Are you agreeable to that?

MR. FLYNN: I'm agreeable to continuing on for a few minutes. I want to explore. I'll try to lay foundation for – to confirm this wasn't anyone else, for starters. Why don't we continue on and if you need to raise it again, we can talk.
MS. WILLIAMS: Otherwise, I'm just going to raise it to every single question you ask. I just don't want to have to continue to make the objection as to – if questions are asked about advice given by a legal malpractice attorney, I'm going to raise an objection as to that.
MR. FLYNN: Okay. But this is why we had the 201K conferences, multiple 201K conferences. It was made clear, to me, that there was a waiver with respect to subsequent counsel.
MS. WILLIAMS: Tom Gooch isn't subsequent counsel.
MR. FLYNN: The allegation has been made in this complaint and apparently this is subsequent counsel subsequent to my client's representation.
MS. WILLIAMS: It is a different case. It's not subsequent counsel in the underlying case. It's a new case.

Page 112

MR. FLYNN: We'll get to the interrogatory in a few minutes. I'll pull that out.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me ask you. Is there any other attorney besides Mr. Gooch that gave you an opinion that's referenced here on December 16?
A. No one that isn't privileged.
Q. Could it have been anyone else?
A. No.
Q. So Gooch is the only person that's being referenced here in this allegation that's in your complaint that's a public record?
I'm not asking you right now what the opinion is. I'm going to do that later. I'm asking you who gave it to you. It's not anyone besides Mr. Gooch, correct?
A. Yes. It was Thomas Gooch.
Q. He drafted the very complaint that that allegation is contained in?
A. Yes.
Q. Dr. Landford was the liability expert that you referenced earlier, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Back to the allegation that Gooch and – that Popovich and Mast provided you false and misleading information. That information was simply their legal opinion on the McGuires' liability; isn't that correct?

A. No. There was nothing simple about that. That's a very complex series of things that go all the way back to before the McGuire settlement.
Q. They didn't lie to you, did they?
A. It depends on how you define lie.
Q. How do you define lie?
A. If you know better and you say something else, that's a lie. Omission is a lie.
Q. Did they provide you with anything other than a legal opinion as to the McGuires' liability?
A. Yes. They provided me with case laws. They provided me with all different stuff. Yes.
Q. Whatever the advice that was given to you on December 16, 2016, you felt that you were mislead by Popovich and Mast at that point in time, correct?
A. At that point in time it was confirmed to me that I had a valid case against Popovich.
Q. You had a valid malpractice case against Popovich?
A. Yes. I did not know before that.

Page 114

Q. As of December 16, 2016?
A. Yes.
Q. Why is it that you didn't file that lawsuit until nearly a year later on November 28, 2017?
A. I believe because Thomas Gooch had some health issues and then his wife had some health issues. It took a while.
(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked Exhibit No. 11, for identification, as of 02/19/2020.)
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I'm handing you what has been marked as Exhibit 11. This is one set of your supplemental Answers to Interrogatories.
First, I'll ask you if that is your verification and signature at the end?
A. That is my signature.
Q. Again, I don't know if that verification was attached to this original document. It may have been. But there's been some confusion with respect to these verification pages. This is your signature and you answered these interrogatories, correct?
A. Yeah.

Page 115

Q. So this is a valid verification page with respect to this discovery document; is that a fair statement?
A. This is supplemental to original answers.
Q. That's your signature and you agree these are your answers?
A. I've reviewed them and we went over them and yes, I agree.
Q. And they are accurate?
A. As accurate as we can be.
Q. If I could direct your attention to Interrogatory No. 26. Do you see that?
A. Okay. Yes, I see it.
Q. This is similar to what we just talked about a few minutes ago. I'll read the interrogatory to you. "Identify and describe the false and misleading information Mast and Popovich provided to you and explain how you realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information was false and misleading and the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake as alleged in paragraph 56 of your second amended complaint."
Do you see your supplemental answer here?

Page 116

A. I see it, yes.
Q. You reference the mediation award and then you state, quote, "At that time Dulberg realized that Mast's advice to settle with the McGuires for $5,000 was incorrect because Mast had cited Dulberg being able to recover in full from Gagnon as his reasoning."
A. I do.
Q. Can you explain what that means because I don't quite understand it.
A. Hans Mast assured me – I want to go back to 2013, the Fall between October and the signature of the final release for the McGuires.
He assured me that, he said -- at that time he didn't tell me what anybody's policies were. He assured me that if we let the McGuires out of the case, Gagnon has enough insurance, you're going to get everything from him, so it doesn't matter that you're carrying the McGuires in the case.
Q. The next interrogatory is 27. "Identify and describe the expert opinions provided to you in December 2016 as alleged in paragraph 57 of your second amended complaint including the identity of the expert, any opinions and any other information provided by the expert which caused you to learn in the summer of 2016 and became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent you."

What does the summer of 2016 have to do with your discovery of malpractice?

A. Technically, I was sent Dr. Landford's report – I might be off a little by a couple months here, but I think in July of that year. And I read it, but I didn't – you don't catch everything the first time you read it.

It was not until later that I caught the part of the report that was brought to the attention – it caught my eye when I was sitting there and reading it.

Q. You didn't read any of this interrogatory or the original interrogatory as requesting legal opinions that you had alleged that gave you notice that there was a malpractice claim against Mast and Popovich?

A. Excuse me?

MR. FLYNN: Can you read that back.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter as requested.)

Page 118

BY THE WITNESS:

A. The way she said it, I don't understand.

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. I'll rephrase it.

We've known about this allegation in the original complaint since it was filed. You received some legal opinion in 2016. That's why you didn't know you had a malpractice case against Mast and Popovich.

We asked you in discovery answers a couple different ways what those legal opinions are. You didn't read 26 and 27 as requesting information about legal opinions?

A. I don't know that an expert witness would be considered a legal opinion. Wouldn't that be more like an attorney?

Q. I'll ask you again. Why is it that you first became aware of a legal malpractice matter against Mast and Popovich on or about December 16, 2016?

A. December 16th I was talking to a legal malpractice attorney.

Q. You were told that there was a case against –

Page 119

A. A valid case, yes.

Q. – Mast and Popovich?

A. Yes.

Q. Why is it you didn't know about this valid case prior to that date?

A. Because I hadn't talked to anybody that was a lawyer that specialized in that area.

Q. Whatever it is that he said to you gave you the basis for believing you had a valid case against Mast and Popovich?

A. Very much so, yes.

Q. You're withholding that information from me right now, as we sit here. You won't tell me what that expert said, correct?

MS. WILLIAMS: Repeat the question.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter as requested.)

MS. WILLIAMS: I'm asserting attorney-client privilege on behalf of my client for Gooch's advice on December – in December of 2016.

However, because I want to move forward with this deposition, if he can answer the question, I believe we should go ahead and move forward and have him answer the question.

Page 120

I'll assert the privilege with the understanding that this may have to be briefed later.

MR. FLYNN: To be stricken later?

MS. WILLIAMS: Right.

MR. FLYNN: The substance of the answer he can put on the record. You're just saying you may move to strike it later?

MS. WILLIAMS: Right. I want to maintain the privilege with the objection, but I don't want to have to call the judge right now. I don't think it's something we should have to call the judge about right now.

MR. FLYNN: Just for the record, I believe it's been placed at issue by virtue of the first amended complaint. The responses to the statute of limitation defenses that were raised in very dispositive motions before Gooch withdrew from the case, the gist of that is the discovery rule has been raised and, therefore, it's our position that the date of discovery has been placed at issue and, accordingly, any legal opinions that were provided to this plaintiff have been exposed and that we're entitled to know what those are.

Page 121

MS. WILLIAMS: Can I also note one more thing?
MR. FLYNN: Sure.
MS. WILLIAMS: In the supplemental – in the request it specifically refers to paragraph 57 of the second amended complaint, which is different.
MR. FLYNN: It is different. I'll acknowledge that. I believe that the prior original interrogatories asked for any opinions relative to the discovery of the malpractice. I could be wrong. There was a reason I asked this and that's why I believe that's what it was about.
MS. WILLIAMS: So –
MR. FLYNN: That particular one I agree with you is not phrased as calling for –
MS. WILLIAMS: Right. That's the question that was asked. We answered the question that was asked, which that particular paragraph does not refer to a legal expert. It just merely – I'll read it out loud. "It was not until the mediation in December of 2016 based on the expert's opinion that Dulberg retain for mediation that Dulberg became reasonably aware."
I just want it clear that he did answer the question that was asked. I understand your line of questioning and we'll agree to move forward.

MR. FLYNN: I believe there were other discovery requests that did point to that and I think we can take a break here and I can find them fairly quickly because I think we're getting close to the end anyway.
MS. WILLIAMS: Okay.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Did you ever receive any money from the mediation award?
A. No. I received money from the bankruptcy itself. It was a surplus bankruptcy.
Q. There was a $300,000 award given in the mediation.
A. That did not go to me. That went to bankruptcy.
Q. It was collected on your behalf and paid to the bankruptcy trustee, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. All $300,000?
A. I don't know that because I think – I don't know how exactly it works. I heard attorneys have a lien that's special. I don't know how they break it up. I assume it goes to the trustee.

Page 123

Q. The Boudins weren't working for free. They got something out of it, right?
A. Yes.
Q. The trustee took the remainder and paid off some of your creditors, correct?
A. Correct. All of them.
Q. But the award was paid to the trustee on your behalf?
A. I believe so. I don't know how it worked.
Q. How much was the surplus after your creditors were paid?
A. After just the creditors?
Q. How much did you get?
A. How much did I get?
Q. Yes.
A. A third.
Q. I'm asking how much money did you get?
A. A third of the award.
Q. Dollars. How much money did you get?
A. Roughly a hundred.
Q. $100,000?
A. I don't know the exact number. It's roughly a hundred.

Page 124

Q. Was there a check that was issued to you?
A. By the trustee, yes.
Q. Did you cash it?
A. Yes.
Q. At what bank?
A. McHenry Bank & Trust.
Q. Do you still have an account there?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have a copy of the canceled check?
A. I'm sure the bank has a photo thing.
Q. You can request a copy of the check, correct?
A. I could. I could see if they got it.
Q. I would ask you to do that. If you have any other documentation relative to the payouts that were made by the bankruptcy trustee on your behalf, we are requesting that information.
MR. FLYNN: Why don't we take a break and I'm going to look for one document and then we're just about done here.
(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)
MR. FLYNN: Mark these as the next two.

BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I'm going to show you what I've marked as Exhibits 12 and 13. Twelve are your answers to Hans Mast's interrogatories. Thirteen is your responses to Popovich's request for production.
Interrogatory No. 1 from Mast asks, "Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach."
Do you understand that?
A. Yes.
Q. So how is it they committed malpractice?
A. May I see it?
Q. I'm going to show it to you in a second. I only have one copy.
This is basically, how did you first become aware that they committed malpractice?

Page 126

That's the essence of that interrogatory.
Here is your response. I can show that to you. It doesn't reflect any discussion with any malpractice lawyer in December of 2016.
Tell me –
A. Let me read it again. We're talking about No. 1 on this?
Q. Correct.
A. Okay.
Q. You understand it?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you agree that the legal opinion you received on December 16, 2016 is responsive to that interrogatory, whatever it is that you were told?
A. Yes.
Q. You didn't identify this December 16, 2016 discussion in the answer to that interrogatory, correct?
A. Say that again.
Q. Your discussion with Mr. Gooch on December 16, 2016, that's referenced in your original complaint, you didn't respond and identify it in this answer to the interrogatory, correct?

Page 127

A. This asks for every way Popovich or Mast breached the duty of care. It didn't ask for Gooch's opinion.
Q. How did you find out that Mast and Popovich breached the duty of care to you? Because Gooch told you, right?
A. Yes.
Q. That's what you've alleged here in this complaint.
A. Yes.
Q. Here I'm asking you, each and every way that they ever breached a duty of care to you. I covered the waterfront. You didn't answer --
A. On the McGuire case it was between October 2013 and January 2014. Yes. There's a multitude of things and that's why I listed a range.
Q. I'm asking when you became aware of it, in that interrogatory. Do you see that?
A. I became aware of that when Thomas Gooch read them and said there's a problem here.
Q. That's not the way you answered the interrogatory, correct?
A. I answered the first part. I did not answer after the comma and the and.

Page 128

Q. There's no objection and indication that any information is being withheld, correct?
A. Excuse me?
Q. There's no objection and an indication that you're withholding –
A. I was not withholding.
Q. I'll show you Exhibit 13. It asks – Exhibit 13 are the production requests to you. Number 8 asks for you to produce a privilege log identifying the creator and recipient of any document withheld, the basis for any claimed privilege, the date the document was created and the date the recipient received the document.
The answer is, "The plaintiff is only withholding attorney-client communication between his successor counsel."
Is that your answer to the production request and did I accurately read No. 8?
A. May I consult with her for a minute?
Q. Sure.
THE WITNESS: Can we go off the record?
MS. WILLIAMS: If you can answer the question, answer the question first.

Page 129

BY THE WITNESS:
A. It's been a while since I've done this, so I'm not sure who the successor counsel is. Is it her or is it the Boudins or Balke?
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. I think successor counsel, we can both agree, the successor counsel in the underlying case which would be Balke and then Boudin.
You didn't identify any documents withheld other than documents between you and successor counsel, correct?
THE WITNESS: I believe we waived those, didn't we, for Balke and Boudin?
MS. WILLIAMS: For Balke and Boudin we can represent that we waived those.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. Let me ask a different question.
Did Gooch communicate with you in writing relative to his opinion that you had a legal malpractice case against Mast and Popovich?
A. In writing?
Q. Yes.
A. I suppose the agreement between us that he would represent me because I had the case is a document in writing.

Q. Did he tell you – strike that.
The discussion that you reference in the complaint, paragraph 20 of December 16, 2016, was that a face-to-face communication with Gooch?
A. What number is that?
Q. Exhibit 4, paragraph 20. The legal opinion you received, was it verbal, was it written?
A. I believe it was verbal.
Q. Now, I'm going to ask you what he said. There was an objection and that will be addressed by the Court later. Please tell me what Gooch told you.
A. He read what I brought him, looked through some things, and I don't remember if it was the same day that we talked to him or he took a day or two. I don't remember. He got back to me and he said, "You have a case here. You have a valid case."
Q. Did he say why?
A. On the basis of what I brought to him. Yes.
Q. Specifics, though. I don't want to talk about generalities. Did he tell you what Mast and

Page 131

Popovich did wrong and how it injured you?
A. How it injured me? Yeah.
Q. The first part of my question was, did he tell you exactly what they did wrong in connection with your – their representation of you?
A. He probably did. I'm not recalling it right now. I'm pulling a blank.
The parts of the conversation I'm remembering, and for some reason I'm not pulling it. We've been at this a while and this is a long thing. Yes, he said based on what he saw, he saw reason for malpractice.
Q. You don't remember any details, as you sit here? Did you discuss the liability of property owners in Illinois?
A. Well, if they were just property owners in the case, that would be one thing, but they weren't just property owners.
Q. That wasn't my question. I'm asking if you discussed it?
A. Certainly.
Q. You and Gooch discussed the liability of the McGuires in the case?
A. Yes.

Page 132

Q. What did you say to him and what did he say to you?
A. I showed him the expert opinion.
Q. The chainsaw expert?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you show him any deposition transcripts?
A. Yes.
Q. Which ones?
A. All of them.
Q. And he read them before you talked?
A. I don't remember. Like I said, it may have been a few days between our initial meeting and bringing the whole file that I had and trying to get what the Boudins had and letting him go through it. I don't remember how long that took.
Q. How did you transmit the documents to him –
A. My brother carried them.
Q. Let me finish.
How did you transmit the documents to Mr. Gooch, including the deposition transcripts?
A. I believe we brought him a box.
Q. So you physically handed the documents to him?

A. I didn't physically hand them. My brother did.
Q. Did you communicate with Mr. Gooch by e-mail, at all, leading up to this meeting?
A. No.
Q. Did he ever write you any letters?
A. An e-mail or regular mail or what are you talking about?
Q. Any letters whatsoever.
A. Throughout the course of his representation, yes.
Q. What about in December of 2016?
A. I believe we started communicating in December, yes.
Q. But in writing?
A. In e-mails, sure.
Q. Did he discuss –
A. We may have. I'm not – whenever we started – whenever he started sending me things and going back and forth, I don't remember the exact date, but it was right after he started representing me, sure, we exchanged e-mails and started, yes.
Q. When did Gooch begin representing you?

Page 134

A. The day that he agreed to represent me. I believe it would have been the day that he decided that he had a case.
Q. On or about December 16?
A. Yes.
Q. At that point in time, or shortly thereafter, he communicated with you in writing the details of the breach of the standard of care committed by Popovich and Mast; is that correct?
A. I believe he started to detail those out in the complaint and we were working it back and forth trying to get it right.
Q. When did you first exchange drafts of the complaint?
A. I'd have to look back in the e-mails. I don't remember the dates.
Q. Did you look for any of these e-mails in connection with my discovery requests in this case?
A. At the time I think we thought they were privileged.
Q. That privilege objection wasn't exactly made. My question is, did you look for them?
A. Did I look for them? I have them.
Q. I would ask that you preserve each and every communication between you and Mr. Gooch, all written communications, even phone records that might reflect the dates and times of your phone communications, if any. Did you use a cell phone back then?

Page 135

A. I used VOIP over a data line.
Q. Who was your carrier?
A. Comcast.
Q. Is that still your carrier?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have the same phone that you utilized?
A. Same phone number for 50 years, yes.
Q. What else could you remember that Gooch told you on or about the 16th of December 2016 about Mast and Popovich breaching the standard of care and how it damaged you?
A. Say that again.
Q. What, if anything, else do you recall about your discussions with Gooch on December 16 regarding the breach of the standard of care by Popovich and Mast and how it injured you?
A. We discussed the whole scenario between October and January and what happened. It was pretty detailed. We discussed everything that you see that's been communicated in the e-mails. He didn't have much else to go on other than the documents and the e-mails.

Q. You're talking about the e-mails between you and Hans from the fall of 2013?
A. Yes.
Q. Ultimately leading to the $5,000 settlement?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than you have a case, what did Gooch say to you?
A. He said that they definitely committed malpractice.
Q. Did he ever put this in writing?
A. Did he ever put it in writing? I think he backed it up by filing a suit. That's documented.
Q. Again, the suit wasn't filed until November of 2017.
A. Yes, he had some health problems and then his wife had some health problems. Believe me, I was pushing for him to get that done.
Q. From December of 2016 until the complaint

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

was filed, you exchanged some drafts of complaints with him?
A. I believe he let me see what he wanted to put in the complaint. I got to review some things. Of course I had, do this or that's not right. In fact, a couple of these things in here we had to definitely – you caught one. He totally worded it wrong. It was wrong. We had to amend.
MS. WILLIAMS: His question was, did he give you drafts for you to review?
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. FLYNN:
Q. These were exchanged by e-mail?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. So you would have records of them?
A. Yes.
Q. Any comments with respect to the pleadings, as well, did you ever ask him questions? Did he explain to you the basis for the allegations in the draft complaints, similar to what you did with Hans?
A. Over many times, yes.
Q. This is all reflected in e-mails?
A. Yes.

Page 138

Q. Ultimately, you didn't file until November of 2017?
A. Correct.
Q. Popovich ceased being your lawyer March 19 of 2015, correct?
A. That sounds about right.
Q. Until December 16, 2016, you didn't have any reason to believe there was a malpractice case against –
A. Say the date again.
Q. Until December 16, 2016, you didn't have any other reason to believe there was a malpractice case against Popovich and Mast?
A. I did not know that I had a case, no.
Q. You threatened one with respect to the Gagnon case –
A. Yes.
Q. – at another point in time, correct?
A. I think I threatened him a few times in there. Yeah. I was actually nice to what I really wanted to say.
Q. Subject to the ruling on these objections, you don't recall any other specific details that you discussed with Popovich – I'm sorry – Gooch on December 16, other than what we already talked about?

A. I discussed the exact same things that you – the same documents that you already have. We went over the case that Mast and Popovich had against the McGuires. He followed through all the way to the end. We went over the whole case. You see as much as he did.
Q. Did Gooch ever explain to you why the McGuires would have been liable any more than Mast explained to you that they wouldn't be liable?
A. He said he agreed right away. He said that's obvious.
Q. Did Gooch ever provide you with any cases or statutes?
A. Provide to me, maybe. Maybe. I don't know.
Q. Would that be by e-mail?
A. It could be. I was in his office quite a few times. He may have.
Q. As you sit here today, other than you have a case against Popovich and Mast, what did Gooch tell you specifically that was any different than what Mast and Popovich told you with respect to the McGuires' liability?

A. That they were definitely liable. He tried to say that – like Popovich and Mast were first- or second-year lawyers and that they may have made a mistake here.
I said they've got 20 years in this. You think they'd know the difference. That's the kind of thing. He agreed with me. Twenty years, yeah, they should have known better.
Q. Did you ever discuss the specifics of the McGuires' potential liability with Gooch?
A. Liability with Gooch?
Q. With Gooch, did you ever discuss the specifics of the McGuires' liability other than he thinks you have a case?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he ever tell you why? What was it?
A. Because he agreed with the expert's opinion.
Q. The expert on the chainsaw?
A. Yes. The liability expert.
Q. The expert said you should use safety goggles and gloves and things like that?
A. He said more than that, but yes.

Page 141

Q. Do you know who commissioned that expert report?
A. Boudins.
Q. Do you know when the first draft of that doctor's expert report was circulated?
A. I heard that Boudin got it in February, maybe. I don't think I got it until July, but I'm not sure about that.
Q. July of what year?
A. The same year as the mediation.
Q. Of 2016?
A. Yeah.
Q. So you actually read it in advance of the mediation?
A. I talked about this earlier. I said yes. You don't catch everything the first time you read it. I was sitting there at the mediating table and I was reading it and I caught it and I turned to Randy and I said, after it was over, does this mean – that means.
Q. Means what?
A. Does this mean the McGuires are liable? Yeah, that means they are liable. He said, call my office after everything and I'll give you a name for an attorney you should go see.

Page 142

MR. FLYNN: Any follow-up, Julia?
MS. WILLIAMS: I have two follow-up questions.

EXAMINATION

BY MS. WILLIAMS:
Q. Did you ever give Hans authority to make a settlement demand regarding Mr. Gagnon?
A. I think at one time in one of my meltdown letters I said get whatever you can, but no, I never actually signed anything saying you have the right to offer a settlement.
Q. Did you ever give Hans authority to make a settlement demand with regard to the McGuires?
A. A demand, no. He said he was going to probe and see what was out there, and I said, if you want to do that, that's fine.
MS. WILLIAMS: I have no further questions.
MR. FLYNN: Signature?
MS. WILLIAMS: We can waive signature.

DEFENDANT HANS MAST'S
INTERROGATORIES TO PLAINTIFF PAUL DULBERG

NOW COMES Defendant, Hans Mast, by and through his attorneys, Karbal, Cohen, Economou, Silk & Dunne, LLC, and pursuant to the provisions of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 213, propounds the following interrogatories on Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg, to be answered under oath within 28 days:

DEFINITIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

The pronoun "you" refers to Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg, to whom this production request is addressed, as well as their agents, representatives, employees, anyone acting on his behalf, and unless privileged, his attorneys.

The term "document" as used herein means all records, papers, and books, transcriptions, pictures, drawings, or diagrams of every nature, whether transcribed by hand or by mechanical, electronic, photographic, or other means, as well as sound reproduction of oral statements or conversations by whatever means made, whether in your actual or constructive possession or under your control or not, relating or pertaining in any way to the subject matters in connection with which it is used, and includes originals, all file copies, and all other copies, no matter how prepared, and all drafts prepared in connection with such writing, whether used or not, including by way of

INTERROGATORIES

1. Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach.

ANSWER:

2. Identify the date and location of any discussion between you and Mast in which Mast represented to you that there was no possibility of any liability against William or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto Owners Insurance Company, and identify what you said to Mast, and what he said to you.

ANSWER:

3. Identify the other property owned by the McGuire's as alleged in paragraph 50 of your Second Amended Complaint.

ANSWER:

DEFENDANTS, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'S SUPPLEMENTAL REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION TO PLAINTIFF

NOW COMES Defendant, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. by and through its attorneys, Karbal, Cohen, Economou, Silk & Dunne, LLC, and pursuant to the provisions of Illinois Supreme Court Rule 214, respectfully requests Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg, to produce within 28 days at the law offices of Karbal, Cohen, Economou, Silk & Dunne, LLC, 150 South Wacker Drive, Suite 1700, Chicago, Illinois 60606, the following photographs, documents, objects, and other tangible things:

SUPPLEMENTAL PRODUCTION REQUESTS

1. Any and all documents relating to your "discovery" of any alleged breach of the standard of care or legal malpractice by Popovich or Mast, and which caused you damages or injury.

RESPONSE:

2. Any and all documents relating to any consultation or advice you received from any attorney or "legal expert" or legal malpractice expert which formed the basis for your alleged discovery of Mast's and Popovich's breach or breaches of the standard of care while they represented you in your claim or lawsuit against William and Caroline McGuire and David Gagnon.

RESPONSE:

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

3. Any and all documents regarding or reflecting advice from any attorney or legal expert, including but not limited to Tom Gooch, including but not limited to your communications with Tom Gooch in December 2016 (up to and including the date of the filing of your original complaint against Popovich and Mast), which relate to your discovery of any breach of the standard of care by Popovich or Mast and proximately caused damages or injury resulting therefrom.

RESPONSE:

4. Any and all documents regarding any damages you suffered at any time as a result of any breach of the standard of care by Popovich or Mast in their representation of you or provision of legal services to you.

RESPONSE:

5. Any and all documents which provide or form the basis for your contention that you did not discover until December 16, 2016 that you had been injured or damaged by Mast or Popovich's negligence in representing you in the claim or lawsuit against William and Caroline McGuire.

RESPONSE:

6. All documents, including letters and email communications between Tom Gooch on the one hand, and you on the other hand, regarding legal advice he provided to you on December 16, 2016 and thereafter, that you "had a malpractice case" against Popovich, as testified by you at pages 129-142 of your discovery deposition from February 19, 2020.

RESPONSE:

7. Any and all documents reflecting opinions by attorney Randy Baudin regarding the liability of the McGuire's, whether the advice or opinions were rendered at your mediation of the underlying case (on or about December 16, 2016) or prior thereto, as testified at your discovery deposition on February 19, 2020 (see page 141).

Thank you.

Pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 201(k), please advise when the supplemental discovery answers and documents will be served. As I indicated in court on September 10, I plan to file a motion to compel very soon if we do not receive the sworn answers and all responsive documents.

Best regards,

Julia:

I write pursuant to rule 201(k) and rule 219(c). Mr. Dulberg is late in responding to discovery pursuant the the extension you requested, and to which I agreed.

It is finally time for Mr. Dulberg to properly answer discovery in conformity to his allegations, and relative to the matters which he has placed at issue.

Once the Gooch discovery is produced, I would like to immediately depose Dulberg and Gooch. Please pass this along to your client.

You and your firm have been nothing but professional and it was a pleasure working with you.

Best regards,

Dear George,

I will certainly pass this along to our client.

Unfortunately, because we are withdrawing, we are not comfortable answering discovery when another counsel may be appearing. Mr. Dulberg is seeking new counsel and would like to have his new counsel answer. I expect that we will be withdrawing on September 10, 2020. The court will grant Mr. Dulberg 21 days to find alternative counsel. Based upon this, it is unlikely that any answers to supplemental discovery will be prepared prior to the end of September.

I just received your firm's motion to withdraw. If you could please pass along to Mr. Dulberg or his new counsel, that we must insist on the outstanding written discovery being answered by August 27, 2020 per our agreement below, it would be appreciated.

I think we have been very patient with Mr. Dulberg in responding to discovery which has been directed at his assertion of the discovery rule in this case, where he is attempting to overcome a statute of limitations defense (issues which are evident from the face of the pleadings and the applicable statutes involved).

The supplemental discovery we served merely clarified and more specifically identified communications and documents which were the subject of prior discovery requests, and some of which were identified at Mr. Dulberg's discovery deposition taken on February 19, 2020.

DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S MOTION TO SUPPLEMENT DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO COMPEL AND TO REQUEST HEARING ON PLAINTIFF'S COMPLIANCE WITH APRIL 6, 2021 ORDER ON DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO COMPEL

Defendants The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast (collectively "Popovich"), by and through their attorneys, Karbal, Cohen, Economou, Silk & Dunne, LLC, and for their Motion to Supplement Defendants' Motion to Compel and To Request Hearing on Plaintiff's Compliance with April 6, 2021 Order on Defendants' Motion to Compel, state as follows:

1) Defendants are bringing this motion to supplement their prior Motion to Compel and request a hearing on Plaintiff's compliance with the Court's April 6, 2021 Order (attached as Ex. A).

2) The Defendants never received a file-stamped copy of the draft order which their counsel submitted to the Court for entry on April 2, 2021 (see Group Ex. B, April 2, 2021 email from Linda Walters, and attached Order). Defendants never received a response, nor received electronic notice of the entry of the Order on April 6, 2021, and accordingly did not diary the June 14, 2021 hearing, and thus did not appear.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

3) In the Court's April 6, 2021 Order granting Defendants' motion to compel, the Court ordered the Plaintiff to serve a supplemental answer to Mast's Interrogatory No. 1, and amend its responses to Popovich's Supplemental Request. The Court further ordered, "Plaintiff is directed to provide specific answers and responses to each interrogatory and production request.

4) On June 1, 2021, the Plaintiff served Exhibit C (Plaintiff's Amended Additional Answer to Defendant Hans Mast's Interrogatory to Plaintiff Paul Dulberg), and Exhibit D (Plaintiff's Amended Additional Response to Defendant The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.'s Supplemental Request for Production). Dulberg also produced fourteen pages of bates labeled records (See Ex. E).

5) The Plaintiff has not complied with the Court's April 6, 2021 Order. Accordingly, Defendants respectfully request that the Court strike the non-responsive portions of Exhibits C, D, and E and close written discovery.

6) With respect to Exhibit C, Dulberg provide a "non-answer." Dulberg was ordered to specifically answer each discovery request. Mast's Interrogatory No. 1 states as follows: Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach. Dulberg's amended additional answer does not describe how there was a breach of the standard of care, he simply identifies a discovery date (December 12, 2016) based upon a binding mediation order. He does not describe the breach of the standard of care, or how, specifically, he became aware of it. He simply writes, "He knew the defendants breached the standard of care due him based upon a verbal discussion with Attorney Tom Gooch on December 16, 2016." He does not describe the discussion or explain how the standard of care was breached, or why his discussion with Tom Gooch enlightened him as to the breach.

7) Moreover, Popovich's supplemental requests for production are aimed specifically at identifying how Dulberg "discovered" his breach of the standard of care, and when he recognized damages as a result of same. In Exhibit D, Dulberg's amended additional response, Dulberg simply attaches various pages from pleadings in this case. He does not attach any discoverable materials, such as emails, letters, etc. Instead, he is simply regurgitating his position in this case. As previously argued in Defendants' Motion to Compel and at hearing, if Dulberg has no documents responsive to the discovery requests, and he has no basis for a tolling of the statute of limitations in this case, then his answer should simply state, "none." Enough is enough. Dulberg's non-responses to this discovery requests should be stricken, and he should be barred attempting to present any additional evidence in support of his tolling theory.

WHEREFORE Defendants The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast, respectfully request that this Court grant their Motion to Supplement Defendants' Motion to Compel and set hearing on Plaintiff's compliance with April 6, 2021 Order on Defendants' Motion to Compel, and for any and all further relief this Court deems just and appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,

ORDER

This matter coming to be heard for status and continued hearing on Defendant's Motion to Compel, the court having heard argument, it is hereby ordered:

1) Defendant's motion is granted and Plaintiff is required by June 1, 2021 to serve a supplemental answer to Mast's Interrogatory #1 (served on Plaintiff on March 22, 2019), and Amended Responses to Popovich's Supplemental Production Requests. Plaintiff is directed to provide specific answers and responses to each interrogatory and production request.

2) Plaintiff's objections of "undue burden" raised in its initial responses to Popovich's Supplemental Requests for Production numbers 1-7 are overruled.

3) This matter is set for a hearing on June 14, 2021 at 1:30 p.m. for status on Plaintiff's compliance with this order and to determine whether hearing is necessary for rulings on objections contained in the transcript of the discovery deposition of Paul Dulberg.

PLAINTIFF'S AMENDED ADDITIONAL ANSWER TO DEFENDANT HANS MAST'S INTERROGATORY TO PLAINTIFF PAUL DULBERG

Now Comes Plaintiff Paul Dulberg, by and through his attorney Alphonse A. Talarico, and for his Amended Additional Answer to Defendant Hans Mast's Interrogatory #1 states as follows:

1. Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach.

ANSWER: Between October 2013 and January 2014, Mast told Dulberg that Illinois law does not permit a recovery against the McGuires' in the circumstances of Dulberg's case and that he would not receive any recovery from the McGuires. Mast advised Dulberg that the judge would rule in favor of the McGuires on a motion for summary judgment.

Mast further told Dulberg that Dulberg would retain his claim against Gagnon and be able to seek and receive a full recovery from Gagnon.

AMENDED ADDITIONAL ANSWER: Dulberg discovered the pecuniary injury on December 12, 2016 based upon a binding mediation award and knew he had a legal malpractice case on December 16, 2016. He knew that the Defendants breached the standard of care due him based upon a verbal discussion with Attorney Tom Gooch on December 16, 2016.

Dulberg discovered in the defendants' document disclosure, POP 000192, that Mast had in fact sent the McGuires' attorney a $7,500.00 offer on October 22, 2013 without Dulberg's knowledge and that was before the November 4, 2013 meeting in Mast's office when Mast first asked Dulberg if Mast could probe and see what was on the table for a possible settlement with the McGuires.

2. Any and all documents relating to any consultation or advice you received from any attorney or "legal expert" or legal malpractice expert which formed the basis for your alleged discovery of Mast's and Popovich's breach or breaches of the standard of care while they represented you in your claim or lawsuit against William and Caroline McGuire and David Gagnon.

RESPONSE: Objection- undue burden, previously submitted please see Plaintiff's Bates stamped 1-8708.

AMENDED ADDITIONAL RESPONSE: Dulberg Bates stamped 001793, 001809, 002027, 008999, 009016 and 009099 (note: all of the foregoing are pleadings that are already in defendants' possession).

3. Any and all documents regarding or reflecting advice from any attorney or legal expert, including but not limited to Tom Gooch, including but not limited to your communications with Tom Gooch in December 2016 (up to and including the date of the filing of your original complaint against Popovich and Mast), which relate to your discovery of any breach of the standard of care by Popovich or Mast and proximately caused damages or injury resulting therefrom.

RESPONSE: Objection- undue burden, unclear, previously submitted please see Plaintiff's Bates stamped 1-8708.

Bates stamped document 8709-8710 previously enclosed.

Objection-privileged Bates stamped e-mail string 8744-8746 representation of you or provision of legal services to you.

RESPONSE: Objection- undue burden, previously submitted please see Plaintiff's Bates stamped 1-8708.

AMENDED ADDITIONAL RESPONSE: Dulberg Bates stamped 002928-2931, 003133, and 004884. (attached)

5. Any and all documents which provide or form the basis for your contention that you did not discover until December 16, 2016 that you had been injured or damaged by Mast or Popovich's negligence in representing you in the claim or lawsuit against William and Caroline McGuire.

RESPONSE: Objection- undue burden, previously submitted please see Plaintiff's Bates stamped 1-8708

Misstates Plaintiff Paul Dulberg's contention was that he discovered the injury on December 16, 2016.

Dulberg actually discovered the pecuniary injury on December 12, 2016 and actually discovered he had a legal malpractice case on December 16, 2016.

2020 IL App (1st) 191953 Nos. 1-19-1953 & 1-19-1973 (consol.) Opinion filed November 30, 2020 Modified upon denial of rehearing December 31, 2020 which is equally available to all parties.

AMENDED ADDITIONAL RESPONSE: Dulberg Bates stamped 002928-2931.(Please see above)

6. All documents, including letters and email communications between Tom Gooch on the one hand, and you on the other hand, regarding legal advice he provided to you on December 16, 2016 and thereafter, that you "had a malpractice case" against Popovich, as testified by you at pages 129-142 of your discovery deposition from February 19, 2020.

RESPONSE:

Objection- undue burden, unclear, previously submitted please see Plaintiff's Bates stamped 1-8708.

AMENDED ADDITIONAL RESPONSE: None.

7. Any and all documents reflecting opinions by attorney Randy Baudin regarding the liability of the McGuire's, whether the advice or opinions were rendered at your mediation of the underlying case (on or about December 16, 2016) or prior thereto, as testified at your discovery deposition on February 19, 2020 (see page 141).

RESPONSE: Objection- undue burden, previously submitted please see Plaintiff's Bates stamped 1-8708.

AFFIDAVIT OF COMPLETENESS

The undersigned, Paul Dulberg, being first duly sworn and under oath, deposes and states as follows:

1. I am the Plaintiff in the above-captioned action.

2. I have personal knowledge of the matters and facts set forth in this Affidavit and, if sworn as a witness, I can testify competently to those matters and facts.

3. The documents that I produced in response to the Court ordered Amended Additional Supplemental Requests for Production propounded by Defendant THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C are complete in accordance with the Court Order and Supplemental Requests for Production.

4. Plaintiff Paul Dulberg reserves the right to supplement his response to Defendant THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.'s Supplemental Requests for Production as additional documents become known to me or come into my possession, custody, or control.

VERIFICATION

Under penalties as provided by law, pursuant to Section 1-109 of the Code of Civil Procedure, the undersigned Plaintiff certifies that the statements set forth in this instrument are true and correct, except as to matters therein stated to be on information and belief and as to such matters the undersigned certifies as aforesaid

LA 178. (Exhibit 2, ¶ 9, and Exhibit 2B)[1]. In late 2013, Dulberg settled with the McGuires and executed a Release in their favor in exchange for the payment of $5,000.00. The McGuires and their insurance carrier, Auto Owners Insurance Company, were released. (Exhibit 2, ¶ 18 and Exhibit 2D). Defendants continued to represent Dulberg until March 2015. (Exhibit 2, ¶ 21). Dulberg retained successor counsel and proceeded to a binding mediation and received a mediation award (Exhibit 2, ¶ 24 and Exhibit 2G). After the mediation, Dulberg allegedly realized for the first time that the information Mast and Popovich had given him was false and misleading and that the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake. He was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016. (Exhibit 2, ¶ 28-29).

B. Alleged Acts of Negligence

Popovich's and Mast's alleged malpractice revolves around the settlement of the underlying case between Dulberg and McGuires. The allegations of a breach of the standard of care are all contained in ¶ 31, subsections a) through o) inclusive. Paragraph 31 states as follows:

> 31. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBERG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:
>
> a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;
>
> b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

[1] The exhibits to the underlying complaint in Case No. 12 LA 178 will be referenced as Exhibits 2A, 2B, 2C, 2D, 2E, 2F, and 2G.

28. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, DULBERG realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

29. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that DULBERG retained for the mediation, that DULBERG became reasonably aware that MAST and POPOVICH did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

30. DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

31. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBERG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

d.) Failed to investigate the insurance policy amounts of the McGuires and Gagnon;

e.) Incorrectly informed DULBERG that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000.00" and no insurance company would pay close to that; fact." (Emphasis added) (citation omitted) Abazari v. Rosalind Franklin University of Medicine and Science, 2015 IL App (2d) 140952, ¶37 (2nd Dist., 2015).

44. DULBERG would have had 5 years from the date of discovery to bring his cause of action under fraudulent concealment. "If a person liable to an action fraudulently conceals the cause of such action from the knowledge of the person entitled thereto, the action may be commenced at any time within 5 years after the person entitled to bring the same discovers that he or she has such cause of action, and not afterwards." See 735 ILCS 5/13-215.

45. DULBERG's Complaint states that DULBERG discovery the negligence of the Defendants on December 16, 2016 when he was informed by outside counsel of his claim for malpractice, or at the earliest by December 8, 2016 when DULBERG learned that he was limited in recovering his damages under the binding mediation.

46. Therefore DULBERG would have until December 2021 to file his claims under fraudulent concealment. DULBERG filed his claims well within the five-year fraudulent concealment statute.

CONCLUSION

After review of the allegations in the Complaint, this Honorable Court must find that DULBERG properly filed his claim for legal malpractice and is not judicially estopped from bringing those claims. Also, the claims are not time barred based on the discovery rule and fraudulent concealment. More importantly, due to the factual questions in this case, granting the Motion to Dismiss would be inappropriate. However, in the event this Court grants the Motion, DULBERG requests a reasonable time to file a First Amended Complaint.

mediation, DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling Legal Malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

21. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBURG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuire's) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG;

d) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property;

e) Improperly urged DULBURG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

f) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuire's and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

g) Falsely advised DULBURG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuire's was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBURG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

28. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, DULBERG realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

29. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that DULBERG retained for the mediation, that DULBERG became reasonably aware that MAST and POPOVICH did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

30. DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

31. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBERG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

d.) Failed to investigate the insurance policy amounts of the McGuires and Gagnon;

e.) Incorrectly informed DULBERG that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000.00" and no insurance company would pay close to that;

RE: Your accident of January 24, 2013

Dear Mr. Dulberg:

Thank you for consulting with our firm on December 31, 2014 in regards to your personal injury case. Unfortunately, we have decided not to accept your case. Therefore, on behalf of Ferris, Thompson & Zweig, Ltd., we will not be taking any further action on your behalf as it relates to this matter. I believe you should not have settled with the property owners for $5,000.00. There are other reasons for my decision.

This is merely our professional opinion and does not mean you do not have a case. We recommend that you attempt to settle the case at the upcoming pretrial conference with your current attorney.

Sincerely,

Saul M. Ferris

COUNTY OF McHENRY)

IN THE TWENTY-SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT
McHENRY COUNTY, ILLINOIS

PAUL DULBERG, Plaintiff, vs. THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. and HANS MAST, Defendants.	No. 17 LA 377

ELECTRONICALLY RECORDED Report of Proceedings in the above-entitled cause before the Honorable THOMAS A. MEYER, Judge of said Court of McHenry County, Illinois, on the 19th day of July, 2021, in the McHenry County Government Center, Woodstock, Illinois.

APPEARANCES:

LAW OFFICE OF ALPHONSE A. TALARICO, by MR. ALPHONSE A. TALARICO (via Zoom)

On behalf of the Plaintiff;

KARBAL COHEN ECONOMOU SILK DUNNE, LLC, by MR. GEORGE K. FLYNN

On behalf of the Defendants.

THE COURT: Counsel?

MR. FLYNN: No. 10, your Honor. I see Mr. Talarico. George Flynn on behalf of defendant/movant.

THE COURT: Dulberg versus Mast?

MR. FLYNN: Yes.

THE COURT: Okay. I saw Mr. Talarico. All right. Mr. Talarico?

MR. TALARICO: Yes, Judge. Good morning.

THE COURT: All right. Counselor here in court, what's going on?

MR. FLYNN: Good morning, your Honor. We brought a motion to supplement our motion to compel. The Court ruled on April 6th and granted defendant's motion to compel and set a June 14 compliance date.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. FLYNN: I'm sorry. June 1st compliance date with a June 14 hearing. Somehow I don't believe we got a copy of the file stamped order and it didn't get diaried, so I believe the case was called on June 14 --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. FLYNN: -- and a continue date August 19th.

THE COURT: You got inadequate compliance, is that ultimately --

MR. FLYNN: That's our position, yes.

THE COURT: All right. I'm going to pass this. We'll come back to it. And let me see if I can take a look at the compliance at issue.

Mr. Talarico, just hang in there. I'll be back at the end of the call.

MR. FLYNN: Thank you, your Honor.

(Whereupon the afore-captioned cause was recalled.)

THE COURT: Let's go to Dulberg. All right. Plaintiff's counsel for the record, if you could identify yourself.

MR. TALARICO: Good morning, your Honor. My name is Alphonse Talarico. I represent Paul Dulberg.

MR. FLYNN: And good morning again, your Honor. George Flynn on behalf of Popovich and Mast.

THE COURT: All right. So tell me what the issue is.

MR. FLYNN: Again, your Honor, the Court ruled on April 6th that the plaintiff was directed to provide the specific answers and responses to each interrogatory and production request. So we did receive supplemental production responses and a supplemental interrogatory answer. With respect to the supplemental production, there is one document that I consider to be responsive and that is new.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

THE COURT: I'm sorry?

MR. FLYNN: There is one document that was produced and I consider it to be responsive and a new production. The rest of the documents that were produced, it's unusual. There are actual pleadings from this case that were attached as responsive documents to my discovery requests. I don't see how those -- which basically just set forth the plaintiff's position in this case in response to the various arguments we've made in motions.

THE COURT: Well, what is it you're looking for? What didn't you get?

MR. FLYNN: I'm looking to strike any of those documents --

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. FLYNN: -- that are not responsive.

THE COURT: Is it -- I mean, really is it necessary to go to the trouble of striking them if they're -- I mean, ultimately they're not going to be relevant as a discovery response.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

MR. FLYNN: Only -- I just want to make sure there aren't any additional documents that were --

THE COURT: Are there any additional documents, Mr. Talarico?

MR. TALARICO: Judge, I have no idea if -- it's our position we complied completely. We filed our answers on June 1st. If the Court had -- I don't know if the Court remembers, you had ordered us, plaintiff and defendant, to talk up through June 14th to see if there were any issues. The only response I got from the defendants was an e-mail with one word. As I told you on June 14th, the only word was, Thank you. Now I am totally surprised, 73 days later, Judge, and I don't know what else -- I want time to respond in writing, Judge. This is --

THE COURT: I don't -- I don't want to do that.

MR. TALARICO: This has been difficult.

THE COURT: This is --

MR. FLYNN: Yes, it has, Judge.

THE COURT: So what is it you -- what is it you are looking for? Because I have a representation on the record -- and I'm assuming there's an affidavit of compliance.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

MR. TALARICO: There is.

THE COURT: Okay. Then -- and he says, I've given you everything.

MR. FLYNN: That's fine with respect to the production response. Now there's the interrogatory answer.

THE COURT: All right. Tell me -- we're moving on to the interrogatory.

MR. FLYNN: And again, this goes to the statute of limitations on a legal malpractice case. The plaintiff is claiming that he didn't discover it until after the 2 years --

THE COURT: Could you keep your voice up a little?

MR. FLYNN: Sure. Plaintiff is arguing for a tolling of the statute of limitations on a legal malpractice case. He was asked in Interrogatory No. 1, Identify and describe each and every way that Popovich or Mast breached any duty of care to you, the date of the breach, and when and how you became aware of the breach.

His response -- his amended additional response discusses his pecuniary injury, that only addresses damages. With respect to the breach of the standard of care and how he discovered it, he simply says he knew that the defendants breached the standard of care due him based upon a verbal discussion with Attorney Tom Gooch on December 16, 2016.

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. FLYNN: That describes the date. It doesn't describe how he became aware of it, what Gooch told him. Now, again, I know your Honor is aware of the deposition testimony in this case regarding that December 16 time period. If the answer is that Dulberg doesn't remember what Mr. Gooch told him, if Gooch said simply, You have a case, that's fine. That's what they should say. But I've already taken his deposition. There are no specifics that explain to me why Mr. Gooch crystallized this breach of the standard of care on December 16. But if this is all they have, then that's what he should say, is that I don't remember what Mr. Gooch told me.

THE COURT: I mean, he's -- I think he's complied. I'm not sure --

MR. FLYNN: What is the breach of the standard of care?

THE COURT: I'm sorry?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

MR. FLYNN: And what is the breach of the standard of care? That's what I've asked in the interrogatory. They don't say.

THE COURT: Well, I think that -- all right. I guess that is -- my reading on it, it's implied it's a statute of limitations. But --

MR. FLYNN: No, the statute of limitations is the issue in this case.

THE COURT: All right. What is the --

MR. FLYNN: The underlying personal injury case --

THE COURT: What is the breach? Did Mr. Gooch advise him what the breach was?

MR. TALARICO: Judge, all that Mr. Dulberg recalls was relayed in the responses. There were no recordings that were going on. Nothing was done in writing. I'm not sure how I can possibly respond anymore, to give anymore.

THE COURT: I have a representation that this is all there is.

MR. FLYNN: That's satisfactory to me. As long as when I file my summary judgment motion there's not some new discovery discussion as to --

MR. TALARICO: Judge --

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

MR. FLYNN: -- what the breach was and what --

MR. TALARICO: I'm sorry. I hate to interrupt. Judge?

THE COURT: Yeah.

MR. TALARICO: We -- again, we were -- our response, I believe is in total compliance with the Court order of June 6th and your instructions on that day from the court record. And I'd like to respond in writing to establish that we did that.

THE COURT: No. No. I mean, you're -- you only need to respond in writing if we're going to have a hearing. If you want to file a brief that -- just in the file, that's fine, but I think we have a resolution today and I don't want to spend more time reading briefs resolving an issue that's moot. So I think this is resolved. What else is outstanding?

MR. FLYNN: I think that does resolve -- the representation resolves both issues, so --

THE COURT: I have -- you have advised -- well, you've advised that's all there is, so I'm finding you in compliance.

MR. TALARICO: Thank you, your Honor.

THE COURT: Okay. Is there anything else we need to do?

Received 09-16-2022 04:17 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 09-16-2022 04:18 PM / Transaction #19526335 / Case #2017LA000377

MR. FLYNN: I suppose with respect to the summary judgment motion that I anticipate, Judge, there was one document that was produced in order to avoid a second deposition of Mr. Dulberg to authenticate this document, which is a letter from Attorney Thompson -- I'm sorry -- Attorney Ferris -- that goes to the issue of the statute of limitations. If Mr. Talarico would stipulate to the authenticity of this March 4, 2015 letter on the record, I don't need to send a request to admit for --

THE COURT: Can you hear all that?

MR. TALARICO: I heard it, Judge, but I'm not familiar with that document. A request to admit would be welcome.

MR. FLYNN: Fair enough.

MR. TALARICO: Just so I can see what it is.

THE COURT: That's fine. We're back again on August 19th. Do you want to delay that date in light of the fact you may be issuing a request to admit?

MR. FLYNN: I think that would make sense.

THE COURT: All right. So let's strike August 19th and tell me when it makes sense to come back.

MR. FLYNN: I'll need at least 30 days, so --

THE COURT: 60 days?

MR. FLYNN: A 60-day date would be great.

THE COURT: How's September 17th? That's a Friday.

MR. TALARICO: Fine with me, Judge.

MR. FLYNN: That works for me.

THE COURT: All right. So that will be at 8:45 and then we'll see what you guys want to do when you come back. And are you withdrawing your motion or ...

MR. FLYNN: I think that --

THE COURT: Or do you want me expressly to find compliance based on representations in open court?

MR. FLYNN: I'm not requesting a hearing any longer. I think we resolved the matter. So yeah, I'll withdraw it.

THE COURT: All right. Motion's withdrawn. The record still stands. I did find that you were in compliance and we'll deal with the next step whenever it comes up. But I will see you September 17th and if you could draft the order.

MR. FLYNN: I will. Thank you, your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Mr. Talarico, anything else?

MR. TALARICO: No, Judge, thank you for your time.

THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

Instructions

Check the box to the right if your case involves parental responsibility or parenting time (custody/visitation rights) or relocation of a child.

Just below "Appeal to the Appellate Court of Illinois," enter the number of the appellate district that will hear the appeal and the county of the trial court.

If the case name in the trial court began with "In re" (for example, "In re Marriage of Jones"), enter that name. Below that, enter the names of the parties in the trial court, and check the correct boxes to show which party is filing the appeal ("appellant") and which party is responding to the appeal ("appellee").

To the far right, enter the trial court case number, the trial judge's name, and the Supreme Court Rule that allows the appellate court to hear the appeal.

Dear Ms. Roona N. Shah,

This reply is in response to the letter of Edward Clinton and Julia Williams dated November 1, 2023.

Since first filing ARDC Complaints against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams on July 27, 2023 we have submitted 7 more ARDC Complaints. To date we have submitted:

Edward X. Clinton No. 2023IN02517 (submitted on July 27, 2023)

Julia C. Williams No. 2023IN02518 (submitted on July 27, 2023)

Thomas J. Popovich No. 2023IN03135 (submitted on September 15, 2023)

Hans Mast No. 2023IN03136 (submitted on September 15, 2023)

Brad J. Balke (submitted on November 8, 2023)

Kelly J. Baudin (submitted on November 8, 2023)

William Randall Baudin II (submitted on November 8, 2023)

Thomas W. Gooch (submitted on November 8, 2023)

Sabina Walczyk (submitted on November 8, 2023)

The Complaints submitted November 8, 2023 have footnotes with hyperlinks to exhibits. The Complaints submitted on July 27, 2023 and September 15, 2023 do not have links to exhibits in the footnotes.

Since all these complaints are interrelated and since hyperlinks to exhibits help the reader considerably, we've also produced the following 5 documents that are regularly updated and have full hyperlink features:

Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 12LA178 During Popovich-Mast Representation

Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 12LA178 During Balke Representation

Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 12LA178 During Baudins Representation

Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 17LA377 During Gooch-Walczyk Representation

Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 17LA377 During Clinton-Williams Representation

All 5 documents linked above have exhibits placed in a shared single folder. All exhibits are password protected. Please use the following to see hyperlinks and exhibits:

If you need other usernames and passwords, please let us know.

We also use hyperlinks to exhibits in this letter so evidence is easy to view.

Dulberg is providing evidence that the accused attorneys act as a network. Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys protected Dulberg's personal injury attorneys from being discovered committing fraud against Dulberg. They used a sophisticated system of document and information suppression against their own permanently disabled client. The legal malpractice attorneys shielded the PI attorneys from liability after the PI attorneys committed fraud.

If sued, the PI attorneys use the protection of the legal malpractice attorneys to defend themselves from Dulberg. The PI attorneys claim the 2 year statute of limitations has already passed. But during this same 2 years the PI attorneys were being protected by Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys (who were actively suppressing documents and information while working against their own client Dulberg).

This is in fact what happened when Dulberg initiated a legal malpractice claim against Popovich and Mast (17LA377). It also happened when Dulberg initiated a legal malpractice claim against the Baudins (22L010905). In both cases defendants Popovich and Mast and the Baudin defendants moved to be dismissed since they claimed more than 2 years had passed since Dulberg "first knew" of any "injury". During those same 2 years they were being protected by Dulberg's own legal malpractice attorneys Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams who used a sophisticated system of document and information suppression against their permanently disabled client.

This is why what Clinton-Williams and Gooch-Walczyk did to Dulberg cannot be understood in its entirety without looking at what Popovich and Mast (and others) also did to Dulberg. Dulberg's own legal malpractice attorneys were protecting Popovich and Mast (and others) against Dulberg.

The ARDC Complaint against Popovich and Mast describes how Popovich and Mast:[1]

- Redirected medical lien liability from the Defendants to Plaintiff
- Forged documents and destroyed evidence (at least 15 examples)
- Corrupted the interrogatory and document production process to sabotage client's case and to benefit defendants (in collaboration with opposing attorneys)
- Suppressed information on mental health issues related to Dulberg's injury
- Corrupted the deposition process to sabotage client's case and to benefit defendants in collaboration with opposing attorneys (9 out of 10 depositions have no valid certification pages)
- Knew Defendant Gagnon effectively admitted to negligence for Dulberg's injury
- Knew Defendant Gagnon committed perjury
- Knew Defendant Carolyn McGuire committed perjury
- Committed settlement fraud
- Violated federal bankruptcy laws

1 All listed items are linked to supporting evidence on page 1 of 'ARDC Complaint Against Thomas J. Popovich and Hans Mast' and page 1 of Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 12LA178 During Popovich-Mast Representation

The ARDC Complaint against Balke describes how Balke:[2]

- Contracted with Dulberg and not with the Bankruptcy Trustee (who had standing as plaintiff)
- Told Dulberg (about 11 weeks later) he would withdraw counsel if Dulberg does not settle with Allstate for $50,000
- Violated federal bankruptcy laws

The Baudins were retained by Dulberg after Dulberg fired Balke. The ARDC Complaint against the Baudins describes how the Baudins:[3]

- Contracted with Dulberg instead of with the Bankruptcy Trustee
- Knew or should have known Defendant Gagnon effectively admitted to negligence for Dulberg's injury as early as March, 2013
- Moved to cap the value of PI case 12LA178 (with defendants Allstate alone)
- Closed the deal with an upper cap of $300,000 (in violation of the automatic stay)
- Coerced Dulberg to agree and misinformed him of where the 'upper cap' came from
- Moved to contract with Bankruptcy Trustee only after capping value of 12LA178
- Misled Bankruptcy Judge that Dulberg wanted Binding Mediation (about 11 weeks after the deal was closed)

Additionally:

- Dulberg's signature was forged onto the ADR Binding Mediation Agreement
- Dulberg was coerced into signing Allstate Release

After these horrendous experiences with PI attorneys, Dulberg retained legal malpractice attorney Gooch (who was recommended by the Baudins). After firing Gooch-Walczyk Dulberg then retained legal malpractice attorneys Clinton-Williams.

- The legal malpractice attorneys Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams collaborated with opposing counsel to conceal from Dulberg what the personal injury attorneys did to Dulberg. The Baudins covered for Popovich, Mast and Balke.
- Legal malpractice attorneys Gooch-Walczyk then covered for Popovich, Mast, Balke, and the Baudins.
- Legal malpractice attorneys Clinton and Williams then covered for Popovich, Mast, Balke, the Baudins and Gooch-Walczyk.

It is a snowball of fraudulent concealment that keeps growing. For this reason it is not possible to fully understand what Popovich and Mast did (and how they get away with it) without understanding that Dulberg's retained legal malpractice attorneys Clinton-Williams and Gooch-

Walczyk were covering for Popovich and Mast, Balke and the Baudins (Dulberg's former personal injury attorneys) and how they did it.

'ARDC Complaint against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams' describes how Clinton and Williams collaborated with opposing counsel to benefit the defendants and sabotage Dulberg's case by suppressing large numbers of documents and playing 'hoaxes' on Dulberg including:[4]

- Document dump hoax[5]:
  where an attorney dumps over 6000 documents on their permanently disabled client just before resigning as counsel. The large dump is designed to hide the fact that many of these documents were being released for the first time (because they were being suppressed until then).
- Repeating document hoax[6]:
  where an attorney hides documents behind thousands of pages of duplicated, useless and dizzying material. In this case the attorney uses nearly the exact same list of documents arranged in alphabetical order that were released about 14 months earlier and releases them again, also in the exact same alphabetical order, with new bates-stamps claiming they may be new documents but they "aren't sure". This is a great way to appear to give thousands of new pages of documents to opposing counsel without providing a single new document in reality.
- Email hoax[7]:
  where an attorney horrendously butchers their own client's emails repeatedly before having them bates-stamped and turned over to opposing counsel.
- Lawyer emails by date hoax[8]:
  In this hoax an attorney receives the same email collection they already turned over to opposing counsel (which the client organized by month and year only for his own reference). The attorney treats it as a new release of documents to opposing counsel. The emails are then butchered before being bates-stamped and released to opposing counsel as 'new documents'.

8 Visual Aid 6 - Lawyer Emails by date hoax.png and 'ARDC Complaint against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams', paragraph 42 and Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 17LA377 During Clinton-Williams Representation paragraph 42

- Hiding key evidence hoax (Tilschner)[9]:
  This hoax directly targets and suppresses a key piece of evidence. Even though an attorney downloads 3 documents together with very similar names, somehow the key document is 'mistakenly' placed in the wrong folder and is never given to opposing counsel or bates-stamped at all. Then, somehow, one of the accompanying documents is copied, given a new name, and placed back with the group to appear to substitute for the 'misplaced' document.
- 17LA377 document insertion hoax[10]:
  This is where an attorney takes many documents from the Common Law Record of the current case (that don't need to be bates-stamped and turned over to opposing counsel) and separates them from the others, renames all of them, and then adds them (in alphabetical order) to the documents that the attorney will bates-stamp and turn over to opposing counsel. This is a way to pad your bates-stamped documents with hundreds of pages of useless documents to further confuse your permanently disabled client.

Clinton and Williams used a sophisticated system of document and information suppression against their permanently disabled client to:

- Conceal Dulberg's bankruptcy (from the 17LA377 Common Law Record and Reports of Proceedings)
- Suppress emails from Saul Ferris
- Suppress key evidence (Tilschner v Spangler certified slip ruling)
- Suppress large numbers of emails from Brad Balke
- Collaborate with opposing attorney to flood Dulberg with over 6,000 documents just before Clinton-Williams withdrew as Dulberg's counsel
- Suppress all information on what the Baudins did to Dulberg
- Suppress evidence that Defendant Gagnon effectively admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury as early as March, 2013.
- Collaborate with opposing counsel to suppress Barch documents before Dulberg's deposition
- Collaborate with opposing counsel to weaken verification pages of discovery production
- Collaborate with opposing counsel during the deposition of Hans Mast and after

In addition, the ARDC Complaint Against Thomas W. Gooch and Sabina Walczyk describes how Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams 'teamed-up' to:[11]

- Conceal key evidence in collaboration with each other (Tilschner v Spangler certified slip ruling)
- Conceal admission of negligence of Defendant Gagnon for Dulberg's injury in underlying case 12LA178 in collaboration with each other
- Conceal Bankruptcy and Violations of Federal Bankruptcy Laws (automatic stay, loss of standing to pursue claim, capping value of assets in BK estate, etc) in collaboration with each other
- Conceal true sources of $300,000 upper cap on the value of the PI claim in collaboration with each other
- Intentionally confuse Statute of Limitations toll date, date of "injury", and placing Dulberg's privileged attorney-client communications at issue in collaboration with each other

Duhlberg hoax[12] shows a common 'inside joke' of mocking Dulberg by referring to him as 'Duh'-lberg. The 'inside joke' began with Popovich-Mast and was continued by legal malpractice attorneys Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams. A court reporter also shared the inside joke[13] by mocking Dulberg when naming a court document.

What Popovich and Mast did to Dulberg has to be looked at to fully understand what Clinton-Williams and Gooch-Walczyk did to Dulberg. The malpractice attorneys were intentionally deceiving Dulberg to hide from Dulberg what the PI attorneys did to him. The legal malpractice attorneys also set up conditions which allowed the defendants to claim Dulberg did not file a complaint within 2 years of when he "knew" or "should have known" of any "injury" done to him by the PI attorneys. They even shared the same inside jokes, both referring to their permanently disabled client as 'Duhlberg'. The PI attorneys then claimed it was 'too late' for Dulberg to file a lawsuit since he "first knew" or "should have known" of a possible "injury" more than 2 years earlier (while the legal malpractice attorneys hid from Dulberg all the acts of fraud). This is how the network is intentionally designed to work: The legal malpractice attorneys help set up a 2 year statute of limitations Summary Judgment 'escape hatch' for the Defendants so that any cases against them will be dismissed.

The overall methods of how Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys worked together to sabotage Dulberg's legal malpractice case 17LA377 against Popovich and Mast can also be seen in a series of 9 tables.

Table 1 shows[14] 4 different efforts that Popovich, Mast, Balke and the Baudins made to place an 'upper cap' on the value of Dulberg's PI case 12LA178. Dulberg reacted to the first effort by filing for bankruptcy. The next 3 attempts were made after Dulberg declared bankruptcy and in violation of the automatic stay and without informing the bankruptcy trustee. The 4th and final attempt place an 'upper cap' on the value of PI case 12LA178 was done successfully by the Baudins and Defendants Allstate, acting alone on or before August 10, 2016. Joseph Olsen, who first received permission to retain the Baudins about 11 weeks later, wasn't even appointed the bankruptcy trustee until August 31, 2016.

Table 2 shows[15] strategies and methods of 5 law firms retained by Dulberg. All successive attorneys to the same (fully disabled) client used the same overall strategy: To intentionally weaken or sabotage their own client's case.

All three personal injury attorneys retained by Dulberg acted in violation of the automatic stay. They continued to appear in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court (which operated for approximately 25 months in violation of the automatic stay) claiming to represent Dulberg (who had no standing as plaintiff). All 3 PI attorneys made efforts to place a cap on the remaining case without having any authority from the Bankruptcy Court to do so. Both legal malpractice attorneys suppressed all information of how all 3 PI law firms violated federal bankruptcy laws from Dulberg and from the complaints.

All five law firms (3 personal injury law firms and 2 legal malpractice law firms) knew or could easily have discovered that personal injury defendant (who was operating the chainsaw that injured Dulberg) Gagnon effectively admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury as early as March, 2013. None of the 5 law firms ever informed Dulberg of this. The original defendant and operator of the chainsaw, Gagnon, admitted to being negligent:

About 10 months before Dulberg was coerced into settling with the owners of the property (the McGuire's) on which the accident occurred and for whom Gagnon was working.

About 21 months before Dulberg declared bankruptcy.

About 39 months before any binding mediation agreement with Gagnon was mentioned.

About 40 months before any cap was placed on any binding mediation award from Gagnon.

There was no reason for any of these activities to take place if the defendant who operated the chainsaw already admitted to being negligent.

Table 3 shows[16] 5 incorrect versions of the origin of the $300,000 'upper cap' placed on the value of PI case 12LA178 given by Dulberg's own attorneys. None of the 5 versions are what Dulberg told his attorneys. In addition, the true origin of the 'upper cap' is clearly documented in 17LA377 Reports of Proceedings from June 13, 2016 to August 10, 2016. The 'upper cap' was placed on the value of 17LA377 by the Baudins and Defendants Allstate acting alone and over 7 weeks before the Baudins were authorized by the Bankruptcy Court to act on behalf of the bankruptcy estate. The Baudins and Defendants Allstate acted alone to set a $300,000 'upper cap' on the value of PI case 12LA178 about 3 weeks before bankruptcy trustee Olsen was appointed as bankruptcy trustee.

Table 4A shows[17] 3 incorrect versions of when Dulberg "first knew" of an "injury" given by Dulberg's counsel. Table 4B shows Table 4A in a simpler form.[18] Evidence shows that Gooch was already setting Dulberg up to lose on a 2 year statute of limitations argument during their first meeting together.[19]

Tables 3, 4A and 4B taken together show the methods used by Dulberg's own legal malpractice attorneys to attempt to discredit Dulberg and sabotage his case against Popovich and Mast. They simply made multiple contradictory and untrue statements in the 17LA377 Common Law Record and in the Records of Proceedings on behalf of Dulberg without his permission or knowledge. Tables 3, 4A and 4B show the base logic Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams used to set Dulberg up to fail.

The logic used in Tables 3, 4A and 4B led to the claims of statute of limitations toll dates shown in Tables 5A and 5B. Table 5A shows[20] toll dates given by opposing counsel Flynn. Table 5B shows[21] toll dates given by Dulberg's own attorneys Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams.

Table 6 shows[22] how key elements of opposing counsel Flynn's Summary Judgment arguments in 2022 were set up with the help of Dulberg's own legal malpractice attorneys since 2016. Flynn's Summary Judgment argument is broken down into 29 key elements. Elements are shown to be directly related to something Dulberg's own legal malpractice attorneys did to Dulberg. Table 6 shows how Dulberg was set up to fail by his own legal malpractice attorneys from the first day Dulberg met Gooch.

Table 7 shows[23] how current Illinois law was applied by Officers of the Court in 17LA377 to Dulberg's case. The key statements made in defense of granting Summary Judgment to Defendants Popovich and Mast are gathered and compared.

Table 8 shows[24] patterns of collaboration between Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams on numerous issues. Dulberg retained Clinton-Williams almost 2 years after first retaining Gooch. It was not possible for Clinton-Williams to successfully suppress key documents unless Gooch-Walczyk suppressed the same key documents before them. They both did so to benefit Popovich and Mast among others.

Table 9 shows[25] 3 different cases of fraud on the court committed at Dulberg's expense. The first was during personal injury case 12LA178. When Dulberg was pressured to settle the remainder of the case for a low amount Dulberg reacted by declaring bankruptcy which opened a federal bankruptcy case in addition to PI case 12LA178. When Dulberg was later forced to accept an 'upper cap' of $300,000 on the value of the PI case Dulberg reacted by initiating legal malpractice claim 17LA377 against Popovich and Mast.

In addition to committing fraud against Dulberg, the named attorneys participated in a series of frauds on the judicial mechanism of the court.[26]

> "Fraud upon the court" has been defined by the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals to "embrace that species of fraud which does, or attempts to, defile the court itself, or is a fraud perpetrated by officers of the court so that the judicial machinery can not perform in the usual manner its impartial task of adjudging cases that are presented for adjudication."[27]

The 7th Circuit further stated:

> "a decision produced by fraud upon the court is not in essence a decision at all, and never becomes final."[28]

Fraud on the court is a fraud:

> "directed to the judicial machinery itself and is not fraud between the parties or fraudulent documents . . . . It is thus fraud where . . . the impartial functions of the court have been directly corrupted."[29]

Interestingly, the term "fraud on the court" is only mentioned in Rule 60(d)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, yet courts have also used this doctrine to order dismissal or default under other rules where a litigant has stooped to the level of fraud on the court.[30]

Clinton and Williams claimed: "During the time the Clinton Law Firm represented Paul Dulberg, they did so with the competence and diligence required of attorneys in Illinois.... It betrays common sense that a law firm, as Mr. Dulberg alleges, would intentionally jeopardize its own client's cause of action, especially when its own recovery was contingent upon any recovery it obtains on behalf of its client."

We have provided evidence of 5 consecutive law firms retained by Dulberg doing just that, the Clinton Law Firm being the 5th in a row. We have provided detailed evidence of how Clinton and Williams suppressed Dulberg's documents step by step. After having been the targets of these attacks for over 1 decade, we've found the process is not that difficult to understand. What follows is a simple 13 step approach a legal malpractice attorney can take to sabotage their own client's case that is simple enough for an average person to understand. (This approach matches point for point what Dulberg experienced with Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams.)

1) bury key evidence:
   This is the legal equivalent of 'crippling' ones own client.

2) bury fraud:
   Bury all evidence of defendant committing fraud on your client.

3) prepare escape hatch:
   A 2 year SoL dismissal is pre-planned into the system. Dulberg was being intentionally set up for it during his first meeting with Gooch.

4) choke client:
   Not all documents are suppressed equally. The documents sent directly from the client to the legal malpractice attorney are primary targets of suppression.

5) give some, keep some, ghost some:
   This is a sophisticated system of document and information suppression described in Chapter `1 of 'ARDC Complaint Against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams'. [31]

6) mince emails:
   Methods used against Dulberg are described from paragraph 42 of 'ARDC Complaint Against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams'.

7) bury troublesome issues:
   How to do it: Make multiple contradictory and untrue statements on the issues on behalf of ones client in the Common Law Record and in Reports of Proceedings. These statements are intended as gifts for the defendants. They were created by the legal malpractice attorneys but they are credited to Dulberg (as if the attorney received the information from Dulberg). The defense will use the multiple statements later to claim your client is 'being evasive' and 'changing his story' by 'fiddling' with his answers. An excellent example is shown in Table 3. Other excellent examples are Table 10 (page 12) and Table 11 (page 14).

8) target depositions:
   From our experience depositions are a prime target of an attorney that wants to destroy your case. In the underlying PI case 12LA178 there are no valid certification page for 9 out of 10 depositions. Evidence of forgery exists in many of the alleged certification pages. The strange deposition of Mast is described in 'ARDC Complaint Against Edward X Clinton and Julia C. Williams', Chapter 2, Section 2-K, in which key evidence disappears. The history of the key evidence which disappeared is described in Chapter 2, Section 2-C of the same complaint and Table 10 (page 12).

31 Also in Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 17LA377 During Clinton-Williams Representation Chapter 1

9) strip case law:

when dealing with client misinterpret and misrepresent case law. An example is when Mast used Tilschner v Spangler as the reason the McGuires were not liable for Gagnon's injury during a meeting with Dulberg and Thomas Kost on November 20, 2023. Another example: The relevant case law in 17LA377 which applies to Dulberg's case (Suburban and related cases) was never brought up to Dulberg by Gooch-Walczyk or Clinton-Williams.

10) starve and flood:

Just before quitting as counsel, dump a waterfall of documents on your permanently disabled client. Hide most of the documents you have been suppressing until then near the bottom of the pile. Continue to suppress certain key documents and never give them a bates-stamp or turn them over to opposing counsel. Overload your client and head to the door. Described in 'ARDC Complaint Against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams', Chapter 1, beginning on paragraph 35.[32]

11) set up accused:

Described in detail in Table 6 [33]

12) throw privilege under a bus:

This is demonstrated step by step in 'ARDC Complaint Against Thomas W. Gooch and Sabina Walczyk' from paragraph 1.[34] Give the defense grounds to demand your client's privileged attorney-client communications. This is done by setting the client up to make the claim that they "first knew" of an "injury" through communications with their legal malpractice attorney. (This is what Gooch did to Dulberg at their first meeting together.)

13) run for cover stories:

Stellar examples of this are claims made by Clinton and Williams in the letter of November 1, 2023 and examined in this reply.

This is a basic 13 step outline which matches (step by step) what Gooch and Walczyk and later Clinton and Williams actually did to Dulberg.

Complications in Dulberg's case:

What if the targeted client declares bankruptcy during his PI case as a natural reaction to loosing all financial hope? Federal bankruptcy laws add a number of complications to finishing off your client. This is what happened to Dulberg during PI case 12LA178.

A way to solve it:

a) Ignore bankruptcy court and bankruptcy court trustee.

b) Make repeated efforts to place an 'upper cap' on the value of PI case 12LA178.

c) Do not inform the bankruptcy trustee until an 'upper cap' is already in place and treated as a ‘done deal’.

d) Hide the origins of the ‘upper cap’ from your client.

This is what happened to Dulberg point by point. In short, ram it through anyway.

Clinton and Williams claimed: “Mr. Dulberg subsequently sued his attorneys in the personal injury matter, Thomas Popovich and Hans Mast, alleging that they should not have recommended settlement and claimed that the settlement amount was insufficient.”

2020-06-24	meeting before Mast deposition	Clinton and Williams were told by Thomas Kost of the importance of Tilschner v Spangler in proving 'intentional tort' and 'fraud' during the meeting

Table 10 demonstrates that Clinton and Williams actively blocked what Dulberg told them, suppressed documents and information, and substituted whatever they wanted Dulberg to 'allege'. They then claimed it came from Dulberg. When Clinton and Williams claim that "Dulberg alleges...", what follows is whatever they (and Gooch-Walczyk) wished to force on Dulberg.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "He further alleged that Messrs. Popovich and Mast failed to properly investigate his claims, failed to apply relevant case law, and failed to determine an appropriate strategy for recovery."

After reviewing the opposing party's May 29, 2019 document disclosure for the first time, on June 8, 2019 Dulberg sent this folder to Williams: To Julia
The folder contains a file called _READ_ME.txt which states:

> "The opposing counsel has released one "smoking gun" document that we've never seen before. It is (pop 192). Paul never gave Mast authorization to make this offer. We have ample evidence that Paul never authorized the offer made in (pop 192) and he knew nothing about it until seeing it last week. Note that it is not in the box of files we gave to you. It is not in the box of files that Mast gave to Paul when Mast withdrew from counsel. Also, the Baudin law firm and the Gooch law firm never saw this document."
>
> "Since we were never able to see (pop 192) until now, we never understood the details of how Mast tricked Paul into such a small settlement. The fact that Mast initiated the settlement process through (pop 192) without Paul's knowledge or permission is proof that this case is about more than Mast's negligence. It is about willful intent or malicious intent to deceive his client.
>
> Of course you will need convincing proof that (pop 192) was initiated without Paul's knowledge. We have that proof. As I fill in the timeline more and more, the evidence will be stronger and stronger."

Dulberg called for a meeting on July 8, 2019 (in the same email) to discuss this new development. Dulberg was ignored for almost 1 year. Clinton and Williams finally met with Dulberg and Thomas Kost by phone on June 24, 2020 (one day before the deposition of Mast).

Table 11 below shows the number of times Dulberg informed his legal malpractice attorneys about "overwhelming evidence" of intentional tort or fraud since first discovering evidence in the first week of July, 2019:

2020-06-24	meeting before Mast deposition	At meeting Thomas Kost (after waiting about 1 year for meeting) explained to Clinton and Williams that there is "overwhelming evidence" that Popovich and Mast committed fraud and intentional tort.

Dulberg was alleging Popovich and Mast intentionally committed fraud from July 8, 2019 onward to Clinton and Williams (while claiming to have a 'smoking gun' document he found that proved it). Dulberg tried to set up a meeting with Clinton and Williams for about 1 year to discuss the consequences of the new discovery of fraud on the case.

At the June 24, 2020 meeting Thomas Kost (after waiting about 1 year to do so) explained to Clinton and Williams that there is "overwhelming evidence" that Mast and Popovich committed intentional tort and fraud. Thomas Kost explained that the 6 points listed in the document evidence_list.txt provides "overwhelming evidence" that Mast and Popovich committed intentional tort and fraud. Clinton made no comment after Thomas Kost explained this.

This information was suppressed and ignored by Clinton and Williams since July 8, 2019. They "choked the client" to "bury fraud" or they would have lost the 2 year SoL 'escape hatch' for defendants Popovich and Mast. What they did can be understood as: choke client to bury key evidence, bury fraud, and set up escape hatch.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Mr. Dulberg's settled his claim with the McGuires for $5,000, and was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 in his claim against Mr. Gagnon after binding mediation in December 2016."

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Mr. Dulberg collected $300,000 from the insurance company and was unable to collect from Mr. Gagnon personally."

Table 3 shows[36] that this statement by Clinton and Williams is the 5th contradictory and incorrect statement made by Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys on behalf of Dulberg on the subject of the $300,000 'upper cap' that was plaed on the value of PI case 12LA178. None of the 5 statements in Table 3 were made by Dulberg. All 5 statements were made by Dulberg's attorneys. None of the 5 statements are accurate. They were made to set Dulberg up. Court records (12LA178 ROP from June 13, 2016 to August 10, 2016) unambiguously prove who placed an 'upper cap' on the value of 12LA178, when they did it and where they did it. The evidence was easily available to both Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams the entire time. This information was concealed from Dulberg by his own attorneys. Instead, they blamed Dulberg for the 'upper cap' or ignored it (which protected the Baudins and Allstate).

a) Who placed a $300,000 upper cap on the value of the personal injury case (The Baudins and Allstate alone)

b) When the agreement was made (On or before August 10, 2016 in violation of the automatic stay)

c) Where the agreement was made (In the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court)

This is then blamed on Dulberg or ignored. They are then called 'claims' of Dulberg. ('bury troublesome issues')

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Mr. Dulberg retained Thomas Gooch of The Gooch Firm, who filed on behalf of Mr. Dulberg the initial complaint for legal malpractice on November 28, 2017 (Exhibit 2), followed by a first amended complaint. (Exhibit 3) ... The Clinton Law Firm represented Paul Dulberg in a legal malpractice claim from November 8, 2018, to September 10, 2020, in a case then-pending in the Circuit Court for the 22 nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County. The matter is docketed as Dulberg v. the Law Office of Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast, 2017 LA 377."

In all 3 filings of a Complaint (Complaint at Law by Gooch-Walczyk, the Amended Complaint by Gooch-Walczyk, and the Second amended Complaint by Clinton-Williams) only 2 defendants were named:

Hans Mast

The Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich

Thomas J. Popovich was never named as a defendant by either Gooch-Walczyk or Clinton-

Williams. The Baudins were never named or mentioned by name in any Complaint. Balke was never named or mentioned by name in any Complaint. They were protected.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "At the time of CLF's involvement, the legal malpractice matter was still in discovery, and much of CLF's efforts during its representation of Mr. Dulberg was focused on discovery: it issued and responded to written discovery requests, took and defended depositions of fact witnesses, and address issues concerning privilege."

How Clinton and Williams conducted discovery is documented in detail in Chapter 1 and Chapter 2, Sections A through L of 'ARDC Complaint Against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams'.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "The defendants' primary defense was that Mr. Dulberg's legal malpractice claims were barred by the applicable two-year statute of limitations."

This is the 'escape hatch' which Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys gave the defendants as a gift and which Gooch set up since his first meeting with Dulberg on December 16, 2016. When Dulberg raised the issue of Intentional Tort and Fraud on July 8, 2019 onward, Clinton and Williams ignored and suppressed it to keep this escape hatch open ('bury fraud').

Clinton and Williams claimed: "As such, the issue of when Mr. Dulberg discovered his claims became relevant in the litigation. Mr. Dulberg claimed that he did not discover the injury until consulting with Mr. Gooch in December 2016."

This is what Gooch told Dulberg at their first meeting. It is a statement that has been attributed to Dulberg and blamed on Dulberg ever since (from December 16, 2016 to the letter of November 1, 2023 by Clinton and Williams to the ARDC).

Tables 4A and 4B show Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams attributed the statement Gooch made to Dulberg on December 16, 2016 to Dulberg himself. The statement was first made by Gooch the legal malpractice attorney with authority and an air of certainty to the client during their first meeting together. The statement was later transferred to the client and blamed on the client himself .

Gooch asserted the statement, not Dulberg. Gooch informed Dulberg that Gooch is considered an expert on such matters and their first meeting together is when the statute of limitations is tolled. This was later changed to 'Dulberg's claim'.

Does the Clinton and Williams statement above pass a basic reality check?

Gooch is a legal malpractice attorney with over 20 years experience. Clinton is a legal malpractice attorney with over 20 years experience. Yet both imply that it was Dulberg that unilaterally decided that the toll starts at his first meeting with Gooch. Some reality checks:

- Did Gooch have any theory of when the statute of limitations begins to toll? What was it?
- How did Dulberg come up with the idea that the statute of limitations begins to toll from his first meeting with Gooch? How and when did the idea first enter his head?
- After more than 20 years of experience as a legal malpractice attorney in Illinois, where did Gooch get the idea that the statute of limitations begins to toll when a client has their first meeting with a legal malpractice attorney?

- Does Gooch have a history using the same theory with other clients?
- Wouldn't Gooch already know that this claim puts Dulberg's attorney-client privileged communication with him at issue?
- Has Gooch put the attorney-client privileged communication of other clients at issue using the same theory?
- If so, why did he do it again?
- If not, why is this the first time in his career he encountered this situation?

Clinton-Williams were aware that Gooch set up Dulberg with the claim of "first knowing" of an "injury" during Dulberg's first meeting with Gooch on December 16, 2016. Clinton-Williams attributed the claim to Dulberg personally. This is how the game is played.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Thus, his communications with Mr. Gooch became relevant to the litigation."

Clinton and Williams state this in a way that gives the appearance this was Dulberg's fault. Gooch set Dulberg up on December 16, 2016. Years later both Clinton and opposing counsel Flynn use the original set-up as an alibi for their own respective claims and as a way to imply that Dulberg is to blame. This is true teamwork in action: Both of Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys working seamlessly with opposing counsel Flynn (all effectively in agreement) to benefit Popovich and Mast at Dulberg's expense.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "CLF was concerned about preserving confidentiality and work product privileges surrounding the strategies that were discussed prior to CLF's involvement in the case, and asserted those privileges on behalf of Mr. Dulberg during his deposition."

Dulberg's deposition was on February 19, 2020. Clinton and Williams resigned on July 27, 2020. Clinton and Williams did no discernible work related to Gooch emails from the day of Dulberg's deposition until resigning as counsel.

On July 29, 2020 at 1:56 PM, 2 days after Clinton and Williams sent a letter of resignation to Dulberg, Dulberg sent an email to Ed Clinton and Julia Williams with the subject "Need clarification on outstanding issues before your departure" stating:[37]

> "... Outstanding questions on open issues for Clinton firm before departure:
>
> ...
>
> 2. What happened with the objections raised during Dulberg's deposition when Dulberg was questioned about conversations with Dulberg's former counsel Gooch? Did you get a ruling or does that still need to be argued before judge Meyer? ..."

Williams answered:

> "... There has been no motion practice on the issue and thus, there is no ruling. Your future counsel will need to bring that before the Judge at some point. ..."[38]

37 Exhibit 138_Need clarification on outstanding issues before your departure.pdf (page 1)
38 Exhibit 138_Need clarification on outstanding issues before your departure.pdf (page 2)

Dulberg also asked:

> "... 3. Similar to the last question, Have the objections in the Mast deposition been worked out or ruled on by judge Meyer? ..."

Williams answered:

They did no work on the issue and resigned, leaving their permanently disabled client to take care of it.

This once again demonstrates why it is not possible to understand what Clinton and Williams did to Dulberg without also understanding what Gooch and Walczyk did to Dulberg. Gooch and Walczyk provide cover for Clinton and Williams. Clinton and Williams provide cover for Gooch and Walczyk. They hide behind each other.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "On August 18, 2020, CLF filed its motion to withdraw from the legal malpractice matter. On September 10, 2020, the court granted CLF's motion to withdraw (Exhibit 6), and its representation of Mr. Dulberg reached a conclusion."

The first evidence[39] of withdrawal was on June 19, 2020 (6 days before the deposition of Hans Mast).

A draft withdrawal letter dated July 2, 2023 is in the electronic case file Clinton and Williams gave to Dulberg and Dulberg's new attorney.

On July 10, 2020 Williams turned over more than 6000 newly bates-stamped documents to Dulberg and to opposing counsel.

The evidence demonstrates Clinton and Williams helped set up the 'escape hatch' for Popovich and Mast to be dismissed from the case and then Clinton and Williams resigned.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "CLF chose to withdraw after reassessing the merits of Mr. Dulberg's claim and the defenses raised by the defendants."

What Clinton calls "Mr Dulberg's claim" is whatever they want to state Dulberg claimed, as is demonstrated in Tables 10 and 11. What Clinton calls "Mr Dulberg's claim" is also listed in Tables 4A and 4B. None of the statements in Table 4A or Table 4B were made by Dulberg. They were all made by Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams. They were made to set Dulberg up. They are then called 'claims' of Dulberg.

What Clinton calls "Mr Dulberg's claim" is also listed in Table 3. None of the 5 statements in Table 3 were made by Dulberg. All 5 statements were made by Dulberg's legal malpractice attorneys. None of the 5 statements are accurate. They were made to set Dulberg up. Court records (12LA178 ROP from June 13, 2016 to August 10, 2016) unambiguously prove who placed an 'upper cap' on the value of 12LA178, when they did it and where they did it. This is then blamed on Dulberg or ignored. They are then called 'Dulberg's claims'.

Dulberg's actual claims to Williams and Clinton are documented in detail in complete emails and email attachments to Clinton and Williams. We give up attorney-client privilege over them to allow others to view what Dulberg actually told his attorneys and when.

The emails and attachments sent to Clinton and Williams and Gooch can also be compared to Tables 3, 4A and 4B. They demonstrate that:

- Dulberg's attorneys ignored what Dulberg actually told them.
- Dulberg's attorneys wrote whatever they wanted to write.
- Dulberg's attorneys then attributed all these claims to Dulberg.

They did this to set Dulberg up.

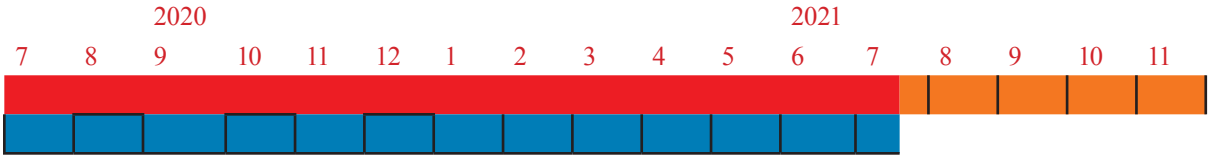

Table 10 and Table 11 both demonstrate the same pattern.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Shortly after CLF withdrew its appearance, Mr. Dulberg retained new counsel, Alphonse Talarico. (Exhibit 8) The case continued to be litigated for over a year."

Opposing counsel took full advantage[40] of the documents and information suppressed by Clinton-Williams (and by Gooch-Walczyk) during that time to:

1) Demand for detailed supplimental production responses (from the 2020-07-09 flood of over 6000 documents)
2) Demand to be given Dulberg's privileged attorney-client communications with Gooch
3) Pressure Dulberg to admit receiving in the mail a partially forged declination letter from attorney Saul Ferris. (The letter was actually addressed to Flynn's own client Popovich.

The following graphic shows over how many months these 3 forms of pressure were applied to Dulberg by Flynn as Clinton and Williams withdrew as Dulberg's counsel.

The demand for detailed supplemental discovery answers (shown in red above) lasted until July 19, 2021 (about 12 months). The demand for access to Dulberg's attorney-client privileged communication (shown in blue above) lasted until July, 2021 also (about 12 months). This is when pressure for Dulberg to admit untrue statements about an alleged letter from Saul Ferris (which was actually addressed to Popovich, shown in orange above) began and lasted for 4 more months.

40 How opposing counsel maintained pressure on Dulberg is described in 'ARDC Complaint Against Edward X. Clinton and Julia C. Williams', Chapter 1 and Chapter 2, Section 2B THE EXAMPLE OF SAUL FERRIS and Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 17LA377 During Clinton-Williams Representation same sections and 'ARDC Complaint Against Thomas W. Gooch and Sabina Walczyk', paragraphs 155 to 171 and Evidence of Fraud on the Court in 17LA377 During Gooch-Walczyk Representation paragraphs 155 to 171

Pressure was applied to Dulberg as pro-se and to Dulberg's new attorney (since Clinton and Williams had already made secret plans to withdraw as Dulberg's counsel by late June, 2020).[41] The 3 ways Dulberg was pressured are directly related to documents and information suppressed by Clinton-Williams. They set Dulberg up to be subject to all 3 forms of pressure.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "On February 1, 2023, the court entered an order granting the defendants' motion for summary judgment, dismissing the case with prejudice. The court's order is attached as Exhibit 9."

In Table 6 Flynn's key accusations[42] against Dulberg in his 2022 Summary Judgment are listed in Column 1. Column 2 shows how most every accusation made by Flynn against Dulberg in 2022 were set up and reinforced years earlier by Dulberg's own counsel (acting in collaboration with opposing counsel) to sabotage Dulberg's claims.

Dulberg's current attorney Mr Talerico is on the record since February 10, 2021 (Mr Talerico was retained on October 23, 2020) explaining the application of Suburban Real Estate v Carlson to Dulberg's case in order to claim that the statute is counted from December 12, 2016. Mr Talerico explained that Suburban Real Estate v Carlson makes clear that if Dulberg filed a legal malpractice suit against Popovich and Mast at any time before December 12, 2016 his filing would have been ruled premature. Mr Talerico explained Illinois law is clear that the first day that Dulberg had standing to file a legal malpractice suit against Popovich and Mast was December 12, 2016 and not one day sooner.

The arguments in Suburban Real Estate Servs. v. Carlson, 2020 Ill. App. 191953 (Ill. App. Ct. 2020) reference 5 other key cases:

Successful Appellant Suburban Real Estate relied on Lucey[43] and Warnock[44] (and Northern Illinois Emergency Physicians[45])

Unsuccessful Appellee Carlson relied on FagelHaber[46] and Nelson[47] (and Goran[48])

The notion of a "financial injury" on December 12, 2016 consistent with Illinois law in Suburban Real Estate v Carlson was never explained to Dulberg by Gooch, Clinton, or Williams, not even as a suggestion or possibility. Opposing counsel Flynn found no relevance in Suburban Real Estate v Carlson. It was not used or referenced in any of the 14 items in Table 5A and 5B. There is no notion of financial injury or application of Illinois law Suburban Real Estate v Carlson in any of the versions in Table 4A nd 4B. Neither Judge Meyer or Judge Berg saw any relevance in Suburban Real Estate v Carlson and did not recognize any notion of a 'financial injury' occurring on December 12, 2016 consistent with Suburban Real Estate v Carlson in Dulberg's case.

Table 7 lists[49] statements of each of these 17LA377 Officers of the Court when applying Illinois case law to 17LA377. None of the statements in Table 7 made by Judge Meyer, Judge Berg, Defendants Popovich and Mast, Dulberg's former attorneys Gooch, Clinton and Williams reference or are based on any of the case law cited in in Suburban (which is current Illinois law applicable to Dulberg's case).

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Upon information and belief, defendants raised, and ultimately prevailed, on the argument that Mr. Dulberg's legal malpractice claim was barred by the statute of limitations based upon when he knew or should have known of his alleged injury. (See Exhibit 10, Motion for Summary Judgment)"

This means that Popovich and Mast successfully hid behind Dulberg's own legal malpractice attorneys. This was the plan from the first time Dulberg met Gooch on December 16, 2016. Tables 1, 2, 3, 4A, 4B, 5A, 5B, 6, 8, 9, 10 and 11 show how the game is played from start to finish. Comments made by Gooch to Dulberg and Thomas Kost (full trustee of the Paul R. Dulberg Revocable Trust) at Dulberg's first meeting with Gooch on December 16, 2016 directly set up Flynn's Summary Judgment arguments in 2022. This went according to plan. Gooch-Walczyk set Dulberg up and Clinton-Williams helped finish the job.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "CLF is not aware of whether the privileges it asserted was maintained, waived, or addressed by the court subsequent to its withdrawal."

Dulberg gives up all attorney-client privilege with Clinton-Williams and with Gooch-Walczyk. There is evidence that we had no secrets from the defendants anyway, since whatever we turned over to Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams was probably shared with opposing counsel by our own attorneys.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Mr. Dulberg has appealed the decision to the Second District Appellate Court. (Exhibit 11) That appeal is currently pending."

The appeal currently pending serves as a demonstration of how centrally important the document and information suppression systems used by Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams against Dulberg are to the outcome of Dulberg's case. The systems of document and information suppression are central to the claims of Popovich and Mast as shown in Table 6.[50]

The key evidence Tilschner v Spangler (Table 10, page 12) and Dulberg's claims of Popovich and Mast committing Intentional Tort and Fraud (Table 11, page 14) show how important the document and information suppression system that Clinton-Williams used against Dulberg is in Flynn's current arguments. It also shows how teamwork between Gooch-Walczyk and Clinton-Williams was essential to completely suppress key evidence for over 6 years.

Clinton and Williams claimed: "CLF's withdrawal was accomplished without material adverse effect on Mr. Dulberg and was consistent with Rule 1.16 of the IRPC."

Clinton and Williams claimed: "Mr. Dulberg's request for investigation against Edward Clinton and Julia Williams lacks merit on its face and his charges are not supported by evidence."

All allegations are supported with evidence. We made specific claims of large scale systematic document and information suppression in Chapter 1 and showed, step by step, how it was done. Clinton's response does not address any of it. They effectively ignored Chapter 1 of the complaint.

We made detailed claims of document and information suppression in collaboration with opposing counsel on at least 12 specific issues in Chapter 2, Sections A through L. Not one of the (at least) 12 specific issues raised in Chapter 2, Sections A through L was addressed or acknowledged by Clinton or Williams in their reply. They effectively ignored Sections 2A through 2L of the complaint.

After ignoring every specific point made in every specific claim in a 140 page complaint, respondents inexplicably state claims "are not supported by evidence".

Relevant Facts

1-1. On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg assisted Caroline McGuire ("Caroline"), William McGuire ("William") (Caroline and William collectively referred to herein as "the McGuires"), and David Gagnon ("Gagnon") in trimming long branches of a pine tree on the McGuires" property.

1-2. Caroline McGuire and William McGuire are a married couple, who own real property in McHenry Township, McHenry County, Illinois ("the Property").

1-3. David Gagnon is Caroline's son and William's stepson.

1-4. Paul Dulberg (Dulberg) lives in the next neighborhood over from the McGuire family.

1-5. Dulberg was invited to the McGuire's property to see if he wanted any of the wood from the tree.

1-6. On June 28, 2011, at the Property, Gagnon was operating a chainsaw to remove branches from a tree and cut it down on the Property.

1-7. The McGuire's purchased and owned the chainsaw that was being utilized to trim, remove branches and cut down the tree.

1-8. William physically assisted with removing the cut branches from the work area while supervising Gagnon's actions.

1-9. Caroline physically assisted by retrieving and providing any and all tools requested by William McGuire and David Gagnon while supervising Gagnon's and William's actions.

1-10. Gagnon was acting on behalf of the McGuires' under their supervision and at the McGuires' direction.

1-11. Caroline, William, and Gagnon all knew, or should have known that a chainsaw was dangerous and to take appropriate precautions when utilizing the chain saw.

1-12. The safety information was readily available to Caroline and William as the safety instructions are included with the purchase of the chainsaw.

1-13. The safety information indicated that the failure to take appropriate caution and safety measures could result in serious injury.

1-14. The safety information indicated that the likelihood of injury when not properly utilizing the chainsaw or not following the safety precautions is very high.

1-15. The safety instructions outlined are easy to follow and do not place a large burden on the operator of the chainsaw or the owner of the property.

1-16. Caroline McGuire, William McGuire, and David Gagnon had notice of the potentially dangerous conditions by acquiring a chain saw that was provided with attached warnings and safety information implying that a reasonable person should exercise appropriate caution and follow the safety instructions for the chainsaw.

1-17. Caroline, William, and Gagnon failed to act as reasonable persons by either not exercising appropriate care, failing to follow the safety instructions, or failing to instruct Gagnon to exercise appropriate care and/or follow the safety instructions.

1-18. Caroline and William, owners of the property and the chainsaw, instructed Gagnon to use the chain saw despite Gagnon not being trained in operating the chainsaw.

1-19. Caroline and William failed to instruct and require that Gagnon utilize the chainsaw only in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

1-20. Gagnon failed to utilize the chainsaw in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

1-21. Caroline and Gagnon asked Dulberg to assist.

1-22. Caroline, William and Gagnon failed to provide Dulberg with any of the safety Information outlined in the owner's manual.

1-23. Caroline and William McGuire failed to provide Gagnon or Dulberg with any of the protective equipment necessary for the type of work to be performed as written within the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

1-24. Gagnon operated the chainsaw in close proximity to Dulberg and it struck Dulberg in the right arm, Dulberg's dominant arm, cutting him severely requiring medical attention to save Dulberg's life.

1-25. Dulberg incurred substantial and catastrophic injuries, including, but not limited to, pain and suffering, loss of use of his right arm which resulted in a finding of permanent disability by Social Security Administration on April 20, 2017[1]; current and future medical expenses in amount in excess of $260,000.00; Dulberg's lifelong career in photography, graphic design, and commercial printing; lost wages in excess of one million dollars; and other damages.

1-26. On December 1, 2011 Dulberg hired Mast, Popovich, and Thomas J. Popovich, individually to represent him in prosecuting his claims against Gagnon and the McGuires.[2]

1-27. Mast, Popovich, and Thomas J. Popovich, individually entered into an attorney client relationship with Dulberg.

1-28. Based upon the attorney client relationship, Mast, Popovich, and Thomas J. Popovich, individually owed professional duties to Dulberg, including a duty of care.

1-29. At the December 1, 2011 Attorney-Client Engagement meeting Dulberg brought and submitted for safekeeping the folder from the Law Firm of Botto, Gilbert, Schottland & Andrle which contained Defendant David Gagnon's home address. Dulberg also submitted his originals of all relevant documentation including Walgreens RX receipts. The original documents that Hans A. 1-35. On January 3, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast responded[1] on behalf of Thomas J. Popovich, individually to the December 28, 2011 inquiry by Thomas Malatia, Claims Representative for Auto-Owners Insurance regarding "Your insured: Caroline and Bill McGuire Claim No.: 13-2779-11.

1-36. On or around January 24 Mast told Dulberg to go to NIMC and obtain medical records from them (even though they already had NIMC medical records). Dulberg signed an authorization[2] for the documents to be released and obtained a second set of records[3] with a CD containing xray images. Dulberg gave this second set of records to Mast. Mast said he did not want the CD. The second set of Centegra records that Dulberg obtained on 2012-01-24 do not exist in any version of the case file that Mast provided to subsequent counsel.

1-37. On March 19, 2012 the Defendant Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich P.C. (author uncredited) created "MEDICAL EXPENSE REPORT PAUL DULBERG DATE OF ACCIDENT: JUNE 28, 2011 DATE OF REPORT: MARCH 19, 2012"[4]

1-38. On March 21, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg and Defendant Hans Mast engage in a series of (3) three emails[5] to determine their next face to face meeting.

1-39. On April 4, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg and Defendant Hans Mast next met to discuss the status of the case. During this meeting Defendant Han's Mast informed Plaintiff Paul Dulberg that David Gagnon had not responded to Hans Mast's December 5, 2011 letter, that they did not know if Gagnon was insured for the Dulberg injury, and that Dulberg should drive to Gagnon's home to confirm David Gagnon's correct address.

1-40. In Hans Mast's MEMORANDUM to file dated April 5, 2012 he stated[6]:

> "I suggested that maybe we will file suit immediately so we can at least get the case in suit and proceeding forward until we know how and when we will be able to settle the case."

1-41. On April 10, 2012, 131 days after Defendants Hans Mast, Thomas J. Popovich and The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. were retained to represent Plaintiff Paul Dulberg, Defendant Hans Mast created a MEMORANDUM[7] to Alarie Dullum with a copy to file stating:

> " I want to sue the McGuire's too for failure to supervise the cutting down of the tree and failure to provide proper equipment, etc. so that it can be done safely without injuring our client."

1-42. On April 10, 2012 Plaintiff Dulberg emailed to Defendant Mast stating:[1]

> "Here is David Gagnon's address: 39010 90th PL Powers Lake Wisconsin, 53159 Attached below is a photo of David taken yesterday in front of his house with the address on the outside. ... Apparently you already have his address because the first thing he said was, "I stopped talking to you a few months back when I received a letter at my house from your lawyer at Popovich. It really really really ..... me off to have anything come to my house about this."

1-43. The email exhibit above has "a placeholder" and does not display the photo that was taken on April 9, 2012 of David Gagnon showing his address mounted on the wall, confirming the address Hans Mast had been previously given on December 1, 2011.

1-44. On April 11, 2012 Minuteman Press printed (6) six copies of a partial/cropped image of the picture[2] sent by Plaintiff Dulberg to Defendant Mast that is referenced as "a placeholder" above.

1-45. On September 17, 2022 Dulberg recovered the original image[3] from an old broken (i-pad) computer and it was not cropped like the photos Mast had provided to opposing counsel and used as an exhibit.

1-46. On April 11, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent an email[4] to Defendant Hans Mast about the Complaint to be filed against Defendants David Gagnon and the McGuires inquiring:

> "Do I need to come in and sign anything?".

1-47. Neither Defendant Hans Mast nor anyone from Defendant Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. replied to this question.

1-48. On April 11, 2012 Hans Mast sent a second letter[5] to David Gagnon requesting that David Gagnon notifies his homeowner's liability insurance carrier and requesting a conversation to avoid the necessity of filing suit.

1-49. On April 12, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent an email to Defendant Hans Mast stating[6]:

> "...I just received a call from David Gagon. He was a bit upset because he received another letter at his house from you asking for his homeowner's insurance. When he got to the part about calling you if he had any questions, I told him to please do so...Wish I had a tape recorder for you to hear these conversations."

1-50. On April 13, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast originated a MEMORANDUM[1] to file which purports to be an incomplete written rendering of "Subject: PAUL DULBERG-RECORDED PHONE STATEMENT FROM DEFENDANT, DAVID GAGNON"

1-51. On April 13, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast sent an email to Plaintiff Paul Dulberg stating[2]:

> "You can cool him down by saying we need to do it for insurance purposes."

1-52. On April 16, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent an email to Defendant Hans Mast stating[3]:

> "David Gagnon did get a hold of me again today. Said that he had talked to you and now he wanted to talk to me."

1-53. On April 16, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent another email to Defendant Hans Mast stating[4]:

> "One more thing to add. He said he would give us a copy of his policy if we need it."

1-54. On May 14, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast again sent Plaintiff Paul Dulberg to personally meet with Defendant David Gagnon at David Gagnon's residence in the State of Wisconsin to obtain through personal attendance and discussion Defendant David Gagnon's homeowner's insurance information.[5]

1-55. On May 15, 2012 at 02:19 AM Plaintiff Paul Dulberg responded to Defendant Hans Mast's email communicating the requested Gagnon homeowner's insurance information.[6]

1-56. On May 15, 2012 on or about 3:30 PM Defendants Mast, Popovich, and Thomas J. Popovich, individually on behalf of Dulberg filed an unverified Complaint[7] and Summons[8] against Gagnon and the McGuires numbered 12 LA 178 wherein David Gagnon's Homeowner's Insurance Policy information was not utilized or stated.

1-57. The unverified claims against the McGuires included (a) common law premises liability, (b) statutory premises liability, (c) common law negligence, and (d) vicarious liability for the acts of their son and agent David Gagnon.

1-58. The Complaint was filed without review, signing and verification by Party/Plaintiff Paul Dulberg.

1-59. Complaint 12 LA 178 included an Illinois Supreme Court Rule 222(b) Affidavit re

Damages Sought.[1]

1-60. The included Illinois Supreme Court Rule 222(b) Affidavit re Damages Sought was not signed by Party/Plaintiff Paul Dulberg but was signed by Defendant Hans Mast.

1-61. The Illinois Supreme Court Rule 222(b) Affidavit re Damages Sought stated "2. That on behalf Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, I am hereby requesting money damages in an amount not to exceed $50,000.00, together with the costs of this action, against each of the above-named Defendants."[2]

1-62. Popovich never asked the judge to approve a change to over $50,000 during his representation of Dulberg even as the medical bills alone grew and came to exceed $60,000.

1-63. Hans A. Mast had the clerk send summons to all defendants on May 15, 2012 with "Amount Claimed $50,000.00+"[3]

1-64. On May 16, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast caused to be sent by U.S. mail to Plaintiff Paul Dulberg a letter[4] informing Plaintiff Dulberg that suit was filed on his behalf without indicating when it was filed and without including or offering Plaintiff Paul Dulberg an opportunity after filing to read the Complaint.

1-65. On May 18, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent an email to Defendant Hans Mast inquiring[5]:

> "...if David Gagnons home owners insurance policy number checked out? Thereafter Defendant Hans Mast responded " Paul, it's a fair concern. But until the suit is served on him and his insurance appears in the case, Im not gonna be able to tell you anything. Also, be aware that many policies have only $100,000 in coverage. So we need to find this out first..." [Emphasis Added]

1-66. On June 3, 2012 Defendants Caroline (Carolyn) McGuire and Bill (William) McGuire were served with Summons-30 Day.[6]

1-67. On June 11, 2012 Thomas J. Popovich, individually received a letter from Attorney Ronald A. Barch indicating that Mr. Barch had been requested by Auto-Owners Insurance Company to appear and defend Mr. and Mrs. McGuire.[7]

1-68. On June 12, 2012 Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent medical scheduling information that will take place at Northwest Community Hospital.[8]

1-69. On June 18, 2012 Defendant David Gagnon was served with Summons-30 Day.[1]

1-70. On June 21, 2012 at 09:05 AM Defendant Hans Mast received a fax from MidAmerica Orthopaedics by way of what is currently listed as an unallocated phone number (847-321-2043) consisting of 6 pages of which only the last 5 pages have been located.[2]

1-71. In the first full paragraph of the section titled "History & Physical" of the third page at lines 3-5 of the fax Marcus G. Talerico, M.D. stated:

> "He apparently was using a chain saw when he accidentally struck the volar medial aspect of his right forearm in roughly the mid forearm range with a chain saw" [Emphasis Added]

1-72. On June 21, 2012 at 9:05 AM Defendant Hans Mast caused to be sent an email[3] to Plaintiff Paul Dulberg stating:

> "Paul, just a quick note. I saw records come in from MidAmerica Hand and Shoulder Clinic- Dr. Talerico. The history of your injury suggests you were operating the chain saw yourself -not someone else.[Emphasis Added] This might be troublesome unless you clear that up with Dr. next visit. thanks"

1-73. On June 21, 2012 at 3:10 PM Plaintiff Paul Dulberg sent an email to Defendant Hans Mast stating[4]:

> "I just called the libertyville office for MidAmerica Hand and Shoulder Clinic. Talked with Gabby. She told me she could not change the record but would make an addendum to the record to clarify that I was not the one operating the chainsaw. She apologized for the confusion and said that it was lost between the Dr.'s notes and the person who transcribes the records. She is going to call your office and fax over the addendum. Please let me know if you get the addendum and if it is ok"

1-74. On June 25, 2012 Northwest Community Healthcare sent a fax[5] to Defendant Hans Mast requesting the name and address of the homeowners insurance, claim number, name of responsible party and date of incident.

1-75. On June 25, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast causes to be made a MEMORANDUM[6] to Alarie C; File regarding the need to have Plaintiff Paul Dulberg's medical expense report updated.

1-76. On June 27, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast responded to the June 25, 2012 request by failing to give the requested information.[7] Mast wrote:

b) Serve the lien notice by sending it to the attorney of the injured party

c) Serve the lien notice without having the required information on the party responsible for the injury

1-79. On June 27, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast causes to be filed with the Clerk of Circuit Court a PROOF OF SERVICE with the Document Description: PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION TO DEFENDANTS, BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLINE McGUIRE, PLAINTIFF'S INTERROGATORIES TO DEFENDANTS, BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLINE McGUIRRE, RULE 237(b) NOTICE TO PRODUCE AT TRIAL AND/OR ARBITRATION TO DEFENDANTS, BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLINE McGUIRE AND NOTICE OF DEPOSITION S OF DEFENDANTS[2] addressed to Counsel for Defendants Caroline and Bill McGuire.

1-80. On July 19, 2012 "RELEASE OF INFORMATION PREBILL"[3] was sent to Thomas J. Popovich from Northwest Community Hospital.

1-81. On July 24, 2012 Mast sent a letter to Ronald A. Barch stating:[4]

"See medical expense report itemizing bills (with bills attached) in the amount of $7,313.43. Plaintiff is still treating and bills are coming treaters including Associates in Neurology, Dr. Frank Sek, Fox Lake Dynamic Hand Therapy, Hand Surgery Associates and Dr. Sagerman/Biafora, Mid-America Hand to Shoulder Clinic and Dr. Talerico, Northern Illinois Medical Center and Northwest Community Hospital. 1-82. Sometime between July 9, 2012 and August 6, 2012 The Law offices of Thomas J. Popovich P.C. sent the following to the McGuires:

"PLAINTIFF'S INTERROGATORIES TO DEFENDANTS, BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLINE McGUIRE"[1]

"PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION TO DEFENDANTS, BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLINE McGUIRE"[2]

1-83. On August 6, 2012 The McGuires send to Hans A. Mast the following:

"ANSWER TO PLAINTIFF'S INTERROGATORIES TO DEFENDANTS BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLYN McGUIRE"[3]

"ANSWER TO PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST TO PRODUCE BY DEFENDANTS BILL McGUIRE AND CAROLINE McGUIDRE"[4]

Note: Dulberg did not have access to these documents until July 16, 2015 (Mast never showed them to Dulberg).

1-84. On August 8, 2012 Defendants Carolyn McGuire and Bill (William) McGuire served Answers to Plaintiff's Written Interrogatories and "Responses to Plaintiff's Production" ON PLAINTIFF. [EMPHASIS ADDED][5]

1-85. On September 5, 2012 Defendant David Gagnon's Appearance[6] was filed by attorney Perry Accardo (around 78 days after Gagnon was served with a summons 30 day).

1-86. On September 04, 2012 McGuire attorney Barch subpoenaed the records of NIMC

1-88. Pages 2, 3, 4,[1] and 5[2] of the alleged 35 page reply were documents with billing information and a certification page. The documents appear to be a construction of information taken from a Centegra form UB-04[3] but the UB-04 is not included. It appears someone was trying to craft documents with UB-04 billing information. The original UB-04 later appears in 2019 among the Popovich bates-numbered documents.

1-89. The 3 documents are not included among the documents subpoenaed from Barch's office. When Barch was subpoenaed for all documents related to case 12LA178 Barch produced a list of file names of his medical records only:

List of Medical Records and Bills.2.19.20.pdf[4]

1-90. A list of medical documents included in the Barch subpoena claims Barch is in possession of Centegra medical records but not Centegra billing.

1-91. The documents that appear to be reconstructed from the Centegra UB-04 are located in Popovich construction of NIMC documents produced responding to the Barch subpoena. Either:

(a) Barch is the source of the altered documents or

(b) Popovich arranged his case file to make it look as if Barch sent him a 35 page fax with the documents subpoenaed from Centegra.

1-92. On October 1, 2012 Defendant Hans A. Mast sent to Perry Accardo, Law Office of M. Gerard Gregoire, attorney for Defendant David Gagnon the previously filed Discovery Responses[5] that were served upon and answered by Plaintiff before Defendant David Gagnon appeared.

1-93. On October 3, 2012 Mast filed Proof of Service[6] of Request to Produce and Interrogatories with the court. It is not known whether Mast actually sent any Request for Production or Interrogatories on Defendant Gagnon. The only Interrogatories[7] and Request for Production[8] on Gagnon by Mast that exist are not dated.

1-94. Gagnon's attorney has never responded to interrogatories served upon Gagnon by Mast.

1-95. A short time before November 27, 2012 a meeting between Dulberg and Mast occurred. At the meeting Mast told Dulberg the defendant Carolyn McGuire claimed she paid for Dulberg's prescriptions following the Hospital visit on June 28, 2011.

1-96. Dulberg rebuked this claim and stated that he paid for the prescriptions and that it would be impossible for Caroline McGuire to give him money because the pharmacy was the first place he went after leaving the hospital. The hospital recorded the time he left and the pharmacy recorded the time he turned in the prescriptions he had filled. It would be impossible to make a round trip from the hospital to the McGuires home and back to the pharmacy in the times that are recorded.

1-97. Mast claimed that the pharmacy receipt didn't record the time (only the date).

1-98. Dulberg told Mast he remembers a timestamp on the receipts.

1-99. Mast said something like "well okay, lets take a look" and Mast took out 2 pharmacy receipts[1] from a manila folder and showed them to Dulberg.

1-100. While Dulberg was looking at the documents, Mast said something like "you can't even prove you paid for the prescriptions". Dulberg said he knows there was a timestamp on here.

1-101. Dulberg asked to keep the receipts. Mast said something like " sure, I have more copies of them." Dulberg wrote on one receipt: "need timestamp from when this prescription was filled & picked up" and later wrote the contact information for the custodian of records for Walgreens.[2]

1-102. Dulberg went home and contacted the Walgreens pharmacy where the prescriptions were filled. Dulberg asked them for the time of day the prescriptions were filled and he was given instructions on where to get that information. Dulberg recorded[3] this on the receipt:

> "Walgreens Custodian of Records
> (217)554-8949
> 8am-5pm Mon-Friday"

1-103. Dulberg then contacted the Walgreens custodian of records and was instructed that the request must be in writing. Dulberg wrote[4] the address and fax number on the receipt:

> "Walgreens Custodian of Records
> P.O. Box 4039
> Danville, IL. 61834
> 217-554-0955 Fax Request"

1-104. Dulberg followed through and requested the records. A report[5] was generated by the Walgreens Custodian of Records on November 27, 2012.

1-105. Dulberg got the report[6] from the custodian of records at Walgreens and did not see the time of day he was after in the report. Dulberg then called the custodian of records and told them he is looking for the time of day in the report and it is not there.

1-106. The Custodian of records informed Dulberg that the audit of the local store they performed wouldn't have that information. A timestamp is handed to a customer on the 'prescription drop off receipt' the local store gives someone when they first drop off a prescription to be filled. No timestamp appears on the 'payment receipt'. The prescription drop off receipt shows the customer the time of day the customer turned in the prescription so the customer knows how long they have had to wait for their prescription to be filled. The payment receipt is a different receipt and only the payment receipt is kept in the archives.

1-107. Dulberg, having turned over all the original paperwork he had to Mast, realized that he could not independently prove the time of day he was at the pharmacy and stopped investigating and started to question his own memory and whether he actually kept the prescription drop off receipt or turned it over to Mast.

1-108. On September 17, 2022 Dulberg recovered the original image[1] from an old broken (i-pad) computer that he recently had repaired[2]. It was at that moment when Dulberg realized for the first time that the pharmacy receipt came on a single long piece of paper and the Popovich law firm must have cut the paper into a number of smaller bits and showed Dulberg only certain cuttings of the original 'prescription drop off receipts'.

1-109. On January 24, 2013 Dulberg was deposed.[3]

1-110. On February 1, 2013 Ron Barch filed CROSS-CLAIM FOR CONTRIBUTION AGAINTS CO-DEFENDANT DAVID GAGNON[4]. In the cross-claim the McGuires state as follows:

> 7. At the time and place alleged, notwithstanding his aforementioned duty, Defendant David Gagnon was then and there guilty of one or more of the following negligent acts and/or omissions:
>
> a. Caused or permitted a chainsaw to make contact with Plaintiffs right arm;
>
> b. Failed to operate said chainsaw in a safe and reasonable manner so as to avoid injuring Plaintiff's right arm;
>
> c. Failed to maintain a reasonable and safe distance between the chainsaw he was operating and Plaintiff's right arm;
>
> d. Failed to properly instruct Plaintiff prior to approaching him with an operating chainsaw;

e. Failed to properly warn Plaintiff prior to approaching him with an operating chainsaw;

f. Failed to maintain the chainsaw in the idle or off position when he knew or should have known that Plaintiff was close enough to sustain injury from direct contact with the subject chainsaw;

g. Failed to maintain a proper lookout for Plaintiff while operating the subject chainsaw;

h. Failed to maintain proper control over an operating chainsaw;

i. Was otherwise negligent in the operation and control of the subject chainsaw.

8. That the injuries alleged by Plaintiff PAUL DULBERG, if any, were the direct and proximate result of negligence on the part of Defendant David Gagnon."

1-111. Gagnon's attorney Accardo has never filed an answer on behalf of Gagnon (effectively admitting all allegations as true).

1-112. On February 1, 2013 the McGuires filed DEFENDANTS' AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE in which they stated:[1]

1. That on the date and the place alleged in the Plaintiffs Complaint, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was guilty of negligence by failing to exercise due care and caution for his own safety in that he:

b. Failed to use due care and caution as he assisted Defendant David Gagnon during the trimming and cutting of trees and branches when he knew and appreciated the dangers associated with chainsaw usage.

c. Was inattentive and unobservant to surrounding conditions and dangers as he assisted Defendant David Gagnon during the trimming and cutting of trees and branches.

d. Notwithstanding a reasonable opportunity to do so, failed to maintain a safe distance between himself and an operating chainsaw.

e. Was otherwise careless and negligent as will be demonstrated by the evidence at trial.

2. That by reason of the aforesaid negligence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and as a direct and proximate result thereof, the Plaintiff sustained the damages claimed."

1-113. On February 6, 2013 Mast filed an ANSWER TO AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE[2] on behalf of Dulberg which denied each of these allegations.

1-114. On February 4, 2013 David Gagnon was deposed.[3]

1-115. The transcript as it was provided by Urbanski Reporting Services had a certification page[1] signed by a person named "Maggie Margaret Orton".

1-116. On March 25, 2022 Margaret Orton was subpoenaed[2] for 20 signatures and she provided 20 signatures on April 19, 2022.

1-117. Omni Document Examination did an analysis of the signatures and issued a report.[3]

1-118. In the interview Mast led the witness Gagnon and intentionally did not follow up on easily impeachable testimony during the Gagnon deposition. An example of Mast leading Gagnon during his deposition occurs in this exchange:[4]

> Q. All right. Let me stop you because I understand what you're saying. You're saying after his injury you drove his car with him as a passenger to the hospital?
>
> A. Yes.
>
> Q. He got treated, discharged, and then you were back in his car going back to your mom's house?
>
> A. Never left the parking lot and he said that.
>
> Q. No, I understand that --
>
> A. Yes, but that's --
>
> Q. -- but that's where you were going?
>
> A. Yes. Yes.
>
> Q. All right. Let's try not to -- I'll try and won't talk over you; you try not to talk over me. All right. So you're leaving the hospital still in his car on the way to your mother's house, right? Right? That's on the way? That's where you were going?
>
> A. Right, that's where we were going, but we still had not left the parking lot.
>
> Q. All right. I didn't say anything about where you were. I'm saying you're in the car on the way to your mother's house, right?
>
> A. Yes.
>
> Q. Okay.
>
> A. Yes.

1-119. Popovich and Mast were in possession of the Walgreens RX pharmacy timestamps so Popovich and Mast knew the actual time Dulberg was at the pharmacy.

1-120. Mast knew that Dulberg told him that Dulberg and Gagnon drove from the hospital directly to a pharmacy on the day of the accident. Mast was in possession of the timestamps. The timestamps on the pharmacy receipts prove Dulberg's description is accurate. Both Gagnon and Carolyn McGuire insisted Dulberg went from the hospital directly to McGuire's house before returning to the pharmacy. In the above exchange Mast is leading the witness and helping Gagnon lie and contradict his own client.

1-121. Popovich and Mast were in possession of the Walgreens RX pharmacy timestamps so Popovich and Mast knew the actual time Dulberg was at the pharmacy.

1-122. Dulberg went from the hospital directly to the nearest pharmacy and had his prescription filled. David Gagnon pulled Dulberg's wallet from Dulberg's back pocket and handed the pharmacist cash from Dulberg's wallet (since Dulberg could not).

1-123. The last recorded time at Hospital is recorded at 3 different places within the Hospital report:

5:13 pm or 17:13 discharge instructions[1]

5:13 pm or 17:13 Pain 4 time[2]

5:13 pm Discharge by WJD0610 @ 1713[3]

1-124. Dulberg gave the pharmacist 2 prescriptions and the prescription drop off receipts are marked "WAITING TUE 5:39PM New"[4]

1-125. On June 28, 2011 26 minutes elapsed between the last recorded time at the Hospital and the Walgreens Pharmacy at the busiest time of day for traffic in McHenry, Illinois.

1-126. With no traffic at midnight it takes 16 minutes (using the fastest route)[5] to drive from the Hospital (located at 4201 Medical Centre Dr, McHenry, IL) to the McGuires home (at 1016 W Elder Ave. McHenry, IL). It takes 14 minutes (using the fastest route)[6] to drive from the McGuires home (at 1016 W Elder Ave. McHenry, IL) to the Walgreens Pharmacy (at 3925 W Elm St, McHenry). Driving both routes, one after the other, takes 30 minutes. This does not include the time to walk from the emergency department to the car (in the parking lot), parking and visiting with Carolyn McGuire in her home (and getting $50.00), or time to park and walk from the car to the back of the Walgreens store (where the pharmacy is located).

1-127. Rt. 120 in McHenry (between Rt. 31 North and Rt. 31 South) has undergone a major construction change to increase the flow and amount of traffic it can handle since the June 28, 2011 accident. In addition, Johnsburg has removed stop signs from Johnsburg Rd and built a new 'roundabout' in the center of town so all traffic keeps moving rather than getting backed up at the stop signs. Because of the major construction projects, accurate travel times from the Hospital to the McGuires home and back to the pharmacy back in June 2011 cannot be provided. But it can be assumed that the travel times given in 'Group Exhibit 7' are faster then the actual travel time on the day of the accident.

1-128. Also note there are 3 other pharmacies, (Walmart, Meijer, CVS)[1] which are closer to the McGuires home than Walgreens pharmacy. Dulberg would have had to pass 3 other pharmacies to get back to the Walgreens pharmacy (closest to the hospital). There is also a Walgreens pharmacy in Fox Lake (that is less than 10 minutes away from the McGuire home) that would be much closer than the Walgreens pharmacy Dulberg actually used.

1-129. Easily identifiable acts of perjury by Gagnon in his deposition are as follows:

1) Mast led Gagnon to state they drove from the hospital directly to the McGuire house (4 times in a row).
2) Mast allowed Gagnon to describe the limb being cut when the accident occurred as 4 or 5 feet long. Dulberg described it as being about 20 feet long. Mast helps Gagnon completely misrepresent the size and position of the limb being cut.
3) Mast allowed Gagnon to misrepresent the chainsaw accident. Mast drew a diagram of a branch that was shorter than a man and being held vertically upright by Dulberg.

1-130. Exhibit 1 of Gagnon's deposition consists of 2 papers cut and placed together to appear as one paper.[2] There are many versions of Exhibit 1 throughout the bates-numbered documents.

1-131. Exhibit 2 of Gagnon's deposition is an alleged transcript of a phone conversation.[3] Mast claimed to have a recording of the phone conversation but has never produced it. It probably does not exist.

1-132. Popovich has a different version[4] of Exhibit 3 of Gagnon's deposition than Dulberg's version[5].

1-133. On February 11, 2013 Mast wrote a letter to Dulberg stating:[6]

> "Obviously, this case is going to come down to your word against David's word. With your testimony, it seems very clear that David was negligent in operating the chaimsaw to cause it to strike you right forearm. Unfortumately, David's version of the accident is much different. Given the conflict in the testimony, it is difficult to determine how a jury will untimately decide liability in this case. If the jury decides for you, you will obviously win. However, if the jury finds for Mr. Gagnon, you will lose. One additional factor is that David testified that you stated after the fall "I may never have to work the rest of my life" and that you urged him to help by offreing favorable testimony. If true, this could be problematic to the case."

1-134. On February 13, 2013 at 18:03:09 -0000 (UTC) Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating[1]:

"In response to your letter about Gagnon's deposition: In the first place, why would I hold up the very end of a branch with my damaged left arm? And if I did do it as Dave Gagnon said, I would have had my back to him. What he said makes no sense. In the second place, if you have ever been cut by a chain saw, the last thing on anyone's mind would be making a profit. I was in so much pain that I could not have talked seriously about anything other than stopping the bleeding and getting to a hospital fast. David did not come into the hospital with me. He dropped me at the door and was parking the car. He was brought into the ER and questioned by the staff that was there. You can check with whoever was working the ER that day. It's not really my word against David's but David's word against those that were working in the ER. There is one witness as to David talking about making money off of this accident. Mike Mcartor heard David say this to me in David's garage the day I went up to David's house to get his home owner's insurance policy number per your request. Mike Mcartor is a friend that grew up with David and myself and is currently living at my residence."

1-135. On February 13, 2013, at 12:51 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating[2]:

"Evey case has different versions of the same accident. Unfotunately, when there are no witnesses, its hard to know how the jury will decide a case. David's description of the accident made sense to him and he described it in a way that "could have"occurred even though different from your description. I think the only way to prove him wrong is to show him to be incredible in other ways...for instance his assertion that you told him "you could be rich" in front of your room mate. If your room mate will cooperate and say that David is wrong - that you did not say this, this could be a very good way to show him to be wrong. Would your room mate agree to a deposition in the case? if so, have him call me...thanks Paul.…"

1-136. On March 18, 2013 Mast sent all defendants attorneys, Barch and Accardo, copies of the cut up pharmacy receipts without the timestamps[3] 2 days prior to the deposition of Caroline and William McGuire.

1-137. On March 20, 2013 CAROLYN McGUIRE was deposed[4], WILLIAM McGUIRE was deposed[5], and MIKE McARTOR was deposed[6].

1-138. The transcripts as they were provided by Urbanski reporting services had certification pages signed by a person named "Paula Ann Erickson".

1-139. On March 25, 2022 Paula Erickson was subpoenaed[1] for 20 signatures.

1-140. Omni Document Examinations did an analysis of the signatures and issued a report.[2]

1-141. Mast led the witness Carolyn McGuire to commit perjury and intentionally did not follow up on easily impeachable testimony during the Carolyn McGuire interview. Mast helped Carolyn McGuire lie in her interview about Dulberg returning to the McGuire house directly from the hospital by hiding the pharmacy timestamps.

1-142. During the interview by Mast with Carolyn McGuire the following exchange took place:[3]

> Q. So they both run into the house, right? Yes? Yes?
>
> A. Yes.
>
> Q. You wrap the arm, then they run back out. They go to the hospital. They are at the hospital approximately, and I know you didn't time it, but approximately an hour and a half at the ER?
>
> A. Uh-huh.
>
> Q. And they come back to your house, correct?
>
> A. Correct. Yes.
>
> Q. And then Paul and Dave come into the house again?
>
> A. Yeah.
>
> Q. Okay. And do you sit down and talk to him or what happens?
>
> A. Well, Paul needed medication to have refilled and he didn't have any insurance and didn't have any money on him so I gave him $50 to go get the prescriptions refilled.
>
> Q. Okay.
>
> A. Not knowing how much they would cost but you know.
>
> Q. So as I understand it, Paul comes back to your house from the ER and says, hey, I need to refill this prescription for pain medication and don't have any money and you give him $50?
>
> A. Yes.
>
> Q. Okay. So he asked -- Did he ask -- Hold on. Did he -- It looks like you want to talk. Did he ask you for the $50 or did you just offer it to him?

A. I offered it to him. He didn't ask.

Q. How long was Paul in the house when he returned from the ER until he left to get the prescription filled?

A. They weren't there maybe a few minutes and they went to the drug store.

Q. So Dave then took Paul in Paul's truck and went to the drug store to fill the prescription?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. And then when Dave returned, did he return alone or with Paul again?

A. I believe he took Paul home.

Q. Right.

A. And he could walk from Paul's house.

Q. Right. So it's your belief that Dave would have walked from Paul's house back to home and that's when he arrived home then?

A. Right.[1]

Q. Was that within the hour?

A. I don't know how long he was at Paul's house once he --

Q. Okay. But after Dave and Paul left in Paul's truck to go fill the prescription, Dave then returned next alone to the house, right?

A. Back to my house.

Q. Yes.

A. Yes, because he --

Q. So it was your feeling that he probably dropped Paul after and left the truck at Paul's house?

A. Yeah. It was his truck. Paul's truck.

Q. I understand.

A. Okay.

Q. All right. Okay. Now, let's go back a little bit and let me ask a couple follow-up questions. When Paul ran into the house after the accident, okay --

A. Uh-huh.

Q. -- with the injury, did he say anything about how it happened?

A. There wasn't time. No.

---

1 Group Exhibit 20_2013-03-20_Carolyn McGuire depositions (all) pages 56 to 58

Q. I understand there might not be time. I am just asking if. [1]

1-143. Easily identifiable acts of perjury by Carolyn McGuire in her deposition are as follows:

1) Perjury about how Dulberg came to her house directly from the hospital to ask for money. (the pharmacy timestamps prove this cannot be true)

2) Perjury about Carolyn McGuire calling the emergency room for information about Dulberg's condition (The emergency room does not give medical information on patients to the general public. Carolyn McGuire lied to the emergency room staff and claimed she was the mother of Dulberg over the phone.)

3) Dulberg claimed that he never entered the McGuire house immediately after being cut with the chainsaw. Carolyn McGuire claims he was in the house for about 1 minute. It is impossible to be in the house for 1 minute without leaving a lot of blood. This could have been verified.

4) Carolyn McGuire claimed that Dulberg lifted a 200 lb tiller off of a trailer by himself with her directly in front of him and watching him sometime after the chainsaw accident. Dulberg claims there were 3 people present and it was the third person that moved the tiller. This could have been verified simply by deposing the third person and asking them.

1-144. There are many versions[2] of Exhibit 2 of the William McGuire deposition. It is not possible to know which one is correct.

1-145. On April 24, 2013 Perry A. Accardo filed with the Circuit Clerk a NOTICE OF NAME CHANGE indicating Defendant David Gagnon's attorney's Law OFFICE had changed its name from Law Office of M. Gerard Gregoire to LAW OFFICE OF STEVEN A. LIHOSIT.[3]

1-146. On August 30, 2013 an unfiled Notice of Discovery Deposition(s) regarding Deponent Dr. Marcus Talerico was mailed to the parties' by Defendant David Gagnon's attorney.[4]

1-147. On October 15, 2013 Defendant David Gagnon's attorney sent a letter to the Plaintiff and Defendants Carolyn and William McGuire's attorneys confirming the discovery deposition of Dr. Marcus Talarico for OCTOBER 16 AT 1:00 PM. [EMPHASIS ADDED][5]

1-148. On October 22, 2013 Mast made a settlement offer of $7,500 to McGuires through their attorney Barch claiming Dulberg discussed it with him and agreed.[6]

1-149. There is no evidence of any communication between Mast and Dulberg about any $7,500 offer leading up to October 22, 2013 or at any time following October 22, 2013.

1-150. On October 30, 2013 Mast in an email to Dulberg first expressed doubt about Dulberg's case against Gagnon. Mast stated:[1]

> "Paul, here are my U1oughts regarding your case. There are two issues. The first liability, or whether Mr. Gagnon is liable for your injury. If he is not proven liable, then it does not matter how badly you were hurt since he will not be found responsible f01 your damages. The second issue is your damages, or to what extent you were injured due to Mr. Gagnon's acts. Both of these issues are strongly contested in your case. As to liability, there were no witnesses to the accident. So, whether Mr. Gagnon will be held responsible for your damages is uncertain and a gamble. That is because it is your word against his word. Our argument is that you were simply holding a limb when he caused the chain saw to strike you. His argument is that you moved your arm in the path of the chain saw unexpectedly. If the jury determines that we did not prove your "version" of the accident, then they can find against you and in favor of Mr. Gagnon at trial.
>
> As to damages, the issue is complicated. That is because your treating physicians do not all agree on exactly what injury you suffered or whether your had a fully recovery or not. Dr. Talerico at MidAmerica Hand and Shoulder, saw you twice. The first time was in December, six months after your injury. He was not supportive of your claim in most respects. He didn't really feel there was anything wrong with you - as to the forearm. He said that you complained mostly of pain radiating down the forearm from the laceration site with numbness and tingling. On exam he noted no tenderness and it was mostly a normal presentation. Strength was good. He did not see any nerve problem. He prescribed physical therapy due to a muscular s01t of symptomology - not nerve related. Apparently you did only 2 sessions of therapy and returned January, 2012. No new complaints at the time. The EMG was normal. He did not believe you were disabled. He continued you on therapy. He saw no evidence of nerve problems. The only symptoms were subjective - not represented by any abnormal exam finding. Dr. Sagerman has also been deposed. I will summarize his testimony for your soon. His was more favorable, but still limited in what he related to the chain saw accident. Apparently he does not believe you presently have any symptoms relatable to the chain saw injury. Think about these issues. I will provide you Dr. Sagerman's summary soon."

Mast did not provide Dulberg with the summary of Dr. Sagerman's deposition until 5 months after Mast's withdrawal as Dulberg'd counsel in 2015.

1-151. On November 4, 2013 Mast requested a meeting with Dulberg. Dulberg took Barbara Dulberg, his mother, to the meeting. Neither Paul Dulberg nor Barbara knew what the meeting will be about. It is at this meeting that Dulberg was first informed by Mast that Mast believed Dulberg has no case against the McGuires. Mast made a number of statements which surprised Barbara. Mast claimed that juries in this area are very conservative and Dulberg can't win against an old lady. Dulberg disagreed. It was at this meeting that Dulberg first gave Mast permission to look into a settlement.[2]

1-152. The $7,500 offer was never discussed at the November 4, 2013 meeting that Mast requested to discuss the McGuire case. A witness at the meeting can confirm this.

1-153. It is not possible to explain why Mast called the November 4th meeting to discuss the McGuire case with Dulberg (if they already made an offer 4 weeks earlier to settle the case with the McGuires for $7,500 and were waiting for Barch to reply at that time).

1-154. On November 18, 2013 McGuire's attorney Ronald Barch contacted Mast. Barch claimed he had been given authority to make an offer for $5,000.[1] (This was not an offer but rather a counter offer to Mast's original offer made on October 22, 2013).

1-155. Dulberg was informed by Mast in an email. Mast wrote:[2]

> "In addition, the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now."

1-156. Dulberg answered:[3]

> "Only 5, That's not much at all. Is this a take it or leave it or do we have any other options? ... I'm not happy with the offer."

1-157. To which Mast replied:[4]

> "Paul whether you like it or not they don't have a legal liability for your injury because they were not directing the work. So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case."

1-158. Dulberg replied:[5]

> "I still don't get how they don't feel responsible for work done on their property by their own son that ended up cutting through 40% of my arm. Perhaps their negligence is the fact that they didn't supervise the work close enough but they did oversee much of the days activity with David. Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?"

1-159. To which Mast answered:[6]

"Cause they had no say on how Dave did the work. That is what the evidence from all shows."

1-160. Dulberg later replied:[1]

"That's their personal issues of control with their own son. I will testify all day long about the things they wanted him to do that he did do throughout the day. By claiming they had no control over the work dave did after all the preparation, money and time spent out in the yard yelling at him that they wanted certain things done in a particular way I don't see how they get out of the direct over site of the project because now that there is an injury they don't feel they had any real direct control over their own workers actions? This is ridiculous. Hans, they have to do better than claim they had no control over David that day. If that's the case why were they there watching the work most of the day? Even Bill had hands on doing some of the work and rarely let David go to long without checking and seeing if things were being done the way Carol and Him wanted it."

1-161. Email exchanges from November 18, 2013 onward show that Dulberg (1) was not happy with the offer of $5,000 and (2) knew nothing of the Mast offer of $7,500. The email exchanges also show that Dulberg felt the McGuires were partially responsible for his injury.

1-162. On November 19, 2013 Dulberg wrote an email to Mast stating:[2]

"A while back you told me that the jury's here in this county are primarily conservative and that they know the only reason we are before them is for money. Not sure if that statement was meant to scare me or not but I do agree, they are, for the most part conservative and I would hope we should make it known we want money for damages, lawyers fees and the medical bills, etc... loud and clear. We should also make it known to the jury that the parties or their insurance companies have never even offered to pay 1 cent for any of the medical damage and that's why we seek the juries help in settling this dispute. Perhaps if the insurance companies would have paid for these basic things none of us would even be here. but they didn't and now yes after years of waiting I am seeking money to pay for the medical treatments, you as the lawyer and finally myself as I'm the one who has had to suffer the consequences of the Gagnon/McGuire choices on that day. I cannot believe that a conservative jury isn't going to award anything less than the cost of the medical damages and lawyer fees from them unless something catastrophic changes. I do see them being conservative as to what I will end up with at the end but not the real medical and lawyers bills. Even the conservative juries in this county are not so conservative that they won't give the base bills. The McGuires insurance is free to go after David for damages if they lose. Other than fearing a motion to dismiss the suit against the McGuire's insurance based on some false concept that because they didn't have their finger directly on the chainsaw trigger they hold no responsibility for damages. what are the real benefits of letting them off so easy? And I don't want to hear its because 2 parties vs 1 is much easier. Letting off the McGuires insurance for such a small amount is anything but reasonable and I just can't see any ethical judge in this county not keeping them in the suit all the way for a jury to decide whether they had any part to play in the days events and the level of responsibility they share with David for the consequences considering it was the McGuires project, their land, their choice of who did the labor etc. etc... When you advised me to seek a settlement with the McGuires insurance, I agreed to look at it only because they didn't have their hands directly on the trigger of the chainsaw and That you would get at the least the medical bills paid for out of it. I thought that was made clear in your office. I know you work on approximately 33%. Is 33% of 5,000 even worth the time and money you already invested? It's only $1650 for you and I'm sure your hourly fee eats that up rather quickly, I know mine did back when I had hands and arms that worked so I could charge."

1 Exhibit 13_DUL001519, 5159, 7027, 7420
2 Exhibit 13_DUL001517, 1518, 5157, 5158, 7025, 7026, 7418, 7419

1-163. On November 20, 2013 Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

"Paul, lets meet again to discuss. The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation."

1-164. Dulberg replied by email:[2]

"Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time. Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor. I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful" [Emphasis Added]

1-165. On November 20, 2013 a MEDICAL EXPENSE REPORT[3] was sent from Mast to opposing parties. It contained a cut portion of the Walgreens RX receipts without timestamps.

1-166. On November 20, 2013 Dulberg met Mast at the law offices of Thomas J. Popovich. Dulberg's brother, Thomas Kost, also attended the meeting. In the meeting Mast used the example of Tilschner vs Spangler. He claimed that the McGuires were not responsible for Dulberg's injury because Restatement of Torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois. Mast also claimed that the accident was not foreseeable by the McGuires and they had no control over Gagnon's actions. Mast also gave Dulberg a packet of other examples of case law but Mast did not discuss the other case laws at the meeting. The only discussed Tilschner v Spangler. [Emphasis Added]

1-167. Mast gave Dulberg a certified slip ruling of Tilschner v Spangler[4] to take home and read.

He also gave other documents[1] [2]of case law to Dulberg, but Mast only discussed Tilschner v Spangler at the meeting.

1-168. Thomas Kost kept a rough set of notes[3] during the meeting. The notes consist of the 7 phrases:

"forseeable"
"duty"
"negligent"
"statement of torts sect 318 not applicable in Illinois"
"agent vs contractor"
"level of control"
"Kajawa"

1-169. Mast claimed that if Dulberg doesn't accept the $5,000 the McGuires will simply file a motion to get out of the case for free. Mast said the McGuires do not have to offer anything and are offering $5,000 to be nice. Dulberg asked to read the depositions of the McGuires and of Gagnon before making a decision.

1-170. It is not possible to explain why Mast called the November 20th meeting or what was discussed (if Dulberg already agreed to settle with the McGuires for $7,500).

1-171. On November 20, 2013 Mast wrote a Memo[4] to a person named "Jen":

> "We have a co-defendant that is not really responsible in this case and they have offered a nominal settlement of $5,000 in the case. I would like to accept it but I want to have a settlement memo prepared first to show how the money will be disbursed for the client to sign. Therefore, we will not need to call on the balances but we will only need to provide a settlement memo containing only any liens listed on the settlement memo. Can you please prepare the settlement memo for me as soon as possible so that I can talk to the client about the offer."

1-172. On November 20, 2013, shortly after the meeting, on the same day, Dulberg went to the house of a neighbor of the McGuires to ask if they witnessed what was happened on the property the day of the accident. Dulberg was looking for a witness that saw the McGuires actively participating in the work being done and supervising the work.

1-173. On November 20, 2013 (later in the day) Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating[5]:

> "I'd like to read David's dep before accepting the McGuire offer. Even after reading the McGuire deps and seeing how things easily get skewed in all honesty, I can't blame Carol or Bill for Dave's actions I just thought I was covered under their insurance. I know Carol & Bill thought I was covered as well irregardless of all the half truths in their dep."

1-174. On November 21, 2013 Mast ordered Dulberg's deposition.[1]

1-175. On December 2, 2013 Mast sent Dulberg's own deposition to Dulberg.[2]

1-176. On December 4, 2013 Dulberg received his own deposition in the mail. Dulberg again informed Mast he wants to see Gagnon's deposition.[3]

1-177. Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating[4];

> "I wanted to review David Gagnons dep before letting the McGuires off the hook. And that word "foreseeable" in the McGuire suite... Well I suppose if I gave anyone a chainsaw and told them to use it, given enough time, an injury is foreseeable, very foreseeable just not hoped for. And the comment about people not liking friends who sue friends, um well we all should know other than entirely random acts such as auto accidents, train derailments, air plane accidents, etc. Etc.. That most of the time it's those we know who hurt us most often than not. and if it's serious we must be able to sue even if it is or once was a friend."

1-178. On December 9, 2013 Mast ordered Gagnon's deposition.[5]

1-179. On December 10, 2013 Mast sent Gagnon's deposition to Dulberg.[6]

1-180. On December 18, 2013 Dulberg wrote an email to Mast after reading Gagnon's deposition stating[7]:

> "I read through David's dep. it's mostly lies with a few truths. Where should I begin or better yet where would you like me to begin? Almost everything he said was made up, from which end of the branch I was holding, at who's direction I was doing it under and even as to why I was even there on the McGuires property, etc...
>
> Not to mention the nonsense of $10,000. ... As far as the McGuires are concerned give me a call."

1-181. On December 20, 2013 Mast wrote the following memo[8] after speaking with Dulberg by phone:

> "On December 18, 2013, I called Paul today after and email and we had a long discussion about the McGuire's liability and he seemed to concede and understand that probably based on the testimony there is nothing we can prove against the McGuire's and he is willing to take their $5,000 settlement offer."

1-182. The evidence presented demonstrates that Dulberg disagreed with the $5,000 offer from first learning about it on Nov 18 until finally agreeing on December 18th. The $7,500 offer was not mentioned once during these Mast-Dulberg exchanges. The entire discussion between Dulberg and Mast from November 18, 2013 to December 17, 2013 was in terms of choosing between two options: (1) Accept the $5,000 offer or (2) get nothing. It is not possible to explain why any of this happened if Dulberg already agreed to settle with the McGuires for $7,500 on October 22, 2013.

1-183. On December 26, 2013 Mast contacted McGuire's attorney Barch to inform him that they would accept the $5,000 offer.[1]

1-184. On January 9, 2014 Defendants Carolyn McGuire and Bill (William) McGuire's attorney Ronald A. Barch sent a NOTICE OF MOTION[2] that on the 22nd day of January, 2014, at 9:00 o'clock A.M.

"…. and then and there present: Defendant Bill McGuire and Defendant Carolyn McGuire's Motion for Good Faith Finding and Order of Dismissal with Prejudice; At which time and place you may appear, if you so desire."

The NOTICE OF MOTION was sent to the Plaintiff's attorney Defendant Hans Mast at the correct address but the NOTICE OF MOTION sent to Defendant and Cross-Defendant David Gagnon's attorney Perry A. Accardo was addressed to Accardo's previous law firm (at the law firm's previous address).

1-185. On January 22, 2014 Judge Meyer approved a motion by the McGuires for a good-faith settlement.[3]

1-186. On January 31, 2014 the final release papers were signed by Dulberg and mailed back to Mast.

1-187. On April 14, 2014, at 9:07 AM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[4]

"Paul. We've been talking this case over a bit at the office. As Ive tried to advise you during our several meetings, I do not believe we can adequately prove our case at trial. Its your word against Mr. Gagnons. Most times, that means we lose - as plaintiff. I don't think we want to invest the time and expense to get to that result. Im happy to try to settle the case for you, but it will probably be a low amount. So, I want to advise you now should you wish to retain other counsel to try the case for you. Please advise how you wish to proceed. I know this is not good news, but I have learned a long time ago, some cases just are not proveable - not because you are not credible, but because jurys demand more than we can give at trial."

1-188. On April 14, 2014 at 9:31:50 AM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[1]

"Thank you for the honesty. There is no doubt david cut my arm almost in half with a chainsaw. Even he admitted he was in control of it, so What part of the case seems most troubling?"

1-189. On April 14, 2014 at 9:44:11 AM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"What is a small amount? Is it enough to pay for the medical expenses?"

1-190. On April 22, 2014 13:01:02 -0000 (UTC) Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[3]

"I know I said to just get the best deal you can but what I forgot to ask was if you or your firm had anyone else in mind that would take on my case with the appropriate resources and attention it needs to get a result worth going further. I don't mind sharing or switching firms if it came with your blessing."

1-191. On May 16, 2014 13:23:02 -0000 (UTC) Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

"Know anyone who does bankruptcy?"

1-192. On May 16, 2014, at 9:52 AM Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[5]

"Sure..

"I spoke with David Stretch, a bankruptcy lawyer, about possibly going the route of Bankruptcy. He said if I have a pending a suit that it is considered a possible asset and may allow the court to hold off any bankruptcy judgement pending the outcome and that I would only be able to exempt 15,000 before the creditors get their share. He also said if all I default on is credit cards but keep up on the mortgage and basic needs all that can happen is a judgement will be issued against me and it goes on my credit report and it can be cleared later by filing. I know my personal financial issues are not your problem but I am to a point for the first time ever that I am stopping all payments to my credit cards and focusing on the house, food and utilities. Or rather I should say my Mom is thanks to the chainsaw. Does filing bankruptcy make any difference on your end and would it complicate anything? In your opinion what would be the better route, file bankruptcy now or just default on the credit cards and deal with it later? I added the contact info for David Stretch below"

1-195. On September 23, 2014, at 7:39 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating[1]:

"My view hasn't changed. I think each time we've talked I've always tried to be open about my reservation to take this case to trial. I just don't think we have enough evidence to prove our case and to invest the time and cost and preparing for trial and moving to trial just in my mind does not make sense to me. I have to be very realistic about things and honest with my opinion. It doesn't do you any good if I do not feel strongly about the case. That's the very reason why I wanted to have this discussion. I want to give you the option of finding other counsel at this point if you really want to take the case to trial which I think ultimately will be necessary. I just do not believe strongly that defense counsel will offer much in the way of a settlement. Although I will ask him if he is going to make an offer and maybe that will allow you to make a better judgment on this."

1-196. On September 23, 2014 at 8:25:03 PM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"First, I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to help prove David cut me with a chainsaw. I was but a lowly printer/graphic designer my whole life and never asked for anyone's sympathy till now. Secondly, I'm sorry I must live among a bunch of potential jurors that you don't trust to just do the right thing. Thirdly, I'm most sorry for agreeing to lend David Gagnon a hand when he needed some help, I had no idea he was going to try and lop it off. Fourth, I'm sorry you don't feel good about pushing for a trial. I wish whatever mysterious evidence you seek would be shared with me becausewithouta video camera I can onlysay what I've seen from directexperience.And I guess in this case "me11 the victim isn't credible enough but the one wielding a chainsaw that hurt me is. A few questions from a laym0.n, How much could a trial actually cost? What, $50,000 $150,000 Does it even cost as much as a car? What number? How much would you hope to get for us in a settlement? How much could be expected if the trial does proceed and we have a favorable outcome? Hans, if your heart is not in this I'm sorry"

> "Hans, My stomach is in knots again over this please call me"

1-198. On September 26, 2014 at 6:32:40 PM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Mast with Subject: "Bad night" stating:[2]

> "Last evening I was in the hospital with the most severe migraine I've ever had. This morning I filed for bankruptcy with David Stretch. This afternoon I spent with my regular physician Dr Zaide doing a follow up from yesterday. And right now, I have to email you. All when I still have a slight residual headache and should be in bed. At first I thought the migraine was brought on by the medications I'm taking but it wasn't, it was brought on after our discussions. Now I can't prove that but it seems pretty obvious to me. Joke no pun intended there! That migraine made me realize I need the stress of this situation over with. All the stress on top of losing everything is too much and I'd rather live than die from it all before my body does something worse. My body is not reacting well and the migraines are getting more frequent and worse. Have you ever vomited at the same time as deficating while being in some of the most excruciating pain in your life? If not, neither did I till the chainsaw went through my arm. That's when the migraines became more frequent, stronger and faster coming on. And now for the first time during the day. Ever since I awoke this morning, all I can I think is the stress of it all is killing me more and more as the reality sets in and I just can't afford to care about it anymore. My health means more than some lawsuits and the lure of money. All because some idiot named David Gagnon forgot to tell me to move out of the way and he can't seem to admit it. Yes, after reading his deposition and hearing it was my fault I was pissed. In my anger I suspected all sorts of things. Including it being intentional especially after my discussions at his home only trying to get his homeowners policy number and him wanting money and threatening me for it. Yes, my arm and elbow were hurt from his stupidity irregardless if some dr can link the two together or not. Yes, there will be ongoing medical as a result of all this because it still hurts and doesn't work right. Yes, I am now disabled irregardless of what SSDI appeal goes because of this. Yes, I understand I'm screwed because of a system that allows one person to hurt another and even after a trial and judgement entered all they have to do is go file for bankruptcy in the same courthouse on the same day. Yes, it just took me almost an hour just to type this. Yes, yes, yes... but none of it matters anymore! Bottom line Hans... Do the best you can with what you got, I've got nothing more to lose or give. I need it all to just go away."

> "Apparently Dynamic Hand Therapy has a lean that expired. It's for $23,900.00 and they said they will give me a 30% discount if I pay within the next few days or they could take me to trial over it. Colleen with their corporate office said she contacted you on Aug. 6th about this."

1-201. On October 2, 2014, at 9:43 AM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[2]

> "Paul I'm going to try to Settle your case. No guarantees. But until the case could settle there's nothing I can do about the balances. Can you give me a copy of that bill."

1-202. On November 26, 2014 Dulberg filed for chapter 7 bankruptcy protection.[3]

1-203. Mast did not notify the court of the bankruptcy filing.

1-204. On December 08, 2014 15:31:29 -0000 (UTC) Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

> "Just got a call from associated neurology because of the bankruptcy notice they received. Tried to explain that the leans on the lawsuit expired after 3 years and I really don't have any choice. They said they never heard of such a thing and are looking into the lean issue and will get back to me. On another note, Baudin's firm must not be interested because they never called me. Do I need to find a new firm or what?"

1-205. On December 8, 2014, at 9:42 AM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[5]

> "Paul, thanks for the update. Im not sure what you mean by liens expiring. As long as your case is pending, the liens will apply to any recovery. As for an atty, my thoughts are the same. I can try to see if they want to give us a settlement offer, but I don't think we will want to take the case to trial given the extreme risk versus the time and expense in trying the case."

1-206. On December 8, 2014 at 1:06:53 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[6]

> "Your risk...I just had to file bankruptcy because of that incident 3-1/2 years ago. I could no longer make all the payments to my creditors. I also have a disability suit because of it. I don't care about a settlement unless it's enough to drag David Gagnon through bankruptcy for his idiotic use of a chainsaw and made up story under oath. Gagnon sure showed his true colors when he was deposed, he just isn't a standup guy at all. Either way it goes, (settlement or trial) I'm not going to make anything near what I've already lost or what my future losses are going to be so it just doesn't matter. The only thing that would be remotely satisfying is knowing that David Gagnon had to go through a settlement or trial and lose, then find himself actually having to face bankruptcy. I can only hope he has enough assets that it actually hurts."

1-207. On December 8, 2014, at 3:37 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

"I don't see us having the same goals in this case. I think you should search for a different atty. Let me know if you want another referral. Thanks Hans"

1-208. On December 8, 2014 at 6:00:50 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"At first my goal was to get my medical paid for... That's changed because it's turned out worse than I thought... Now it's simply to get as much as we can and move on with my life... What are your goals in this case?"

1-209. On December 19, 2014 at 12:43:45 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[3]

"I have to wonder... Is it the fact that David Gagnon doesn't have a bigger insurance policy? Or perhaps that I didn't lose my arm? What is it that isn't good enough for your firm that they would actually drop a client they chose to represent? I'm betting in the end it's all about the amount of money your firm can make off of my injuries because I've done nothing to exaggerate or hide anything. Have a merry Xmas, now I'm late to see a dr and my arm muscles are in spasm from trying to type this waisted email as fast as I can"

1-210. On December 19, 2014, at 10:11 AM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[4]

"Here's the deal...they are going to be reviewing the case with a doctor. The doctor will probably say you weren't hurt that bad. So, even if they concede that Mr. Gagnon was at fault, they will likely not offer much on the case. How much, I don't know. But Im not interested in trying the case. I think it would be very difficult to win. So unless you want to work out a settlement, I think you should consider other counsel. Its tough to make these decisions. I know it makes it tough on you. But these decisions are the reality in working on such cases sometimes. The good news is that you have a chance to recover in a jury trial. It would be tough, but there is a chance that the jury will believe you. But it will take some time and expense to take the case to trial. If the jury believes your specialist, the damages could be good for you. But there are a lot of "ifs" and Im not prepared to undertake the risks at this point."

1-211. On January 6, 2015 bankruptcy trustee Heeg sent a letter[1] to Mast asking about the value of the personal injury case.

1-212. On January 8, 2015 Mast faxed a letter to bankruptcy trustee Heeg stating:[2]

> "At this point, the defense is taking a "no liability" position and therefore, the chance of recovery is uncertain. I believe liability will be extremely difficult. We have calculated Paul's medical expense related to the occurance as exceeding $60,000. To my knowledge, most of the medical expense is outstanding. However, my belief is that any eventual recovery will be much less."

1-213. On January 8, 2015 "SCHEDULE B - PERSONAL PROPERTY - AMENDED" was filed with the bankruptcy court (bk doc 13-0)[3] which lists the estimated value of Illinois case No. 12LA178 as $55,000.

1-216. In February, 2015 (in violation of the automatic stay) Mast and Popovich hurriedly tried to settle the Gagnon case for $50,000 in a pre-trial settlement conference. Dulberg refused to support the offer Mast was making to Gagnon on Dulberg's behalf.

1-217. On February 16, 2015, at 11:20 AM, HANS MAST sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

> "Paul, Sheila is sending out a letter today with a copy of the Memo for you. Let me know when you get it."

1-218. On February 19, 2015 at 2:33:44 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast with the Subject: Re: Pre-trial settlement stating:[2]

> "I got it... Why does your mail always arrive opened? Also, many statements in the memo appear inaccurate. Not sure if it really matters. I'd ask for more $ in the demand... There is no way what is written is enough"

1-219. On February 22, 2015, at 5:58 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

> "I'm not sure what you're saying. I tried to tell you over and over again the nature in which the memo is written isn't important. This is just a memo to introduce the judge to the case. If there are different ways you want to say things I'm happy to do that. It's going to serve it's purpose perfectly"

1-220. On February 22, 2015 at 6:20:52 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

> "My case is "gross negligence" causing "untreatable, irreversible and debilitating harm" Never had a lawyer who needed me to help write or correct anything before. The SSDI lawyer pulled everything from the record and it was perfect. Yes, I would like to reword much of it because I wouldn't want anything used in it twisted later if we do go to trial. Yes, I understand that your firm won't back me but it doesn't mean I'm not going to take it to trial anyway. I need the wording to match exactly what I need should I go the distance. I can honestly say the dollar amount you listed I would never agree to. It wouldn't even cover my wages for the years in physical therapy yet the rest of my life. If I end up with a structured settlement where I have to chase this guy I believe we can always sell the settlement and cash out. Is that possible?"

1-221. On February 22, 2015, at 6:24 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

"Okay Paul I won't file the memo. Some would say that giving a client an opportunity to review a settlement memo is a good idea. In the past I have found clients appreciate reviewing these documents. I don't think you understand your case at all. To be honest. Just find an attorney who you like and we'll go that way. I was just trying to help. You obviously do not understand what I'm trying to do and that's fine. Let me know when you find one. Thanks"

1-222. On February 22, 2015 at 7:14:43 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"Let's not be harsh, We have a couple of weeks till dr Kujawa's billing arrives. I agree showing me the memo is a good idea it's just not the accuracy I expected. I know I'm being confrontative about all of this but let's face it, my working days are over let alone a career I have been building since I was in high school. My dreams of family are over unless I have enough to provide and pay for the care of children and a roof. What's left for me? Facebook, scrap booking, crafts, etc... A life of crap... With ongoing pain and grip issues in my dominate arm/hand that are degenerative. This is as total as it gets for us in the working class short of being paralyzed or dead. I need someone who is on my side, top of their game and will see to it that I'm comfortable after all this is over. What I feel is an attempt to settle for far less than this is remotely worth just to get me off the books. I know you don't believe I'm hurt... I'm not interested in belief, I think the facts speak volumes above belief I question who's side your on? Your comments about believing David's deposition, etc... Hans, I have no degrees but I was better at my career in printing and graphic design than anyone I ever worked with who did. If I need character references from past clients, employers, coworkers, teachers, etc... I have an army of people who know I'm one of the most genuine, honest, dedicated hard working persons who takes responsibility for my actions. David on the other hand isn't a stand up guy at all. He couldn't even take responsibility for his actions not to mention his attempts at collecting from this, which I believe constitutes insurance fraud. Oh and I'm contacting the McHenry county states atty... I know too much time has passed since the threats but those threats were for a future time once all this was settled. If he attempts to collect or make good on his threats and if I end up back in the hospital I want everyone to know who to go get. I'm done playing nice with this guy and I can only hope I have an attorney who feels the same. I have to ask since you think I don't understand, what is it your trying to do?"

1-223. On February 22, 2015, at 7:20 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

> "Paul I no longer can represent you in the case. We obviously have differences of opinion as to the value of the case. I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know." [Emphasis added]

1-224. On February 22, 2015, at 7:42 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

> "To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide. Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw? I figured you would cop out again... Now I'm left wondering... How hard is it to sue an atty? And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case... The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself? Of coarse he cut me. Next issue please?"

1-225. On February 22, 2015, at 8:23 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

> "Paul, honesty hurts. I am honest to a fault sometimes. You told me at the start that David would admit his fault. That proved not to be true. Still your threats and putdowns don't change anything. Just find another attorney and we can part ways" [Emphasis added]

1-226. On February 23, 2015, at 4:01 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

> "Once I find new council, Are you willing to release all leans and fees you and your firm have for this case?"

1-227. On February 23, 2015, at 4:27 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[5]

knowing what the final result is unfair. We have completed substantially 100% of the fact discovery. All that needs to be done is deposing experts and going to trial. But don't get me wrong I think we can work out something very reasonable. Typically any type of lien arrangement is done when the case is concluded."

1-228. On February 26, 2015, at 7:42 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[1]

"Please arrange for a copy of both the McGuire and Gagnon homeowner insurance policies be available for me to pick up by noon today. I will pay for copy fees when I pick them up."

"I'm not in the office today Paul. If the attorney needs information regarding this he can definitely call me tomorrow"

1-232. On February 26, 2015, at 8:23 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[5]

"l1m not asking to see you. I'm asking for a copy of the policy numbers and an accounting of all the fees your firm feels it's entitled to. Please have someone at the office print them out and have them available for pickup. Thanks in advance again"

1-233. On February 26, 2015, at 8:25 AM, Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[6]

"We don't have the polls your numbers. I am in charge of the file and therefore no one else knows what is in the file. If you need a list of our costs you can call Sheila and ask her to have a printout of it."

1-234. On the afternoon of February 26, 2015 Dulberg met with attorney Saul Ferris.

1-235. On March 4, 2015 at 4:23:11 PM CST Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[1]

"Are you willing to sign a lean release?"

1-236. On March 4, 2015, at 6:23 PM Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"And how much money is the lean for?"

1-237. On March 4, 2015, at 6:26 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

"It depends on what the recovery is. I can work it out with your new attorney. Technically it's one third of the recovery but obviously that's not going to work because your attorney needs to be paid for something too. The whole calculation is done at the end of the case. There's simply no way to do it until the case is settled and we know what the amount is"

1-238. On March 4, 2015, at 6:42 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

"If I have to get a new attorney in the 11th hour of this, The damage done to my case far outweighs your lean. If you sign off the lean I'll see to it your paid for your real costs."

1-239. On March 6, 2015, at 2:40 PM, Saul Ferris sent an email to Dulberg stating:[5]

"I decided not to accept your case primarily based upon you settling with the homeowners for 5 thousand. I have mailed your file back to you. "Paul I will be happy to deal with any attorney considering your case directly regarding my lien. But not until they call me to talk. As is clear with your email and many others you do not respect my thoughts and/or knowledge about these cases and there is no point in continuing any further in dealing with an unsatisfied client. Find an attorney and I will talk to them about the lien."

1-242. On March 12, 2015, at 10:19 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[1]

"I have found several attorneys and none are willing to represent me as long as you hold the lean on this case and apparently it is not legal for me to finance their representation by other means. Respect for your thoughts does not constitute a breakdown in communications. Respect is earned through truth, hard work and results. I am asking for an honest brief to go before the judge. That is all. Earn my respect and you will receive the best recommendation I have ever given anyone."

1-243. On March 12, 2015 at 10:36:25 AM CDT Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[2]

"I have done nothing to lose your respect. I have gone far above what you would get from any other attorney you just don't realize it or appreciate it. Instead you continue to focus on issues that have nothing to do with your case. You don't listen to my advice. Which is fine. You don't have to listen to my advice. But 9 out of 10 times you will lose this case for trial. As I told you before that is why the defense is never going to offer the policy limits. To settle the case you will need to take far less than the limits. But you don't have to you definitely can go to trial. That is your personal choice. In my view your case is not worth the limits given the issues we've already discussed. So I have done what I can do for you. We have I think $3000 in costs that we will be paid no matter who is handling Case. We have worked on the case for years without pay....but if it will allow you to find another attorney we will consider waiving Our fee unless your eventual recovery exceeds $100,000."

1-244. On Mar 12, 2015, at 12:14 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[3]

"Your cornering of me and my brother in your office, bullying me into signing off on The McGuires policy citing cases that have nothing to do with the agency clause in the homeowners policy, which clearly makes her policy accountable. You sir are the one whom told me that I would never see a dime from either case if I didn't sign that piece of paper before leaving your office that day. You wouldn't even let me sleep on it as I had asked. You said you needed the $5,000 settlement with the McGuire's insurance to help fund your costs for the case with David Gagnon. Then when the physical therapists tried to demand payment in full you told me and my mother that medical leans against lawsuits often expire before the case is resolved saying yes the medical providers can proceed in collecting funds from my assets. Meaning my home. Forcing me into bankruptcy. Then, after filing for bankruptcy, denying you ever said that to both me and mother and going on to say to us that filing for bankruptcy protection had ruined the case. All that followed up by getting a brief to review from you on the David Gagnon case that was of such a poor understanding of the facts are what lost any hope of respect I had. I am and have been trying to get you to be professional and earn that respect back at every step. If you had not taken advantage of my ignorance you would not be receiving this letter nor trying to squirm your way out of representing me today. As far as your costs and in light of your poor performance to date, it throws into question all of the work you have done on this case. Even the depositions you sat in on are in question. Do you actually think anyone in their right mind wouldn't see it that way. You may argue strategy as a defense for incompetence but since you sat in on the medical depositions and don't even know what medications I was and wasn't prescribed after almost 3-1/2 years on this case I highly doubt anyone will see your defense as viable. Exactly, What part of being harmed by both the McGuires and Gagnon through no fault of my own is 9 out of 10 times a losing case? Exactly what part of you manipulating me into a settlement for only $5000 was seeing to my best interests? Exactly how is lying in a briefing you were prepared to put before a judge is in my best interests? Exactly how is giving you chance after chance to correct yourself not giving you the respect you think you deserve from me? I can keep going... I have witnesses to all of this. It's not just your word vs mine. Bottom line is if you want out simply because you feel I have no respect for you then all of your fees are subject and any lean you have is subject. I'm giving you the opportunity to remedy this coarse of action you have chosen. Do you chose to be professional and do the job your capable of or do you chose to remove yourself for some made up reason. Our emails alone show there is no breakdown in communication. We are still communicating. This email proves that. So, unless you can explain your action to remove yourself from this case for some excusable reason I see no reason why you feel your entitled to being able to get excused from it at all. I put you to task to do as you agreed to and represent me to whatever ends this case comes to. Will you be professional and finish what you started? Damn these emails hurt to type... Wish you had it in you to go after the bad guy who did this and not your innocent client."

1-245. On March 12, 2015 at 1:13:59 PM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Saul Ferris stating:[1]

"Hi Saul, Have you already mailed the documents or can they be picked up?"

1-246. On March 13, 2015, at 10:51 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"Your motion was granted. Please put together all the materials you have concerning this case and notify me when they can be picked up. Please include everything, emails, notes, depositions, motions, recordings, etc.."

1-247. On March 13, 2015, at 11:01 AM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

> "Paul. I am seriously willing to work with you to get new counsel. But you have to understand that until our costs are paid we can't let the file out of our office because we invested all the time and money into the file. Your new attorney will surely know this.…"

1-248. On March 13, 2015, at 11:21 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

> "Hans/Sir, I don't want my new attorney to even speak with you. And yes I have that right. You have your lean against this case and you removed yourself against my wishes. That lean is as good as it gets. Your guaranteed your share. Please Have those files ready and notify me when I may pick them up as I am limited on the time to hire a new attorney."

1-249. On March 13, 2015, at 11:25 AM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

> "Paul, I'm happy to deal with your new attorney on our fee but we can't release the file until we get our costs paid back."

1-250. On March 13, 2015 at 11:49:16 AM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

> "Sir, Your fees are guaranteed. You have your lean. Please don't make me go before the judge and have the records subpoenaed."

1-251. On March 19, 2015 Dulberg retained attorney Brad Balke, who claimed he was willing to take the case against Gagnon to trial. (Barbara Dulberg was in attendance at the meeting between Balke and Dulberg at the law offices of Donahue and Walsh.)

1-252. On March 20, 2015 3:49 PM Dulberg sent an email to Balke with the Subject "Missing Depositions and pre-trial settlement brief" stating[5],

> "Hi Brad, As we discussed, I was to receive via certified US Mail depositions and communications between Hans Mast and myself from Saul Ferris an attorney in Gurnee, IL. Saul Ferris number is (847) 263-7770 I called Saul Ferris office last week and was assured they were sent. I was told to give it another week. I called Saul Ferris office again today to find out they were mailed to and signed for at 3416 W. Elm St. McHenry, IL. by someone named Anne Oupl on March 7th. This is Hans Mast office. I called Hans office and apparently no one by that name works there and no one knows anything about receiving the certified mail. I'm at a loss as to how these documents were sent to the wrong place and am a bit furious because it has the memo about the pre-trial settlement you wanted to see."[Emphasis Added]

1-253. On March 20, 2015, at 5:39 PM, Brad J Balke sent an email to Dulberg stating:[1]

"I'm picking up the file from Hans on Monday. I'm sure everything will be there."

1-254. On March 23 or 24, 2015 Mast gave a disorganized case file without any medical expense reports, without pharmacy receipts, without the October 22, 2013 settlement offer of $7,500, and without the unedited photo of Gagnon in front of his garage to Dulberg's new attorney Balke. Walgreens RX Pharmacy receipts with or without timestamps could not be found within this version of the case file. See April 2, 2015.

1-255. On March 24, 2015 10:48 AM Dulberg sent an email to Balke with the Subject "Re: Missing Depositions and pre-trial settlement brief" stating:[2]

"Were you able to get everything yesterday?"

1-256. On March 24, 2015, at 11:09 AM, Brad J Balke answered[3] by email:

"Yes. I have the file. It is large. I'm going to start going through it."

1-257. On April 2, 2015 Balke sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

"I didn't find your specials list (totaling $58k.) Do you have it?"

1-258. Shelia Quinlan sent an email to Balke stating:[5]

"Please find attached the medical expense report of Paul Dulberg wilh attached billing. If you'd like it faxed as well, please advise. The originals will be put in the mail today to you." "Attachments • MER 4-2-15.pdf(15.56MB)"

The document "MER 4-2-15.pdf" cannot be found anywhere and has never been turned over in the instant case.

1-259. On May 7, 2015 Saul Ferris' office contacted Dulberg and informed Dulberg they have received back in the mail the package mistakenly sent to The Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich P.C.. The packet of documents appears to have been in the office of Thomas Popovich and Mans Mast for about 2 months without Popovich or Mast ever admitting they were in possession of the documents.

1-260. On May 08, 2015 12:34 PM Paul Dulberg sent an email to Balke with the Subject "Missing memo for pretrial settlement" stating:[6]

"Yesterday Saul Ferris office called and said they just received back the packet they mistakenly sent to Hans Mast at Popovich law firm. In it is the pretrial settlement memo you wanted to see. There is also the printed depositions of both the homeowners, the defendant and myself. I picked these up this morning. Let me know how to get these to you."

1-261. On May 9, 2015 at 4:32:54 PM CDT Paul Dulberg sent an email to Balke stating:[1]

"Hope you received 2 packages today"

1-262. Dulberg's memory is that the demand in the pre-trial settlement memo was $50,000 when it was mailed to him on February 16, 2015. Email exchanges between Mast and Dulberg seem to suggest a similar amount. Also Trustee Heeg's valuation confirms this. Balke's later demand was also $50,000. When the document finally arrived in Dulberg's possession in July 2015 the demand was inexplicably changed to "$135,000".

1-263. The Saul Ferris declination letter has an address at the top of the letter listed as

"3416 W. Elm Street
McHenry, IL 60050"

This is the address of the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C.[2]

1-264. The Saul Ferris declination letter stayed in possession of The Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. until on or about May 8, 2015. Attorney Brad Balke received the package which came from Mast/Popovich and contained the now altered (forged) attorney Saul Ferris Declination letter. In the Saul Ferris declination letter the date Dulberg's injury had inexplicably been written as "January 24, 2013" even though Dulberg was injured on June 28, 2011. The date of the letter was inexplicably written as "December 31, 2014" even though the meeting between Ferris and Dulberg took place on February 26, 2015.[3]

1-265. Sometime around June 9, 2015 Dulberg refused a pretrial mediation offer of $50,000.00 and fired Balke over forcing the offer on Dulberg.[4] Dulberg's experience with Balke is described in 'ARDC Complaint against Balke'.

1-266. On July 7, 2015, at 9:39 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[5]

"Hi Hans, I need to know if your willing to take a cash payout to release your lean on my case? If so, how much do you want?"

1-268. On July 7, 2015, at 2:30 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

"I need to know how much it's going to cost to get the lean released"

1-269. On July 8, 2015, at 6:59 AM, Hans Mast answered:[3]

"Just make me a reasonable offer. We're happy to work with u"

1-270. On July 8, 2015, at 7:44 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[4]

"Morning Hans, As I'm not sure how much you invested, I'm not sure what's reasonable. What would you consider reasonable?"

1-271. On July 8, 2015, at 11:25 AM, Hans Mast answered:[5]

"If your calculating our time it'd be a lot. But just give me what you can do."

1-272. On July 8, 2015, at 10:09 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[6]

"I can't guess... I want to make sure your paid for your out of pocket expenses plus something for putting up with me. I'm sure I wasn't the easiest to deal with. Just give me a number"

1-273. On July 8, 2015, at 12:31 PM, Hans Mast answered:[7]

"$5,000"

1-274. On July 9, 2015, at 11:27 AM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[8]

"I was informed all your entitled to is $1539.32 from Brad because you signed off completely on the lean and he already paid you for the rest. Is this true?"

1-275. On July 9, 2015, at 1:34 PM, Hans Mast answered:[1]

> "Yes. We agreed with brad to waive our lien...What is $1,500 I think he paid our expenses."

1-276. On July 9, 2015, at 1:51 PM, Paul Dulberg sent an email to Mast stating:[2]

> "How much did he pay you for the expenses?"

1-277. On July 9, 2015 at 4:43:22 PM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Mast with the Subject: Re: Lean buyout stating[3]:

> "Hans, No need to get back together next Thursday. Didn't know that brad balky holds the entire lean and paid your expenses. Sorry for the bother. Hope the rest of the vacation is wonderful"

1-278. On July 16, 2015 Dulberg picked up the "Mixed Brown Box File" from Attorney Balke after firing attorney Balke. This is the first time the forged Attorney Saul Ferris' declination letter arrived at Dulberg's house.

1-279. From the time Dulberg received the "Mixed Brown Box File" on July 16, 2015 family members of Dulberg took notes on what they were able to understand.[4]

1-280. On July 20, 2015 at 8:07:04 AM CDT Dulberg wrote an email to Mast stating:[5]

> "I need your electronic case file for Paul Dulberg along with all paper files you have. I did get the paper files from Brad Balke however of the plaintiffs/defendants depositions I received sections are missing in each and there are no dr's depositions at all. Brad promises he turned over everything he received from you. Please collect all relevant information you have for this and notify me when it will be available to be picked up. Thank you in advance for your help with this matter,"

1-281. Sometime between July 16, 2015 and August 17, 2015 Dulberg sorted the 'Mixed Brown Box File" and separated the attorney Saul Ferris forged Declination letter from other case documents found in the "Mixed Brown Box File" and put it in a separate pile.

1-282. After Dulberg fired Popovich and Mast and received the "Mixed Brown Box" of documents Mast gave to Balke, Dulberg noticed there were notices of doctors depositions but no depositions.

1-283. According to the notices the doctors depositions were to take place on these dates:

Dr Scott Sagerman on October 15, 2013 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/15/2013)[2]

Dr Talerico (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/16/2013)[3]

Dr Apiwat Ford on November 20, 2013 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/23/2013[4], Notice has date 11/20/2013[5])

Dr Kathy Kujawa July 23, 2014 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 7/23/2014)[6]

1-284. The notices state that the court reporting agency handling the depositions is Merrill Legal Solutions. Dulberg contacted Merrill Legal Solutions and was told they did not know anything about the depositions.

1-285. Dulberg was told by the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. to contact Vahl reporting to get certified copies of the 5 doctors depositions.

1-286. Dulberg paid Vahl reporting $723.50 for the 5 doctors depositions.[7]

1-287. On August 17, 2015 Scott Dulberg signed at The Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich for the 2nd Dulberg case file provided to Dulberg by Mast. This became known as the "Brown Jacket File", which is neat and orderly without pharmacy timestamps and without the October 22, 2013 document offer to settle with the McGuires for $7,500, and was turned over to Attorneys Randy and Kelly Baudin to be used in the case against Gagnon.[8]

1-288. On August 17, 2015 at 1:51:16 PM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Hans Mast stating:[9]

"Hi Hans, Thank you for another paper copy of my case file. Does this exist in digital form? Also, I will need the original audio recordings of the telephone conversations between yourself and David Gagnon you listed as Gagnon exhibit 2."

1-289. On August 17, 2015, at 2:19 PM, Hans Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[10]

"We have obviously letters saved on our computer. Somethings are saved others are not. We gave you a copy of what we have. I will have Sheila send you a copy of the Recording of the telephone conversation."

1-290. On September 11, 2015 at 1:35:46 PM CDT Dulberg sent an email to Hans Mast with Subject "Voice tape" stating:[1]

> "Hi Hans, Still Haven't received the actual voice tape/recording listed as gagnon exhibit 2. I can pick it up, please let me know when."

1-291. Dulberg's repeated requests for the audio recording of a phone conversation between Mast and Gagnon were ignored.

1-292. On September 22, 2015 hired the Baudin Law firm. Dulberg's experience with the Baudins will be described in 'ARDC Complaint against the Baudins'.

ACTIVITY INVOLVING POPOVICH AND MAST SINCE 2016

1-293. On December 16, 2016 Dulberg retained legal malpractice attorney Thomas Gooch to initiate a claim against Mast and Popovich for legal malpractice.

1-294. When Dulberg moved to collect his emails with Mast from Dulberg's Comcast account to give to Gooch, Dulberg found that 3 years of emails had been deleted from his Comcast email account.[2] [3]

1-295. Dulberg called Comcast to get his emails restored. Dulberg was told by phone that an incident report was created and an internal investigation happened concluding that the missing emails were deleted at by a senior level administrator with Comcast and unfortunately the emails were not retrievable. No other information was provided to Dulberg.

1-296. In a state of panic, Dulberg realized that his apple device was set up to utilize a different protocol for sending out emails than the protocol used to receive emails. His outgoing emails were stored on a separate Apple server, different from the incoming emails that are saved on the Comcast servers. On December 27, 2016 Dulberg forwarded all the sent emails from his Apple device to a second Comcast email account and immediately printed out 2 hard copies of all email exchanges on paper so they could not be deleted again.

1-297. In late December of 2016 Dulberg gave the "Mixed Brown Box File", the recovered sent emails printed to paper, and a separate pile of documents which contained Attorney Saul Ferris' forged Declination letter to Attorney Gooch who scanned it as part of Dulberg's documents in the instant case against Mast and Popovich. Gooch also received a case file from the Baudins and scanned it in as part of Dulberg's documents in the instant case against Mast and Popovich.

1-298. From Dulberg's first meeting with Gooch on December 16, 2016 Gooch secretly worked to weaken or sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast. How this was done is explained in detail in the "ARDC Complaint against Thomas Gooch".

1-299. After Dulberg fired Gooch, Dulberg retained the Clinton Law Firm. From Dulberg's first meeting with Clinton and Williams on October 12, 2018 Clinton and Williams secretly worked to weaken or sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast. How this was done is explained in detail in the "ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams".

1-300. On May 30, 2019 Williams suppressed a massive quantity of Dulberg's documents to weaken or sabotage Dulberg's case against Popovich and Mast. How this was done is explained in detail in "ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams", Chapter 1. Two of the many documents Clinton and Williams suppressed was Dulberg's evidence[1] [2] that 3 years of his emails with Mast and Popovich were deleted from Dulberg's Comcast account.

1-301. On May 30, 2019 the Popovich document disclosure consisted of 1450 pages. The documents released by Popovich have a number of issues that are marked up in 'Group Folder 31'.[3] Among the issues are:

a) Most depositions that do exist are dated 2019.

b) There are no Doctor's depositions or any exhibit from any Doctor's deposition among Popovich bates numbered documents. Note that there is not a single Popovich bates-numbered document in any of the following folders:

Group Exhibit 26_2013-10-01_Dr Levin depositions
Group Exhibit 27_2013-10-15_Dr Sagerman depositions Group Exhibit 28_2013-10-16_Dr Talerico depositions Group Exhibit 29_2013-11-20_Dr Ford depositions Group Exhibit 30_2014-07-23_Dr Kujawa depositions

1-302. Dulberg showed the depositions purportedly created by VAHL REPORTING SERVICE, LTD. to his current attorney Alphonse Talarico and was told they are not usable in court because they are not signed.

1-303. Dulberg tried several times over a 4 week period to contact the court reporting agency VAHL REPORTING SERVICE, LTD. to obtain legally sufficient certification pages of the 5 doctors depositions that have signatures of the court reporters but nobody called back.

1-304. On March 25 and 26, 2022 Dulberg's counsel sent subpoenas for signatures to Margaret Orton and Paula Erickson.

1-305. Around March 26, 2022 Dulberg talked with Michael Urbanski. Urbanski told Dulberg that he would contact Vahl Reporting.

1-306. On March 26, 2022 Michael Urbanski emailed Dulberg with the subject: "Vahl Reporting" stating:[4]

"Mr. Dulberg:

I did forward all the information to Carrie Vahl. She now has your email address and I would hope would respond to your requests.

Sincerely,
Michael Urbanski"

1-307. On March 28, 2022 at 7:44 AM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl emailed Dulberg with the subject "Transcripts" stating:[1]

"Hi,

I spoke with Michael Urbanaki, and he gave me your email.

Michael gave me a list of transcripts that you need certifications for. Can you give me a call on my cell today or tomorrow, (847) 727-5828. Most of today I'll be in a hearing but I'll call you back.

Thanks,

Carrie

1-308. On March 28, 2022 at 10:01 AM Dulberg replied stating:[2]

"Dear Carrie Vahl,

Thank you for reaching out to me.

I am not sure what is on the list Mr. Urbanski sent to you so below is a list of Dr's depositions I purchased around 9/15//2015 from Vahl Reporting.

I paid $723.50 for the depositions with Check #2486 from Account #2600005536.

The issue I have with the depositions I received back in 2015 is that none of them were certified or signed by the CSR and they do not have the exhibits attached which means after all this time they are unusable in court.

I would really appreciate a PDF of the signed, certified depositions with the exhibits listed below:

22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County case number 12LA178

DR. SCOTT SAGERMAN, 10/15/2013, JILL S TIFFANY, CSR, Certificate No. 084-002807

Dr. MARCUS G. TALERICO, 10/28/2013, TERRI A. CLARK, CSR, Certificate No. 084-001957

Dr. APIWAT FORD, 11/20/2013, MARGRET MAGGIE ORTON, CSR, Certificate No. 84-004046

Dr. KATHY KUJAWA, 7/23/2014, JILL S TIFFANY, CSR, Certificate No. 084-002807

Please advise the best way I may obtain the certified, signed Dr's depositions listed above with the exhibit attached.

Thank you in advance for your help with this matter,

Paul"

1-309. On March 28, 2022 at 11:29 AM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl responded stating:[1]

"Hi Paul,

Thanks for the list and the info. I never bothered to look up under your name. I was just searching for Popovich's people.

Tomorrow I can scan and email the signature pages to you for each transcript. I'm just out of the office today.

Regarding the exhibits, the defense counsel we were hired by those days never give us the exhibits. So that I can't help you with.

They might be in the original trial file with the clerk's office.

I have one more question. Maggie Orton received a records subpoena. She took a screenshot and it's attached. We don't know what you are looking for with the Twenty signatures. Is it just the cert page signature and then she's in compliance?

Let me know.

Thanks,
Carrie"

There was no attachment to the email and Dulberg did not respond.

1-310. On March 28, 2022 at 13:39 PM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl sent Dulberg another email stating:[2]

1 Group Exhibit 10: 2022-03-28_1129 AM_RECV_Re Transcripts.pdf
2 Group Exhibit 10: 2022-03-28_1339 PM_RECV_Re Transcripts.pdf

"Hi Paul,

Please find attached the 5 certificate pages with the reporters' signatures.

Does this satisfy what you need from Maggie Orton? All she has, like the rest of us, is the transcript that you already have.

Thanks,
Carrie"

This email implied the individual signed certification pages from 5 different depositions all grouped into one document on their own and detached from the rest of the depositions they purportedly belong with were legally sufficient. Dulberg did not respond.

1-311. On March 31, 2022 at 9:20 AM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl sent Dulberg a final email stating:[1]

"Hi Paul,

Did you received this email with the cert pages?

Can you please let me know about the subpoena for Maggie Orton? Does her cert page satisfy what you need?

We want to be in compliance with a subpoena.

I did leave a voicemail for your attorney also but have not heard back. I don't have his email. Could you send that to me, please?

Thanks,
Carrie"

Dulberg did not respond.

1-312. Dulberg felt these could be forgeries or something else could be wrong. Dulberg forwarded the attached documents to his attorney.

1-313. The 22nd Judicial Circuit Clerk website https://caseinfo.mchenrycountyil.gov/pca/Home/Search or "Public Case Access" does not return results for any past legal malpractice cases filed with the court using the name "Popovich", "Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C." nor any other iteration of the name we could think of. The only way we found to find past legal malpractice cases involving the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Clerks files was to know the exact case number prior to conducting a search.

1-314. On March 1, 2023 Dulberg sent for a records request for case 12LA326.[2]

1-315. On March 2, 2023 Dulberg received the case file 12LA326 from the clerk.[3]

1-316. In the file Associate Judge Thomas A. Meyer recused himself from 12LA326 because Mr Meyer is a personal friend of Thomas J. Popovich.[1]

CHAPTER 2: CLAIMS AGAINST POPOVICH AND MAST

COUNT 1: DISCOVERY ABUSE

SECTION A: Redirected medical lien liability from the Defendants to Plaintiff

2-1-A1. Health Care Services Lien Act. (770 ILCS 23/10)

> Sec. 10. Lien created; limitation.
>
> (a) Every health care professional and health care provider that renders any service in the treatment, care, or maintenance of an injured person, except services rendered under the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act or the Workers' Occupational Diseases Act, shall have a lien upon all claims and causes of action of the injured person for the amount of the health care professional's or health care provider's reasonable charges up to the date of payment of damages to the injured person. The total amount of all liens under this Act, however, shall not exceed 40% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise secured by or on behalf of the injured person on his or her claim or right of action.
> (b) The lien shall include a written notice containing the name and address of the injured person, the date of the injury, the name and address of the health care professional or health care provider, and the name of the party alleged to be liable to make compensation to the injured person for the injuries received. The lien notice shall be served on both the injured person and the party against whom the claim or right of action exists. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, payment in good faith to any person other than the healthcare professional or healthcare provider claiming or asserting such lien prior to the service of such notice of lien shall, to the extent of the payment so made, bar or prevent the creation of an enforceable lien. Service shall be made by registered or certified mail or in person.

2-1-A2. As demonstrated in this section, none of the medical liens placed due to Dulberg's 2011-06-28 injury listed "the name of the party alleged to be liable to make compensation to the injured person for the injuries received". There is no evidence either the McGuires or Gagnon were ever served with a lien "made by registered or certified mail or in person". Neither Mast nor Popovich ever inform Dulberg that payments on medical liens "shall not exceed 40% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise secured by or on behalf of the injured person on his or her claim or right of action".

> "(c) ...If the total amount of all liens under this Act meets or exceeds 40% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise, then:

1 Exhibit 96_2012LA000326--2012-10-19--ORDREA_0004.pdf

(1) all the liens of health care professionals shall not exceed 20% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise; and

(2) all the liens of health care providers shall not exceed 20% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise; provided, however, that health care services liens shall be satisfied to the extent possible for all health care professionals and health care providers by reallocating the amount unused within the aggregate total limitation of 40% for all health care services liens under this Act; and provided further that the amounts of liens under paragraphs (1) and (2) are subject to the one-third limitation under this subsection."

"...If the total amount of all liens under this Act meets or exceeds 40% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise, the total amount of all the liens of attorneys under the Attorneys Lien Act shall not exceed 30% of the verdict, judgment, award, settlement, or compromise."

2-1-A3. Before Dulberg retained Popovich and Mast he received the following billing and lien notice in the mail from NIMC Centegra. Dulberg gave these documents to Mast at their first meeting on December 1, 2011:

Centegra lien notice[1]
Centegra universal billing UB-04 form created on July 5, 2011[2]
Centegra bills[3]

Note that NIMC Centegra provided Dulberg with universal billing form UB-04 and that the NIMC Centegra letter and lien notice is consistent with Illinois law.

It is not known whether Popovich or Mast ever responded to the NIMC letter.

2-1-A4. Popovich and Mast were retained on December 1, 2011 and Popovich placed an attorneys lien on the injury claim with Tom Malatia on December 5, 2011.

2-1-A5. Around December 6, 2011 Popovich and Mast subpoenaed the records of NIMC Centegra.

2-1-A6. On or around January 24, 2012 Mast told Dulberg to go to NIMC and obtain medical records from them (even though they already had NIMC medical records). Dulberg obtained a second set of records[4] with a CD containing xray images. Dulberg gave this second set of records to Mast. Mast said he did not want the CD. The second set of Centegra records that Dulberg obtained on January 24, 2012 do not exist in any version of the case file that Mast provided to subsequent counsel.

3 Group Exhibit 1: 2011-07-02_Centegra bill_POP000737.pdf and 2011-08-05_Centegra bill_POP000735-POP000736.pdf
4 Exhibit 11_2012-01-24_Centegra-Medical Records and authorization for release.pdf

2-1-A7. On June 25, 2012 Northwest Community Healthcare sent a fax[1] to Defendant Hans Mast requesting the following information:

> The name and address of the homeowners insurance > Claim number
> Name of responsible party
> Date of Incident.

2-1-A8. On June 27, 2012 Defendant Hans Mast responded to the June 25, 2012 request by failing to give any the requested information.[2] Mast wrote:

> "Unfortunately, we just filed suit and it is still relatively early on and I have not yet obtained the adverse parties insurance information. I would be happy to provide that to you shortly.
>
> In the meantime, please feel free to forward a lien to my attention and I would be happy to honor it for purposes of settlement and/or recovery obtained in this case."

2-1-A9. Mast was in possession of the address where the accident occurred, the claim number and the name and phone number of the insurance adjuster since December 1, 2011. Popovich and Mast placed an attorneys lien using this same information on Dec 05, 2011. In the case of this exchange with NCH, Popovich and Mast placed their own attorneys lien on the homeowners insurance claim yet appear to be preventing NCH from doing the same.

2-1-A10. Note that Mast's request is contrary to Illinois law. Mast is informing the NCH representative to:

> a) Serve the lien notice by sending it to the attorney of the injured party
> b) Serve the lien notice without having the required information on the party responsible for the injury

2-1-A11. A Northwest Community Hospital universal billing form UB-04[3] dated July 17, 2012 (in Box 38) has the responsible party listed as: AUTO OWNERS INS 6000 TALLGATE SUIT D ELGIN IL and (in Box 50) has the payer listed as: AUTO OWNERS INS and (in Box 60) has the INSURED'S UNIQUE ID listed as CLM#13-2779-11.

2-1-A12. On July 23, 2012 Northwest Community Hospital representative Catie Harrison appeared to have sent a NOTICE OF LIEN to Mast. There are many issues with how the lien notice was constructed:

---

1 Exhibit 31_2012-06-25_fax_NCH Catie Harrison to Mast_POP000620-POP000621.pdf
2 Exhibit 33_2012-06-27_fax_Mast answer to NCH_POP000345-POP000346.pdf
3 Exhibit 33a_2012-07-17_NCH UB-04_DUL002358.pdf

a) It is not clear who she is addressing in the notice of lien.

b) It is not clear who she sent the notice of lien to.

c) In the certificate of mailing it is also unclear where it was sent .

d) the affidavit statement of the party who sent the document is missing. It is not clear what the certifier is claiming to certify doing.

2-1-A13. On August 8, 2023 Dulberg requested the financial records of Northwest Community Hospital.[1]

2-1-A14. On August 9, 2023 Dulberg was informed that no financial records exist because: "The records you are requesting exceed the record retention policy of 10 years."[2]

2-1-A15. On September 04, 2012 McGuire attorney Barch subpoenaed the records of NIMC

2-1-A16. The only existing representation of the Barch subpoenaed documents are in:

Gooch Thumbdrive/Dulberg Paul Dulberg Files from Client/ TJP & Attorney Documents/ Letter to Centegra NMCI Medical Records Custodian From Barch 9.4.12.pdf

2-1-A17. Pages 2, 3, 4,[3] and page 5[4] of the alleged 35 page reply were documents with billing information and a certification page. The documents appear to a construction of information taken from a Centegra form UB-04[5] but the UB-04 is not included. It appears someone was trying to craft documents with UB-04 billing information for some reason.

2-1-A18. The 3 documents are not included among the documents subpoenaed from Barch's office. When Barch was subpoenaed for all documents related to case 12LA178 Barch produced a list of file names of his medical records only called:

List of Medical Records and Bills.2.19.20.pdf[6]

The pdf lists the Centegra medical records but does not mention how many pages of documents Barch received from Centegra.

2-1-A19. The documents that appear to be reconstructed from the Centegra UB-04 are located in Popovich construction of NIMC documents produced responding to the Barch subpoena. Either:

(a) Barch is the source of the altered documents or

(b) Popovich arranged his case file to make it look as if Barch sent him a 35 page fax with the documents subpoenaed from Centegra.

2-1-A20. Both NIMC Centegra and NCH are hospitals that use the universal billing statement UB-04.

In the case of NIMC: The UB-04 disappeared from the Popovich and Mast case file and was replaced by 3 crafted documents that appear to be forgeries. It later appeared in 2019 in a Popovich document disclosure in 17LA377.

In the case of NCH: The UB-04 billing statement contradicts the lien notice allegedly sent by NCH to Popovich and Mast. In this case the NCH notice of lien appears to be intentionally altered.

2-1-A21. The lien notices of Dr Sagerman (DUL 006344) and Dr Levin (DUL 006340) show the same pattern as the NCH lien notice:

a) No mention of either the McGuires or Gagnon as "the name of the party alleged to be liable to make compensation to the injured person for the injuries received"

b) No evidence either the McGuires or Gagnon were ever served with a lien "made by registered or certified mail or in person"

c) Signs of intentional manipulation (forgery) of the lien notice

The Dr Sagerman Lien is examined in paragraph 2B12. The Dr Levin Lien is examined in paragraph 2B13.

Count 1, Section B: Evidence destruction and fabrication, forgery

2-1-B1. Walgreens RX receipts. The actual receipts[1] were intentionally cut into pieces[2]. The pieces with the time stamps were removed when showing the pieces to Dulberg and when disclosing documents to opposing counsel.

The pieces with the timestamps[3] were never given to any of Dulberg's subsequent attorneys in the PI case 12LA178. The first time Dulberg saw them was during the document production of opposing counsel in legal malpractice case 17LA377 at the end of June, 2019. The first time Dulberg saw the original receipts again was after Dulberg had his ipad repaired around September 17, 2022.

2-1-B2. Gagnon deposition Exhibit 1 This is a pretty clear example of 2 pieces of paper spliced together to appear as if it is a single sheet of paper.[4] Gagnon Exhibit 1 appears in many different forms.

message between Mast and defendant Gagnon. Mast has claimed he had an audio recording of the telephone conversation. Dulberg asked for the recorded message many times but Mast never provided it. It most probably never existed.

2-1-B4. The certification page of the Gagnon deposition. The certification page of the deposition of Gagnon names Margaret Maggie Orton as the court reporter.[1] On March 25, 2022 Margaret Maggie Orton was subpoenaed for 20 signatures.[2] Omni Document Examination did an analysis of the Orton signatures.[3]

2-1-B5. The certification pages of the McGuire and McArtor depositions. The certification pages of the William McGuire, Carolyn McGuire and Mike McArtor depositions names Paula Ann Erickson as the court reporter.[4] On March 26, 2022 Paula Ann Erickson was subpoenaed[5] for 20 signatures. Omni Document Examination did an analysis of the Erickson signatures.[6]

2-1-B6. The certification pages of all 5 depositions of doctors.[7]

2-1-B7. Cropped pictures of Gagnon's address on his garage. Around April 9, 2012 Mast sent Dulberg to Gagnon's house. Mast claimed he needed Dulberg to verify Gagnon's address. Dulberg took a picture of Gagnon's house with the address marked and gave the picture to Mast.[8] Minuteman Press made 6 copies of this image, but the numbers of the address in the picture were inexplicably cropped out.[9] The cropped image later inexplicably became 'Exhibit 2i'[10] in Dulberg's deposition.

2-1-B8. A Centegra UB-04 billing[11] statement was inexplicably turned into 3 billing documents[12] that are represented as if they came from Centegra.

2-1-B9. A certification page[13] that appears to belong to the documents subpoenaed by Barch was certified on January 13, 2010 (about 30 months before the subpoena was issued). The problem is marked in the file 'Folder B10: Barch certification page marked up.pdf'.

2-1-B10. Northwest Community Hospital NOTICE OF LIEN. On July 23, 2012 Northwest Community Hospital representative Catie Harrison sent a NOTICE OF LIEN with no address.[14]

a) Note that the Northwest Community Hospital notice of lien is constructed in a way that it is impossible to know who the word "you" addresses. The word "you" cannot be 'pegged down' in the document.

b) In the certificate of mailing it is also unclear where it was sent and the affidavit statement of the party who sent the document is missing. It is not clear who or what the certifier is claiming to certify doing.

Other issues are marked in the file 'Folder B10: NCH Lien comparison mark-up.pdf'.

2-1-B11. Dr Sagerman lien[1] appears to be a manipulated document in a few ways that are shown in file 'Folder B11: Sagerman lien markup.pdf'.

2-1-B12. Dr Levin lien[2] appears to follow the same pattern as the Dr Sagerman lien. Problems with the Dr Levin lien are shown in the file 'Folder B11: Levin Lien Markup.pdf'.

2-1-B13. Saul Ferris declination letter.[3] This letter and the effects of this letter have been described in detail in "ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams", Chapter 2, Section B. In summary:

a) The letter was in possession of Thomas Popovich and Mast for about 2 months

b) Popovich and Mast have never admitted that they were in possession of the letter. (They attempted to claim it was sent to Dulberg directly.)

c) There are 4 inaccurate statements in the letter

d) The letter was later used by Popovich and Mast (through their attorney Flynn) to try to force Dulberg to admit to the inaccurate statements in the letter and admit to receiving the letter at his home directly through the mail.

e) The letter was addressed to the Popovich law firm (written in the header).

The 4 inaccurate statements in the letter are:

a) The letter states Ferris met with Dulberg on December 31, 2014. (Ferris actually met with Dulberg on February 26, 2015.)

b) The letter states the date of Dulberg's "accident" was January, 24, 2013. (The date of Dulberg's chainsaw injury was June 28, 2011.)

c) The address at the top of the letter is the Law Office of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. (Popovich and Mast claimed it was sent to Dulberg directly from the office of Saul Ferris.)

d) A strange comment about recommending to Dulberg that he attend an upcoming pretrial settlement conference.

The inaccuracies are shown in the file 'Folder B13: Ferris declination letter marked up.pdf'.

The methods opposing counsel Flynn used to make absurd claims concerning Dulberg's meeting with Ferris and the Ferris declination letter is described in detail in 'ARDC Complaint against Gooch, Chapter 2, "TEAM-WORK" examples 5 and 6 and in 'ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams, Chapter 2, Section B.

2-1-B14. Pre-trial settlement memo.[1] A pre-trial settlement memo that Mast had written around February 14, 2015 was together with the Ferris declination letter at the Law Office of Thomas Popovich for about 2 months. The memo had been altered[2] in the time since Dulberg was shown the memo around February 14, 2015.

2-1-B15. Meijer receipt The original Meijer receipt[3] was inexplicably cut up[4] by Mast and Popovich. A comparison is made in the file 'Folder B15: Meijer receipt issues.pdf'.

Count 1, Section C: Corrupted the interrogatory and document production processes to sabotage client's case and to benefit defendants (in collaboration with opposing attorneys)

2-1-C1. Gagnon was never required to answer any interrogatory questions. Popovich and Mast never moved to compel Gagnon to answer any interrogatories.

2-1-C2. The timestamp on the Walgreens RX receipt is described in Chapter 1, paragraphs 94 to 107. Descriptions of the Walgreens RX receipt destruction of evidence was given in Chapter 2, Count 1, Section 2-B, paragraph 2B1.

2-1-C3. The Walgreens RX receipts was a key piece of evidence in case 12LA178 that Popovich and Mast hid. The Walgreens timestamps were successfully suppressed for more than 10 years by Popovich and Mast.

2-1-C4. Likewise, Tilschner v Spangler was a key piece of evidence in case 17LA377 against Popovich and Mast. Tilschner v Spangler was successfully suppressed for more than 6 years by Dulberg's attorneys Gooch, Clinton and Williams to benefit Popovich and Mast. (A detailed description of how Tilschner v Spangler was suppressed is in "ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams, in both Chapter 2, Section C, and in Appendix 1, and in ARDC Complaint against Thomas Gooch, Chapter 2, "TEAM-WORK" Example 1.)

2-1-C5. In both cases 12LA178 and 17LA377 a key piece of evidence was targeted and suppressed (by Dulberg's own attorneys). Popovich and Mast targeted the key evidence in the Walgreens RX receipts in 12LA178. Clinton and Williams targeted the key evidence of the certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler in 17LA377 (to benefit Popovich and Mast).

2-1-C6. By suppressing the timestamps of the Walgreens RX receipts Popovich and Mast were able to lead Gagnon to commit perjury during Gagnon's deposition. Popovich and Mast were also able to lead Carolyn McGuire to commit perjury during Carolyn McGuire's deposition.

Count 1, Section D: Suppressed all information on mental health issues resulting from Dulberg's injury

2-1-D1. Another document that was suppressed in both cases 12LA178 and 17LA377 is "Rosecrance Treatment Plan"[1].

2-1-D2. Dulberg sent an email with the subject "Re: Medical Expense Report" to Mast stating:[2]

> "Should I be adding treatment and meds for depression?"

2-1-D3. On Mar 26, 2013, at 11:27 AM Mast sent an email to Dulberg stating:[3]

> "Honestly, that might be difficult for several reasons. Not only will it be impossible to prove that it is due to the trauma, but it may open up the issue before the jury of whether you are a credible witness..so Id be against that frankly...."

2-1-D4. Mast told Dulberg to blacken out all medications which were prescribed by psychiatrist Dr. Elizabeth McMasters on Dulberg's pharmaceutical medication lists[4].

2-1-D5. Note that while Mast was doing this, Dulberg's SSDI attorney Meredith Marcus was successfully winning Dulberg's appeal for permanent disability by using the mental health medical information overturning the decision of Administrative Law Judge Lovert F. Bassett of the SSA Office of Disability Adjudication and Review in Evanston, Illinois.

2-1-D6. Mast, in comparison, was successfully suppressing the same mental health medical information from PI case 12LA178 to help sabotage or limit Dulberg's claims against the McGuires and Gagnon and protect Mast (himself) and the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. from the tolling provisions for those with a legal disability found in the statute of limitations for Legal Malpractice should Dulberg ever file suit. 735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(e)(f).

2-1-D7. The way SSDI attorney Meredith Marcus strategized to win Dulberg's claim for permanent disability (described in detail in APPENDIX B) contrasts sharply with how Mast and Popovich strategized to lose their PI case and cap the value of Dulberg's recovery.

2-1-D8. In one case the mental health information helped win an appeal. In the other case the mental health information was completely suppressed to help downplay the effect of the loss of the use of Dulberg's dominant right arm had on his mental health

3 Exhibit 13_DUL001570 to 1574
4 Exhibit 98_POP000862-863.pdf

2-1-D9. Popovich and Mast also protected themselves in suppressing the same mental health medical information by removing the tolling provisions for those with a legal disability found in the statute of limitations for Legal Malpractice should Dulberg ever file suit. 735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(e)(f).

2-1-D10. About 6 years later (on April 18, 2019, the same day that Dulberg sent the certified slip ruling of Tilschner v Spangler to Williams) Dulberg sent "Rosecrance Treatment Plan" to Williams. Like with Tilschner v Spangler, "Rosecrance Treatment Plan" was never bates stamped by Clinton and Williams and was never given to opposing counsel.

2-1-D11. In case 12LA178 the evidence demonstrates that Popovich and Mast suppressed "Rosecrance Treatment Plan" to downplay the severity of the impact that Dulberg's injury had on his life. In case 17LA377 there is evidence that Clinton and Williams (once again) suppressed (the same document) "Rosecrance Treatment Plan" for the benefit of Defendants Popovich and Mast effectively removing the statutory tolling provisions for persons under a legal disability found in 735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(e)(f).

Count 1, Section E: Corrupted the deposition process to sabotage client's case and to benefit defendants (in collaboration with opposing attorneys)

2-1-E1. 10 depositions were scheduled to take place during PI case 12LA178.

2-1-E2. On February 4, 2013 David Gagnon was deposed.[1]

2-1-E3. The transcript as it was provided by Urbanski Reporting Services had a certification page[2] signed by a person named "Maggie Margaret Orton".

2-1-E4. On March 25,2022 Margaret Orton was subpoenaed[3] for 20 signatures and she provided 20 signatures on April 19, 2022.

2-1-E5. Omni Document Examination did an analysis of the Orton signatures.[4]

2-1-E6. Exhibit 1 of Gagnon's deposition consists of 2 papers cut and placed together to appear as one paper.[5] There are many versions of Exhibit 1 throughout the bates-numbered documents.

2-1-E7. Exhibit 2 of Gagnon's deposition is an alleged transcript of a phone conversation.[6] Mast claimed to have a recording of the phone conversation but has never produced it. It probably does not exist.

2-1-E8. Popovich has a different version[1] of Exhibit 3 of Gagnon's deposition than Dulberg's version[2].

2-1-E9. On March 20, 2013 CAROLYN McGUIRE was deposed[3], WILLIAM McGUIRE was deposed[4], and MIKE McARTOR was deposed[5].

2-1-E10. The transcripts as they were provided by Urbanski reporting services had certification pages signed by a person named "Paula Ann Erickson".[6]

2-1-E11. On March 26, 2022 Paula Erickson was subpoenaed[7] for 20 signatures.

2-1-E12. Omni Document Examination did an analysis of the signatures.[8]

2-1-E13. After Dulberg fired Popovich and Mast and received the "Mixed Brown Box" of documents Mast gave to Balke, Dulberg noticed there were notices of doctors depositions but no depositions.

2-1-E14. According to the notices the doctors depositions were to take place on these dates:

Dr Karen Levin on October 1, 2013 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/1/2013)[9]

Dr Scott Sagerman on October 15, 2013 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/15/2013)[10]

Dr Talerico (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/16/2013)[11]

Dr Apiwat Ford on November 20, 2013 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 10/23/2013[12], Notice has date 11/20/2013[13])

Dr Kathy Kujawa July 23, 2014 (Merrill Legal Solutions, Notice has date 7/23/2014)[14]

2-1-E15. The notices state that the court reporting agency handling the depositions is Merrill Legal Solutions. Dulberg contacted Merrill Legal Solutions and was told they did not know anything about the depositions.

2-1-E16. Dulberg was told by the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. to contact Vahl reporting to get certified copies of the 5 doctors depositions.

2-1-E17. Dulberg paid Vahl reporting $723.50 for the 5 doctors depositions.[1]

2-1-E18. Dulberg showed the depositions purportedly created by VAHL REPORTING SERVICE, LTD. to his current attorney Alphonse Talarico and was told they are not usable in court because they are not signed.

2-1-E19. Dulberg tried several times over a 4 week period to contact the court reporting agency VAHL REPORTING SERVICE, LTD. to obtain legally sufficient certification pages of the 5 doctors depositions that have signatures of the court reporters but nobody called back.

2-1-E20. On March 25 and 26, 2022 Dulberg's counsel sent subpoenas for signatures to Margaret Orton[2] and Paula Erickson[3].

2-1-E21. Dulberg talked with Michael Urbanski. Urbanski told Dulberg that he would contact Vahl Reporting.

2-1-E22. On March 26, 2022 Michael Urbanski emailed Dulberg with the subject: "Vahl Reporting" stating:[4]

> "Mr. Dulberg:

2-1-E24. On March 28, 2022 at 10:01 AM Dulberg replied stating:[1]

"Dear Carrie Vahl,

Thank you for reaching out to me.

I am not sure what is on the list Mr. Urbanski sent to you so below is a list of Dr's depositions I purchased around 9/15//2015 from Vahl Reporting.

I paid $723.50 for the depositions with Check #2486 from Account #2600005536.

The issue I have with the depositions I received back in 2015 is that none of them were certified or signed by the CSR and they do not have the exhibits attached which means after all this time they are unusable in court.

I would really appreciate a PDF of the signed, certified depositions with the exhibits listed below:

22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County case number 12LA178

Dr. KAREN LEVIN, 10/1/2013, ANGELA M. INGHA, CSR , Certificate No. 084-002984

DR. SCOTT SAGERMAN, 10/15/2013, JILL S TIFFANY, CSR, Certificate No. 084-002807

Dr. MARCUS G. TALERICO, 10/28/2013, TERRI A. CLARK, CSR, Certificate No. 084-001957

Dr. APIWAT FORD, 11/20/2013, MARGRET MAGGIE ORTON, CSR, Certificate No. 84-004046

Dr. KATHY KUJAWA, 7/23/2014, JILL S TIFFANY, CSR, Certificate No. 084-002807

Please advise the best way I may obtain the certified, signed Dr's depositions listed above with the exhibit attached.

Thank you in advance for your help with this matter,

Paul"

2-1-E25. On March 28, 2022 at 11:29 AM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl responded stating:[2]

2 Group Exhibit 10: 2022-03-28_1129 AM_RECV_Re Transcripts.pdf

"Hi Paul,

Thanks for the list and the info. I never bothered to look up under your name. I was just searching for Popovich's people.

Tomorrow I can scan and email the signature pages to you for each transcript. I'm just out of the office today.

Regarding the exhibits, the defense counsel we were hired by those days never give us the exhibits. So that I can't help you with.

They might be in the original trial file with the clerk's office.

I have one more question. Maggie Orton received a records subpoena. She took a screenshot and it's attached. We don't know what you are looking for with the Twenty signatures. Is it just the cert page signature and then she's in compliance?

Let me know.

Thanks,
Carrie"

There was no attachment to the email and Dulberg did not respond.

2-1-E26. On March 28, 2022 at 13:39 PM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl sent Dulberg another email stating:[1]

"Hi Paul,

Please find attached the 5 certificate pages with the reporters' signatures.

Does this satisfy what you need from Maggie Orton? All she has, like the rest of us, is the transcript that you already have.

Thanks,
Carrie"

This email implied the individual signed certification pages from 5 different depositions all grouped into one document on their own and detached from the rest of the depositions they purportedly belong with were legally sufficient. Dulberg did not respond.

2-1-E27. On March 31, 2022 at 9:20 AM a person going by the name of Carrie Vahl sent Dulberg a final email stating:[2]

"Hi Paul,

Did you received this email with the cert pages?

Can you please let me know about the subpoena for Maggie Orton? Does her cert page satisfy what you need?

We want to be in compliance with a subpoena.

I did leave a voicemail for your attorney also but have not heard back. I don't have his email. Could you send that to me, please?

Thanks,
Carrie"

Dulberg did not respond.

2-1-E28. Dulberg received an email from a person named "Carrie Vahl" with an attachment containing 5 signed certification pages.[1]

2-1-E29. Dulberg felt these could be forgeries or something else could be wrong. Dulberg forwarded the attached documents to his attorney.

2-1-E30. After Dulberg filed a lawsuit (case 17LA377) against Popovich and Mast for legal malpractice, Popovich once again corrupted the deposition process during the deposition of Mast. This is described in 'ARDC complaint against Clinton and Williams' in Chapter 2, Section C and Section K.

Count 1, Section F: Knew Defendant Gagnon effectively admitted to negligence for Dulberg's injury

2-1-F1. On February 1, 2013 Ron Barch filed CROSS-CLAIM FOR CONTRIBUTION AGAINTS CO-DEFENDANT DAVID GAGNON[2]. In the cross-claim the McGuires state as follows:

7. At the time and place alleged, notwithstanding his aforementioned duty, Defendant David Gagnon was then and there guilty of one or more of the following negligent acts and/or omissions:

a. Caused or permitted a chainsaw to make contact with Plaintiffs right arm;

b. Failed to operate said chainsaw in a safe and reasonable manner so as to avoid injuring Plaintiff's right arm;

c. Failed to maintain a reasonable and safe distance between the chainsaw he was operating and Plaintiff's right arm;

d. Failed to properly instruct Plaintiff prior to approaching him with an operating chainsaw;

1 Group Exhibit 10: 2022-03-31_0920 AM_RECV_Re Transcripts.pdf
2 Exhibit 48_2013-02-01_CROSS CLAIM FOR CONTRIBUTION AGAINST CODEFENDANT DAVID GAGNON_CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE_Barch-McGuires copy-OCR.pdf

e. Failed to properly warn Plaintiff prior to approaching him with an operating chainsaw;

f. Failed to maintain the chainsaw in the idle or off position when he knew or should have known that Plaintiff was close enough to sustain injury from direct contact with the subject chainsaw;

g. Failed to maintain a proper lookout for Plaintiff while operating the subject chainsaw;

h. Failed to maintain proper control over an operating chainsaw;

i. Was otherwise negligent in the operation and control of the subject chainsaw.

8. That the injuries alleged by Plaintiff PAUL DULBERG, if any, were the direct and proximate result of negligence on the part of Defendant David Gagnon.

David Gagnon or his attorney has never filed an answer to these allegations in the CROSS-CLAIM for contribution. By not filing an answer to CROSS-CLAIM for contribution Gagnon effectively admitted to each of the charges (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) and (i) as of early March, 2013.

Count 1, Section G: Knew Defendant Gagnon committed perjury

2-1-G1. Mast and Popovich were in possession of the actual timestamps so they knew that David Gagnon committed perjury. In fact, Mast intentionally led Gagnon to commit perjury during the deposition.

Count 1, Section H: Knew Defendant Carolyn McGuire committed perjury

2-1-H1. Mast and Popovich were in possession of the actual timestamps so they knew that Carolyn McGuire committed perjury as early as March 19, 2013 (more than 9 months before Mast and Popovich manipulated Dulberg into settling his claim against the McGuires for only $5,000).

COUNT 2: SETTLEMENT FRAUD to sabotage client's recovery and benefit defendants Dulberg's $5,000 settlement with the McGuires was coerced.

2-2-1. The coerced settlement process is described in detail in Chapter 1. What follows is a condensed summary:

a) Mast and Popovich knew that Carolyn McGuire committed perjury on March 20, 2013. Popovich and Mast concealed the timestamp on the Walgreens RX receipt to help Carolyn McGuire commit perjury.

b) Beginning in October 2013 Mast tried to convince Dulberg that the McGuires are in no way responsible for Dulberg's injury.

c) On October 22, 2013 Popovich and Mast made an offer to McGuire attorney Barch for Dulberg to settle his claim against the McGuires for $7,500. The offer was never discussed with Dulberg and Dulberg was never informed the offer was made.

d) On November 18, 2013 Barch claimed that he had been authorized to make an offer of $5,000 to Dulberg. Mast presented the offer of $5,000 to Dulberg as an offer initiated by the McGuires (and not as a counter-offer initiated by Mast himself). Dulberg did not know about all the nefarious activity that had been taking place (which is desribed in this complaint).

e) On November 20, 2013 Mast relied on the Appellate Court's slip ruling ~~of~~ in Tilschner v Spangler as the basis for the change in Masts legal opinion on the McGuire's liability to try to convince Dulberg that the McGuires were not legally liable for his injury. He explained that Tilschner v Spangler confirms that Restatement of Torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois. It is for this reason (because the Restatement of Torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois) that the McGuires were not responsible for Dulberg's injury.

f) By around December 26, 2013 Mast eventually convinced his fully disabled client to settle his claim with the McGuires for $5000.

g) When Dulberg later filed legal malpractice complaint 17LA377 against Mast and Popovich his own legal malpractice attorneys Gooch, Clinton and Williams successfully suppressed the certified slip copy of Tilschner v Spangler and any mention of Tilschner v Spangler from court records for over 6 years. (A detailed description of how the document was suppressed is in ARDC Complaint against Clinton and Williams, in both Chapter 2, Section C, and Section K, and in ARDC Complaint against Thomas Gooch[1], Chapter 2, "TEAM-WORK" Example 1.)

2-2-2. Popovich and Mast also attempted to coerce Dulberg to settle with Gagnon. A concise summary follows:

a) Mast and Popovich knew that Gagnon committed perjury on February 4, 2013. They concealed the timestamp on the Walgreens RX receipt and led Gagnon through a series of questions in which they knew Gagnon committed perjury.

b) Mast and Popovich also knew that Gagnon effectively admitted negligence for Dulberg's injury as of early March, 2013. It was with this knowledge that Popovich and Mast, beginning in late September, 2014 acted to settle Dulberg's claim against Gagnon for $50,000 or less.

1 ARDC Complaint Against Thomas Gooch will be filed in September, 2023.

c) On around Septenber 25, 2014 Dulberg suffered from a severe migriane headache. Mast offered to settle case.

d) About 1 week after Dulberg's migraine he received a call about the expiration of medical liens by "Colleen" and she threatened to take Dulberg's home.

e) On November 26, 2014 Dulberg reacted to the pressure not by settling with Gagnon but by declaring Bankruptcy. Federal bankrupty laws like automatic stay, PI case standing transferred to trustee, and change in jurisdiction changed Dulberg's status immediately but Dulberg was unaware of this.

f) Mast valued the PI case with bankruptcy Trustee Heeg at $50,000 (from Gagnon) + $5,000 (from the previous McGuire settlement) totalling $55,000

g) Popovich and Mast avoided contracting with bankruptcy Trustee Heeg while they continued attempting to settle case in the 22nd Judicial Circuit Court (which had no jurisdiction) for Dulberg (who had no standing as plaintiff) in violation of the automatic stay.

h) pre-trial settlement memo which asked $50,000 to settle

i) Dulberg refused

j) Mast resigned

k) The pre-trial settlement memo was in the possession of Popovich and Mast without Dulberg knowing for about 2 months just after Mast resigned. The plaintiff offer in the memo inexplicably changed from $50,000 to $135,000 while in the possession of Popovich and Mast. Popovich and Mast have never acknowledged they were in possession of the memo during this time.

COUNT 3: VIOLATION OF FEDERAL BANKRUPTCY LAWS to sabotage client's recovery and benefit defendants

2-3-1. Popovich and Mast:

a) Acted in violation of the automatic stay

b) Acted to place an upper limit on the value of the PI case in a court that had no jurisdiction

APPENDIX A: An analysis of Tilschner v Spangler. Was Tilschner sabotaged, too?

AP-1. It was not difficult to research case law and verify that the Restatement of Torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois. This was pointed out by the appellate court judges. Case law is quite clear on this. What is not clear is why Popovich and Mast thought otherwise.

AP-2. As the Appellate Court judges also point out, Popovich and Mast don't make any convincing arguments to the contrary. They do not cite any case law supporting their argument.

AP-3. The strategy makes no sense. The question of whether Restatement of Torts 318 is applicable in Illinois would be resolved by analyzing past cases. Illinois case law is clear on this subject. Popovich and Mast cited no case law while appearing to attempt to overturn established practice. They also argued poorly. They were obviously going to loose their appeal. So why did they appeal on losing arguments just after voluntarily dropping the valid part of their claim in the circuit court?

AP-4. It is highly likely that Popovich and Mast never expected to win Tilschner's appeal. It is quite possible that Popovich and Mast knew they would lose the argument, and argued in a way that would assure Tilschner loses her appeal after they voluntarily dropped the valid part of the claim in circuit court.

AP-5. LEGAL ANALYSIS OF WHY POPOVICH AND MAST DROPPED TILSCHNER'S COUNT 2 CLAIM

As stated in Tilschner v Spangler:

> Patricia was injured during a party at the home of defendant Lowell Spangler when defendant Ralph Ruppel ignited fireworks. Patricia's third amended complaint contained three counts. Count I alleged common-law negligence against Spangler. Count II alleged negligence against Spangler pursuant to section 318 of the Restatement (Second) of Torts. Count III alleged common-law negligence against Ruppel. Spangler moved to dismiss count II, pursuant to section 2–615 of the Code of Civil Procedure (735 ILCS 5/2–615 (West 2008)). The trial court granted the motion to dismiss with prejudice and denied Patricia's subsequent motion to reconsider. Patricia filed an application for leave to appeal to this court pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 308 (eff.Feb.26, 2010), which was denied. Patricia was also denied leave to file a fourth amended complaint. She then voluntarily dismissed count I of the third amended complaint, and the trial court found no just reason to delay enforcement or appeal, pursuant to Illinois Supreme Court Rule 304(a) (eff.Feb.26, 2010). This appeal followed.
>
> Patricia now contends that the trial court erred in dismissing count II of her third amended complaint.

AP-6. The rest of the appellate court argument analyzed the applicability of Restatement of Torts 318 in Illinois based on case law history. This makes sense because this is what the appellate court was asked to reconsider by Popovich and Mast

AP-7. Using the information described in this ARDC Complaint one must wonder:

> Why did Tilschner voluntarily drop Count I alleging common law negligence against the homeowner?

AP-8. It is a strange decision to voluntarily drop Count I while pursuing and appealing on Count II. Tilschner was assumably given legal advice by Popovich and Mast to drop Count I while Tilschner was assumably told by Popovich and Mast to pursue Count II on appeal.

Why drop the claim of common law negligence against the homeowner while pursuing negligence based on Restatement of Torts 318?

Was the focus on how Restatement of Torts 318 was not applicable in Illinois just a decoy to distract from how Count I was "voluntarily" dropped?

AP-9. As described in Chapter 1 Dulberg was told by Mast that Dulberg had no claim against the homeowners because the Restatement of Torts 318 is not applicable in Illinois. Was Tilschner told the same thing by Popovich and Mast? If so, this would explain why Tilschner "voluntarily" dismissed Count I. She was most probably told by Popovich and Mast that Count I depends on Count II and that Count II is the stronger legal argument. If so, this would explain Tilschner's "voluntary" action.

Re: Paul Dulberg v. The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast
22nd Judicial Circuit Court of McHenry County, Illinois
Trial Court Case No. 17 LA 000377
Appellate Court Case No. 2-23-0072
ARDC No. 2023IN03135

Dear Mr. Renfroe:

I write on behalf of attorney Hans Mast in response to your letter of September 20, 2023 referencing the above captioned matter.

Mr. Mast was the primary handling attorney of Mr. Dulberg's personal injury case arising out of an accident involving a chainsaw when Mr. Dulberg was represented for a period of time by the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich P.C. ("Popovich"). In that case, Dulberg assisted his friend David Gagnon with trimming some downed tree branches on the property of Gagnon's mother and step-father, the McGuire's. Based on his professional judgment, Mast questioned the viability of the claim against the McGuire's and suggested that Mr. Dulberg accept a settlement offer of $5,000 from the McGuire's, while continuing to prosecute the case against Gagnon.

I have represented Mast and Popovich in a legal malpractice action brought by Mr. Dulberg regarding the representation described above. Mr. Mast denies any wrongdoing and denies violating any of the Rules of Professional Conduct relative to his representation of Dulberg.

Dulberg's claim in the malpractice action has "evolved" since its inception. For example, as he has claimed here in his complaint, he asserted a theory of undue influence and coercion against Mast with respect to Mast's suggestion that Dulberg accept the $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuire's (Coercion and Settlement Fraud alleged here at p. 70 of Dulberg's Complaint). However, in his deposition, Dulberg admitted that there was no coercion (See Dulberg deposition pages 70-76). Dulberg further admitted on cross-examination that he deliberated over the settlement offer for several weeks. He examined deposition testimony and ultimately executed a Settlement Release which Mast had mailed him. In his deposition, Dulberg described the process of executing the Settlement Release, and mailing it to Mast from his home. Notably, Dulberg's initial Complaint at Law alleged coercion, while his subsequent pleadings abandoned this theory.

Judge Joel Berg granted Mast and Popovich's Motion for Summary Judgment in the legal malpractice claim, based on a statute of limitations defense. However, Mast denies any malpractice, and has raised additional affirmative defenses, such as judgmental immunity ("attorney judgment rule"). That defense, as well as Dulberg's inability to prove the "case within the case" as to the McGuire's liability in the underlying case, will be raised in the future for some reason the case is reversed and remanded.

We attach a copy of Mast's and Popovich's Motion for Summary Judgment, with exhibits, as it is probably the best summary of the facts, claims, and defenses in the case. Transcripts from Paul Dulberg's and Hans Mast's discovery depositions are attached as exhibits to the Motion for Summary Judgment. It would be extremely difficult to respond to the many theories and claims made in the 74 page complaint. We believe that the testimony of Dulberg and Mast refutes each of those theories and claims.

Should you have any questions or require additional materials, please do not hesitate to contact me at your earliest convenience.

Very truly yours,

DEFENDANTS THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. AND HANS MAST'S MOTION/MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF THEIR MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Defendants, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast ("Mast") (sometimes collectively "Popovich") by and through their attorneys Karbal, Cohen, Economou, Silk, & Dunne, LLC, pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-1005, submit this Motion/Memorandum in Support of their Motion for Summary Judgment, and state as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Paul Dulberg ("Dulberg") was allegedly injured on June 28, 2011 when he was assisting a friend, David Gagnon ("Gagnon"), trim a tree with a chainsaw in the backyard of a home owned by Dulberg's neighbors, Bill and Carolyn McGuire ("The McGuires"). Gagnon, who is Carolyn McGuire's son, and Dulberg were both over the age of 40 at the time of the accident. Dulberg retained defendant Popovich to prosecute a personal injury lawsuit against Gagnon and the McGuires. Defendant Hans Mast was the primary handling attorney. Eventually, in Mast's legal opinion, the case against the property owners was weak because the evidence showed they did not control the work. Mast recommended Dulberg accept the McGuires' settlement offer. Dulberg deliberated and accepted the McGuires' offer in January 2014. Thus McGuires were dismissed from the lawsuit in January 2014, and Dulberg continued to prosecute the case against Gagnon.

Popovich and Mast withdrew from representing Dulberg on March 13, 2015. Dulberg later settled with Gagnon, and waited until November 28, 2017 to sue Popovich and Mast. In an unavailing attempt to excuse the late filing of his lawsuit, Dulberg alleges that he did not become aware of a claim against defendants until he sought a legal opinion in December of 2016. He has never been able to explain what legal opinion he received or how it caused him to "discover" his claim and damages, or why he still waited almost another year after December 2016 to file his lawsuit. Summary judgment must be entered because Dulberg's claims are barred by the two-year statute of limitations for Illinois legal malpractice claims under 735 ILCS 13/214.3(b).

II. STATEMENT OF CLAIM

The following facts can be gleaned from the Complaint (Exhibit A), Amended Complaint (Exhibit B) and Second Amended Complaint (Exhibit C).[1] [2]

On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg was involved in an accident while assisting David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. Exhibit A, ¶6. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike Dulberg. Exhibit A, ¶7. In May 2012, Dulberg retained the Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich. Exhibit A, ¶8. In late 2013 or early 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and agreed with Mast to accept $5,000, releasing William and Caroline McGuire. Exhibit A, ¶13. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg through March of 2015. Exhibit A, ¶14. Thereafter, Dulberg retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding

[1] The Complaint and Amended Complaint were filed by The Gooch Firm and signed by attorney Thomas W. Gooch, III.

[2] Dulberg denied the material allegations contained in Popovich's Affirmative Defenses, including its Second Affirmative Defense based on the two-year statute of limitation. (Dulberg Answer to Affirmative Defenses, Exhibit D).

mediation where he received an award. Exhibit A, ¶16. Dulberg alleges that following the execution of the mediation agreement and final mediation award, he realized for the first time that the information Mast and Popovich had given him was false and misleading and that the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016. Exhibit A, ¶20.

In his First Amended Complaint, Dulberg modified his "discovery" allegations and alleged "it was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinion that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000 on an "all or nothing" basis. Exhibit B, ¶29. In ¶30 he reiterates that "Dulberg was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016." Exhibit B, ¶30.

Dulberg's first substitute counsel in this case filed a Second Amended Complaint, further modifying the allegations. It is alleged that "after accepting a $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating that "I trust your judgment." Exhibit C, ¶48. He further alleges in ¶55 of Ex. C that "only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable." Exhibit C, ¶55. He also alleges that following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information that Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading and that the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake. Exhibit C, ¶56. He alleged that it was not until the mediation in December 2016 based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000 on an "all or nothing" basis. Exhibit C, ¶57. Dulberg's allegations of Popovich' breaches of the standard of care are contained in Exhibit C, ¶58 as follows:

> 58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:
>
> a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;
>
> b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;
>
> c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance company would pay close to that;
>
> d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;
>
> e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the[sic] all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;
>
> f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

III. UNDISPUTED MATERIAL FACTS

A. Paul Dulberg Testimony

Dulberg has hired a personal injury attorney in 2002 and has hired a corporate lawyer in the past. (Dulberg Deposition, Exhibit E, pp.8, 9). He was injured on June 28, 2011 while assisting David Gagnon with a chainsaw cutting up some branches after they were removed from a tree. (Exhibit E, pp.12, 13). He hired Popovich to sue Gagnon and Bill and Carolyn McGuire in connection with his June 28, 2011 injury. (Exhibit E, pp. 9, 30). Hans Mast was the primary handling attorney. (Exhibit E, p. 30). Brad Balke substituted for Dulberg on March 19, 2015 when Popovich withdrew. (Exhibit E, p. 35). Dulberg asked hundreds of lawyers to take over his case when Popovich withdrew, but none accepted. (Exhibit, E, p. 36). Dulberg fired Balke prior to the binding arbitration, and he was then represented by the Baudin Law Firm. While Brad Balke handled the case, Balke never gave him an opinion as to the liability of the McGuires and whether the prior settlement was appropriate. (Exhibit E, p. 42). At some point, Dulberg hired The Daley Disability Law Firm to assist him with a Social Security disability claim. A criminal lawyer represented him in a guilty plea for drug possession in 1990. (Exhibit E, pp.34-35) (Exhibit E, p. 43). At some point during the case, it was Hans Mast's opinion that the McGuires did not have liability because they did not control the work David Gagnon was doing. (Exhibit E, pp. 50, 51). Mr. McGuire was inside the house for 45 minutes before the accident happened. (Exhibit E, pp. 51, 52).

On November 18, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg and relayed a $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires. (Exhibit E, p.52). Mast suggested that the $5,000 offer be accepted. Dulberg testified that at one point, "Mast defined what an independent contractor is and he said that David was an independent contractor and the McGuires weren't liable because they had hired somebody outside even though it's their own son, he is an adult, outside to do the work and that they weren't responsible." (Exhibit E, p.55). Dulberg believed that Mast was relying on his honest legal opinion at the time. (Exhibit E, p.59). Dulberg did not accept the settlement offer on November 8, 2013. Dulberg met with Mast on November 20, 2013. (Exhibit E, p.61). Then Dulberg reviewed the depositions of the McGuires and David Gagnon before he accepted the offer. (Exhibit E, p.63). Eventually Dulberg told Mast that he would agree to accept the $5,000 settlement offer from the McGuires, just before Christmas in December of 2013. (Exhibit E, p.66) Dulberg received a letter with a settlement release from Mast on January 29, 2014 and signed it and sent it back. (Exhibit E, p.69). From December 25 until he received the settlement release, he contacted Mast again to discuss whether it would be appropriate to let the McGuires out for $5,000. (Exhibit E, p.70). Dulberg did not talk to any other lawyers and there was nothing preventing him from seeking a second opinion from some other lawyer at the time. (Exhibit E, p.71). Dulberg emailed Mast with a question about the release on January 29, 2014, and then put a stamp on the envelope with the executed release, put it in his mailbox, put the flag up, and waited for the mailman. (Exhibit E, pp. 71, 72). Mast did not force him to take the settlement. (Exhibit E, p.73).

The case continued against Gagnon through discovery and some of Dulberg's doctors were deposed. (Exhibit E, pp. 78, 79). Dulberg told Mast "First, I'm sorry that I'm not a better witness to prove David cut me with a chainsaw." Dulberg already started looking for new lawyers in the summer of 2014. Mast thought the case against David Gagnon was difficult. (Exhibit E, p.81). Mast told Dulberg that he did not make a good witness at his deposition. (Exhibit E, p.82). Dulberg and Gagnon were the only people who witnessed the accident. (Exhibit E, p.83). There were differences between the factual testimony provided by Gagnon and Dulberg in the underlying case. (Exhibit E, p.83). His relationship with Mast was deteriorating over the fall and winter of 2015, even long before that. (Exhibit E, p.86). On February 22, 2015, Dulberg wrote in an email to Mast "Now I'm left wondering... how hard it is to sue an attorney?" (Exhibit F). When asked what the reference to suing an attorney meant he replied:

A. That was me being angry.

Q. With Hans?

A. Yes. I was seeing red.

Q. You're suggesting that you may sue him?

A. Yeah. I didn't know that I could. I'm wondering about it.

Q. You, basically, made a threat, whether it be a veiled threat or an overt threat to sue him, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. You, ultimately, sued him for legal malpractice, right?

A. Yes.

On February 22, 2015, Mast wrote in an email to Dulberg "Paul, I can no longer represent you in the case. We obviously have differences of opinion as to the value of the case." (Exhibit E, p.91). Mast speculated that seven out of ten times he would lose the case outright. (Exhibit E, p.92). Dulberg filed for bankruptcy. He was ordered by the bankruptcy trustee to participate in binding mediation on December 8, 2016. (Exhibit E, p.96). Dulberg admitted that the allegation in his complaint regarding Popovich being involved with the high/low agreement in the mediation was a mistake. (Exhibit E, p.103). Dulberg testified that it was Baudin that advised him to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling legal malpractice matters. (Exhibit E, p.108). The lawyer he received the legal opinion on December 16, 2016 was Thomas Gooch, the drafter of the Complaint in this case. (Exhibit E, p.108). It was confirmed by Gooch on December 16, 2016 that Dulberg had a valid case against Popovich. (Exhibit E, p.113). He did not file a lawsuit until nearly a year later because "Thomas Gooch had some health issues and that his wife had some health issues. It took a while." (Exhibit E, p.114). Dulberg agreed that the legal opinion he received on December 16, 2016 was responsive to Interrogatory No. 1 from Dulberg's answers to Mast's Interrogatories. (Exhibit E, pp.125, 126). The legal opinion Dulberg received from Gooch was verbal. (Exhibit E, p.130). Gooch simply stated, "You have a case here. You have a valid case." (Exhibit E, p.130). When asked did he tell you exactly what they did wrong in connection with your – their representation of you, Dulberg replied "He probably did. I'm not recalling it right now. I'm pulling a blank." (Exhibit E, p.131).

Dulberg was questioned further: "Other than you have a case, what did Gooch say to you?" Dulberg responded, "He said they definitely committed malpractice." When asked whether Gooch ever put this in writing, Dulberg replied, "I think he backed it up by filing a suit. That's documented." (Exhibit E, p.136). Dulberg was asked, "As you sit here today, other than you have a case against Popovich and Mast, what did Gooch tell you specifically that was any different than what Mast and Popovich told you with respect to the McGuires' liability? Answer: They were definitely liable. He tried to say that – like Popovich and Mast were first – or second year lawyers and that they may have made a mistake here." (Ex. E, pp.139-140).

B. Hans Mast Testimony

Mast graduated from Kent Law School in 1991 and has been admitted to practice law in Illinois since 1991. (Mast Deposition, Exhibit G, p.10). He joined the Popovich firm in 2001 and worked there for approximately 18 years. (Exhibit G, p.12). He testified that every time he met with Dulberg: "Every time we met, we talked about this because this was the subject at the time with the McGuires and the testimony of the McGuires, given Paul' testimony, given the lack of any evidence that they were controlling any work or even knew what Paul was doing, I felt it was a big, high risk at moving forward on that claim." (Exhibit G, p.43). Mast thought Paul's case was going to be very difficult to prove based on the testimony of everybody, credibility issues, and the lack of evidence to support and prove. (Exhibit G, p.77). Gagon's testimony regarding the facts surrounding the accident differed from Paul Dulberg's version of the facts. (Exhibit G, p.77). Mast took that difference in testimony into account in his evaluation and his analysis of the case. (Exhibit G, p.77). Mast also took into account Paul Dulberg's poor performance as a witness at his discovery deposition. Mast's analysis and evaluation of the case hinged in part on whether the McGuires controlled the method of the use of the chainsaw. Mast testified that the McGuires were inside the house and not paying attention to what was going on outside at the time of the accident. (Exhibit G, p.78). Mast's recommendation or suggestion that Dulberg settle the case for $5,000 against the McGuires was based on his analysis of the entire case, including the risks and benefits of going forward and potentially losing the case at trial. (Exhibit G, pp.78,79). Based on his professional judgment, Mast suggested that Dulberg attempt to settle the matter as opposed to taking it to trial against the McGuires. (Exhibit G, p.79).

IV. LEGAL STANDARD

The purpose of summary judgment is not to try a question of fact but to determine whether there is a genuine issue of material fact. N. Ill. Emergency Physicians v. Landau, Omahana, & Kopka, Ltd., 216 Ill. 2d 294, 305 (2005). Summary judgment is proper if, when viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmovant, the pleadings, depositions, admissions, and affidavits on record establish that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Id. A defendant moving for summary judgment may meet the initial burden of production by either affirmatively showing that some element of the case must be resolved in defendant's favor, or by showing the absence of evidence supporting the plaintiff's position on one or more elements of the cause of action. Hutchcraft v. Independent Mechanical Industries, Inc., 312 Ill App. 3d 351, 355 (4th Dist.,2000). The plaintiff is not required to prove his case at the summary judgment stage; in order to survive a motion for summary judgment, he must present a factual basis that would arguably entitle him to a judgment. Robidoux v. Oliphant, 201 Ill. 2d 324, 335 (2002).

V. ARGUMENT

Dulberg's legal malpractice claim against Popovich is time barred by the two (2) year statute of limitations set forth in 735 ILCS 5/2-614.3.

735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(b) reads as follows:

> (b) An action for damages based on tort, contract or otherwise (i) against an attorney arising out of an act or omission in the performance of professional services [...] must be commenced within 2 years from the time the person bringing the action knew or reasonably should have known of the injury for which damages are sought.

735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(b).

While Popovich denies breaching any standard of care or proximately causing Dulberg any damages, assuming arguendo there was malpractice, Dulberg knew or should have known of his injury and that it was wrongfully caused when Popovich withdrew. In the alternative, Dulberg should have investigated any potential claims when he questioned the appropriateness of settling with the McGuires.

In his various pleadings, Dulberg alleged that Popovich concealed his malpractice and coerced him to settle with the McGuires, but his own testimony does not bear out any such concealment. He also attempts to plead that he did not discover the malpractice and his injury until December 12, 2016, but his anticipatory pleading is not supported by his own testimony. Under any analysis, Dulberg knew or should have known of the alleged malpractice and his injury by the time Popovich withdrew. Dulberg fails to meet his burden of proving a discovery date that would toll the limitations period.

To state a cause of action for legal malpractice, the plaintiff must allege facts to establish (1) the defendant attorney owed the plaintiff client a duty of due care arising from an attorney-client relationship, (2) the attorney breached that duty, (3) the client suffered an injury in the form of actual damages, and (4) the actual damages resulted as a proximate cause of the breach." Nelson v. Quarles & Grady, 2013 IL App (1st) 123122 at [*P28], citing Fox v. Seiden, 382 Ill. App. 3d 288, 294 (1st Dist. 2008). A legal malpractice suit is by its nature dependent upon a predicate lawsuit. Claire Associates v. Pontikes, 151 Ill. App. 3d 116, 122 (1st Dist. 1986). Thus, a legal malpractice claim presents a "case within a case." Id. "[N]o malpractice exists unless counsel's negligence has resulted in the loss of an underlying cause of action, or the loss of a meritorious defense if the attorney was defending in the underlying suit."

The two-year statute of limitations for legal malpractice under 735 ILCS 5/13-214.3(b) incorporates the discovery rule which delays commencement of the statute of limitations until the plaintiff knows or reasonably should have known of the injury or that it may have been wrongfully caused. Scheinblum v. Schain Banks Kenny & Schwartz, Ltd., 2021 IL App. (1st) 200798 at [*P24], quoting Dancor International, Ltd. v. Friedman, Goldberg & Mintz, 288 Ill. App. 3d 666 (1st Dist. 1997). Under this rule, the statute of limitations begins to run when the injured party "has a reasonable belief that the injury was caused by wrongful conduct, thereby creating an obligation to inquire further on that issue." Scheinblum at [*P24] citing Janousek v. Katten Muchin Rosenman LLP, 2015 IL App (1st) 142989. Under the discovery rule, "a statute of limitations may run despite the lack of actual knowledge of negligent conduct." SK Partners I, LP, 408 Ill. App. 3d at 130 (1st Dist. 2011). A "person knows or reasonably should know an injury is 'wrongfully caused' when he or she possesses sufficient information concerning an injury and its cause to put a reasonable person on inquiry to determine whether actionable conduct had occurred." Janousek at [*p13]. Under Illinois law, the burden is on the injured party to inquire further as to the existence of a cause of action. "When a plaintiff uses the discovery rule to delay the commencement of the statute of limitations, the burden is on the plaintiff to prove the date of discovery." Dancor at 673. Identification of one wrongful cause of the plaintiff's injuries initiates his limitations period as to all other causes. Carlson v. Fish, 2015 IL App (1st) 140526 at ¶39.

In Blue Water Partners, Inc. v. Mason, 2012 IL App (1st) 102165, the Appellate Court again had the occasion to examine the discovery rule under the two-year legal malpractice statute of limitations. The court ruled that the statute of limitations begins to run when the purportedly injured party "has a reasonable belief that the injury was caused by wrongful conduct, thereby creating an obligation to inquire further on that issue." Blue Water Partners at [*P51]. In that case, the court found little dispute that the plaintiff acted on its obligation to inquire further on possible wrongful conduct when consulting with an attorney about potential claims, albeit the Plaintiff lacked diligence in filing the suit.

In the recent Illinois Supreme Court case Suburban Real Estate Servs. v. Carlson, 2022 IL 126935, the court distinguished between transactional malpractice and legal malpractice arising out of litigation. The court explained that when the attorney's negligence arises out of underlying litigation, no injury exists, and therefore no actionable claim arises, unless and until the attorney's negligence results in a loss of the underlying cause of action. The court explained that in "this type of legal malpractice claim, commonly referred to as a 'case within a case,' the allegation is that the client suffered a monetary loss and but for the attorney's negligence the client would have recovered in the underlying litigation." Suburban Real Estate at [*P19] and [citing Tri-G, Inc. v. Burke, Bosselman & Weaver, 222 Ill. 2d 218 (2006). In Fox v. Seiden, 382 Ill. App. 3d 288 (1st Dist. 2008), the appellate court analyzed the requirement of actual damages and held that where malpractice was alleged in the prosecution of a case, the entry of judgment in that underlying case, as opposed to the payment of judgment, is sufficient to establish the element of damages in order to state a legal malpractice claim. Fox at 297, 299. Here, the settlement with the McGuires was executed by January 29, 2014, and they were dismissed with prejudice in January 2014. (Dismissal Order, Exhibit H).

On its face, Dulberg's legal malpractice complaint is time barred. He bears the burden of proving a date of discovery that can salvage his claim, but Dulberg has not and can never meet that burden. Dulberg's deposition testimony and pleadings are vague and inconsistent with respect to how Popovich breached the standard of care, and when and how he became aware that his injury was wrongfully caused. As discussed, Dulberg's own testimony refutes many of his allegations of concealment, undue influence and coercion.

Dulberg has fiddled with his "discovery" allegations, going back and forth as to when and how he became aware of his malpractice claim and damages. First, he plead that he sought a legal opinion, and received that opinion on December 16, 2016. The legal opinion was supplied by the same attorney who filed his first two pleadings in this case. Then he changed his pleading and theory and attempted to rely on discovery by virtue of the report of a "chainsaw expert" he read in connection with the December 2016 mediation. However, he actually received the opinion (Exhibit I) in July 2016 but "you don't catch everything the first time you read it." (Exhibit D, p.141). Notably the report from Dr. Lanford is dated much earlier, February 27, 2016 and was addressed to Dulberg's then attorney, Randy Baudin.

Here defendants painstakingly attempted to seek discovery as to how Popovich allegedly breached the standard of care, and when and how Dulberg became aware of any damages. Dulberg's discovery responses and deposition testimony were repeatedly evasive. See Dulberg testimony, Exhibit D, pages 106 to 141. This behavior continued and caused the need for a motion to compel (See Group Exhibit J, Motion to Compel, Motion to Supplement Motion to Compel, and July 19, 2021 transcript from hearing).

Moreover, Dulberg's dissatisfaction with Popovich's representation surfaced much earlier, and he even threatened in writing to sue Mast as early as February 22, 2015. Dulberg, no "babe in the woods" when it comes to experience with litigation retention, met with "hundreds" of attorneys and had opportunity after opportunity to investigate and inquire as to whether Popovich breached the standard of care and caused him any damage in connection with the case (including prosecution of the case against Gagnon and the McGuires). The many cases cited above establish the Plaintiff's duty to inquire, and here Dulberg had the tools, the information, and opportunity to inquire. His contrived late discovery of his claims and damages should not be countenanced by this court. He was clearly questioning whether he should agree to accept the McGuires' offer, and he deliberated on it extensively. Nothing prevented him from seeking a second opinion. Likewise, nothing prevented him from inquiring of Mr. Balke or the Baudin firm whether his injury was wrongfully caused. Summary Judgment must be entered as his claims are barred by the two-year statute of limitations.

VI. CONCLUSION

Wherefore, Defendants, The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast, pray that the motion for summary judgment be granted, that summary judgment be entered in its favor and against Plaintiff, and for any other relief that this court deems just and appropriate.

PAUL DULBERG,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., and HANS MAST, Defendant.

No. 17LA000377

NOTICE

THIS CASE IS HEREBY SET FOR A SCHEDULING CONFERENCE IN COURTROOM 201 ON 02/27/2018, AT 9:00 AM. FAILURE TO APPEAR MAY RESULT IN THE CASE BEING DISMISSED OR AN ORDER OF DEFAULT BEING ENTERED.

COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

EXHIBIT A

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the neighborhood.

7. At this time, Gaguon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike DULBERG. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants property filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and told DULBERG he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuire's for the sum of $5,000.00. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST and to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

14. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship.

15. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled. Then, due to a claimed failure of communication, MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

16. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. Unfortunately, a "high-low agreement" had been executed by DULBERG, reducing the maximum amount he could recover to $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. The award was substantially more than that sum of money, and could have been recovered from McGuire's had they not been dismissed from the Complaint. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

17. The McGuire's were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuire's were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

18. DULBURG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

19. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBURG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuire's would only complicate the case.

20. Following the execution of the mediation agreement with the "high-low agreement" contained therein, and the final mediation award, DULBURG realized for the first time that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuire's was a serious and substantial mistake. Following the mediation, DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from an attorney handling Legal Malpractice matters, and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

21. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBURG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuire's) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG;

d) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property;

e) Improperly urged DULBURG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

f) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuire's and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

g) Falsely advised DULBURG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuire's was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBURG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377

h) Failed to properly explain to DULBURG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

i) Continually reassured DULBURG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

j) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG, concealing from him necessary facts for DULBURG to make an informed decision as to the McGuire's, instead coercing him into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury.

22. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBURG to release the McGuire's, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Received 11-28-2017 04:31 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 11-29-2017 09:53 AM / Transaction #17111117451 / Case #17LA000377
Page 11 of 19

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

21. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to control operation of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep the chainsaw a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

22. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

c. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

Binding Mediation Award

Paul Dulberg

v.

David Gagnon

ADR Systems File # 33391BMAG

On December 8, 2016, the matter was called for binding mediation before the Honorable James P. Etchingham, (Ret.), in Chicago, IL. According to the agreement entered into by the parties, if a voluntary settlement through negotiation could not be reached the mediator would render a settlement award which would be binding to the parties. Pursuant to that agreement the mediator finds as follows:

Finding in favor of: Paul Dulberg

Gross Award: $660,000.

Comperative fault: 15 % (if applicable)

Net Award: $561,000

Comments/Explanation

Medical	$ 60,000.
Future medical	$ 200,000.
Lost wage	$ 250,000.
P.I.S	75,000.
L.N.L	75,000.

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT AT LAW
(Legal Malpractice)

COMES NOW your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG (hereinafter also referred to as "DULBERG"), by and through his attorneys, THE GOOCH FIRM, and as and for his First Amended Complaint against THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. (hereinafter also referred to as "POPOVICH"), and HANS MAST (hereinafter also referred to as "MAST"), states the following:

1. Your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, is a resident of McHenry County, Illinois, and was such a resident at all times complained of herein.

2. Your Defendant, THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., is a law firm operating in McHenry County, Illinois, and transacting business on a regular and daily basis in McHenry County, Illinois.

3. Your Defendant, HANS MAST, is either an agent, employee, or partner of THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C. MAST is a licensed attorney in the State of Illinois, and was so licensed at all times relevant to this Complaint.

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

EXHIBIT B

4. That due to the actions and status of MAST in relation to POPOVICH, the actions and inactions of MAST are directly attributable to his employer, partnership, or principal, being THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPVICH, P.C.

5. Venue is therefore claimed proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

6. On or about June 28, 2011, your Plaintiff, DULBERG was involved in a horrendous accident, having been asked by his neighbors Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, in assisting a David Gagnon in the cutting down of a tree on the McGuire property. DULBERG lived in the same area.

7. At this time, Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw he was using causing it to strike and cut DULBERG's arm. This caused substantial and catastrophic injuries to DULBERG, including but not limited to great pain and suffering, current as well as future medical expenses, in an amount in excess of $260,000.00, along with lost wages in excess of $250,000.00, and various other damages.

8. In May of 2012, DULBERG retained THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C., pursuant to a written retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A.

9. A copy of the Complaint filed by MAST on his own behalf, and on behalf of DULBERG, is attached hereto as Exhibit B, and the allegations of that Complaint are fully incorporated into this Complaint as if fully set forth herein.

10. An implied term of the retainer agreement attached hereto as Exhibit A, was that at all times, the Defendants would exercise their duty of due care towards their client and conform their acts and actions within the standard of care every attorney owes his client.

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

11. That as Exhibit B reveals, Defendants properly filed suit against not only the operator of the chain saw, but also his principals, Caroline McGuire and William McGuire, who purportedly were supervising him in his work on the premises.

12. At the time of filing of the aforesaid Complaint, MAST certified pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 137, that he had made a diligent investigation of the facts and circumstances around the Complaint he filed, and further had ascertained the appropriate law. MAST evidently believed a very good and valid cause of action existed against Caroline McGuire and William McGuire.

13. Also MAST incorrectly informed DULBERG that the insurance policy limit for the Gagnon was only $100,000.00, when in reality the policy was $300,000.00.

14. The matter proceeded through the normal stages of litigation until sometime in late 2013 or early 2014, when MAST began urging DULBERG to settle the matter against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire for $5,000.00.

15. On November 18, 2013, MAST wrote two emails to DULBERG urging DULBERG to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

16. Similarly, on November 20, 2013 MAST emailed DULBERG urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

17. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, MAST met with DULBERG and other family members and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told DULBERG that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

18. DULBERG, having no choice in the matter, reluctantly agreed with MAST to accept the sum of $5,000.00 releasing not only William and Caroline McGuire, but also Auto-Owners Insurance Company from any further responsibility or liability in the matter. A copy of the aforesaid general release and settlement agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

19. Continuously throughout the period of representation, MAST and POPOVICH represented repeatedly to DULBERG there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and lulled DULBERG into believing that the matter was being properly handled

20. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, DULBERG wrote MAST an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

21. MAST and POPOVICH continued to represent DULBERG into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

22. On February 22, 2015, as to any chance of settling the remainder of his case against Gagnon MAST wrote to DULBERG that, "There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that." (See Email attached as Exhibit F.)

23. MAST and POPOVICH represented DULBERG through to and including March of 2015, following which DULBERG and the Defendants terminated their relationship due to a claimed failure of communication. MAST and POPOVICH withdrew from the representation of DULBERG.

24. Thereafter, DULBERG retained other attorneys and proceeded to a Court ordered binding mediation before a retired Circuit Judge, where DULBERG received a binding mediation award of $660,000.00 in gross, and a net award of $561,000.00. However, due to the settlement with the McGuires, DULBERG was only able to collect $300,000.00 based upon the insurance policy available. A copy of the aforesaid Mediation Award is attached hereto as Exhibit G.

25. The McGuires were property owners and had property insurance covering injuries or losses on their property, as well as substantial personal assets, including the property location where the accident took place at 1016 West Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, Illinois. McGuires were well able to pay all, or a portion of the binding mediation award had they still remained parties.

26. DULBERG, in his relationship with POPOVICH and MAST, cooperated in all ways with them, furnishing all necessary information as required, and frequently conferred with them.

27. Until the time of the mediation award, DULBERG had no reason to believe he could not recover the full amount of his injuries, based on POPOVICH'S and MAST'S representations to DULBERG that he could recover the full amount of his injuries from Gagnon, and that the inclusion of the McGuires would only complicate the case.

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

28. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, DULBERG realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information MAST and POPOVICH had given DULBERG was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

29. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that DULBERG retained for the mediation, that DULBERG became reasonably aware that MAST and POPOVICH did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

30. DULBERG was advised to seek an independent opinion from a legal malpractice attorney and received that opinion on or about December 16, 2016.

31. MAST and POPOVICH, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed DULBERG by violating the standard of care owed DULBERG in the following ways and respects:

a) Failed to take such actions as were necessary during their representation of DULBERG to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed Gagnon, and sought the assistance of DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

b) Failed to thoroughly investigate liability issues against property owners of the subject property;

c) Failed to conduct necessary discovery, so as to fix the liability of the property owners to DULBERG, for example hiring a liability expert;

d.) Failed to investigate the insurance policy amounts of the McGuires and Gagnon;

e.) Incorrectly informed DULBERG that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000.00" and no insurance company would pay close to that;

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

f) Failed to understand the law pertaining to a property owner's rights, duties and responsibilities to someone invited onto their property by consulting an expert regarding these issues;

g) Improperly urged DULBERG to accept a nonsensical settlement from the property owners, and dismissed them from all further responsibility;

h) Failed to appreciate and understand further moneys could not be received as against Gagnon, and that the McGuires and their obvious liability were a very necessary party to the litigation;

i) Falsely advised DULBERG throughout the period of their representation, that the actions taken regarding the McGuires was proper in all ways and respects, and that DULBERG had no choice but to accept the settlement;

j) Coerced DULBERG, verbally and through emails. into accepting the settlement with the McGuires for $5,000.00 by misleading him into believing that had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion".

k) Concealed from DULBERG the necessary facts for him to make an informed decision as to the McGuires, instead coercing him verbally and through emails into signing a release and settlement agreement and accept a paltry sum of $5,000.00 for what was a grievous injury;

l) Failed to properly explain to DULBERG all ramifications of accepting the McGuire settlement, and giving him the option of retaining alternative counsel to review the matter;

m) Continually reassured DULBERG that the course of action as to the property owners was proper and appropriate;

Received 06-07-2018 01:29 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 06-07-2018 03:53 PM / Transaction #17111166062 / Case #17LA000377

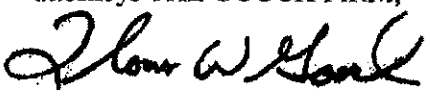
n) Failed to retain a liability expert to prove DULBERG's damages;



o) Were otherwise negligent in their representation of DULBERG.

32. That DULBERG suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of MAST and POPOVICH in urging DULBERG to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of MAST and THE LAW OFFICES OF THOMAS J. POPOVICH, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

Respectfully submitted by,

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Page 12 of 24

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

1 - 15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Sheila today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. Its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No. 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide.
Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...

The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of coarse he cut me.

Next issue please?

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

EXHIBIT C

4. As an agent, employee, or principal in Popovich, Popovich is liable for Mast's actions alleged herein.

5. Venue is proper in McHenry County, Illinois, as the Defendants transact substantial and regular business in and about McHenry County in the practice of law, where their office is located.

B. Relevant Facts

6. On or about June 28, 2011, Dulberg assisted Caroline McGuire ("Caroline"), William McGuire ("Williams") (Caroline and William collectively referred to herein as "the McGuires"), and David Gagnon ("Gagnon") in cutting down a tree on the McGuire's property.

7. Dulberg lives in the next neighborhood over from the McGuire family.

8. Caroline McGuire and William McGuire are a married couple, who own real property in McHenry, McHenry County, Illinois ("the Property").

9. David Gagon is Caroline's son and William's stepson.

10. On June 28, 2011, at the Property, Gagnon was operating a chainsaw to remove branches from a tree and cut it down on the Property.

11. The McGuire's purchased and owned the chainsaw that was being utilized to trim, remove branches, and cut down the tree.

12. Dulberg was invited to the McGuire's property to see if he wanted any of the wood from the tree.

13. William physically assisted with cutting down the tree and, then, later supervised Gagnon's actions.

14. Caroline supervised Gagnon's and William's actions.

15. Gagnon and the McGuires asked Dulberg to assist with trimming and removal of the tree.

16. Gagnon was acting on behalf of Caroline and William and at their direction.

17. Caroline, William, and Gagnon all knew or show have known that a chainsaw was dangerous and to take appropriate precautions when utilizing the chain saw.

18. The safety information was readily available to Caroline and William as the safety instructions are included with the purchase of the chainsaw.

19. It is reasonably foreseeable that the failure to take appropriate caution and safety measures could result in serious injury.

20. The likelihood of injury when not properly utilizing the chainsaw or not following the safety precautions is very high.

21. The safety instructions outlined are easy to follow and do not place a large burden on the operator of the chainsaw or the owner of the property.

22. Caroline, William, and Gagnon had a duty to exercise appropriate caution and follow the safety instructions for the chainsaw.

23. Caroline, William, and Gagnon breached that duty by either not exercising appropriate care, failing to follow the safety instructions, or failing to instruct Gagnon to exercise appropriate care and/or follow the safety instructions.

24. Caroline and William, owners of the property and the chainsaw, instructed Gagnon to use the chain saw despite Gagnon not being a trained in operating the chainsaw.

25. Gagnon was operating the chain saw in close proximity to Dulberg.

26. Neither Gagnon nor Dulberg were provided protective equipment when operating or assisting with operating the chainsaw.

Page 3 of 25

27. Gagnon failed to utilize the chainsaw in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

28. Caroline and William failed to instruct and require that Gagnon utilize the chainsaw only in compliance with the safety measures outlined in the owner's manual.

29. Gagnon lost control of the chainsaw that he was using and it struck Dulberg in the right arm, cutting him severely.

30. Dulberg incurred substantial and catastrophic injuries, including, but not limited to, pain and suffering, loss of use of his right arm, current and future medical expenses in amount in excess of $260,000, lost wages in excess of $250,000, and other damages.

31. In May 2012, Dulberg hired Mast and Popovich to represent him in prosecuting his claims against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit A.

32. Mast and Popovich, on behalf of Dulberg filed a complaint against Gagnon and the McGuires. Exhibit B.

33. Mast and Popovich entered into an attorney client relationship with Dulberg.

34. Based upon the attorney client relationship, Mast and Popovich owed professional duties to Dulberg, including to a duty of care.

35. On behalf of Dulberg, Mast and Popovich prosecuted claims against both Gagnon and the McGuire's.

36. The claims against Gagnon were resolved later through binding mediation with new counsel.

37. The claims against the McGuires included (a) common law premises liability, (b) statutory premises liability, (c) common law negligence, and (d) vicarious liability for the acts of their son and agent.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

38. In late 2013 or early, Mast urged Dulberg to settle the claims against the McGuire's for $5,000.

39. On November 18, 2013, Mast wrote two emails to Dulberg urging Dulberg to accept the $5,000.00, "the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery...." * * * "So if we do not accept their $5,000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case". (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

40. Similarly, on November 20, 2013, Mast emailed Dulberg urging him to accept the $5,000.00 otherwise "the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion." (See Emails attached as Group Exhibit C.)

41. On or around December 2013 or January 2014, Mast met with Dulberg and again advised them there was no cause of action against William McGuire and Caroline McGuire, and verbally told Dulberg that he had no choice but to execute a release in favor of the McGuires for the sum of $5,000.00 and if he did not, he would get nothing.

42. During that same time frame, Mast advised Dulberg that the Restatement of Torts 318 was the only mechanism to recover from the McGuires and that Illinois did not recognize the Restate of Torts 318, thus Dulberg did not have any viable claims against the McGuires.

43. Mast failed to advise or inform Dulberg of other basis for recovery against the McGuires.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

44. Based upon Mast's erroneously advice that Dulberg's claims against the McGuire's were not viable and that Dulberg would not recover if he pursued the claims, Dulberg settled with the McGuire's and their insurance company, Auto-Owners Insurance Company, for $5,000, which included a release of all claims against the McGuire's and claim for indemnification under the McGuire's insurance policy. Exhibit D (Settlement).

45. Mast also told Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was limited to $100,000.

46. From 2013 forward, Mast and Popovich represented repeatedly to Dulberg that there was no possibility of any liability against William and/or Caroline McGuire and/or Auto-Owners Insurance Company, and led Dulberg to believe that the matter was being properly handled.

47. Mast also reassured Dulberg that Dulberg would be able to receive the full amount of any eventual recovery from Gagnon.

48. After accepting the $5,000 settlement, Dulberg wrote Mast an email on January 29, 2014 stating "I trust your judgment." (See Email attached as Exhibit E.)

49. Mast and Popovich continued to represent Dulberg into 2015 and continuously assured him that his case was being handled properly.

50. The McGuires owned their home, had homeowner's insurance, and had other property that could have been utilized to pay a judgment against them and in favor of Dulberg.

51. Dulberg cooperated with and appropriately assisted Mast and Popovich in prosecuting the claims against Gagnon and the McGuires.

52. In December of 2016, Dulberg participated in binding mediation related to his claims against Gagnon.

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

53. In December of 2016, Dulberg was awarded a gross amount of $660,000 and a net award of $561,000 after his contributory negligence was considered.

54. Dulberg was only able to recovery approximately $300,000 of the award from Gagnon's insurance and was unable to collect from Gagnon personally.

55. Only after Dulberg obtained an award against Gagnon did he discover that his claims against the McGuires were viable and valuable.

56. Following the execution of the mediation agreement and the final mediation award, Dulberg realized for the first time in December of 2016 that the information Mast and Popovich had given Dulberg was false and misleading, and that in fact, the dismissal of the McGuires was a serious and substantial mistake.

57. It was not until the mediation in December 2016, based on the expert's opinions that Dulberg retained for the mediation, that Dulberg became reasonably aware that Mast and Popovich did not properly represent him by pressuring and coercing him to accept a settlement for $5,000.00 on an "all or nothing" basis.

58. Mast and Popovich, jointly and severally, breached the duties owed Dulberg by violating the standard of care owed Dulberg in the following ways and respects:

a) failed to fully and properly investigate the claims and/or basis for liability against the McGuires;

b) failed to properly obtain information through discovery regarding McGuires assets, insurance coverages, and/or ability to pay a judgement and/or settlement against them;

c) failed to accurately advise Dulberg of the McGuires' and Gagnon's insurance coverage related to the claims against them and/or Dulberg's ability to recover through McGuires'and Gagnon's insurance policies, including, but not limited to, incorrectly informing

Received 12-07-2018 03:38 PM / Circuit Clerk Accepted on 12-10-2018 01:03 PM / Transaction #3126388 / Case #17LA000377

Dulberg that Gagnon's insurance policy was "only $100,000" and no insurance compnay would pay close to that;

d) failed to take such actions as were necessary during their respective representation of Dulberg to fix liability against the property owners of the subject property (the McGuires) who employed and/or were principals of Gagnon, and who sought the assistance Dulberg by for example failing to obtain an expert;

e) failed to accurately advise Dulberg regarding the McGuires' liability, likelihood of success of claims against the McGuires, the McGuires' ability pay any judgment or settlement against them through insurance or other assets, and/or necessity of prosecuting the all the claims against both the McGuires and Gagnon in order to obtain a full recovery;

f) Coerced Dulberg, verbally and though emails, into accepting a settlement with the McGuires for $5,000 by misleading Dulberg into believing that he had no other choice but to accept the settlement or else "The McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion."

59. As a direct result of Mast and Popovich's wrongful actions, Dulberg suffered serious and substantial damages, not only as a result of the injury as set forth in the binding mediation award, but due to the direct actions of Mast and Popovich in urging Dulberg to release the McGuires, lost the sum of well over $300,000.00 which would not have occurred but for the acts of Mast and The Law Offices of Thomas Popovich, P.C.

WHEREFORE, your Plaintiff, Paul Dulberg prays this Honorable Court to enter judgment on such verdict as a jury of twelve (12) shall return, together with the costs of suit and such other and further relief as may be just, all in excess of the jurisdictional minimums of this Honorable Court.

Exhibit 2

3. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was living and/or staying at his parent's home at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

4. On June 28, 2011, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, contracted, hired the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, to cut down, trim and/or maintain the trees and brush at their premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

5. On June 28, 2011, and at the request and with the authority and permission of the Defendants CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and for their benefit, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working under their supervision and control while engaged in cutting, trimming and maintaining trees and brush at the premises at 1016 W. Elder Avenue, in the City of McHenry, County of McHenry, Illinois.

6. On June 28, 2011, as part of his work at the subject property, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was authorized, instructed, advised and permitted to use a chainsaw to assist him in his work for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, which was owned by the McGuires.

7. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was under the supervision and control of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was working as their apparent and actual agent, and was then acting and working in the scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE.

8. On June 28, 2011, and while the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was working in the course and scope of his agency for Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was under their supervision and control, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch.

9. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in use of a chainsaw while trimming a tree and branch, Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, asked for and/or requested the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, to hold the tree branch while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, trimmed the branch with the chainsaw.

10. On June 28, 2011, and while Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was in sole control, use and operation of the subject chainsaw, the chainsaw was caused to strike and injure the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG.

11. At all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew of Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's use of the chainsaw in the presence of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and knew that such created a danger to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG's safety.

12. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, as agent of CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to use care and caution in his operation of a known dangerous instrumentality.

Page 13 of 25

13. On June 28, 2011, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was negligent in one or more of the following ways:

a. Failed to maintain control over the operating of the chainsaw;

b. Failed to take precaution not to allow the chainsaw to move toward the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, so as to cause injury;

c. Failed to warn the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, of the dangers existing from the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's inability to control the chainsaw;

d. Failed to keep a proper distance from the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, while operating the chainsaw;

e. Otherwise was negligent in operation and control of the chainsaw.

14. That as a proximate result of the Defendant's negligence, the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, was injured externally; he has experienced and will in the future experience pain and suffering; he has been permanently scarred and/or disabled; and has become obligated for large sums of money for medical bills and will in the future become obligated for additional sums of money for medical care, and has lost time from work and/or from earning wages due to such injury.

15. That at the above time and date, the Defendant's negligence can be inferred from the circumstances of the occurrence as the instrument of the injury was under the control of the Defendant and therefore, negligence can be presumed under the doctrine of Res Ipsa Loquitur.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, demands judgment against Defendants, DAVID GAGNON, and CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE in an amount in excess of $50,000.00, plus costs of this action.

Count II

Paul Dulberg vs. Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire

15. That the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, restates and realleges paragraphs 1 through 14, in Count I, above, as paragraphs 1 through 15 of Count II, as if fully alleged herein.

16. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owned, controlled, maintained and supervised the premises whereat the accident to the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, occurred.

17. That at all relevant times, the Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, were in control of and had the right to advise, instruct and demand that the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, act or work in a safe and reasonable manner.

18. That at all relevant times, the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON, was acting as the agent, actual and apparent, of Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, and was acting at their request and in their best interests and to their benefit as in a joint enterprise.

19. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, knew DAVID GAGNON was operating a chainsaw with the assistance of the Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, and had the right to discharge or terminate the Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's work for any reason.

20. That at all relevant times, Defendants, CAROLINE McGUIRE and BILL McGUIRE, owed a duty to supervise and control Defendant, DAVID GAGNON's activities on the property so as not to create a unreasonable hazard to others, including the Plaintiff, PUAL DULBERG.

Morning Hans,
Ok we can meet. I will call Shelia today and set up a time.
Please send me a link to the current Illinois statute citing that the property owner is not liable for work done on their property resulting in injury to a neighbor.
I need to read it myself and any links to recent case law in this area would be helpful as well.
Thanks,
Paul

The legality of it all is that a property owner does not have legal liability for a worker (whether friend, son or otherwise) who does the work on his time, using his own independent skills. Here, I deposed the McGuires, and they had nothing to do with how Dave did the work other than to request the work to be done. They had no control on how Dave wielded the chain saw and cut you. Its that simple. We don't have to accept the $5,000, but if we do not, the McGuires will get out for FREE on a motion. So that's the situation.

Just because Dave was doing the work doesn't mean they were not trying to tell their kid what to do. They told him plenty of times throughout the day what to do. How is that not supervising?

So if we do not accept their 5000 they will simply file a motion and get out of the case for free. That's the only other option is letting them file motion getting out of the case

They all left me out in the yard screaming for help while they were busy making sure they were covered.

She even went as far as to finally call the Emergency Room after I was already there just to tell me she was covered.

How selfish are people when they worry about if their insured over helping the person who was hurt and bleeding badly in their yard.

I'm glad she got her answer and had to share it with me only to find out her coverage won't even pay the medical bills.

I'm not happy with the offer.

As far as John Choyinski, he knows he has to call you and said he will tomorrow.

Im waiting to hear from John. I tried calling him last week, but no one answered.

In addition, the McGuire's atty has offered us (you) $5,000 in full settlement of the claim against the McGuires only. As we discussed, they have no liability in the case for what Dave did as property owners. So they will likely get out of the case on a motion at some point, so my suggestion is to take the $5,000 now. You probably won't see any of it due to liens etc. but it will offset the costs deducted from any eventual recovery....

Let me know what you think..

Hans,
Just spoke with John Choyinski again about talking with you.
I am leaving your number with him as he has agreed to talk with you about David Gagnon.
I believe he will try and call sometime tomorrow.
Paul
Oh and I know that nothing that happened right after the incident makes any difference as to the validity of the injuries but David's conduct immediately after the incident does show his lack of moral values for other humans and what he was willing and was not willing to do to help me get medical help. For his actions towards me or any other human being is enough to sue the shit out him alone. It is the things that happened afterwards that upset me the most.
Sorry for the rant but Dave was a complete ass all the way and deserves this.

GENERAL RELEASE AND SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

NOW COMES PAUL DULBERG, and in consideration of the payment of Five-Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars to him, by or on behalf of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE (aka Bill McGuire; improperly named as Caroline McGuire) and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, the payment and receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, PAUL DULBERG does hereby release and discharge the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, and any agents or employees of the WILLIAM MCGUIRE and CAROLYN MCGUIRE and AUTO-OWNERS INSURANCE COMPANY, of and from any and all causes of action, claims and demands of whatsoever kind or nature including, but not limited to, any claim for personal injuries and property damage arising out of a certain chain saw incident that allegedly occurred on or about June 28, 2011, within and upon the premises known commonly as 1016 West Elder Avenue, City of McHenry, County of McHenry, State of Illinois.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that there is presently pending a cause of action in the Circuit Court of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, McHenry County, Illinois entitled "Paul Dulberg, Plaintiff, vs. David Gagnon, Individually, and as agent of Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, and Caroline McGuire and Bill McGuire, Individually, Defendants", Cause No: 2012 LA 178, and that this settlement is contingent upon WILLIAM McGUIRE and CAROLYN McGUIRE being dismissed with prejudice as parties to said lawsuit pursuant to a finding by the Circuit Court that the settlement between the parties constitutes a good faith settlement for purposes of the Illinois Joint Tortfeasor Contribution Act, 740 ILCS 100/0.01, et seq.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that as part of the consideration for this agreement the undersigned represents and warrants as follows (check applicable boxes):

- ☐ I was not 65 or older on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I was not receiving SSI or SSDI on the date of the occurrence.
- ☐ I am not eligible to receive SSI or SSDI.
- ☐ I am not currently receiving SSI or SSDI.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD:

a. That any subrogated claims or liens for medical expenses paid by or on behalf of PAUL DULBERG shall be the responsibility PAUL DULBERG, including, but not limited to, any Medicare liens. Any and all reimbursements of medical expenses to subrogated parties, including Medicare's rights of reimbursement, if any, shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released herein.

b. That any outstanding medical expenses are PAUL DULBERG's responsibility and all payment of medical expenses hereafter shall be PAUL DULBERG's responsibility, and not the responsibility of the parties released

o. That PAUL DULBERG agrees to save and hold harmless and indemnify the parties released herein against any claims made by any medical providers, including, but not limited to Medicare or parties subrogated to the rights to recover medical or Medicare payments.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD by the parties hereto that this agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties with regard to materials set forth herein, and shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, jointly and severally, and the executors, conservators, administrators, guardians, personal representatives, heirs and successors of each.

IT IS FURTHER AGREED AND UNDERSTOOD that this settlement is a compromise of a doubtful and disputed claim and no liability is admitted as a consequence hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on the dates set forth below.

Ok, it's signed and in the mail.
Hope that some yahoo in the govt. doesn't someday decide to go after everyone they think they might get a dollar out of and end up holding me responsible for the McGuires fees incurred while they fight it out.
I'm not in the business of warranting, insuring or protecting the McGuires from government. Especially for only 5 grand. For that kind of protection it could cost millions but I trust your judgement.

To believe David's version of events you must believe I was committing suicide.
Who in their right mind puts his arm into a chainsaw?

I figured you would cop out again...

Now I'm left wondering...
How hard is it to sue an atty?

And yes I am and have been looking for someone who will take this case...

The issue of my word vs David Gagnons... Did he cut me or did I cut myself?

Of coarse he cut me.

Next issue please?

I've been telling you over a year now the problems with the case and you just don't see them. You keep telling me how injured you are and completely ignore that it doesn't matter if you passed away from the accident because we still have to prove that the defendant was at fault. While you think it is very clear - it is not. My guess is that seven out of 10 times you will lose the case outright. That means zero. That's why I have been trying to convince you to agree to a settlement. You clearly do not want to. There's only $100,000 in coverage. Allstate will never offer anything near the policy limits therefore there's no chance to settle the case. The only alternative is to take the case to trial and I am not interested in doing that. I will wait for you to find a new attorney. I can't assist you any further in this case. Just let me know.

Binding Mediation Award

v.

David Gagnon

ADR Systems File # 33391BMAG

On December 8, 2016, the matter was called for binding mediation before the Honorable James P. Etchingham, (Ret.), in Chicago, IL. According to the agreement entered into by the parties, if a voluntary settlement through negotiation could not be reached the mediator would render a settlement award which would be binding to the parties. Pursuant to that agreement the mediator finds as follows:

Finding in favor of: Paul Dulberg

Gross Award: $660,000.

Comparative fault: 15 % (if applicable)

Net Award: $561,000

Comments/Explanation

Medical	$ 60,000.
Future medical	$ 200,000.
Lost wage	$ 250,000.
P.I.S	75,000.
L.N.L	75,000.

PAUL DULBERG'S ANSWERS TO DEFENDANTS' AFFIRMATIIVE DEFENSES

Paul Dulberg, by and through his attorneys, The Clinton Law Firm, LLC, answers Paul Dulberg's Affirmative Defenses as follows:

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES
FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE: CONTRIBUTION NEGLIGENCE

1. Plaintiff filed a one count Complaint, sounding in negligence, alleging that Defendants failed to properly represent him in the prosecution of a personal injury case, as more fully stated in the Second Amended Complaint, which is incorporated herein.

ANSWER: Plaintiff admits the allegations of this Paragraph #1.

2. Plaintiffs damages, if any, were due to Plaintiffs own fault. In the event Defendants are held liable, any damages awarded to Plaintiff must be reduced by Plaintiffs proximate share of liability. The Plaintiff was negligent and caused his injuries in the following ways:
   (a) Failed to seek outside counsel if he was reluctant to settle the underlying case with the McGuires.
   (b) Provided Mast and Popovich with authority to make a settlement demand against the McGuires for less than $100,000.
   (c) Received a written settlement agreement from the McGuires, forwarded by U.S. Mail from Mast, examined it, deliberated upon it, accepted it, signed it, and mailed it back to Mast.
   (d) Retained successor counsel after Mast and Popovich withdrew, and agreed to a "high-low" agreement at a binding mediation which limited Dulberg's potential recovery against the remaining Defendant, Gagnon.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #2.

EXHIBIT D

3. If Plaintiff's contributing fault is found to be more than 50% of the proximate cause of the injury or damage, then Plaintiff shall be barred from recovering any damages whatsoever.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #3.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, respectfully requests that Defendants' Affirmative Defenses be denied and that Plaintiff be awrded damages as requested in his Second Amended Complaint.

SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE
STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

1. In Plaintiffs Complaint, it alleges that The Law Offices of Thomas J. Popovich, P.C. and Hans Mast failed to adequately represent him in the action captioned, Paul Dulberg, Plaintiffv. David Gagnon, et al., Defendants, Case No. 12 LA 178, McHenry County, Illinois (the 'Underlying Action").

ANSWER: Plaintiff admits the allegations of this Paragraph #1.

2. Plaintiffs damages, if any, were due to Plaintiff's own fault. In the event Defendants are held liable, any damages awarded to Plaintiff must be reduced by Plaintiffs proximate share of liability. The Plaintiff was negligent and caused his injuries in the following ways:
   (a) Failed to seek outside counsel if he was reluctant to settle the underlying case with the McGuires.
   (b) Provided Mast and Popovich with authority to make a settlement demand against the McGuires for less than $100,000.
   (c) Received a written settlement agreement from the McGuires, forwarded by U.S. Mail from Mast, examined it, deliberated upon it, accepted it, signed it, and mailed it back to Mast.
   (d) Retained successor counsel after Mast and Popovich withdrew, and agreed to a "high-low" agreement at a binding mediation which limited Dulberg's potential recovery against the remaining Defendant, Gagnon.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #2, subparts a-d.

3. Plaintiff, however, did not file this action until November 28, 2017, more than two years after the applicable statute of limitations had run.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #3.

4. Accordingly, this matter is time-barred.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #4.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, respectfully requests that Defendants' Affirmative Defenses be denied and that Plaintiff be awrded damages as requested in his Second Amended Complaint.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES
THIRD AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE: PROXIMATE CAUSE

1. Plaintiff filed a one count Complaint, sounding in negligence, alleging that Defendants failed to properly represent him in the prosecution of a personal injury case, as more fully stated in the Second Amended Complaint, which is incorporated herein.

ANSWER: Plaintiff admits the allegations of this Paragraph #1.

2. Plaintiff retained successor counsel after Popovich and Mast withdrew. To the extent that any malpractice occurred during Dulberg's representation by the Popovich firm or its agents, which is expressly denied, and to the extent that any malpractice or proximately caused damages could have been remedied by Dulberg and his successor counsel, then Mast and Popovich can never be found to be the proximate cause ofDulberg's damages.

ANSWER: Plaintiff denies the allegations of this Paragraph #2.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff, PAUL DULBERG, respectfully requests that Defendants' Affirmative Defenses be denied and that Plaintiff be awrded damages as requested in his Second Amended Complaint.

Respectfully submitted,

PAUL DULBERG,

called as the plaintiff herein, having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY MR. FLYNN:

Q. Let the record reflect that this is the discovery deposition of Paul Dulberg taken by agreement of the parties and pursuant to notice.

This deposition is being taken pursuant to the Rules of the Illinois Supreme Court, the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure and any applicable local rules in McHenry County.

Sir, could you state your name and spell your last name for the record.

A. Palm Dulberg, D-u-l-b-e-r-g.

Q. What is your address?

A. 4606 Hayden Court, McHenry, Illinois 60051.

Q. How long have you lived there?

A. Forty-nine years.

Q. Who do you live there with now?

A. Mike McArtor.

Q. Did your mother live there at some point throughout the history of this case?

A. Yes.

Q. I'm just going to go over a few rules for the deposition. I know you've testified at least one time in a deposition before because you testified in the underlying personal injury case, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Have you testified in any other depositions before?

A. No.

Q. I'll just remind you of a few rules that I'm sure you were aware of back then when you gave your deposition.

The court reporter is here to take down everything that you and I say. She can only take down one at a time so I'd ask that before you answer a question, let me finish the entire question. Okay?

A. Yes.

Q. I'll try to do the same. I'll try to let you respond before I ask a follow-up question.
